REPORT OF THE DIVISION OF BUILDING AND LOAN SUPERVISION DEPARTMENT OF INVESTMENT
STATE OF CALIFORNIA

Office of the Building and Loan Commissioner,
San Francisco, California, September 20, 1930.

*To His Excellency, C. C. YOUNG,
Governor of California,
Sacramento, California.*

SIR: In compliance with section 5 of the Building and Loan Commission Act, I have the honor to submit for your consideration the thirty-seventh annual report of this Division, setting forth the condition of the building and loan associations of California under my supervision, as reported by the associations during the eighty-first fiscal year of the state, ending June 30, 1930.

The period covered by this report has been one of unusual interest and progress for the Division of Building and Loan Supervision. During this period there occurred the worst recession of security values in the history of the nation, with a financial depression following that held business in almost all lines considerably below par. Yet in spite of these conditions, affecting unfavorably most financial institutions, the building and loan associations have shown a steady advance both in assets and invested funds.

The total assets of California associations as of June 30, 1930, were $513,110,594.58, as compared with a total on June 30, 1929, of $443,235,693.05, or an increase of 16 per cent. The outstanding membership shares and investment certificates on June 30, 1930, were $456,923,133.90, as compared with $386,963,711.35 on June 30, 1929, or an increase of 18 per cent. With these increases, California takes fifth place among the states of the nation in volume of building and loan business.

This progress was due to increasing confidence in the stability of building and loan investments on the part of the people of California, and not to the formation of new associations. As a matter of fact, there has been a decrease in the number of associations. Although during the year twenty-one new associations have been licensed to transact business, three of them for the purpose of changing from mutual to guarantee capital associations, the number of active associations on June 30, 1930, is nine less than on June 30, 1929, because of the many mergers and consolidations in the building and loan field, and two associations being liquidated. These moves have involved thirty associations, and have affected $216,709,542.47 in assets.

As a result of this increasing tendency to develop branch and chain associations, there are now in California eighty-seven branch building and loan offices, licensed by the Commissioner under a new law passed by the 1929 legislature. While these larger groupings may result in operating economies, there has been unquestionably a loss in local contacts and local sympathies, which were originally important characteristics of building and loan associations. Where mergers have taken place, the surviving associations are generally owned, and hence controlled, by holding corporations, which increases the impersonal character of the business management of the associations.

The chain or branch building and loan association, and the building and loan holding company, have created new problems in the building and loan business. The United States Building and Loan League, of which R. Holtby Myers, of the Los Angeles Mutual, is now president, has considered the matter of sufficient importance to appoint a committee, which is now engaged in making a thorough study of the advantages and disadvantages of these modern trends in building and loan operations.

CONTROL OF CAPITAL STOCK ISSUES

Under a new law passed by the 1929 legislature, jurisdiction over the issuance of guarantee capital stock was lodged with the Building and Loan Commissioner. Since that time it has been possible to eliminate promotion from the sale of stock by limiting the selling commission to 5 per cent of the par value, and providing that all stock must be sold for cash. The capital requirements for the establishment of new associations also have been raised; and the proceeds from all stock sales under our permits must be put in escrow with a responsible agency until the capital requirements are completely met.

When these strict regulations succeeded in squeezing promotion out of the direct formation of a building and loan association, some promoters resorted to the formation of holding companies, which, as ordinary corporations, were allowed a 20 per cent selling commission by the Division of Corporations. Through cooperation, made possible by the fact that both the Division of Corporations and the Division of Building and Loan are now integral parts of the new Department of Investment, an agreement was reached limiting the selling commission on stock issues of holding companies, proposing to own or deal in the stocks of building and loan associations, to 10 per cent of the selling price. This action has tended to make the sale of these securities unattractive to the high-pressure stock salesman who will not operate on a 10 per cent commission basis.

DEPARTMENT OF INVESTMENT HELPFUL

The formation of the Department of Investment, including the Divisions of Building and Loan, Banking, Corporations, Insurance and Real Estate, which became effective under new laws passed by the 1929 legislature, has been of distinct benefit to this office in making effective a coordination which was never before possible. We make constant use of the Central Clearance Bureau of the Department in checking the antecedents of individuals who desire to enter the building and loan field in some capacity where the approval of the Commissioner is needed. Frequently problems are encountered which involve one or more of the different divisions which compose the Department. This Division often uses the services of the appraisers of other divisions for special assignments where unquestioned reliability is a prime necessity. The Commissioner has had the whole-hearted cooperation of the heads of the other divisions in working out some of our problems, reference to which has heretofore been made in this report. Finally, the monthly meeting of the division heads with the Director of the Department and with the Governor has been of tremendous value. As time goes on, I believe an even closer relationship will develop between these various divisions, which carry such a grave responsibility for the people of the state in the proper regulation of insurance, investments and savings.

DIVISION ACTIVITIES AND PERSONNEL INCREASED

During the fiscal year just closed, the Division of Building and Loan Supervision has been practically reorganized. The growth of the business had been allowed to outstrip the supervising agency. In order to catch up with examinations of associations, the Division issued an order on November 26, 1929, requiring every association to have an audit of its affairs by a certified public accountant. Supplementing our own examinations with these audit reports, we had the satisfaction of knowing that on June 30, 1930, every association in the state, except a few recently licensed, had been examined.

During the year, the office force, both at the San Francisco headquarters and the Los Angeles branch, has been augmented until it is now able to cope with examination requirements, and the order calling for an annual outside audit has been withdrawn; but with the advice to associations that they continue the practice for their own information and protection. The Division is now in a position to render a complete examination of every association in California at least once a year, and, where necessary, at more frequent intervals.

The scope of our examination has been broadened, and hereafter will include a verification of liabilities as well as of assets. The reports of our examinations are sent to the associations with demand for acknowledgment, not only by the officers, but by the directors as well. In some instances in the past, directors have been kept in ignorance of the Commissioner's request for correction of irregularities or unsafe practices revealed in the text of our examination reports. Furthermore, a system of following up our reports has been established in our Division offices, to assure us that any conditions criticized are being corrected by the associations within a reasonable time.

Great care has been exercised in selecting the personnel of the Division. Our examinations are made under the direction of certified public accountants, and all other employees are experts in their particular lines of activity. The utmost harmony prevails, which has permitted the rapid handling of a greatly increased volume of business due to the mounting assets of building and loan associations and to the widening scope of our examinations. A generous measure of praise is due our employees for their zeal, loyalty and intelligent application to business.

INTRODUCTION OF PROPERTY APPRAISING

In addition to increasing the force of examiners and office accountants and stenographers, the most important step in supervision was the organization of a corps of appraisers. While the fundamental security back of the money invested in building and loan shares and certificates is the real property on which the funds are loaned, practically no facilities heretofore had been provided to appraise these properties in order to determine their character and adequacy. The Division now has a force of six experienced appraisers, three in each office, and an appraisal of a cross-section of the loans of an association is made concurrently with an examination of records and accounts.

In order to make effective the result of loan appraisals, the Division is now requiring that associations write off out of profits any amounts by which loans are found to exceed the limits permitted under section 638 of the Civil Code. Whenever an overloan is paid down to the legal limit, the amount written off may be restored to the undivided profit account.

Real estate owned is also appraised and is not permitted to be carried on the books at a figure in excess of its true appraised value. A 10 per cent annual write off is required on all real estate, other than property used exclusively in conduct of the business of the association, in order to discourage the holding of real estate for speculative purposes.

FLAT LOAN PROBLEM

A study of the loan situation disclosed to the Commissioner the fact that some associations were making a great many flat or straight loans, and a question arose as to whether or not such loans were a proper investment for building and loan association funds. A ruling on this point was requested from the Attorney General, who advised, in an opinion rendered on February 2, 1930, that associations were only permitted by law to make amortizing mutual or definite contract loans. The attention of associations was called to this opinion in Bulletin No. 105, which appears elsewhere in this report, and since then associations have confined themselves to making the mutual or definite contract types of loan as permitted under section 637 of the Civil Code. Furthermore, great progress has been made in selling or converting flat loans on hand when Bulletin No. 105 was issued. In the first three months this type of loan decreased 1003 in number and $7,719,975.86 in value.

It is the opinion of the Commissioner that associations may be safely allowed to carry about 10 per cent of their loans in flat or straight paper, but section 637 will have to be amended before associations legally may make anything but amortizing loans.

EMPLOYMENT OF AN ATTORNEY

Another important step in increasing the efficiency of the Division was the employment of Stanley A. Steindorf as attorney. This was accomplished with the consent of Attorney General Webb, who is by law the legal adviser of the Building and Loan Commissioner. Under the direction of our attorney, uniform forms and methods of procedure have been adopted, which has resulted in speeding up the issuance of permits of all kinds. One piece of work of extraordinary value is a Code of Procedure covering the handling of all formal matters which come before the Division. This guide will be of great value both to association executives, and to persons interested in entering the building and loan field of finance. The new code has been printed in this report and will be found through reference to the Table of Contents. A surprising amount of legal work has developed in connection with the activities of the Division. This has taken the form not only of legal interpretations for the Division, but of general legal advice to associations and their investors.

RECOMMENDATION OF LAWS

The attorney for the Division, in cooperation with officials of the Building-Loan League of California, is now working on changes in the building and loans laws which experience has proved necessary and advisable to insure a more complete supervision and greater public safety. The ever-increasing popularity of this type of financial institution emphasizes the immediate need for a careful scrutiny of our laws to ascertain whether or not adequate machinery has been created to enable the Commissioner to fully protect and safeguard the investing public. In many respects the laws are cumbersome and ambiguous, and some valuable work would be done if these confusing portions were clarified. This is particularly true of the provisions relating to the rights and privileges of membership shareholders and the law giving associations power to make loans and investments.

More important, however, is the need for some fundamental change in the substance of the laws so as to give the Commissioner broader and more discretionary powers of supervision. The building and loan business would be greatly benefited, and the protection afforded investors in these companies would be greatly increased, if the following changes and additions were made:

1. The Commissioner should be given power, when he finds an association conducting its business in an unsafe manner, to appoint a receiver without being forced immediately to liquidate the association, as required under the present law.

2. At the present time the Commissioner has power to revoke an association's license to do business for one reason only, namely, the insolvency of the association. There should be set forth in the law several other grounds for revoking a license.

3. The express power should be extended to the Commissioner to determine whether or not the public convenience or necessity will be promoted by the establishment of a new association in a particular community.

4. The Commissioner should be vested with power to require associations to publish their financial statements periodically. This would give the investing public an opportunity to more intelligently select the associations in which to invest its funds.

5. The law should expressly give the Commissioner power to appoint a disinterested appraiser to revalue the assets of an association at its expense when he has reason to believe this to be necessary.

6. The Commissioner's power to supervise and control agents of associations should be clarified and enlarged so as to make it possible to keep the unscrupulous and questionable salesmen out of the building and loan business.

7. At the present time there are very few penalties provided for violation of the provisions of the law and the Commissioner's orders. More adequate penalties would put some "teeth" into the law and would not only discourage violations but would make it easier for the Commissioner to establish an effective plan of enforcement.

8. Some adequate machinery should be created for enforcing the laws and invoking the penalties for violation. The Commissioner should have the power to enjoin violations and to bring suits to enforce the penalties.

It is hoped that the next legislature will pass some constructive legislation revising and adding to our building and loan laws as indicated above.

In addition to the legal studies and codification of building and loan laws, the Division is cooperating with committees of the State League in considering problems of advertising, building and loan terminology, and uniform accounting system.

TENDENCY TO LOWER LOAN AND INTEREST RATES

During the last five years, competition for good loans has brought about a gradual lowering of the interest rate. Incidentally, this tendency should encourage home owning by making such an investment less expensive to carry. It is also in line with President Hoover's plan for increasing home owning among the American people. The loan rates at present most prevalent with associations range from 7 to 8.4 per cent, plus the fees customarily charged by practically all loaning agencies.

Reduction in loan rates has necessarily affected the interest rate paid on investment certificates. The prevailing long-time rate is 6 per cent, with a lower rate for money which is allowed to remain invested for a short time only. Unquestionably there is a definite trend in California toward a 5 per cent investment certificate rate. It is now looked upon by many of our most thoughtful building and loan executives as a move in the right direction for the ultimate benefit of the building and loan business—an opinion in which the Commissioner shares.

This narrowing of the spread between the loan and investment certificate interest rates made it clear that the further payment of interest on investment certificates in excess of 6 per cent would be unsafe, and on April 15th, the Commissioner issued an order prohibiting the issuance of certificates bearing rates beyond that percentage.

IMPROVEMENT IN CASH AND RESERVES

While the law does not permit the Commissioner to insist that associations maintain reserves on investment certificates and loans, other than those required by section 634f and 641 of the Civil Code, we have encouraged associations to keep a greater proportion of their assets liquid.

During the year ending June 30, 1930, associations have increased their cash on hand by 168 per cent and their bond investments by 4 per cent, while during the same period they decreased their notes payable to banks by 17 per cent. The ratio of current assets to current liabilities is now 2.7 to 1, almost 100 per cent improvement over the condition reported in June, 1929. Many associations are beginning to employ their cash surplus in building up a bond reserve, secondary to those required by law, as above noted. The adoption of this conservative policy by associations generally will serve to increase the liquidity of building and loan institutions.

It is not to be expected, however, that building and loan associations will ever carry the liquid reserves that are necessary to do a banking business. The Commissioner is discouraging associations from engaging in short-term business. That is the province of banking. Building and loan associations should emphasize the investment features of their business. The two fields are distinctly different and should be kept so. Building and loan associations should definitely penalize investors, with loss of interest, who insist on cashing in their certificates within less than a year after date of investment, and in advertising, references to withdrawal should be expressed as a privilege and not a right, in keeping with the terms of section 642 of the Civil Code.

Building and loan institutions are doing a long-time loan business, and can not thrive on short-time money. They should have the courage to reject funds offered on such a basis, and stay by the principle of frugality, industry and savings which, coupled with amortized loaning, has been for generations the backbone of the building and loan business. Banks and building and loan associations should be cooperative and not competitive, and tendencies on the part of either to break down this natural relationship should be strongly condemned and resisted.

LOAN AND REAL ESTATE SITUATION

After the stock market crash in the fall of 1929, and the general business depression following, most building and loan associations adopted a policy of rigid conservatism in regard to loans, and a stricter collection policy. Loan commitments by associations showed a decline for the year of 38 per cent. At the time of the writing of this report, conditions in many parts of the state show signs of returning normality, and more and better loans are now being offered for association investment.

The real estate situation has caused all associations to take a more active interest in the disposal of property acquired through foreclosure, and a number of associations have formed auxiliary real estate companies. They maintain that a company organized exclusively to dispose of real estate should be able to do the job more expeditiously and economically than the association itself, and at the same time afford the association an income from its otherwise dormant property account.

There is nothing inherently wrong in handling real estate through the medium of an auxiliary company, providing the company has a proper financial set-up, and is not merely used to conceal property owned by an association. We are now conducting an investigation to see that these auxiliaries are properly capitalized, with the purpose in mind of setting up a safe ratio between amount of association real estate which may be transferred and the amount of paid-in capital of an auxiliary company. Furthermore, this office, by enforcing the conditions of section 638 of the Civil Code and the provisions of our Bulletin No. 105, has provided reasonable conditions under which real estate may be sold to sound auxiliary companies.

APPROVAL OF MERGERS

On December 6, 1929, the Division issued an order based on section 647a of the Civil Code requiring associations proposing to merge to present plans to the Commissioner for his approval. Through this arrangement, the Division has been able to advise with the contracting associations and to aid in framing terms of agreements that are safe for holders of certificates and shares and fair to minority guarantee capital stockholders. However, where control only is passed through sale of privately owned stock, the provisions of the section of the Civil Code above referred to do not apply, and the Commissioner is not now in a position to protect the minority stock interests.

INCREASE IN SURETY BOND PROTECTION

On January 2, 1930, Bulletin No. 102, effective February 1st, was issued revising and increasing the surety bonds required of officers and employees of building and loan associations as authorized by section 15(b) of the Building and Loan Act. As a result of this requirement, surety bond protection held by associations against misappropriation of funds has been increased by over $2,000,000. Already several associations have benefited by this added protection. Recently an association discovered a $10,000 embezzlement. The employee was bonded for $10,000. The year prior to the issuance of the above order increasing surety bonds, the same individual has been covered only by a $2,000 bond.

There have been several instances lately where surety companies have shown a tendency to repudiate their liability to associations on technical grounds. Where it becomes apparent to the Commissioner that this practice is an established policy with a surety company, the Commissioner will exercise the authority vested in him under section 15(b) to pass on the sufficiency of the sureties.

FAILURE OF TWO ASSOCIATIONS

During the past year the Commissioner has found it necessary to place custodians in charge of two small associations—the Columbian Mutual Association of Oakland, as the result of defalcations by its secretary, and the Morthland Building and Loan Association of South Pasadena, because of the failure of a mortgage company with which it was improperly affiliated. The total assets involved are $350,000. Liquidation is now in progress in both cases.

TABLES OF STATISTICS AND ASSOCIATIONS' REPORTS

Following this report will be found tables, documents and laws, accompanied by such brief explanations as space will permit, copies of the annual reports of all associations under our jurisdiction, and a statement of income and expenses of this Division for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1930, as required by law. The material here contained will, I am sure, prove of value not only to state authorities and officials of associations, but to that portion of the general public directly or indirectly interested in the building and loan business.

In conclusion, I may fairly assert that state supervision was never more complete and effective than it is at present, and that the building and loan business generally was never in a safer or more prosperous condition.

Respectfully submitted.

CHARLES A. WHITMORE,
Building and Loan Commissioner.

COMMENTS ON ABOVE STATEMENT

The total assets increased from $443,000,000.00 as of June 30, 1929, to $513,000,000.00 as of June 30, 1930, representing an increase of $70,000,000.00, or 16%, during the past fiscal year. Said increase was brought about by a net increase in investment certificate and membership share accounts of $70,000,000.00 and an increase in guarantee capital surplus and undivided profits of $7,000,000.00, offset by a decrease in current liabilities of $7,000,000.00.

Current assets consisting of cash, and bond investments, increased approximately $9,500,000.00, and current liabilities, consisting of loan commitments, notes payable and accounts payable, decreased by $7,000,000.00; thus the current position of the combined associations was improved by $16,500,000.00 during the year. This brought the net excess of current assets over current liabilities up from $9,700,000.00 on June 30, 1929, to $26,200,000.00 on June 30, 1930, representing over two and one-half times the 1929 figures.

This statement shows that the total gross income from interest on loans, fees, etc., increased from $29,900,000.00 for the previous year to $36,500,000.00 for the fiscal year ended in 1930, representing an increase in gross income of $7,600,000.00, or 26%.

The interest and dividends paid on investment certificates and membership shares increased in nearly the same ratio, but operating expenses increased by a much higher ratio—34%, and as a consequence, the final net income increased by only 8%.

Salaries and advertising expenses increased by over 40%, and office expense, real estate losses, etc., increased by over 33½%. Thus it would appear that the associations are being less economically operated than in the past.

COMMENTS ON ABOVE DATA

Some of the interesting observations that will be noted from this statement are that there were approximately 600,000 building and loan investors in the State of California as of June 30, 1930, with average investments of about $761 each, which is $20 above the average for the whole United States; and there were approximately 140,000 borrowers as of that same date, having average loans of $3,150 each. At least 70% of the loans are amortizing home loans.

The relation of reserve to investment certificates amounted to about 9%; the total reserve, consisting of guarantee capital stock and surplus, amounted to $36,000,000 as against investment certificate liabilities of $400,000,000.

The net profit for the year, after deduction of income tax, amounted to slightly over \$4,000,000, which represented a return of 12.3 % on the average capital investment consisting of guarantee capital stock and surplus and undivided profits. Said rate of return was approximately $1\frac{1}{2}\%$ less than reported for the previous year.

COMMENTS ON ABOVE STATEMENT

It is interesting to note that the total assets of the combined associations are now over nine times as much as they were ten years ago. In 1921 the total assets were $56,000,000.00 as against $513,000,000.00 at the present time. The increase has been rather uniform, averaging about 28% per annum.

The increase may be attributed largely to the popularity of the investment certificate accounts under the guarantee type association. The investment certificate accounts amounted to less than $20,000,000.00 in 1921, whereas they are over $400,000,000.00 at the present time, representing an increase of over twenty times the figures of ten years ago.

Membership share accounts increased steadily during the years 1921 to 1929, but dropped off sharply during the year 1930 due to the conversion of several old established mutual associations into guarantee capital stock type associations. At the present time the membership shares amount to slightly less than two times their amount ten years ago.

Guarantee capital stock increased from $2,000,000.00 ten years ago to $23,000,000.00 at the present time, thus keeping pace with the increase in total assets.

ORDER No. 1

Advertising Withdrawability of Funds

June 23, 1927.

To the Officers and Directors of all Building and Loan Associations of California:

It has come to the attention of this Department that a large percentage of the associations have, in the past, been ignoring the specific provisions of Section 642 of the Civil Code, which reads, in part, as follows:

"A stockholder or investor, desiring to withdraw from any such corporation or to surrender a part or all of his stock or investment certificate, may do so by giving thirty days' notice, in writing, of his intention or desire so to do."

Not only has the above provision of Section 642 of the Civil Code been entirely ignored by many associations, but a few insist on advertising that "money may be withdrawn at any time."

Now, therefore, for the better protection of the associations and of their shareholders, members and investors, it is the order of this Department that all associations shall immediately cease from advertising either through newspapers, periodicals, circulars or otherwise that invested funds may be "withdrawn on demand," or "at any time," or such other expressions indicating the withdrawal of funds at will. A second offense will be deemed sufficient for the revocation of the license of an offending corporation.

This Department also strongly recommends that all new investors be informed that money can not be withdrawn at will, but that 30 days' written notice of intention to withdraw will be expected.

Respectfully yours,

GEO. S. WALKER,
Building and Loan Commissioner.

ORDER No. 2Entrance Fees

July 22, 1927.

To All Building and Loan Associations of California:

Because of the number of complaints coming to this office regarding building and loan stock selling agents in various parts of the state, who either fail to properly explain that the entrance fee is not returnable to the investor, or who sell a greater number of shares to an individual than it is reasonable to expect can be paid for from his income, it has become necessary for me to lay down certain rules for the benefit of all concerned:

It is therefore ordered and directed, that on and after August 1, 1927, all entrance fees, or initial payments made to agents on installment investment certificates, installment certificates of stock, or installment membership shares, must be sent to the home office, and an office record made of the same. Immediately upon receipt of such funds, the secretary of the association shall communicate with the subscriber for such installment shares, or certificates, not only acknowledging receipt of same, but must inform the investor of the nature of his contract, and specifically call his attention to the fact that the membership fee is not returnable; or, if it is, under what terms. If within a reasonable time thereafter, the subscriber sets forth that he was not properly informed by the selling agent as regards the membership fee and the withdrawal value of his shares or certificates, the association must cancel his contract and return the fee or initial payment. If, on the other hand, the investor acknowledges by his answer that he understands the terms of his contract, or gives tacit assent thereto by his silence, the company may accept the subscription and pay the agent his stipulated fee.

Respectfully yours,

GEO. S. WALKER,
Building and Loan Commissioner.

ORDER No. 3Advertising of New Associations

August 9, 1929.

To All Building and Loan Associations of California:

Because of the many errors and misleading statements made by building and loan associations in printed circulars and in newspaper and other advertising matter, it is hereby ordered and directed that all associations which have been in operation for less than one year must submit to this office proofs of all advertisements for newspapers, magazines, circulars, etc., before same are printed or published.

All associations located south of the Tehachapi, and south of San Luis Obispo County on the coast, may submit such proofs to our Los Angeles office, and those north thereof to our San Francisco office.

Respectfully yours,

GEO. S. WALKER,
Building and Loan Commissioner.

ORDER No. 4

Advertising Affiliated Resources

December 2, 1929.

To All Building and Loan Associations of California:

There has been an increasing tendency since the development of Building and Loan Holding Companies, or the grouping of Building and Loan Associations under one management through the common ownership of guarantee capital stock, to permit each separate association in such combination to claim as a factor of individual association's strength the "Affiliated Resources" of all of the associations owned by such holding companies or held in such common group ownership.

As a result of this practice, a number of complaints have been filed with the Division of Building and Loan Supervision.

On November 4, 1929, the Commissioner addressed a letter to the Attorney General of the State of California, requesting an opinion as to whether the practices mentioned above were legal. In an answer just received from the Attorney General, the opinion is expressed that such statements of "Affiliated Resources" is "designed to mislead the public and is, therefore, unjustifiable."

In view of this opinion, the Commissioner is constrained to require associations using such statements of group assets to desist from the practice and to remove such phrases from their signs, circulars and advertising matter.

Yours truly,

CHAS. A. WHITMORE,
Building and Loan Commissioner.

ORDER No. 5

Bonds on Employees

BULLETIN No. 102.

REVISED JUNE 30, 1930.

To All Building and Loan Associations of California:

Effective February 1, 1930, every California building and loan association will be required to file with this office either schedule or individual or blanket bonds covering its officers and employees, in accordance with the provisions of Section 15 (b) of the Building and Loan Commission Act, as amended and effective August 14, 1929, the amount of said bonds to be based on the assets of the associations, as follows:

SCHEDULE OR INDIVIDUAL BONDS (MINIMUM AMOUNTS)

Total assets		Secretary or manager	Other officers	Teller or cashier	Other employees
Up to-----	$500,000	----- $10,000	$5,000	$10,000	$2,500
$500,000 to	1,000,000	----- 12,500	10,000	10,000	2,500
1,000,000 to	3,000,000	----- 15,000	10,000	10,000	2,500
3,000,000 to	10,000,000	----- 20,000	10,000	10,000	2,500
10,000,000 and up-----		25,000	10,000	10,000	2,500

BLANKET BONDS

Total assets		Amount of bond
Up to	$500,000	$10,000
$500,000 to	1,000,000	12,500
1,000,000 to	3,000,000	20,000
3,000,000 to	10,000,000	25,000
10,000,000 and up		35,000

Every bond must have a rider attached which reads as follows:

“Anything in this bond to the contrary notwithstanding, it is hereby understood and agreed that a cancellation of this bond by either the surety company issuing the bond or the insured shall not become effective unless and until the party so canceling this bond shall have first given the Building and Loan Commissioner of the State of California ten days’ notice in writing.”

Any surety company unwilling to agree to notify the Building and Loan Commissioner as above provided, shall be ineligible to write bonds for building and loan associations under the jurisdiction of this office.

From a careful comparison of the blanket bonds which are now procurable from the various surety companies, it would appear advisable in many instances to give consideration to the blanket coverage, as these bonds are manifestly broader and include many more desirable features than the ordinary fidelity bonds.

Yours very truly,

CHAS. A. WHITMORE,
Building and Loan Commissioner.

ORDER No. 6

Loans, Real Estate and Write-offs

BULLETIN No. 105.

MARCH 5, 1930.

REVISED AUGUST 20, 1930.

To All Building and Loan Associations of California:

(1) In accordance with an opinion of the Attorney General of the State of California, rendered under date of February 17, 1930, it is declared to be unlawful for building and loan associations, operating under California laws, to make flat or straight loans, and it is hereby ordered that hereafter loans made by building and loan associations shall be limited to those authorized by sections 637, 638 and 647 of the Civil Code.

(2) Hereafter the following provisions shall be observed in the making of real estate loans by building and loan associations operating in California.

- (a) No association shall lend on any one note, or risk, more than 25 per cent of its legal reserve (paid in guarantee stock, surplus or mutual reserve, as such reserve is defined in subdivision (f) of Section 634, and Section 641 of the Civil Code), without the approval of the Building and Loan Commissioner; provided, however, any association, irrespective of guarantee capital stock, surplus and reserve, may lend up to and including the sum of $10,000.

- (b) Section 638 of the Civil Code provides that no association shall make any definite contract or mutual loan on real estate having an appraised value less than 25 per cent in excess of the face value of the loan.

Whenever any loan is determined to the satisfaction of the Commissioner to be in excess of the legal limit prescribed above, the Commissioner will order a "write-off," by transference from Undivided Profits or Surplus account to a Special Reserve account for "write-offs" of a sum equivalent to the amount by which the loan exceeds the prescribed limit. However, at such time as a loan upon which a "write-off" has been ordered, has been amortized or otherwise reduced to within the prescribed limit of appraised value, the Commissioner may, upon application of the association, allow a retransference of the amount of such "write-off" from said Special Reserve account to the Undivided Profits or Surplus account.

- (c) In event the book value of any property owned by an association shall be determined to the satisfaction of the Commissioner to exceed the appraised value, the Commissioner will order a "write-off" (as explained in "b") of a sum equivalent to the amount that the book value exceeds the appraised value.
- (d) Excluding property used exclusively in the conduct of the business of the association, every association shall "write off" (by the process outlined in "b") during each twelve-month period of ownership 10 per cent of the book value of each property owned by the association. However, the 10 per cent "write-off" as required in this paragraph must be increased by the aggregate amount of the interest, taxes, and insurance charged against the property, and may be reduced by the aggregate amount of any rents actually received and credited to the property.
- (e) No "write-off" will be required upon any property upon which an association holds a nondelinquent and bona fide contract of sale.

For the purposes of this order no contract of sale shall be considered bona fide which does not provide for at least the following:

- 5% of the sale price in cash; provided, however, in all sales contracts with auxiliary real estate companies or corporations, the unpaid balance of the contract shall in no case exceed 95% of the current appraised value of the property;
- 5% annual reduction of principal sum; and
- 6% annual interest on unpaid balances.

CHAS. A. WHITMORE,
Building and Loan Commissioner.

ORDER No. 7Premiums for New Business

BULLETIN No. 106.

MARCH 5, 1930.

AS REVISED APRIL 1, 1930.

To All Building and Loan Associations of California:

In order that building and loan business may be maintained on the high plane of ethics to which it has attained through years of sound and conservative operation, this office is convinced that associations should refrain from the use of merchandise premiums or merchandise orders in connection with the solicitation of investment accounts. We should jealously guard against methods which lack the dignity that should be a constant accomplishment of a business attracting such a large share of the people's savings and investment funds. Institutions dealing with our commodity are not commercial in the ordinary sense, and so methods which might be common practice in some lines of business are unacceptable when applied to building and loan. In the long run the building and loan business in general will suffer more loss in reputation from such sales tactics than can possibly be compensated for by any advantage which individual associations might gain from recourse thereto.

Under extraordinary conditions, and for a short time only, associations may, if thought advisable by boards of directors, offer cash premium to attract new investors, and may grant not more than ten days' free interest on funds invested between the first and the tenth of January, April, July and October.

CHAS. A. WHITMORE,
Building and Loan Commissioner.

ORDER No. 8Interest Rates on Investment Certificates

BULLETIN No. 107.

APRIL 15, 1930.

To All Building and Loan Associations of California:

This Bulletin is being issued for the purpose of rescinding Bulletins issued by this Division under dates of January 30, 1929, and December 9, 1929, copies of which are attached hereto, and for the purpose of restating and supplementing the information contained in said Bulletins.

Hereafter the following shall be observed in the sale and issuance of full-paid, prepaid and installment investment certificates:

1. The interest rate paid on said investment certificates shall not exceed 6 per cent per annum, compounded not oftener than quarterly, provided, however, that in the case of installment investment certificates upon which an entrance fee has been paid, there may be allowed as a bonus at maturity, in addition to said 6 per cent interest, an amount equal to the entrance fee together with interest on said amount at the rate of 6 per cent per annum, compounded not oftener than quarterly.

2. All investment certificates shall be sold at a price equal to their face value without any discount to the purchaser thereof.

CHAS. A. WHITMORE,
Building and Loan Commissioner.

AUGUST 22, 1930.

To All Building and Loan Associations of California:

Building and loan associations, under the jurisdiction of this office, using radio broadcast for advertising their associations, are hereby requested to furnish this office with a copy of their broadcasts sufficiently far in advance of their broadcast periods (at least 24 hours) to permit this office to pass upon the subject matter and advise the association of any objectionable phraseology.

After submitting copies of proposed broadcasts, it will not be necessary for associations to await our approval before proceeding with their broadcasts as this office will take the responsibility then of advising the association in case any of the subject matter appears, in the opinion of this Division, to be objectionable.

Building and loan associations as hereinafter in this title defined, shall have power to receive money and accumulate funds to be loaned, and to loan the same to their shareholders, investors and others; to permit shareholders and investors to withdraw part or all of their payments, investments or stock deposits, and to prescribe the terms and conditions of such withdrawal; to cancel shares of stock, the payments on which have been withdrawn; to receive money and to execute certificates therefor, which must specify the date, amount, rate of interest, and when the principal and interest are payable, and also the withdrawal value thereof at the end of each year; to borrow money for the purpose of making loans and of paying withdrawals and maturities; and shall have such further powers as may be specifically set forth under this title; provided, however, that no such association shall, at any time, have or carry upon its books, for any member or investor, any demand, commercial or checking account or any credit to be withdrawn upon the presentation of any negotiable check or draft.

Every such corporation hereafter formed, setting forth the purposes for which it is formed, shall state, in its articles of incorporation, that it is formed to encourage industry, frugality, home building, and savings among its shareholders and members; the accumulation of savings; the loaning to its shareholders and members of the moneys or funds so accumulated, with the profits and earnings thereon, and the repayment to each of his savings and profits, whenever they have accumulated to the full par value of the shares, or at any time when he shall desire the same or when the corporation shall desire to repay the same, as it may be provided in the by-laws; and shall also state that it is formed for all the purposes specified in this title, and nothing in the statutes of this state, to the contrary notwithstanding, shall preclude any such association in any of its advertising from setting forth any of the foregoing purposes. (Effective July 29, 1927.)

634. The capital of every such corporation shall be divided into shares of the matured or par value of one hundred or two hundred dollars each, as provided by the articles of incorporation, and shall be paid in by the subscribers in the manner provided by the by-laws. All such payments shall be called dues. Certificates shall be issued to each shareholder on the first payment of dues by him. Shares pledged as security for the payment of a loan shall be called pledged shares, and all others, free shares. All shares matured and surrendered or canceled, shall become the property of the corporation and may be reissued. The capital shall consist of the accumulated dues, together with the apportioned profits of the corporation, and shall be accumulated by the issuance of shares in any one or more of the following forms, viz: "installment shares," "full paid shares," "pass book shares" and "guarantee stock."

(a) Installment shall be either "serial" or "permanent" in form. When issued in "serial" form the periodical dues on shares in each series shall commence with the date of the issue of such series and the holder must pay such dues and such amounts per share and at such times as the by-laws may provide, and such payments must continue on each share until, with the profits allotted thereto, it reaches its matured value or is withdrawn or canceled. On all such issues the dividends shall be apportioned or credited equally to each share in each series. No share of a prior series shall be issued after the issue of shares in a new series, except by way of transfer. Shares issued in "permanent" form may be issued at any time and the dividends thereon may be credited in the pass books of the members. Shares of either form may be issued in "classes" with a different periodical payment for each class designation, to be specified in the by-laws, and shall be issued with full participation in the profits subject to apportionment as dividends.

Full paid shares.

(b) Full paid shares shall be shares upon which a single payment of dues amounting to one hundred or two hundred dollars per share shall be paid at the time of subscription and upon which the holder shall be entitled to either such participation in the net profits, not exceeding the rate apportioned to installment shares, as the board of directors shall determine, or to an agreed rate of dividends not exceeding six per cent per annum, payable semiannually in cash, such agreed rate, if any, to be specified in the body of the certificate issued. All such shares may be issued in separate classes as to participation, under regulations to be provided in the by-laws and which must be fully set forth in or upon each certificate issued.

Pass book shares.

(c) Pass book shares are shares which shall participate in the apportionment of net profits and be credited therewith at a rate not exceeding the rate apportioned to installment shares, as the board of directors shall determine, and upon which the dues may be paid in at such times and in such amounts as the holder thereof may elect until said shares reach their matured value or are withdrawn.

Guarantee stock.

(d) Guarantee stock shall be stock, provided by the by-laws, to be set apart and sold as a fixed, permanent or guarantee capital, and shall be issued with full participation in the profits subject to apportionment as dividends. When any such stock has been once so set apart, sold and issued it shall thereafter remain as a fixed, permanent and guarantee capital, and shall be subjected to all the conditions and liabilities attaching to the paid-in capital stock of other classes of corporations. Such guarantee stock shall protect and guarantee all other stockholders and creditors against any loss, and when once paid it must be kept unimpaired.

May issue investment certificates to minors.

(e) Every corporation specified in this title, in addition to being entitled to issue investment certificates to adults, shall also have power to issue one or more investment certificates to a minor of any age and receive payments thereon by or for such minor. If such minor be fourteen years of age or over, he shall be entitled to withdraw, transfer or pledge any such certificate owned by him and to receive from such corporation any and all interest or other moneys at any time becoming due thereon and his receipt or acquittance therefor shall constitute a valid release and discharge to the corporation for the payment of such money.

Investment certificates reserve required.

(f) Every corporation specified in this title issuing installment or full paid investment certificates, or both, shall at all times have issued and fully paid for, either an amount of guarantee capital stock, or permanent nonwithdrawable capital stock, or both such guarantee capital stock and permanent nonwithdrawable capital stock, or a reserve fund, equal to ten per cent of the aggregate amount of its liability on its said installment investment certificates and full paid investment certificates; provided, however, that the aggregate of guarantee capital stock, or permanent nonwithdrawable capital stock, or both such guarantee capital stock and permanent nonwithdrawable capital stock, or a reserve fund, of every building and loan association issuing installment or full paid investment certificates, or both, must equal the following percentages of its investment certificate liabilities:

1. Ten per centum of any amount up to and including one million dollars.

2. Seven and one-half per centum of any amount in excess of one million dollars, up to and including two million dollars.

3. Five per centum of any amount in excess of two million dollars, up to and including five million dollars.

4. Three per centum of any amount in excess of five million dollars.

Guaranteed stock may have majority of directors.

(g) Corporations specified in this title, issuing guarantee stock, may provide in their by-laws that a majority of the board of directors shall be selected from the holders of such stock.

Entrance and transfer fees.

(h) Every corporation specified in this title shall also have power, by its by-laws, to charge and collect an entrance fee, for each share of stock, or membership share, or investment certificate, it may issue, not exceeding one dollar on each share or investment certificate having a matured or face value of one hundred dollars, and also to charge and collect a transfer fee, not exceeding ten cents on each share, or investment certificate, all of which fees shall be accounted for by the corporation like other funds of the association. No other fee, charge or deduction shall ever be made, or permitted to be made against any shareholder or certificate holder, or against any of his shares or certificates, hereafter issued, or the dues paid in thereon for the purpose of creating a fund to be used in the payment of current or running expenses. (Effective August 14, 1929.)

Retiring free shares.

635. The directors may in their discretion, under the regulations prescribed by the by-laws, retire any free shares of stock, other than those of the guarantee stock, by enforcing the withdrawal thereof, but whenever the withdrawal of any shares is to be enforced, the holders thereof must be paid the amount actually paid in, and the full amount of earnings at the date of retirement; provided, that shares of installment stock shall not be forced out until after they shall have become four years old.

Maturity of shares, and payment.

636. When any stock shall have reached its matured value, payment of dues thereon shall cease. Borrowing stockholders whose loans are fully paid shall have their securities released and returned to them. Holders of free shares of stock shall be paid the matured value thereof out of the funds of the corporation with interest at such rate as the by-laws shall provide, from the time the board of directors shall declare such shares to have been matured, until paid; but at no time shall more than one-half of the receipts of the corporation be applicable to the payment of matured shares without the consent of said board. The order of the payment of matured shares, if not otherwise determined by the by-laws, shall be in the numerical order of issuance.

Loans—Officers and directors may not borrow; no loans on guarantee stock or mining stock.

637. Loans may be made upon the "mutual plan" or upon the "definite contract plan." Loans made upon the mutual plan shall be accompanied by a pledge of shares having a matured or par value equal to the face of the loan. Definite contract loans shall be repayable in a definite number of equal periodical installments, to be named in the note or obligation, each in an amount sufficient for the aggregate of all to repay the principal of the loan together with interest on the unpaid periodical balances, within the time and at the rate agreed upon. It shall be unlawful for any director or officer of any corporation governed by this title, directly or indirectly, for himself, or as a partner or agent for others, to borrow any of the funds of such corporation, and any officer or director violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a felony. Any officer or director of any such corporation who consents on behalf of such corporation to make a loan to any officer or director of such corporation shall be guilty of a felony, and shall also be personally liable to the corporation for the full amount thereof. Any officer, director, or employee of such corporation who asks or receives or consents or agrees to receive any commission, emolument, gratuity or reward, or any money, property or thing of value, for his own personal benefit or of personal advantage, for procuring or endeavoring to procure for any person, firm or corporation any loan from such corporation, is guilty of a felony. It shall be unlawful for any building and loan association, corporation or society operating under the provisions of this title to loan any of its funds upon any of its own guarantee stock or upon its permanent nonwithdrawal capital stock as security. Any officer or director of an association who shall make any such loan for and on behalf of any association shall be personally liable to the corporation for the full amount thereof, and shall also be deemed guilty of a felony. It shall be unlawful for any building and loan association, corporation or society, operating under the provisions of this title, to loan any of its funds upon the security of, or to invest any of its funds in mining shares or mining stocks, or in the stocks or bonds of any corporation, other than in this title provided; and any officer or director who, on behalf of any such corporation, shall make any such loan or investment, or who shall consent thereto, shall be personally liable to the corporation for the whole amount of any such loan or investment, and shall also be guilty of a felony. (Effective July 29, 1927.)

Security for loans—Interest, rate to appear.

638. For every loan made a note or obligation, expressing and setting forth the exact rate of interest, must be executed by the borrower, secured by a first mortgage or deed of trust upon unencumbered real estate having an appraised value of not less than twenty-five per cent in excess of the face of the loan, except such loans as may be made upon the security of bonds specified in section six hundred forty-seven; or in lieu of a mortgage or deed of trust, loans to the extent of not exceeding ninety per cent of the then withdrawable value, may be made upon the pledge of free shares or certificates as security for their repayment. The board of directors may from time to time fix the rate of interest to be charged on loans. A borrower may at any time repay his loan together with interest or arrears due thereon and upon the surrender of the shares, or certificate pledged as security therefor. (In effect July 27, 1917.)

Arrears in payment; default; forfeitures.

639. Whenever any non-borrowing member shall be six months in arrears in the payment of his dues upon free shares, the secretary may give him notice thereof in writing, and a statement of his arrearages, by mailing the same to him at his last post-office address given by him to the association; and if he shall not pay all arrearages within two months thereafter, the board of directors may, at their option, declare his shares forfeited, and at the time of such forfeiture, the withdrawal value thereof shall be determined and stated, and the defaulting member shall be entitled to withdraw the same without interest, upon such notice as shall be required of a withdrawing shareholder. Whenever a borrower shall be three months in arrears in the payment of his dues or interest or loan installments, the whole loan shall become due at the option of the board of directors, and they may proceed to enforce collection upon the securities held by the association. The withdrawal value, at the time of exercising such option, of all shares pledged as collateral security, shall be applied to the payment of the loan, and said shares from that time shall be deemed surrendered to the association and canceled.

May purchase real estate on foreclosure sale.

640. Any such association may purchase at any sale, public or private, any real estate upon which it may have a mortgage, judgment, lien, or other incumbrance, or in which it may have an interest, and may sell, lease, or mortgage the same at pleasure to any person or persons.

Apportionment of profits; reserve—Guarantee stock participation and reserve.

641. Profits and losses shall be apportioned at least annually, and shall be apportioned to all shares in each class at the time of such apportionment, according to the actual or book value thereof. If the guarantee capital herein provided for if any there be, together with the reserve fund, or if the reserve fund, where there be no guarantee capital, shall not equal five per cent of the outstanding loans at the time of each apportionment of profits, the directors shall set aside, as a reserve fund, not less than five per cent of the net profits accruing since the last prior apportionment, and shall continue so to do until said fund shall amount to at least five per cent of the loans in force, at which figure said fund shall thereafter be maintained. Said reserve fund shall at all times be available to meet losses arising from any source not heretofore provided to be assumed by the guarantee capital.

Every such corporation having a paid-in guarantee capital stock, may provide in its by-laws, that an amount not exceeding one per cent per annum on the average loans in force shall be set aside from and out of the net profits, at each annual distribution thereof, or a proportionate amount at each semi-annual distribution, from which to declare additional dividends on and provide a reserve fund that shall be specially applicable thereto. At least one-tenth of the amount so set aside shall be carried to such reserve fund until the same shall amount to at least twenty-five per cent of the paid-in guarantee stock. (Effective July 29, 1927.)

642. A stockholder or investor, desiring to withdraw from any such corporation or to surrender a part or all of his stock, or investment certificate, may do so by giving thirty days' notice, in writing, of his intention or desire so to do. On the expiration of such notice, he is entitled to receive the full amount paid in upon the stock or investment certificate surrendered, exclusive of the entrance fee, together with such proportion of the earnings thereon as the by-laws may provide, or as may be fixed by the board of directors; but not more than one-half of the monthly receipts in any one month must be applied to withdrawals for that month, without the consent of the board of directors, and no stockholder must be permitted to withdraw whose stock is pledged to the corporation as security for a loan, until such loan is fully paid. All withdrawals must be paid in succession in the order that the notices of intention are given. Whenever the demands of withdrawing stockholders or investors exceed the money applicable to their payment, the notices of intention to withdraw must be registered in the order of filing and payments thereon must be made in succession, in the order that such notices were filed and registered. The board of directors may permit the withdrawal of a part of the accumulations to the credit of a stockholder or member, on shares of installment stock not issued in serial form, without thereby reducing the number of shares held by him. (In effect July 24, 1925.)

Demands unpaid for two years, business may be taken over.

642a. Whenever an application for withdrawal of free shares or certificates shall have been on file, or the payment of matured shares demanded, and either shall have remained unpaid for a period of one year, all the receipts of the association from dues, interest, premium, loans repaid, and the proceeds of all other investments, shall, after the payment of expenses and general indebtedness, be applied toward the payment of withdrawals and maturities: and the board of directors or the official vested by law with powers of state supervision and license may direct that such payments shall be made upon a ratable and proportionate basis. Whenever such applications or demands, whether heretofore or hereafter made, have been on file and remain unpaid in whole or in part for more than two years the official vested by law with powers of state supervision and license, may in his discretion forthwith take possession of the property and business of such association, and retain such possession until its affairs be finally liquidated in the manner provided by law for the liquidation of associations by him. (In effect August 8, 1915.)

Who may become members.

643. Any person of full age and sound mind may become a member of an association by taking one or more shares therein and subscribing to the by-laws, and annexing to his signature his post-office address. A minor may hold shares in the name of a parent, guardian, or next friend, as trustee. The shares of stock in any such corporation held by any person, to the extent of one thousand dollars, shall be exempt from execution.

State supervision and control.

644. All building and loan associations, as in this title defined, doing business in this state, shall be under the supervision and control of such official or officials as are by law vested therewith; and except in the manner provided in this title, no corporation, firm, or association shall conduct or carry on the business of accumulating the savings of its shareholders, members, or investors, and loaning such accumulations to them, in the manner of building and loan associations.

Annual and other reports; penalties.

645. Every association organized under the provisions of this title, and every other association doing a similar business, shall annually make a full report, in writing, of the affairs and condition of such corporation, within thirty days after its annual meeting, to the official or officials vested with powers of state supervision and license. Such reports shall be verified by the oath of the officers making the same, and a copy of the same shall be delivered to every stockholder, from the office of the corporation, who may call for such report. Every association shall make any further reports which the said official or officials may require, and in such form and as to such matters relating to the conduct of the business of the association as such official or officials may designate. Any wilfully false statement in making and verifying said report shall be perjury. Any such association which shall fail to furnish the said official or officials any such report required, within thirty days after demand, shall forfeit the sum of ten dollars per day for every day such report shall be delayed or withheld, which may be recovered in an action brought by the attorney general in the name of the people of this state; and all moneys so recovered shall be paid to the treasurer of this state, who shall pay the same into such fund as may be provided by law, for the purposes of the official or officials vested with power of supervision and license.

Foreign association; deposit required.

646. No building and loan association or other corporation, association or society organized under and by virtue of the laws of any other state or territory or of any foreign country, for the purpose of conducting and carrying on a business of a character similar to that authorized by this title, or whose by-laws, rules, prospectus, contracts or methods of business provide for the conducting or carrying on the business of accumulating the periodical payments or savings of its shareholders, members or investors in the manner of building and loan associations, or as authorized and provided in this title, shall enter the State of California for the transaction of business or for selling its bonds, debentures, certificates, shares of stock, shares of membership, contracts or other similar securities or shall sell any of its bonds, debentures, certificates, shares of stock, shares of membership, contracts or other similar securities or otherwise transact any of its business of a character similar to that authorized by this title, without first complying with all the requirements of the laws of this state relative to building and loan associations as defined in this title and in an act entitled "The building and loan commission act," approved April 5, 1911, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, and until such building and loan association, corporation or society has applied for and received from the building and loan commissioner a certificate of authority or license to transact business in this state as required of building and loan associations organized under the laws of this state, and without having deposited with the building and loan commissioner the money or securities hereinafter in this section required for the transaction of such business within this state. Every such foreign building and loan association, corporation or society transacting business in this state of a character similar to that authorized by this title, or in such a manner as might lead the public to believe that its business is that of a building and loan association, shall become subject to the supervision of the building and loan commissioner, and shall conduct all its business in accordance with the statutes governing building and loan associations organized under the laws of this state.

Every building and loan association, and every other corporation, association or society organized under and by virtue of the laws of any other state or territory or of any foreign country, for the purpose of conducting and carrying on a business of a character similar to that authorized by this title, or whose by-laws, rules, prospectus, contracts or methods of business provide for the conducting or carrying on the business of accumulating the periodical payments or savings of its shareholders, members or investors in the manner of building and loan associations, or as authorized and provided in this title, desiring to enter the State of California for the transaction of business or for selling its bonds, debentures, certificates, shares of stock, shares of membership, contracts, or other similar securities, must first deposit with the building and loan commissioner not less than fifty thousand dollars in lawful money of the United States or in bonds of the United States or of the State of California, or of any county, municipality or school district of said state, or of any public utility corporation, or of any irrigation district in said state, the bonds issued by which district are legal investments for savings banks or any notes or bonds secured by mortgage or deed of trust payment of which is guaranteed by a policy of mortgage insurance, or mortgage participation certificates, issued by a mortgage insurance company in accordance with the provisions of chapter eight, title two, part four of division first of the Civil Code or in lieu thereof promissory notes secured by first mortgages or deeds of trust upon unencumbered real estate located within this state, satisfactory to the building and loan commissioner, all duly assigned or endorsed in blank, to be held by him as a guarantee fund for the protection and indemnity of residents of the State of California who shall invest in any of its bonds, debentures, shares, contracts, agreements or other securities, or with whom it shall do business.

With the consent of the building and loan commissioner any of the securities deposited as herein provided may be withdrawn at any time upon the substitution and deposit of others of form and character herein specified and of like or greater net value, so long as the aggregate net convertible value of all equals or exceeds the amount named herein. The fund thus created is not to be foreclosed or realized upon except for the liquidation of a final judgment in favor of residents of California who were investors in any of the above mentioned securities of such foreign association, corporation or society, and then only after certified proof thereof has been filed with the custodian.

Except as above provided, securities deposited as herein specified shall not be withdrawn until satisfactory proof of the liquidation of all liabilities to residents of California, approved by the building and loan commissioner, shall be filed with the custodian, when all may then be withdrawn.

Any person who shall be found in the state, as principal, agent, solicitor, or in any other capacity, soliciting or conducting the business of selling, disposing of, or taking or soliciting subscriptions for the sale of any of the forms of bonds, debentures, shares, contracts, agreements or other securities of any such foreign company, corporation or association which has not complied with all the requirements of this section and which is not at that time the lawful holder of a license to transact business in this state, issued by the building and loan commissioner, and then in force, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable, upon conviction, by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than one month nor more than twelve months, or by both such fine and imprisonment. (Effective August 14, 1929.)

Investments permitted; approval required.

647. Any building and loan association may invest in or loan upon bonds of the United States, of the State of California, or of any county, municipality or school district of said state, or of any public utility corporation, or notes or bonds secured by mortgage or deed of trust, payment of which is guaranteed by a policy of mortgage insurance, or mortgage participation certificates, issued by a mortgage insurance company, in accordance with the provisions of chapter eight of title two of part four of division one of the Civil Code, and may also invest in bonds or securities certified by the superintendent of banks to be legal as investments for savings banks in accordance with the provisions of an act entitled "An act to define and regulate the business of banking," approved March 1, 1909, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, and in full paid investment certificates issued by any building and loan association licensed by, and under the direct supervision of the building and loan commissioner of the State of California in accordance with the provisions of this title, the total of which investments shall not at any time exceed twenty-five per centum of the assets of such investing association; and may also invest in the capital stock of a building and loan association organized under the laws of this state, licensed by, and under the direct supervision of the building and loan commissioner; provided, all of the stock, excepting directors' qualifying shares, of such building and loan association so invested in, shall be originally issued to other building and loan associations organized under the laws of this state, or to individuals with written options to one or more building and loan associations organized under the laws of this state, to purchase said stock within six months after such associations may become legally empowered to own said stock, and provided, that said building and loan association so invested in, shall be operated for the mutual benefit and protection of its stockholder associations; provided, further, that any such loan or investment, made by such association, must first be approved by the official, or officials, vested with the powers of supervision and license; provided, further, the total investments herein permitted by a building and loan association organized under the laws of this state, licensed by, and under the direct supervision of the building and loan commissioner, all of the stock of which, excepting directors' qualifying shares, shall have been originally issued to other building and loan associations organized under the laws of this state or to individuals with written options to such associations as hereinbefore provided, may at any time exceed twenty-five per centum of the assets of such investing association. (Effective August 14, 1929.)

647a. Any two or more building and loan associations may unite and become incorporated in one body, with or without any dissolution or division of the funds of either of them; or any such corporation, association or society may transfer its engagements, funds and property to any other like corporation, association or society upon such terms as may be agreed by an unanimous vote of their respective boards of directors, ratified by the written consent of the shareholders holding more than two-thirds of the shares in force in each of the respective contracting associations; provided, however, that any such consolidation or transfer must also be approved by the official or officials vested by law with powers of state supervision and license. (In effect July 22, 1919.)

Name; to include what.

648. The name "building and loan associations" as used in this title shall include:

Mutuals.

First—Corporations formed for the purpose of receiving money from, and loaning money to, their members only.

Corporations operating on similar lines.

Second—Corporations, associations, companies, copartnerships, and individuals transacting the business of issuing or selling bonds, debentures, certificates, shares of stock, or other papers, by whatever names said instruments may be designated, whether said instruments are issued for money paid in advance or for money to be paid in installments, but with an intent, either implied or expressed, that the proceeds or accumulated installments thereof and thereon are to be withdrawable or repayable, with accumulated profits, at some future fixed, or indefinite date of maturity; provided always, that this section does not include persons, copartnerships or corporations engaged in any kind of banking business. (In effect March 22, 1909.)

Formation with or without capital stock.

648a. Building and loan associations may be formed under this title with or without guarantee or other capital stock, with all the rights, powers and privileges and subject to all the restrictions and liabilities set forth in this title. If formed without any capital stock or with guarantee capital stock only, the working capital may be accumulated by the issue of membership shares, units or certificates having a paid-up or ultimate matured installment value of one hundred or two hundred dollars each, and entitled to all the rights, powers and privileges and subject to all the restrictions and liabilities provided in this title for shares of authorized capital stock of a similar class. Any building and loan association heretofore formed may reincorporate under the provisions of this section and may substitute membership shares, units or certificates of similar classes for its outstanding or authorized shares of capital stock, other than guarantee capital stock by amending its articles of incorporation in the manner prescribed by section three hundred sixty-two of this code, except that such amended articles of incorporation must be adopted by a unanimous vote of the board of directors. (In effect July 29, 1921.)

Branch associations.

648b. No building and loan association organized under the laws of this state or of any other state or territory or of any foreign country, transacting business within this state, or any officer or director thereof shall open, maintain, or conduct a branch, other than its principal place of business in this state, without first having obtained the written approval of the building and loan commissioner to the opening of such branch; provided, that no building and loan association with a guarantee capital stock, or a permanent nonwithdrawable capital stock, or any officer or director thereof, shall open or maintain any such branch unless the amount of guarantee capital stock, or permanent nonwithdrawable capital stock, actually paid in, in cash, or a reserve fund, or both such guarantee capital stock and permanent nonwithdrawable capital stock, or a reserve fund, shall exceed the amount required by subdivision (f) of section 634 of the Civil Code by the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars for each branch opened, conducted or maintained. Provided, further, that no building and loan association without a guarantee capital stock or permanent nonwithdrawable capital stock or any officer or director thereof, shall open, conduct or maintain one or more such branch or branches, unless such building and loan association shall thereafter, while maintaining same, at each apportionment of profits, set aside to its reserve fund one per cent of its net profits since the last prior apportionment, in addition to the amount required to be so set aside by section 641 of the Civil Code, until said reserve fund shall exceed the maximum amount required by said section 641 of the Civil Code for such association by the amount of twenty-five thousand dollars, for each branch so opened, maintained or conducted. Every building and loan association before it shall hereafter open a branch must apply for and procure from the building and loan commissioner a certificate of authority or license for the opening of such branch. The applicant shall pay for such certificate of authority or license a fee of fifty dollars, and said license shall continue in force and effect until canceled by the building and loan commissioner for cause.

The word "branch" as used in this section shall be construed to mean any office owned and operated by a building and loan association, other than at its principal place of business in this state, where subscriptions are sold, taken or solicited for bonds, debentures, certificates, shares of stock, shares of membership, contracts or other similar securities of such building and loan association or where such shares or securities are sold or issued, excepting where such shares of stock or shares of membership are sold or issued only as security for or in connection with a loan by such association.

Every building and loan association violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a public offense and shall be punishable by a fine not exceeding ten thousand dollars. Every officer, agent or employee of any such building and loan association and every other person who knowingly authorizes, directs or aids in the establishment of a branch of any building and loan association in nonconformity with a certificate of authority or license of the building and loan commissioner, then in effect, authorizing the establishment of such branch, or contrary to the provisions of this section, is guilty of a misdemeanor. [Approved April 5, 1911. Stats. 1911, p. 607.]

(Amendments effective December 18, 1911, March 23, 1912, August 8, 1915, July 27, 1917, July 29, 1921, August 17, 1923, July 24, 1925, July 29, 1927, and August 14, 1929.)

The people of the State of California, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. There is hereby created a bureau, to be known and designated as the "Bureau of building and loan supervision," with powers of supervision, examination and license of all building and loan associations, mutual loan associations, cooperative home associations, and all other corporations, associations, and societies whenever, wherever and however formed, which are based, or are operating on plans or methods similar to building and loan associations as defined in section 648 of the Civil Code. Said bureau is charged with the enforcement of all laws designed for the formation, government or operation, in this state, of any such association, corporation or society, and is vested with power to determine what associations, corporations and societies come within the purview of the laws, and is vested with full power and jurisdiction over the issuance of all bonds, debentures, certificates, shares of stock, shares of membership, contracts or other securities, or interests therein, of all building and loan associations, mutual loan associations, cooperative home associations, and all other corporations, associations, and societies whenever, wherever and however formed, which are based, or are operating on plans or methods similar to building and loan associations as defined in title sixteen of part four of division one of the Civil Code, whether issued at the time of formation thereof or subsequent thereto. (Effective August 14, 1929.)

Sale of guarantee capital stock,

SEC. 1a. No building and loan association formed with guarantee capital stock, or permanent nonwithdrawable capital stock, shall sell, except upon a sale for a delinquent assessment made in accordance with the provisions of article two of chapter two of title one of part four of division one of the Civil Code; or offer for sale, negotiate for the sale of, or take subscriptions for any of its guarantee capital stock, or permanent nonwithdrawable capital stock, until it shall have first applied for and secured from the building and loan commissioner a permit authorizing it so to do. Such application shall be in writing, shall be verified as provided in the Code of Civil Procedure for the verification of pleadings, and shall be filed in the office of the commissioner. In such application the applicant shall set forth the names and addresses of its officers, the location of its office, an itemized account of its financial condition, the amount and character of its assets and liabilities, a copy of any contract it proposes to make concerning the sale of its guarantee capital stock, or permanent nonwithdrawable capital stock, a copy of any prospectus or advertisement, or other description of said stock, then prepared by or for it for distribution or publication, and such additional information concerning the association, its condition and affairs as the commissioner may require. It shall also file with its application a copy of all minutes of any proceedings of its directors or stockholders or members relating to or affecting the issue of such stock, and also a copy of its articles of incorporation and of its by-laws and of any amendments thereto. Upon the filing of such application, it shall be the duty of the commissioner to examine it and the other papers and documents filed therewith, and he may, if he deems it advisable, make or have made a detailed examination, audit, and investigation of the applicant and its affairs. If he finds that the proposed plan for the issue and sale of such stock is not such as, in his opinion, will work a fraud upon the purchaser thereof, the commissioner shall issue to the applicant a permit authorizing it to issue and dispose of its said guarantee capital stock, or permanent nonwithdrawable capital stock, as therein provided, in this state, in such amounts and for such considerations and upon such terms and conditions as the commissioner may in said permit provide. Otherwise, he shall deny the application and refuse such permit and notify the applicant in writing of his decision. Every permit shall recite in bold type that the issuance thereof is permissive only and does not constitute a recommendation or endorsement of the stock permitted to be issued. The commissioner may impose conditions requiring the impoundment of the proceeds from the sale of such stock, limiting the expense in connection with the sale thereof, and such other conditions as he may deem reasonable and necessary or advisable to insure the disposition of the proceeds from the sale of such stock in the manner and for the purposes provided in such permit. The commissioner may from time to time amend, alter, or revoke any permit issued by him, or temporarily suspend the rights of the applicant under such permit. The commissioner shall have the power to establish such rules and regulations as may be reasonable or necessary to carry out the purposes and provisions of this section.

Every building and loan association which shall directly or indirectly offer for sale, or negotiate for the sale of or sell, or issue, or cause to be issued any of its guarantee capital stock, or permanent nonwithdrawable capital stock, contrary to the provisions of this section, or of the constitution of this state, or in nonconformity with a permit of the building and loan commissioner authorizing the same, or which applies the proceeds from the sale thereof, or any part thereof, to any purpose other than the purpose or purposes, if any, specified in such permit, or to any purpose specified in such permit in excess of any amount limited in such permit to be used for such purpose, shall be guilty of a public offense and shall be punishable by a fine not exceeding ten thousand dollars. Every officer, agent, or employee of any building and loan association, and every other person, who knowingly authorizes, directs, or aids in the issue or sale of, or issues or executes, or sells, or causes or assists in causing to be issued, executed, or sold, any of the guarantee capital stock, or permanent nonwithdrawable capital stock, of any building and loan association, in nonconformity with a permit of the building and loan commissioner then in effect authorizing such issue, or contrary to the provisions of this section or of the constitution of this state, is guilty of a misdemeanor. (Effective August 14, 1929.)

SEC. 2. The administration of said bureau shall be vested in a commissioner, to be known and designated as the "building and loan commissioner," who shall be appointed by the governor and hold office for a term of four years. He must be a citizen of the state; and he must not be in any way connected with any association or corporation or society coming under his supervision. He shall appoint a chief deputy building and loan commissioner with full power as such, who must be a practical, skilled accountant, fully conversant with the building and loan systems and accounts; he may appoint an appraiser and such other examiners, deputies, assistants, clerks and stenographers as shall be found necessary for the proper conduct of the business of his office and the making of examinations of associations. (Effective August 14, 1929.)

Salaries and expenses.

SEC. 3. The commissioner shall receive a salary of six thousand dollars, per annum. He shall, subject to the approval of the board of control, have power to fix the salaries and compensation of an appraiser, examiners, deputies, assistants and employees. There shall also be allowed and paid the necessary traveling expenses of the commissioner and his deputies incurred while traveling in the line of their duties.

The commissioner shall procure and have an office in the city of San Francisco. Said commissioner shall also provide for such stationery, printing, postage and all other necessary expenditures as may be necessary for the proper conduct of his office. All said salaries and expenses shall be audited and paid in the same manner as the salaries and expenses of other state offices. Said salaries and expenses shall be paid from the "building and loan inspection fund." (Effective July 29, 1927.)

Bonds and oath of office.

SEC. 4. Before entering upon their duties, the commissioner and his deputies shall each execute an official bond in the penal sum of five thousand dollars, each of which bonds must be guaranteed by a duly authorized surety or bonding company, the premium on which shall be paid from the allowance for office expenses. Any bond executed under this section must be approved by the governor and filed and reported in the office of the secretary of state, and such commissioner and deputies must take the oath of office as prescribed by the Political Code for the state officers in general. (In effect July 29, 1921.)

Commissioner to license and report to governor.

SEC. 5. It shall be the duty of the commissioner to furnish all associations, corporations or societies, which, in his judgment, legally come under his jurisdiction, and that have otherwise complied with the requirements of law, a license authorizing them to transact business for one year from the date of said license; to receive and place on file in his office the annual or other reports required by law to be made by building and loan associations, licensed by him; to supply each with blank forms for such statement; and to make, on or before the first day of October in each year, a tabulated report to the governor of this state, showing the condition of all such associations, corporations or societies reporting to him, with such recommendation as he may deem proper, accompanied by a detailed statement of all moneys received by him since his last report and the disposition thereof. (In effect July 29, 1921.)

Examinations of domestic and foreign associations.

SEC. 6. It shall be the duty of the commissioner, in person, or one of his deputies at least once in each year, without previous notice, to visit and examine into the affairs of every such association, corporation or society licensed by him, incorporated or doing business in this state; on such occasions he shall have free access to all the books, records, securities and papers of every such association, corporation or society, and shall first count the cash and check the bank balance of such corporation or association with the proper amount of funds as shown by the books to be on hand and at the date and hour of such examination, and shall then examine and verify the books, accounts, and securities, and, so far as possible and consistent, the values of all property owned or held as collateral security for moneys loaned, and otherwise use reasonable diligence to ascertain the financial condition and solvency thereof. He and his deputies shall have power to administer oaths in the line of duty, and to examine under oath the officers, employees and agents, or the custodian or receiver, relative to any or all the business thereof. Whenever the result of any such examination shall develop a condition demanding an extended audit of the books and affairs, the commissioner may, for such purpose, appoint a competent auditor at the expense of the association, corporation or society examined. The expense of such audit shall be fixed by the commissioner and shall not exceed fifteen dollars per diem, plus traveling and hotel expenses, for each day actually engaged in the making of the audit and the preparation of the report.

The commissioner or his deputies shall examine, or cause to be examined, the books and affairs of any such association, corporation or society formed under the laws of any other state, territory or foreign country applying for a license to enter this state for the transaction of business, prior to the granting of such license and annually thereafter, and for every such examination made outside the state the actual traveling and hotel expenses incurred shall be paid by the association, corporation or society so examined: provided, that the result of any similar examination made and certified by the duly constituted authorities of any state having similar laws of supervision may be accepted by the commission. (In effect July 29, 1921.)

Books and accounts required; appraisalment of real estate.

SEC. 7. To facilitate the examination specified in the foregoing section, he shall require every such association, corporation, or society to keep its books in such form as to accurately show its assets and liabilities in detail and to keep records written in ink, showing the appraised values of the real estate security held in connection with each loan, and signed in each case by the appraiser, officer or committee charged with making such estimated valuations. The commissioner may make a revaluation of the real estate owned, and of other securities of any such association, corporation or society licensed by him, on which the loan payments may be delinquent for six months or more, and may, for that purpose, appoint local appraisers, who shall be disinterested persons, at the expense of such association, corporation or society; the expense of such appraisalment to be fixed by the commissioner, but not to exceed the sum of five dollars for property located outside of any incorporated limits and three dollars for property located inside of any incorporated limits for each property so examined and appraised. Each appraiser so appointed shall be required to make a sworn report to the commissioner of his estimated valuations of all property so examined and appraised.

Power to issue subpoenas.

SEC. 8. The commissioner shall have power to issue subpoenas and require attendance of any or all trustees, or agents of any such association, corporation or society, and such other witnesses as they may deem necessary, in relation to its affairs, transactions and condition, and any such person so served with such subpoena may upon application of the commissioner be required by order of the superior court of the county where the corporation, association or society has its principal place of business to appear and answer such pertinent questions as may be put to him by such commissioner and be required to produce such books, papers or documents in his possession as may be required by such commissioner.

Powers of commissioner in unsafe practices and conditions, and in liquidations.

SEC. 9. If the commissioner, as the result of any examination, or from any report made to him or to the shareholders, shall find that any association, corporation or society licensed by him, is violating the provisions of its charter or of the laws of this state provided for its government, or is conducting its business in an unsafe or unauthorized manner, he may, by an order addressed to the association, corporation or society so offending, direct a discontinuance of such violations or unsafe practices and a conformity with all the requirements of law; and if such association, corporation or society shall refuse or neglect to comply with such order within the time specified therein; or if it shall appear to the commissioner that any such association, corporation or society is in an unsafe condition, or is conducting its business in an unsafe manner, such as to render its further proceeding hazardous to the public, or to those having funds in its custody; or if he shall find that its assets are impaired to such an extent that, after providing for all liabilities other than to shareholders, members and investors, they do not exceed in volume the dues or principal payments paid in by the shareholders, members and investors and accredited to or on account of all classes of stock, shares, or certificates of investment, issued and outstanding, he shall, in order to prevent waste and diversion of assets, assume and take charge of the affairs and business of such association, corporation or society and possession and control of all its property and assets, and retain such possession pending action by the proper court. Upon taking such action, he may, under his hand and official seal, appoint a custodian, require from him a good and sufficient bond, and place him in charge as his representative. He shall immediately notify the attorney general of his action and of all the necessary facts in connection therewith; and thereupon it shall become the duty of the attorney general to at once apply to the superior court of the county in which such association, corporation or society has its principal place of business, for an order citing such association, corporation or society to show cause, if any it may have, within not exceeding ten days, why the action of the commissioner should not be approved and confirmed by the court, and made permanent. Such court may in such application, and after a full hearing, approve or disapprove of the action of the commissioner. If the court shall approve and confirm the action of the commissioner, such approval and confirmation shall operate as a permanent injunction against the further prosecution of business by such association, corporation or society, and the commissioner shall proceed immediately to liquidate the business and affairs thereof, and so continue until such liquidation has been completed. If the action of the commissioner shall be disapproved by the court, the commissioner shall cause all reasonable expenses incurred by him during his occupancy or possession, including not exceeding eight dollars per diem, for each business day, as the compensation of the custodian, to be paid from the funds of such association, corporation or society, and immediately restore the balance of the property and assets thereof to the possession of the proper officers.

The approval and confirmation of the action of the commissioner, by the court, shall operate to empower the commissioner to collect all moneys, debts and claims due to or belonging to such association or society and to give full receipt therefor; to release or reconvey all real or personal property pledged as security for loans; to approve and pay all just and equitable claims; to prosecute all actions necessary to enforce liquidations; and, on the order of the court, to compound bad and doubtful debts and to sell and convey real and personal property.

As soon as practicable after the approval and confirmation of the action of the commissioner, by the court, he shall cause an inventory of all the assets of such association, corporation or society to be made in duplicate, the original to be filed with the proper court and the duplicate in the office of the commissioner. He shall cause due notice to be given by publication, weekly, for four successive weeks, in some newspaper published at or near the principal place of business of such association, corporation or society, requesting all persons having claims against it as creditors, shareholders, members or investors, to present same and make legal proof thereof, at a place and within a time to be designated in such publication; and he shall cause a copy of such notice to be mailed to all persons whose names appear of record upon its books as creditors, shareholders, members or investors; and upon the expiration of the time fixed for the presentation of claims the commissioner shall prepare or cause to be prepared, in duplicate, a full and complete schedule of all claims presented, specifying by classes those that have been approved and those that have been disapproved, and file the original with the proper court and the duplicate in the office of the commissioner. Due notice shall be mailed to all claimants whose claims may have been rejected. Action to enforce the payment of any rejected claim must be brought and service had within thirty days from and after the date of filing of the schedule of claims with the proper court, otherwise all such actions shall be forever barred. The commissioner may, under his hand and official seal, appoint one or more special deputies to assist in the duties of liquidation and distribution, under his direction, and may also employ such counsel and clerical assistance as may be needful and requisite, and fix the salaries and compensation to be allowed and paid to each. All such salaries, together with such other reasonable and necessary expenses as may be incurred in the liquidation, shall be paid by him from the funds of such association, corporation or society in his hands, and from the net realization of assets, in excess of such salaries and expenses, the commissioner shall first pay all approved claims other than to stockholders, shareholders and members; and thereafter he shall distribute and pay dividends, in liquidation to the stockholders, other than guarantee, and to the shareholders and members, as fast as funds to the amount of ten (10) per cent of such approved claims are available therefor, and so continue until all the assets have been realized upon and a final dividend in liquidation shall be declared and paid. Upon the payment of a final dividend in liquidation, the commissioner shall prepare and file with the proper court a full and final statement of the liquidation, including a summary of the receipts and disbursements, and a duplicate thereof shall be filed in the office of the commissioner, and after due hearing and approval by the court the liquidation shall be deemed to be closed. The approval and confirmation of the action of the commissioner, in the manner herein provided, shall operate to dissolve or stay any or all actions or attachments initiated or levied within thirty days next preceding the date of notification of the attorney general by the commissioner; and, pending the process of liquidation, as herein provided, no attachment or execution shall be levied nor lien created upon any of the property of such association, corporation, or society.

In every case where any such association, corporation or society shall have a paid in guarantee capital, and the realization of assets shall be insufficient to meet the liabilities due to all other classes of stockholders, shareholders, members and investors, the commissioner shall enforce, by action or otherwise, the liability of each and every of the holders of the guarantee capital stock for his or their respective pro rata of any such deficiency. Whenever, in all cases where there shall be a paid in guarantee capital, the commissioner shall have fully liquidated all approved claims, and shall have made due provision for any and all known but unclaimed liabilities, guarantee capital excepted, and shall have paid all expenses of liquidation, any surplus that may then remain in his hands, together with all the records and effects, shall be delivered over to the holders of the guarantee capital stock at a meeting thereof to be called by the commissioner for that purpose. (In effect March 23, 1912.)

Penalty for noncompliance with orders; sheriff may enforce demands.

SEC. 9a. Whenever it shall become necessary for the commissioner to take action against any association because of unsafe practices and of conditions unsafe and hazardous to the public and to those having funds in its custody, as provided in section nine, the refusal of any officer or director to comply with his written demand for possession of the property and assets shall constitute a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than ninety days, or by both such fine and imprisonment; and if such demand be not complied with within twenty-four hours after service the commissioner may call to his assistance the sheriff of the county in which the principal place of business of such association is located, by written demand under his hand and official seal, whereupon it shall become the duty of such official to enforce the demands of the commissioner. (In effect August 8, 1915.)

Officers must furnish schedule of property.

SEC. 10. Upon the approval of the action of the commissioner, in the manner and for the cause set forth in section nine, the commissioner shall require the president and secretary of such association, corporation or society to, and such officers shall, make a schedule of all its property and make oath that such schedule sets forth all the property which such association, corporation or society owns or to which it is entitled, and deliver such schedule, and the possession of any and all such property as may not have been so previously delivered, to the commissioner, who may at any time examine under oath such president and secretary, or other officers, to determine whether or not all the property which such association, corporation or society owns, or to which it is entitled, has been transferred and delivered into his possession. (In effect March 23, 1912.)

Receivers, duties and powers.

SEC. 11. Receivers, heretofore appointed, must, at least annually, make due report of all their doings and accounts to the proper court, and immediately thereafter file a copy thereof with the commissioner; and the commissioner shall, at least once in each year, and as much oftener as he may deem expedient, examine the accounts and doings of such receivers, and, for such purpose, shall have full and free access to all books, accounts and vouchers relating to such liquidation, and any defect, irregularity or misconduct on the part of such receivers as he may find to exist shall be, by the commissioner, reported to the proper court. (In effect March 23, 1912.)

Special examinations on request.

SEC. 12. Upon the certificate, under oath, of any ten or more officers, trustees, creditors, shareholders or depositors of any such association, corporation or society, setting forth their interest and the reason for the making of such examination, directed to the commissioner, and requesting him so to do, he shall forthwith make a full investigation of its affairs, in the manner provided.

Failure of commissioner to act.

SEC. 13. If the commissioner, having knowledge of the insolvent condition, or of any violation of law or unsafe practice of any such association, corporation or society under his supervision, such as renders, in his opinion, the conduct of its business hazardous to its shareholders, creditors or depositors, shall fail to take the proper action required by this act, or shall refuse or neglect to perform the official duties pertaining to his office, then upon conviction thereof the office of such commissioner shall be declared vacant by the governor, and a successor be appointed to fill the unexpired term.

Assessments for salaries and support.

SEC. 14. To meet the salaries and expenses provided for by this act, the commissioner shall require every association, corporation or society licensed by him or coming under his supervision to pay in advance, to him, and prior to the issuance of any license, its pro rata amount of all such salaries and expenses, and it is hereby made the duty of every such association, corporation or society to pay the same; such pro rata shall be fixed and determined by the proportion which its assets bear to the aggregate assets of all such associations, corporations, or societies, receiving licenses, as shown by the last reports of such corporations, associations, or societies to the commissioner. On or before the thirtieth day of December, in each year, the commissioner shall notify each of such associations, corporations or societies, through the United States mail, of the amount assessed and levied against it and that the same must be paid within twenty days thereafter; and should payment not be made to him within said twenty days, he shall then assess and collect a penalty, in addition thereto, of ten per cent per day for each day that such payment may be delayed or withheld; provided, however, that in the levy and collection of such assessment, no such association, corporation or society shall be assessed for, nor be permitted to pay less than ten dollars per annum, and any such association hereafter formed in this state, shall be required to pay not less than one dollar per month for the unexpired term ending December thirty-first, succeeding application; and in like manner any such association organized outside this state shall be required to pay not less than three dollars per month, for such unexpired term, for its first license.

Requirement for license and renewal; commissioner may revoke license.

SEC. 15. It shall be the duty of the commissioner to require every such association, corporation or society coming under his supervision, to procure from him, prior to the transaction of any business, a certificate of authority or license to transact business in this state; and it is hereby made the duty of every association, corporation or society to comply with such requirement. To procure such license, there must be filed with and approved by the commissioner, a certified copy of its articles of incorporation, constitution and by-laws and all subsequent amendments thereto, accompanied by the license fee herein provided for; and after the expiration of the term for which a license may have been granted to it, no such association, corporation or society shall be permitted to continue to transact business without first procuring a renewal of such license on the terms provided in this act, and any such association, corporation or society violating the provisions hereof shall be subject to a penalty of ten per cent per day of the amount of the license fee required to be paid under section fourteen of this act, in addition thereto, for each day during the continuance of such offense. The commissioner is authorized and empowered to revoke the license of any such association, corporation or society under his supervision, the solvency whereof may have become imperiled by losses or irregularities; and immediately upon the revoking of any such license he shall report the facts to the attorney general, who shall thereupon take such proceedings as are provided in section nine of this act.

Agents' licenses and renewals.

SEC. 15a. No person receiving compensation therefor, other than an officer, director or salaried employee, no part of whose compensation consists of commissions, or other than a local resident agent who has resided in the county in which he holds such local agency for a period of not less than one year prior to the time that he took such agency, of a building and loan association or other similar corporation or society which is duly licensed by the commissioner, shall act as solicitor or agent for the sale of the shares of stock, shares of membership, certificates or other securities or forms of investment issued by, or for the securing of loans from any such association, corporation or society until he has first procured from the commissioner a license therefor. To obtain such license there must be filed with the commissioner a duplicate of the authorization or appointment issued to him by, together with a request from, a licensed association, corporation or society that a license be issued to him to act as an agent or solicitor for it, and accompanied by a fee of one dollar. All such licenses shall expire by limitation on the thirtieth day of June succeeding their issue, but may be renewed from time to time, for an additional period of one year upon a request therefor from the association, corporation or society originally applying, and payment of a renewal fee of one dollar. Any such license may be revoked at any time on the application of the association, corporation or society for whom it was issued, or may be revoked by the commissioner for cause.

The commissioner shall keep an alphabetical list of the names of persons to whom such licenses are issued with the date of issue and renewal, and the name of the association, corporation or society for whom such licensee is authorized to act. All such licenses shall be issued under rules and regulations to be prescribed by the commissioner. (In effect July 27, 1917.)

Bonds of officers to be filed with the commissioner.

SEC. 15b. The commissioner shall require all officers and employees of every association, corporation or society licensed by him or coming under his supervision, having access to moneys or negotiable securities of such association, corporation or society in the regular discharge of their duties, before entering upon their duties and throughout the entire term of office and employment, and any subsequent term of office or employment, of such officers or employees to give to the employing association, corporation or society a good and sufficient bond. Such bond shall indemnify such association, corporation, or society against loss of money or property by reason of any dishonesty on the part of said officers or employees covered. The commissioner shall prescribe the amount and form of said bond and the term during which it shall run, and the sufficiency of the surety or sureties thereon shall at all times be subject to the approval of the commissioner. Each of such officers and employees shall renew his bond upon the expiration of its term. The commissioner may at any time require an additional bond or security, when, in his opinion, any such bond then in force is insufficient. All such bonds shall be filed in the commissioner's office.

The provisions of this section shall be considered to be the latest legislative expression upon the matters herein contained, irrespective of any other bill or law heretofore enacted, and it is intended that the provisions of the same shall supersede the provisions of chapter twenty of the laws of 1929. (Effective August 14, 1929.)

Articles of incorporation—Must be approved.

SEC. 15c. Before the articles of incorporation of any building and loan association, hereafter desiring to incorporate, under the laws of this state, shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state of the State of California, there must be attached thereto, the certificate of approval of the building and loan commissioner. Such proposed articles shall be submitted to the commissioner, and upon receipt of same, he shall immediately examine into all the facts connected with the formation of such intended corporation, including its location, and proposed incorporators. If it appears to him that such corporation, if formed, will be entitled to commence the business for which it is organized, and authorized under the law to conduct, the commissioner shall execute his certificate of approval; provided, however, that the commissioner may refuse to execute such certificate, if, upon his examination and investigation, he has reason to believe that the proposed corporation is to be formed for any business, other than legitimate building and loan business, or that the persons proposing to incorporate such corporation, lack the character and general fitness to engage in such business; and provided, further, however, that the commissioner shall not issue such certificate until he has given written notice by mail to every building and loan association licensed by him having a name raising the presumption hereinafter mentioned, directed to it with postage thereon prepaid, at its office at its principal place of business in this state, that an application for the issuance by him of such certificate has been made, together with the name of the proposed corporation applying therefor, and that a hearing will be held by him at his office at a time to be therein specified, which shall not be less than ten days after the mailing thereof, and the commissioner shall give such notices, and at the time and place specified in said notices shall hold a hearing at which any person, firm or corporation may appear in person or by agent, or attorney, and orally or in writing show cause why such certificate should not be granted upon the ground that the name of such proposed corporation is the same as one already adopted or appropriated by any building and loan association then existing in this state, or so similar thereto as to be likely to mislead the public, and if, upon such hearing or his examination or investigation, the commissioner shall have reason to believe that the name of the proposed corporation is the same as one already adopted or appropriated by any building and loan association then existing in this state, or so similar thereto as to be likely to mislead the public, he shall refuse to issue the said certificate, and the commissioner shall conclusively presume that the use of any word or words in the name of the proposed corporation the same as or similar in spelling or sound to any word or words already adopted, appropriated, or used in its corporate name by any building and loan association then existing in this state, except the words: "the," "and," "mutual," "guaranty," "guarantee," "building," "loan," "association," "company," "society," or "corporation," constitutes such similarity of names as to be likely to mislead the public; provided, further, however, that if any and all building and loan associations then existing in this state causing such presumption file consent in writing thereto with the commissioner, the commissioner may nevertheless issue such certificate; provided, further, however, that before any articles of incorporation amended to set forth a new name of any incorporated building and loan association shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state of the State of California, or before any petition for a change of name of any incorporated building and loan association in this state is heard or granted by any court in this state, such corporation shall attach to said amended articles of incorporation, or present to and file with such court at the hearing, as the case may be, the certificate of approval of the building and loan commissioner of the new name proposed for said corporation, and said certificate shall only be granted by the commissioner, after and upon the same notice, proceedings, and reasons to believe, and subject to the same rules, presumptions and restrictions as hereinabove set forth in relation to the matters of the name of a proposed corporation. (Effective August 14, 1929.)

Restrictions to use of name "building and loan."

SEC. 15d. No person, firm, company, association, copartnership, or corporation, either domestic or foreign, unless he or it is the lawful holder of a license, to transact business in this state, issued by the building and loan commissioner, and then in force, and is actually engaged in carrying on a building and loan business in this state, shall hereafter transact business under any name or title which contains the term "building and loan," nor use any sign or circulate or use any letterhead, billhead, circular, or paper whatever, or advertise in any manner, which indicates that his or its business is the character or kind of business, carried on or transacted by a building and loan association, or which is calculated to lead the public to believe that his or its business is that of a building and loan association. Any violation of any of the provisions of this section shall constitute a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not exceeding five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not exceeding ninety days, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Upon action brought by the commissioner, the court may also issue an injunction, restraining any person, firm, company, copartnership, or corporation from continuing to violate any provision of this section. (In effect July 24, 1925.)

Annual report required and penalty for failure to report.

SEC. 16. The commissioner shall require every association, corporation or society licensed by him, and including associations in liquidation, within thirty days after the close of its annual fiscal term to make a report to him in writing, verified by the oath of its president and secretary, showing accurately its financial condition at the close of such term; such report shall also include all the receipts and disbursements and income and expenses for the term, together with such statistical and other information as may be deemed essential; all and every of such reports shall be in such form as the commissioner may prescribe, and upon blanks to be by him furnished therefor. BIENNIAL REPORT TO THE GOVERNOR

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

*To His Excellency, C. C. YOUNG,
Governor of California.*

SIR: In compliance with law, the State Board of Equalization submits the following as its biennial report covering the assessment years 1929 and 1930, including a review of the tax litigation in which the state has been involved, as well as of other matters relating to and affecting the revenue system of California. We append a detailed statement of our expenditures during these years and have set forth statistical information on agricultural, horticultural, live stock, city and county values and state revenue sources.

Respectfully submitted.

R. E. COLLINS, Chairman,
JOHN C. CORBETT,
FRED E. STEWART,
H. G. CATTELL,

DIXWELL L. PIERCE, Secretary.
December 1, 1930.

MATTERS OF GENERAL CONCERN AFFECTING THE REVENUE SYSTEM

California is facing an unsatisfactory condition in tax matters. However, we do not believe that this condition has arisen because of inherent defects in our revenue system. We think it is attributable to the fact that our public expenditures, particularly such as are financed from taxes on tangible property, have increased with greater rapidity than the ability of the tax-paying public to meet the governmental charges.

In the course of investigations made to determine relative tax burdens, we have become convinced that the state, counties, cities and various political subdivisions are taking in many instances such a large share of the economic profit from property as to make the exaction approach confiscation through rendering continued ownership unprofitable. Responsibility for this condition may be traced to an attitude of approving expenditure of public funds for numerous purposes desirable in themselves but frequently beyond the means of the taxpayers. The time has come when we must make a definite effort to determine how much may be invested in government before the resulting burden becomes oppressive.

As a prerequisite to any adequate program of tax improvement, it is essential that we have full facts and figures with reference to the distribution of such taxes as are already in force. If, perchance, these taxes are incapable of producing sufficient revenues to meet essential governmental demands, or if it is found that they spread the costs of government inequitably, resort should be had to other means of public financing. In order to have the necessary facts from which these determinations can be had, it is obvious that much statistical and research work must be done.

As will readily appear from the Report on Relative Tax Burdens (page 15, post), there is wide variation in the proportion of actual value represented by assessed valuations in the various counties of the state. Separate assessments are still made for the purposes of municipal taxation in many cities and these valuations, in turn, frequently diverge widely from the corresponding ratios of the county assessors. Because of these variations, comparison of assessed values and tax rates has become practically meaningless. Of course, so long as the values in each taxing jurisdiction are all at the same percentage, it may be argued that no practical harm results in variations between properties in districts which have no tax rate in common. However, the public impression of such a condition is unfavorable. In addition, there is utter lack of a common denominator for the limitation of tax burdens on property. Obviously, if limitation is desirable, it should be state-wide and a rate limitation applicable to assessed values representing widely divergent percentages of the true value would produce unsatisfactory results.

ASSESSORS' RECOMMENDATION

To meet this problem the creation of a permanent bureau for statistical and research work is imperatively required. Facts are essential and without them no intelligent improvement of the situation can be had. Eloquent recognition of this is to be found in a resolution unanimously adopted at the annual convention of the County Assessors' Association of California in September, 1930. The text of this resolution is as follows:

"WHEREAS, The County Assessors' Association of California, recognizing the steadily increasing demand that exists for the revision of state laws relating to local taxation and assessment procedure, expresses the belief and conviction that before such revision can be intelligently undertaken, it is essential that facts concerning the present conditions in so far as local taxation and assessment procedure are concerned, be secured, and

WHEREAS, The County Assessors of the State of California are firmly of the opinion that any tax legislation based solely upon theory is a dangerous expedient; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the County Assessors' Association of California, in annual convention assembled, records itself as recommending the creation of an agency of the state government to consist of men experienced in the practical administration of laws relating to local taxation and assessment procedure, and in the practical handling of the problems that administration of such laws impose—said agency under the direction of elected officials, to be vested with the duty of assembling and compiling as directed, the basic facts which relate to local taxation laws and local assessment procedure, the said agency acting under such direction to devote its entire time to the study of local taxation and assessment problems, with the definite restriction of its powers to such task, said agency to have no powers, duties, functions or jurisdiction beyond assembling and compiling and reporting facts relative to local taxation and assessment problems; and be it further

Resolved, That the chairman of the Legislative Committee of this association be, and hereby is, instructed to transmit on January 5, 1931, duly authenticated copies of this resolution to his Excellency, the Governor of the State of California, the Lieutenant Governor, and the Speaker of the Assembly of the State of California."

It is the earnest hope of our board that the Legislature will find it possible to authorize the compilation of data relating to problems of local assessment and taxation, to the end that such inequalities as now exist in our present administration may be corrected and improvements and additions to our tax laws, tested by all of the facts obtainable, may be effected. We are deeply impressed with the sentiment of the resolution that this work be done by men experienced in the practical administration of laws relating to assessment and taxation, operating under the general direction of elected officials.

LIMITATIONS OF THE EXPERT

Expert advice we certainly should have. Practical knowledge brought to bear upon that advice is also essential. In an illuminating article by Harold J. Laski, professor of political science at the University of London, appearing in Harper's Magazine for December, 1930, there is this comment upon the function of the expert:

"But it is one thing to urge the need for expert consultation at every stage in making policy; it is another thing, and a very different thing, to insist that the expert's judgment must be final. For special knowledge and the highly trained mind produce their own limitations which, in the realm of statesmanship, are of decisive importance. Expertise, it may be argued, sacrifices the insight of common sense to intensity of experience. * * * Too often, also, it lacks humility; and this breeds in its possessors a failure in proportion which makes them fail to see the obvious which is before their very noses. It has, also a certain caste-spirit about it, so that experts tend to neglect all evidence which does not come from those who belong to their own ranks."

Quoting from Sir William Harcourt, Professor Laski continues:

"'Political heads of departments are necessary to tell the civil service what the public will not stand.' That is, indeed, an essential picture of the place of the expert in public affairs. He is an invaluable servant and an impossible master. He can understand the consequences of a proposed policy, indicate its wisdom, measure its danger. He can point out possibilities in a proposed line of action. But it is of the essence of public wisdom to take the final initiative out of his hands.

For any political system in which a wide initiative belongs to the expert is bound to develop the vices of bureaucracy. It will lack insight into the movement and temper of the public mind. * * * For the expert, by definition, lacks contact with the plain man. He not only does not know what the plain man is thinking; he rarely knows how to discover his thoughts. * * * It is only the juxtaposition of the statesman from the expert and the public which makes specialist conclusions capable of application."

NEED FOR CHANGES

While it is probable that no entirely satisfactory solution of the bank tax problem may be had until the provisions of the federal law relating to the power of the states to tax national banks have been liberalized, we do not believe that it is necessary for banks to be taxed so inadequately even under the law as it now exists.

Our Board believes that a tax on bank shares at a moderate rate, with provision for the taxation of competing capital at the same rate, and a corporate excess tax on other corporations, with provision for an adequate technical staff to make the valuations, are to be preferred to the present law. The details of such a plan have been placed before the Joint Legislative Committee on Taxation and it is our sincere hope that through the adoption of it or some comparable method, the inequitable consequences of the present act may be avoided.

Two years ago we refrained from making any extended recommendations as to legislation for the reason that the Tax Commission then functioning was expected to submit its findings and recommendations to the Legislature concerning tax legislation. We find ourselves in a similar situation now inasmuch as the Joint Legislative Committee on Taxation is about to report its findings on tax matters to the Legislature.

We have encountered some administrative difficulties in connection with the highway transportation company and the motor vehicle fuel taxes and have outlined our thoughts with reference to possible solution of these to the Joint Legislative Tax Committee. For the most part the statutory changes necessary to correct the difficulties are of minor character.

On the whole we have found the administration of state taxes relatively free from complexities. While there are always instances in which exception is taken to the application of tax laws, there does not appear to be any occasion for grave concern as to the general stability and utility of our present revenue system. Adequate statistical and research material will doubtless point the way toward some needed improvements but, in the absence of these definite data upon which to base conclusions, we believe that the interests of the public can best be served through refraining from any drastic revision of revenue provisions at this time.

SPECIAL REPORT OF ADDITIONAL DATA ON RELATIVE TAX BURDENS REQUIRED UNDER SECTION 3664e OF THE POLITICAL CODE

SPECIAL REPORT OF ADDITIONAL DATA ON RELATIVE TAX BURDENS REQUIRED UNDER SECTION 3664-e OF THE POLITICAL CODE

To the Legislature of California:

FOREWORD

Under the system of separation of sources of state and local revenues prescribed by the Constitution of California, taxable property is divided into two major classes: (1) operative, and (2) nonoperative.

Broadly defined, operative property is that owned by public utilities and used by them for the production of gross receipts on which a percentage tax is imposed for the support of the state government to the exclusion of the local taxing power. All other property is non-operative and may be taxed for local purposes.

Since the inauguration of this system in 1910, adjustment of the relative tax burdens imposed on these two classes of property has been the subject of consideration from time to time. In 1921, the Legislature directed the State Board of Equalization to compile, during each even-numbered year thereafter, data showing the comparative weight of taxes on operative and nonoperative properties, so that this information might be available at each regular legislative session.

Pursuant to the requirements of Chapter 154, Statutes of 1921, our Board has endeavored to secure from public utilities reports on the value of their operative properties. We have experienced difficulty in obtaining complete data due to various reasons discussed in a separate report on these studies. (See page 27, post.) From these corporate reports, containing in many instances fragmentary and inconclusive information, we have attempted to construct values specified in the statute and have set them forth in detail in our own report to the Legislature above mentioned.

To cover the field of local taxation, we have ascertained the total amount of county, city and district taxes levied during the current year and have estimated the actual value of all nonoperative property. From these data, we have constructed an average tax burden as required by section 3664e of the Political Code.

It should be observed that each rate used in this comparison is "constructive" and is the composite of information gathered from many sources. Thus, the average tax burden on either operative or nonoperative property is frequently far from the actual burden. Although, in effect, we have determined a "state rate" and a "local rate," these must be used with caution in making tax adjustments, lest the changes upset a revenue system which, on the whole, has proved remarkably well balanced and a most satisfactory method for raising public funds.

AVERAGE BURDEN OF LOCAL TAXATION

The average tax burden for the year 1930 upon each $100 of actual value of property taxed for local purposes in all counties of California has been determined by the State Board of Equalization to be $1,757.

It should be noted that this determination is based upon the assumption that the proportion of true value represented by the assessed value of tangible personalty is the same as the corresponding ratio for real property in the several counties. Due to our limited funds and the obvious difficulties of attempting to make analysis of personal property assessments, which vary greatly depending upon the type of personalty, we have concluded that this procedure was warranted. We do not believe that it can affect materially the validity of our conclusions owing to the fact that tangible personal property represents a small part of the assessed wealth in comparison with real property. However, the factor must be considered when comparisons are attempted between the relative tax burdens on operative and nonoperative properties. In arriving at this average we have not included the value of intangible personalty nor the taxes imposed thereon at the special low rates for which provision is made in Section 16 of Article XIII of the Constitution, adopted in November, 1928. Because of the fundamental differences between the methods of taxation employed with reference to other nonoperative property and with reference to intangibles, it has seemed necessary to exclude the latter in the calculation of the average tax burden on the former.

This tax burden is not the average of the tax rates applied to the assessed values of property, but represents the ratio between the aggregate of all kinds of taxes levied against property for local purposes and the total actual value of all property so taxed in this state. The actual value used for this comparison has been ascertained from appraisements and estimates made under the direction of this Board.

Our investigation has disclosed that property taxed on an ad valorem basis in California is not assessed ordinarily at its full market value.

Subject to the possible exceptions above noted, we find that the assessments average about 39.95 per cent of the appraised or market value of the property. However, as the tables appended to this report will disclose, there are wide variations from this average in the several counties of the state.

To determine the percentage of actual value represented by the assessments in the several counties, we ascertained the actual value of selected properties in each county for comparison with the values as fixed by the county assessor on the same properties. For this purpose separate calculations were made as to the relative values of property inside and outside of cities as will be observed from tables 1 and 2 on pages 22 and 23 following. The percentages thus determined were applied to the corresponding total assessed valuations of the county, in order to arrive at the aggregate actual value of the property taxed locally therein. Such procedure was followed in forty-one counties of the state, while in the remaining seventeen counties, with relatively small assessed valuations, an average percentage of true value was used without reference to whether the property was inside or outside of municipalities. The computations concerning these seventeen counties will be found in table 3 on page 24 following.

As previously explained, valuations placed upon intangible personalty, such as solvent credits and corporate stocks and bonds, have been omitted from these calculations because property of this character was taxed in 1929 and 1930 at special low rates on its actual value pursuant to the requirements of a constitutional amendment adopted in November, 1928. Data concerning these assessments are to be found in schedules B and C of the appendix to our current biennial report but for convenient reference we have correlated them into a table appended hereto showing the actual value of solvent credits and other intangibles taxed at special low rates on that basis. (See table 4 on page 25 following.) The law directs the taxation of solvent credits at ten cents per $100 of actual value and of other intangibles at twenty cents per $100 of actual value. (Section 3627a, Political Code.) At these rates we estimate the taxes accruing from these sources at $508,809.59 for solvent credits and $2,630,271.83 for other intangibles or a total of $3,139,081.42. However, we feel that the inclusion of the valuation of the intangibles and the taxes thereon in the calculation of the average tax burden on nonoperative property generally would be obviously misleading. We mention the data concerning the taxation of intangibles here in order that they may be given such weight as may be deemed proper by those who desire to study the interrelation of the various tax burdens imposed under authority of the laws of the state.

After thus determining the actual value of property subject to ad valorem taxation in the fifty-eight counties, we compared the aggregate of these values with the total taxes levied on the property. As a result we find the constructive tax rate of 1.757. That is to say, the average local taxes levied in 1930 represented 1.757 per cent of the market or actual value of the property taxed.

SOURCES OF INFORMATION

Almost 5000 parcels of property were selected for appraisal in forty-one counties of the state. Of these 1445 were inside of incorporated cities or towns and 3053 were in rural districts. On the basis of assessed valuation these counties contain 98.02 per cent of the non-operative property in California, excluding the valuation of intangibles for the reasons previously stated. The selections were made under the personal supervision of the members of our board, who endeavored to choose only normal or representative properties.

The appraisers were appointed by board members, after careful consideration of their qualifications. Practical knowledge relating to land values was deemed indispensable in every instance. Care was exercised also to secure men of mature judgment, whose appraisals should prove sound and unbiased.

The list of properties to be valued was given to the appraiser with the direction that he fix appraisements thereon as his best judgment might indicate. These values were to be determined as of the first Monday in March, 1930, since that was the date to which all comparative assessments would relate. In several counties the services of two appraisers were used in order to secure the benefit of their combined judgment.

After each list of appraisements and the corresponding assessed valuations had been completed, it was subjected to careful examination in the office of our board and checked with comparative data obtained from other sources. Whenever discrepancies of any consequence were discovered verification of values was required.

In the remaining seventeen counties, representing only 1.98 per cent of the total assessed valuation of nonoperative property in the state, the board deemed it inadvisable to undertake appraisements on such an intensive scale, as the amount appropriated for the purposes of this investigation was barely adequate to meet the expenses already incurred. The several assessors of these counties were asked to furnish statements as to the percentages of true value represented by their assessments. The information so obtained was verified by resort to official records and other competent sources. Since only a small proportion of the total value is included in the data for these counties, the possibility of a material percentage of error is negligible.

To secure information concerning the amount of local tax levies, we asked for the assistance of county auditors, city clerks and other local revenue officials. Through their courteous response we were enabled to collect the necessary data. We gratefully acknowledge our indebtedness to them for this information.

TOTAL LOCAL TAXES

The aggregate of all county, city and district taxes levied in California for the current fiscal year was $306,752,050, marking an increase of $14,883,742 over the corresponding total of $291,868,308 for 1928, which was the last year covered by similar investigations of this Board. Meanwhile, the actual value of nonoperative property has grown to $17,454,703,275 as contrasted with $16,131,847,561 two years ago. It will be observed that the percentage of increase in taxes is only 5.099 as against a percentage of increase in actual value of the property taxed of 8.200, so that the tax burden on each $100 has decreased from $1.809 in 1928 to $1.757 in 1930. However, we repeat that these figures relate only to average tax burden and that in many cases the actual burden is quite different. In the course of our investigation of tax matters we have encountered numerous instances where the actual tax burden is greater now than it was two years ago.

In arriving at the total amount of taxes all special taxes were considered, including all sums levied "for county and municipal taxation." Special assessments, such as irrigation and reclamation district levies, which do not constitute taxes in contemplation of law, were excluded.

THE AVERAGE BURDEN OF STATE TAXATION

Public utility corporations and others taxed under subdivision (a) of section 14 of article XIII of the constitution on a gross receipts basis in lieu of other taxes were asked to report to the State Board of Equalization concerning the values of their operative property, as required by the provisions of chapter 154, Statutes of 1921. A separate report will be made to the Legislature concerning these returns.

Because of intrinsic differences, the valuation of utility properties for tax purposes presents many difficult problems not encountered in the appraisal of the usual types of nonoperative property. Unless due allowance is made for these factors, comparison of values is apt to lead to serious errors in judgment as to relative tax burdens.

After detailed calculations, described in our separate report on utility values, we have concluded that the average tax burden on each $100 of actual value of operative property is $1.466. Naturally, there is a wide range of variance in individual cases, just as there is with nonoperative property, but such conditions are inevitable, and we do not believe the facts warrant any unusual concern.

An intelligent adjustment of tax burden could not be predicated merely upon mathematical comparison of constructive rates, although these are, of course, useful. Complete analysis should be made of the causes in each instance, before attempting to formulate any conclusion as to possible adjustment.

SPECIAL REPORT CONCERNING OPERATIVE PROPERTY VALUES REQUIRED UNDER CHAPTER 154, STATUTES 1921

SPECIAL REPORT CONCERNING OPERATIVE PROPERTY VALUES REQUIRED UNDER CHAPTER 154, STATUTES 1921

To the Legislature of California:

FOREWORD

“Value” is a variable term. We made this observation in our last report and because of its pertinence to any consideration of operative property values, we repeat it now. There is “value in use” which is synonymous with worth or utility. There is “value in exchange” which is equivalent to price. To employ these terms interchangeably leads to confusion.

For the purpose of taxation “value” means the amount at which property would be taken in payment of a just debt from a solvent debtor. (Political Code, section 3617.) Price, uncontrolled by any unusual circumstances, is synonymous with this conception of value and, therefore, should constitute the criterion for taxation.

Six different methods of valuation are required in connection with operative properties of public utilities for the purposes of the reports prescribed by chapter 154, Statutes 1921. They are:

1. Physical value.
2. Stock and bond value.
3. Value as determined by the Railroad Commission.
4. Value urged for a rate base.
5. Reproduction cost.
6. Original or historical value.

Since no precise basis for “physical value” is fixed by the statute, the companies were asked to state the reproduction cost less depreciation and to supplement this information with original or historical value, less accrued depreciation. Thus, seven distinct values are set forth in the summaries of valuation reports appearing on pages 35 et seq.

In these summaries we have included the names of only those companies which have reported at least one of the several valuations. Where no amount is set forth concerning any particular value, the reason is that the taxpayer failed to furnish sufficient data. These omissions have been attributed almost invariably to inability to secure the information.

COMPARATIVE VALUES

Two years ago we expressed a preference for stock and bond values. Since then there has been an almost unprecedented change in these values so that it can not be said with any degree of certainty that they connote “value in exchange” such as is contemplated by the statutory definition of “value” for tax purposes. In time of violent economic adjustment such as we are now experiencing, stock and bond values do not have that stability which was attributable to them when we made our last report to the Legislature.

Original or historical value, even if depreciated, will not satisfy our need for an equivalent of "value in exchange." Like reproduction values, historical values have reference to costs and may be far from sale values. In many instances utilities now in operation would not be reproduced if the property should cease to exist, for the reason that changing conditions have made the investment so unattractive as to destroy to a large degree its value in exchange. Inasmuch as values, either urged or fixed for rate bases, involve primarily the reasonableness of the return on the investment, they, too, do not appear to furnish acceptable measurements for price, although they are in some cases helpful in testing the reliability of values otherwise obtained.

It should be observed, however, that all of these values are useful in an attempt to arrive at the actual or market value of operative property and should be considered in a study of this character.

To construct an average tax burden we used stock and bond values wherever obtainable for the reason that such values were more generally available and afforded the best common denominator. However, the majority of short line railroads stated this year as they did in 1928, when similar reports were last required, that their securities were practically valueless. We found that through use of "cost" figures, such as historical or reproduction values, fictitiously high worth was ascribed to their properties, which obviously could not be sold for such amounts. Consequently, in order to obtain values whose use could be justified in a tax study, we requested the short line steam railroads to submit data from which we could capitalize their net operative income over the period of the last five years. Because several of the roads had not enjoyed any average net during that time, we were unable to arrive at a valuation for them on this basis. However, in a number of cases we did obtain a valuation which is shown in the "stock and bond" column of the tables on pages 35 et seq. In making our capitalization we used the rate of 7 per cent, although it may be that a somewhat larger percentage would have been warranted.

By use of these constructive values necessarily determined by various methods including the employment of depreciated original value, cost of reproduction less depreciation and value fixed for rate purposes, as well as capitalization of net earnings and stock and bond values as above indicated, we were able to arrive at total valuations for the properties of companies taxed on a gross receipts basis.

COMPARATIVE TAX BURDENS

Comparison of this total valuation with the aggregate gross receipts taxes was made to determine the constructive ad valorem tax rate. A weighted average based on the incomplete information available shows that the taxes imposed on the public utilities taxed on a gross receipts basis are equivalent to $1.466 on each $100 of actual value of their operative property. While this rate is somewhat lower than the corresponding burden of $1.757 on nonoperative property, we do not believe the difference is sufficient to occasion concern or to necessitate immediate revision of rates. Desirable as it may be theoretically, absolute equality of tax burden is unobtainable practically. Each of these rates is "constructive," representing an average of many actual burdens which differ widely. Numerous factors must be weighed and considered before reaching conclusions concerning changes in rates.

POSSIBLE ADJUSTMENTS OF BURDEN

With our limited facilities we have found it impossible to refine the results indicated by our studies to show with reliability the average tax burden on the actual value of the operative property of each class of utilities. In more normal times we might conclude that we could rely upon such stock and bond values as were obtainable, but for the reasons which we have already indicated we hesitate to do so this year. We believe that any tabulation which we might attempt from the data now at hand purporting to show the tax burden on each class of utilities would be of an inconclusive character. However, all of our studies in calculation of relative burdens can be made available for whatever value may attach to them.

Although our data indicate that there are variations both above and below the constructive rate of $1.757 on nonoperative property we do not believe that the situation demands drastic action. A degree of variance one way or the other is inevitable. Moreover, the fact must be borne in mind that our conclusions are based upon valuations affected by abnormal market conditions and for this reason are less reliable than might be desired for the purpose of adjusting tax rates. In the final analysis, the question of whether or not the variations are sufficient to warrant adjustment of rates is a matter for legislative determination. Therefore, we place our data before the members of the Legislature for such conclusions as their own good judgment may dictate.

VARIATION WITHIN CLASSES

Individual inequalities seem to be inherent in every tax system and the gross receipts method is no exception. At best, all that can be done is to strike a fair average. There are always exceptional cases in which the tax burden will appear either too low or too high. If we attempt to provide for all of these, the overrefinement resulting from our effort to produce absolute equality is more than apt to cause serious disturbance to the whole tax system. Rules of taxation may be likened to rules of law; they are essential to organized society but not always productive of completely satisfactory results in their uniform application. Experience, however, has taught that positive guidance of these rules is necessary for our mutual protection and that their relaxation, even from the best of motives, is fraught with dangerous consequences.

TABULATED STATEMENTS

On the following pages we append tables showing in self-explanatory detail the data from which the conclusions in this report have been deduced. It must be understood that valuations contained in these tables are based upon the reports filed with us by the several companies and that we have had no opportunity to make independent tests of their accuracy.

October 31, 1930.

To His Excellency,

HON. C. C. YOUNG,

Governor of the State of California.

DEAR SIR: In accordance with Section No. 2537 of the Political Code of the State of California, the Board of State Harbor Commissioners submits herewith its report for the biennium commencing July 1, 1928, and ending June 30, 1930, the eightieth and eighty-first fiscal years.

Respectfully,

BOARD OF STATE HARBOR COMMISSIONERS,

C. L. TILDEN, President.

FRANK C. SYKES.

PAUL SCHARRENBURG.

FERRY BUILDING TOWER ILLUMINATED.

THE PORT OF SAN FRANCISCO

The port of San Francisco is located in Central California on the west coast of the United States, almost midway between the Canadian and Mexican borders. This port is owned and operated by the State of California, and the management is vested in the Board of State Harbor Commissioners, consisting of three members who are appointed by and serve at the pleasure of the Governor.

The jurisdiction of the Board extends over all of the Bay front within the City and County of San Francisco, excepting that position on the extreme western end, fronting the Presidio and Fort Mason, which is owned and occupied by the Federal Government.

The waterfront under the Board's management includes considerable contiguous industrial land and the Embarcadero, a 200 foot thoroughfare running parallel with the waterfront line, and is approximately ten miles in length, the northern one-half of which is fully developed.

The port of San Francisco has been owned and operated by the State of California continuously since 1863, and has always been entirely self-supporting. All expenses of the port, including operation and maintenance costs and bond interest, and sinking fund requirements, have been met from port revenues. Bonds to the extent of $16,903,000 were outstanding as at June 30, 1930, and except for this amount the cost of all facilities and port development has been paid out of port revenues.

The port is operated on a non-profit basis, and the port charges are extremely low, being fixed at the minimum necessary to produce only sufficient funds to cover the expense of operation and development costs.

In service at the present time are 49 piers and terminals, 15 passenger and automobile ferry slips, 6 car ferry slips, and in addition numerous small wharves and bulkhead wharves connecting all of the piers. The piers range in length from 600 feet to 1300 feet, and in width from 100 feet to 386 feet. The slips between the structures range from 150 feet to 350 feet in width—these facilities provide 8,037,622 square feet of cargo area equal to over 184 acres and 91,930 lineal feet of berth space equal to over 17 miles.

Two new reinforced concrete piers, Number 1 and Number 15 are now under construction—pier Number 1 located immediately north of the Ferry Building is approximately 700 feet long and 150 feet wide, and will be completed about January, 1931. Pier Number 15 will replace the old pier of the same number. This pier will be approximately 800 feet long and 160 feet wide, and is scheduled to be placed in service late in 1931.

VIEW ON THE EMBARCADERO SHOWING PIER FRONTS.

The State Belt Railroad also operated by the Board of State Harbor Commissioners, runs along the Embarcadero and extends from the Presidio to Channel Street. This road, operating 65 miles of track and 8 modern switch engines, provides a twenty-four hour switching service between the piers, industrial spurs adjacent to the waterfront, and all railroads entering the City.

In addition to those previously mentioned, there are many important special facilities, among which is the Ferry Building and Union Depot, one of the most famous and best known passenger terminals in the world, located in the center of the developed waterfront, facing the foot of Market Street, San Francisco's principal retail thoroughfare. Over fifty-one million persons passed through this building during the last year. A large fleet of ferry boats ply between this terminal and Oakland, Alameda, Berkeley, Sausalito, Belvedere, Richmond, and Vallejo, and connect with the East Bay transcontinental lines of the Southern Pacific, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, and Western Pacific Railroads. They also connect with the Napa & Calistoga Railroad at Vallejo, and with the Northwestern Pacific Railroad at Sausalito.

The Islais Grain Terminal is 1250 feet long and 220 feet wide, with adequate wharf space, and is equipped with up-to-date cleaning and grading machinery. This terminal is given over entirely for the handling of grain for export.

The States Products Terminal, located at China Basin and extending from Third Street to the Embarcadero, is a reinforced concrete structure 812 feet long, 134 feet wide, and two stories high. A portion of the second floor contains the Refrigeration plant and the balance of the second floor and all of the first floor is used as a concentration point for canned goods, dried fruits, cotton and other farm products in transit to foreign and intercostal ports. The foundation and lower floors are capable of supporting four additional stories when these are warranted. This building is equipped with a second floor loading platform on the water side, and an elevated driveway to the second floor on the land side. Adjoining this building, on state property, a privately operated fumigation plant has been established for the fumigation of cotton and other commodities when required.

There are also adequate facilities for the handling of mineral and vegetable oils, molasses, etc., by pipe lines direct from vessels to tanks, and a large area with every convenience, is set aside especially for the important fishing industry.

San Francisco ranks second among United States ports in the value of water-borne commerce. San Francisco Bay is the best harbor on the Pacific Coast, and one of the finest in the world. The entrance to this landlocked harbor is the famous Golden Gate, approximately one mile wide and three miles long. The depth of water in this channel is sufficient to permit the largest vessels afloat to pass in or out of the harbor with perfect safety at any time.

The Bay proper has an area of 450 square miles with 100 miles of shore line. It is 48 miles long and has a maximum width of 13 miles. Two large navigable rivers, the Sacramento and the San Joaquin, flow into the Bay from the two great interior valleys of the same names, which form a vast inland empire of over thirty million acres. Million of tons of the products of these valleys reach the port of San Francisco annually by truck, rail, and water for shipment to all parts of the world.

REPORT OF BOARD OF STATE HARBOR COMMISSIONERS

Notwithstanding the fact that the tonnage of most United States ports has fallen off materially during the last year, the tonnage of the Port of San Francisco was greater for the fiscal biennium ended June 30, 1930, than for the previous two-year period. Cargo passing over the piers from July 1, 1926, to June 30, 1928, amounted to 21,985,937 tons, and from July 1, 1928, to June 30, 1930, 22,346,902 tons, an increase of 360,965 tons.

Tonnage statistics on another page of this report show a total of 24,088,213 tons for the last two-year period. This figure, however, includes 1,741,311 tons of inbound coastwise and inland waterway cargo, reshipped, upon which the tariff provides but one toll shall be levied. This class of cargo has not heretofore been accounted as inbound tonnage, and in order that the two biennial periods may be comparable, it is not included in the figures quoted above, but it arrives at this port by water, is discharged from a coastwise or inland waterway vessel and put aboard a foreign or intercoastal vessel consigned to another port, and is therefore properly classed, first as inbound, and second as outbound tonnage.

The total revenue of the harbor from July 1, 1926, to June 30, 1928, amounted to $6,041,799.16 and from July 1, 1928, to June 30, 1930, $6,448,685.51, an increase of $406,886.35.

Operating expenses for the biennium as reflected by a revised accounting system, amounted to $3,105,498.65. This was an increase of $119,985.22 over the previous biennium. Of this increase, however, $104,245.71 is made up of delayed charges and power service costs not reflected in the cost of operation for the previous biennium, but so classified during this biennium, and of expenditures for the maintenance of facilities in excess of those for the preceding two years.

To make the operating figures for this and the previous biennium comparable, the above amount should be deducted from the increase of $119,985.22. By so doing, the actual net increase in the operating cost for the last two-year period is reduced to $15,739.51. During this time extensive new facilities have been placed in service and the gross revenue of the port was increased by over $400,000. Additional expense has been necessary to operate these new facilities, and to handle the increased volume of business.

Wage increases have been allowed to approximately 480 harbor employees during this Board's incumbency, and a large number of these increases are reflected, in whole or in part, in the increased operating cost for this biennium. If the amounts represented by the wage increases and expense of maintaining new facilities were deducted, the result would indicate a net decrease in operating expenses for the port.

The net revenue for the biennium after paying all expenses of administration, operation, and maintenance was $3,343,186.86, an increase of $286,901.15 over the net revenue for the previous biennium.

Deductions from net revenue amounted to $1,399,621.60, of which $1,398,223.33 was for bond interest and discount, and $1,398.27 for noncollectible accounts receivable. These deductions totaled $210,993.72 more than similar deductions for the previous biennial period.

The increase is made up of interest on additional bonds sold for the purpose of increasing the facilities of the harbor and the commission or discount on the sale of these bonds.

Irrespective of the fact that bond interest and discount charges were materially increased, that there was considerable increase in the expenditure for maintenance of harbor properties, and that substantial amounts covering expenditures which were heretofore not charged to operation were included in that charge for the last biennial period, the current revenue surplus for the biennium amounted to $1,943,565.26, an increase of $75,908.41 over the surplus for the two previous years.

Capital expenditures during the biennium amounted to $3,131,080.26, which amount was $653,351.83 in excess of expenditures for improvements during the previous biennium.

Of the total amount expended for this purpose, $1,756,037.27 was funded from harbor revenues, and $1,375,042.99 was expended from the proceeds of bond sales.

Many major construction contracts under way at the commencement of the biennium have been completed; many others have been initiated and completed, and others started during the biennium are now in various stages of completion.

Included in the first group are two new piers, No. 45 and No. 48, an extension to Islais Grain Terminal, which practically doubled the capacity of that facility, extensions to Piers 30 and 32, a connecting wharf and building between Piers 26 and 28, repairs to the concrete beams and girders at Pier 54, a new dredge, and two new mud scows.

The second group includes the following: Four sheds on Pier 45, including steel rolling doors and painting; a car ferry slip at the outer end of Pier 45; two sheds on Pier 48, including steel rolling doors and painting; steel rolling doors for the building between Piers 26 and 28; excavation of rock at Fisherman's Basin; paving and track work at Islais outer wharf; paving a portion of Fourth Street between Third Street and Pier 54; resurfacing block pavements on the Embarcadero with Topeka wearing surface; painting Pier 29 and Islais Grain Terminal, and the construction of a shipside Refrigeration Terminal in the building known as the State Products Terminal, located on the Channel at China Basin, between the Embarcadero and Third Street.

The third group includes the new Pier 1 and adjacent bulkhead wharf, including a new office for the Chief Wharfinger; a new Pier 15 to replace the old obsolete pier of the same number; the extension of the second floor loading platform for the Refrigeration Terminal; extension repairs to the concrete beams and girders at Pier 26; installation of a new lighting system for the Ferry Building tower, and painting the Ferry Building and adjoining structures.

In compliance with the growing demands for a shipside refrigeration terminal for precooling perishable farm products for export, such a plant, modern in every particular, was constructed in the State Products Terminal Building at China Basin, and was placed in operation in May, 1930. Many farmers throughout the State have taken advantage of this facility to dispose of their surplus fruit crops and, as a result, a steady stream of perishable products is passing through this plant to foreign ports. This facility promises to become an important factor in the development of foreign markets for California fruits.

During the past year first aid stations have been installed on the principal piers along the waterfront. Formerly, waterfront workers injured on the wharves were compelled to lie on the docks and received inadequate, if any, attention while awaiting the arrival of an ambulance. The installation of these stations, fully equipped, will result in the saving of lives and the elimination of unnecessary suffering.

This Board, with the City and County of San Francisco participating to the extent of approximately one-fourth of the purchase price, has also acquired the property at the corner of the Embarcadero and Clay Street, from the private owners. This piece of property extends into the Embarcadero so as to create a dangerous "bottleneck" between the sidewalk and the vehicular tunnel on the Embarcadero. The acquisition of this property makes possible the widening of the Embarcadero at this point. It is planned to make this change as soon as certain details in connection with the purchase of the property and the leases thereon are settled.

During the biennium, 832,985 square feet of cargo space, equal to 19.2 acres, were added to the facilities. The berth space for vessels was increased by 3730 linear feet, and 2.8 miles of track were added to the Belt Railroad.

Because of the insistent demands for additional space on the waterfront and the many indications pointing to accelerated growth in the commerce of the port in the near future, the Board became convinced of the necessity for adding to the facilities more rapidly than can be done from port revenues alone. A $10,000,000 harbor bond issue was therefore proposed and approved by the State Legislature during its 1929 session for submission to the voters of the State at the election to be held in November, 1930. The harbor has always been self-supporting, and all expenses in connection with this bond issue, including interest and redemption requirements, will be met from harbor revenues if the issue is finally approved.

The future program of the Board contemplates the removal of ten obsolete piers north of the Ferry Building and the replacing of these piers with eight modern concrete structures of greater dimensions. These old piers, constructed many years ago during the days of the sailing vessel, have served their purpose, but are now inadequate for modern ships and their cargoes. They have also depreciated to the point where it is impractical to maintain them longer. The smaller number of piers will also allow more room in the slips between the structures.

Other major projects planned for the near future include extensive wharves and other improvements at Islais Creek, a lumber terminal, an additional pier between Piers 50 and 54, participation with the City and County of San Francisco in the construction of a new bridge at Third and Channel Streets, to be followed by the extension and operation of the Belt Railroad south of the Channel, and the probable expansion of the Refrigeration Terminal.

During the last two years, the former inadequate methods of recording the transactions of the Board have been completely replaced by a modern accounting system devised and installed in cooperation with the State Department of Finance. Much of the accounting work is now accomplished by the use of up-to-date tabulating and bookkeeping machines. This new system has made readily available much more comprehensive and accurate accounting records and statistical data, so essential to the proper management of any large business.

There follow reports covering in detail the operations of the various departments, the financial transactions of the Board, and statistical data for the biennium, together with general information with regard to the port.

MODERN LINER AT BERTH.

REPORT OF CHIEF ENGINEER

To the Board of State Harbor Commissioners, San Francisco, California.

GENTLEMEN: I beg to submit for your consideration my report as Chief Engineer of the Board of State Harbor Commissioners, for the two fiscal years beginning July 1, 1928, and ending June 30, 1930.

The following structures which were under construction at the time of the presentation of the last biennial report on July 1, 1928, were completed and accepted as follows:

Pier 45 substructure, which was 81 per cent completed, was accepted as completed on January 30, 1929.

Pier 48 substructure, which was 7.3 per cent completed, was accepted as complete on July 17, 1929.

Grain Terminal Extension, the substructure of which was 77.2 per cent completed, was accepted as complete on August 1, 1928, and the shed, the contract for which had been awarded, was completed on October 31, 1928.

Bulkhead Wharf and Building, Piers 26 and 28, which were 17.4 per cent completed, were accepted as complete on December 19, 1928.

Pier 54 Repairs, which were 54 per cent completed, were accepted as complete on November 14, 1928.

For the purposes of this report, in which the principal activities of the Engineering Department during these two fiscal years will be considered, the work of the department will be divided as follows:

1. Piers and Wharves.
2. Buildings.
3. Refrigeration Terminal.
4. Paving.
5. Reclamation.
6. Maintenance and Repair.
7. Dredging.
8. Electrical.
9. Testing.
10. Designing and Drafting.
11. General.

1. PIERS AND WHARVES

Pier 1.

Plans for the substructure of Pier 1 were under way at the time of the last report and these were completed and a contract for its construction awarded on October 9, 1929. The pier is 706 feet in length, and 152 feet in width at the inner end, narrowing to 120 feet at the outer end. This variation in width is necessitated on account of its southerly side being located immediately adjacent to Ferry Slip A. The pier is entirely of reinforced concrete construction, the supporting members being timber piles protected by precast reinforced concrete jackets. A depressed railroad track extends along the southerly side and as it was planned primarily for a river boat terminal, four adjustable cargo aprons are provided on the northerly side adjacent to the steamer berths. The substructure of Pier 1 was 91.88 per cent completed on June 30, 1930.

The program of replacement of the group of old and more or less obsolete piers now existing between the Ferry Building and Pier 29, was inaugurated by the awarding of a contract for the substructure of Pier 15 on May 14, 1930. The existing pier, which was constructed in 1915, originally carried coal bunkers along one side and on account of its insufficient width and its track arrangement, was unsuitable for use as a general cargo pier. It was 90 feet wide and the new structure was increased to 160 feet in width, the length remaining as before, 794 feet. As the creosoted piles in the old structure were in good condition, they were utilized as far as possible in the new pier. Both old and new piles are protected by reinforced concrete jackets and the deck is also of reinforced concrete. A railroad track is provided on each side of the pier, one track being depressed and one flush with the deck.

The substructure of Pier 15 was 2.3 per cent completed on June 30, 1930.

Pier 45. Ferry Slip.

In constructing the substructure of Pier 45, provision was made for a car ferry slip in the center of the outer end. The ferry apron, hoisting machinery and head frame from one of the slips at Powell Street were moved to the new location and a new fender system and head house were constructed.

The construction of the slip was completed on August 7, 1929.

Pier 45. Transit Sheds.

The four transit sheds on Pier 45 are of steel frame construction with reinforced concrete walls, steel rolling doors and steel sash glazed with wired glass. Except for the bulkhead buildings, which are of cast in place concrete, the walls are of precast reinforced concrete slabs. Offices for the steamship companies are provided in the bulkhead buildings.

The two inner sheds are 123 feet in width and the east and west outer sheds are the same width at the inner end but are reduced to 99 feet and 83 feet, respectively, at the outer end on account of the space occupied by the car ferry slip. The four sheds have a total length of 2440 feet.

On the roof at the outer end of the outer shed on the westerly side of the pier a lookout station was provided for the Marine Department of the Chamber of Commerce. From this point there is an unobstructed view out through the Golden Gate and around the waterfront for a considerable distance to the east and southeast.

The contract for the construction of the four transit sheds on Pier 45 was awarded on August 15, 1928, and they were completed on May 17, 1929.

Pier 48. Transit Sheds.

The two transit sheds on Pier 48 are of the same type of construction as those on Pier 45. They are each 123 feet in width, the northerly shed is 690 feet and the southerly shed is 701 feet in length. Two steamship offices are provided in the bulkhead building at the inner end of each shed.

The contract for the construction of the sheds on Pier 48 was awarded on May 17, 1929, and they were completed and accepted on March 12, 1930.

3. REFRIGERATION TERMINAL

In order to provide space for the handling of export shipments of perishable farm products, particularly fresh fruit, a shipside refrigeration terminal was constructed in the easterly end of the State Products Terminal at China Basin. A section of the second floor of the building 100 feet in width and 263 feet in length was divided by partitions so as to provide seven rooms with the necessary corridors. The walls, floors and ceilings of these rooms were insulated with cork and coils and bunkers were installed to permit of cooling by brine circulation.

A machinery room was partitioned off on the first floor of the building and the necessary ammonia compressors with direct connected synchronous motors, water pumps, brine cooler and brine pumps were installed. The ammonia condenser and cooling tower were located outside the building at the east end of the machinery room.

The equipment provided also includes a controlled ozone machine with connections to each room, a forced air circulation system, the necessary recording and direct reading instruments for controlling temperature and humidity and an elevator and two spiral chutes for handling cargo between the two floors.

The storage space is located adjacent to the second floor truck driveway and platform on the land side and to the ship loading platform on the water side. The latter was extended easterly to Pier 46 so that cargo can be loaded on two steamships at the same time. The terminal is served by two depressed railroad tracks and one flush track which connect with the Belt Railroad.

The work was divided into separate contracts as follows: Building alterations and additions; insulation; refrigeration machinery and piping; elevator; ozone equipment; spiral chutes and ship loading platform. The first contracts were awarded on November 13, 1929, and the work was completed and the plant ready for operation on April 30, 1930.

In order to provide better facilities for the increasing truck traffic on the waterfront, various sections of the Embarcadero and adjacent streets were improved by laying a bituminous wearing surface over the existing basalt block pavement. Continuous traffic extending over a long period of time had compacted the block pavement so that it furnished an excellent base and along the Embarcadero a materially increased width of smooth pavement was provided at a minimum of expense. The sections which were surfaced in this manner were on the Embarcadero from Bay Street to Lombard Street, Union Street to Jackson Street, and Mission Street to Howard Street, on Main Street between Bryant Street and the Embarcadero and on Fourth Street from Third Street to Pier 54.

Following the completion of Piers 45 and 48, the Grain Terminal Extension and the Bulkhead Wharf between Piers 26 and 28, the decks of the structures were surfaced with the standard Topeka pavement.

5. RECLAMATION

A portion of Central Basin lying between Seventeenth and Mariposa Streets and east of Illinois Street was for many years covered by a timber wharf which was used for a lumber terminal. The maintenance expense on the wharf became excessive and it was decided that the property should be reclaimed. The wharf was removed and by taking advantage of various grading operations which were under way, a rock wall was constructed and the area filled at a minimum of expense. The property, which has an area of approximately 4 acres, is now available for industrial development.

When the need arises it will be possible to construct an apron wharf approximately 500 feet in length along the east side of the property with a shorter wharf along the north side.

6. MAINTENANCE AND REPAIR

The customary maintenance and repair work on the piers, wharves, buildings, slips, pavements, etc., was carried on as usual during the biennium. The largest items consisted in the reconstruction of fender lines and the replacement of piles and deck timbers in the piers and wharves, the replacement of sills under the walls, the double sheathing of the walls and the reroofing of a number of the old timber transit sheds. This particularly applies to Piers 11, 20, 25, 42 and 44.

As usual considerable repair work was done on account of damages for which the steamship and ferry companies were responsible and for which the Board was reimbursed. Also numerous small construction jobs were handled for the various tenants and the total receipts from these sources during the two years amounted to $162,379.

In the last biennial report mention was made of the awarding of contracts for the construction of a new clam-shell dredge and two dump scows. The dredge was of steel construction built to handle a four-cubic yard bucket and the scows were of timber of 300 cubic yards capacity.

The scows were completed and accepted on August 3, 1928, and the dredge on December 5, 1928. Prior to the completion of the new equipment, Dredge No. 3 was operated with three watches. Since the new equipment was put in operation, each dredge has been operated with two watches a day.

PIER 45 TRANSIT SHEDS—STEEL FRAME.

The new dredge has demonstrated its superiority, in the quantity of material handled per watch and also in its economy of operation both in the consumption of fuel oil and water. It also operates equally well right and left handed, which is unusual in dredges of this type and is a distinct advantage in certain cases.

8. ELECTRICAL

During their construction and in conformity with our customary practice our own forces made complete lighting and power intallations in the sheds on Piers 45 and 48, the Grain Terminal Extension, the bulkhead wharf building between Piers 26 and 28 and the Refrigeration Terminal. New street lighting was provided in front of Piers 45, 48 and 50; and in front of the Ferry Building new 2500-candle-power series lighting units were installed, which increased the quantity of light to four times what had previously been provided.

The Ferry Building tower, which is a landmark in San Francisco, was for many years illuminated by the customary outline lighting. Extensive repairs and replacement became necessary and as an alternative it was decided to install a system of indirect lighting. This was accomplished by the use of 20 large flood lights and 300 smaller projectors, together with 62 hot cathode, low voltage neon tubes which throw a soft, red light on the walls behind the columns on the upper levels. An amber glass lantern at the base of the flagpole tops off the dome and four mercury vapor tubes behind the clock faces emit a greenish-blue light which contrasts with the white light of the main flood lights.

The work of the testing laboratory has been increasingly important and valuable during the last two years in connection with work done for this Board, as well as for the Bureau of Architecture of the Department of Public Works. The following are some of the more important items of work which have been handled:

The sampling, sealing, testing and shipping of all Portland cement.

The sampling and testing of structural and reinforcing steel, metal lath and wire fabric as well as the inspection of the fabrication of structural steel for the Harbor Commission and of both structural and reinforcing steel for the Bureau of Architecture.

The sampling and analysis of ingredients and the supervision of the manufacture of paint.

The sampling, analysis and testing of ingredients and the proportioning of asphalt paving mixtures.

The sampling, testing and proportioning of concrete materials and the testing of concrete.

The testing of galvanized sheet metal, electrical conduit, oils, prepared paints, rope and various other materials and supplies.

During the two years 600 tests of Portland cement were made, 87 of sand, 131 of crushed rock, 550 of concrete and 2650 of reinforcing and structural steel.

10. DESIGNING AND DRAFTING

During the last two years plans were prepared for the work referred to earlier in this report and preliminary sketches were made for new projects which were under consideration. The ordinary routine work was cared for such as assignment records, checking of contractor's details, preliminary estimates, etc. In addition plans for the following were completed or are in course of preparation.

General layout for new piers between existing Piers 3 and 29.

Detail plans for Pier 5.

Studies and conferences with the City Engineer's office regarding a new bridge over Channel Street at Third Street.

Plans for retaining wall and wharf along south side of Fishermen's Lagoon between Taylor and Jones Streets.

Plans for raising and reconstructing bulkhead wharf, buildings and street pavement between Mission and Harrison Streets.

Maps for traffic survey on Embarcadero.

Plans for changes and additions to Belt Railroad.

Plats and distributions for new rental system, valuation of properties and new accounting system.

11. GENERAL

During the two years covered by this report there has been a definite increase in the facilities of the port and considerable progress has been made in the rehabilitation of existing structures. Obviously this development must be continued in order to provide the necessary facilities for properly handling the expanding commerce which moves through the port.

In the last biennial report reference was made to the need for an adequate building for housing our shops and stores and for a garage. As was stated, the present quarters are inadequate and constitute a serious fire hazard and it is recommended that this project be carried out in the near future.

The annual convention of the American Association of Port Authorities was held in Houston, Texas, in 1928 and in Quebec in 1929. I represented the Board at both of these meetings and also served on various committees of the Association during the two years. An opportunity was afforded while en route to Quebec and return to inspect the port facilities at Chicago, Toronto, Montreal and New York. Mr. Squire attended the last two conventions of the Association of Pacific and Far East Ports at Tacoma and San Diego and served on committees of that organization.

In conclusion, I desire to express my appreciation of the support accorded to me by the Board in connection with the work of the biennial period and also to commend the faithful cooperation of all employees of the Engineering Department.

Respectfully submitted.

FRANK G. WHITE,
Chief Engineer.

REPORT OF CHIEF WHARFINGER

To the Honorable Board of State Harbor Commissioners, San Francisco, California.

GENTLEMEN: I herewith submit my report as the Chief Wharfinger of the Board of State Harbor Commissioners from July 1, 1928, to June 30, 1930.

The Wharfinger's Department controls the vessel operations and the berthing of vessels along the seventeen miles of berthing space and has jurisdiction over approximately 188 acres of pier area. The pier area is allotted to cargo operations in rotation, resulting in the maximum use per square foot of cargo area being secured. This department also initiates all charges for tolls, dockage and demurrage as set forth in the tariff regulations of the Board of State Harbor Commissioners.

The placing of the new Piers 45 and 48 in service has enabled us to take care of all operations and has been of great value in providing space for operators that were compelled to vacate their locations in order that the Commission could construct two new piers on the north side, namely, Pier 1 and Pier 15.

The wharf structure of Pier 1 is now finished and the building of the superstructure is under way. When completed this pier will be used by the river boats and will aid as a relief for the building of a new pier now under contemplation to take the place of old Pier 23.

The classes of service the various piers, bulkheads and terminals are mainly utilized for are as follows:

Coastwise: Total number—fourteen.

Piers 7, 16, 17, 18, 20, 24, 40, 43, Sec. D. Seawall, China Basin, 16th Street, 17th Street, Islais Inner and Islais Outer.

Inland Waterway: Total number—nine.

Piers 1, 3, 5, 9, 19, 23, 27, 38 and Tulare Street.

Intercoastal: Total number—ten.

Piers 21, 22, 26, 28, 29, 31, 35, 48, 50, 54.

Foreign: Total number—sixteen.

Piers 11, 25, 30, 32, 33, 34, 36, 37, 39, 41, 42, 44, 45, 46, State Products Terminal and Islais Creek Grain Terminal.

Miscellaneous: Fisherman's wharf and Refrigeration Terminal.

According to the records of the Wharfinger's Department the number of vessels docking at piers to load or discharge cargo during the last two yearly periods were as follows:

July 1, 1928, to June 30, 1929,

	Inland
Coastwise	Waterway	Foreign	Intercoastal	Total
9,434	42,730	2,164	1,256	55,584

July 1, 1929, to June 30, 1930,

	Inland
Coastwise	Waterway	Foreign	Intercoastal	Total

Respectfully submitted.

E. M. BUCKLEY,
Chief Wharfinger.

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF STATE BELT RAILROAD

To the Honorable Board of State Harbor Commissioners, San Francisco, California.

GENTLEMEN: I herewith submit my report as Superintendent of the State Belt Railroad for the period July 1, 1928, to June 30, 1930.

During this period we switched a total of 401,865 cars, consisting of 257,362 loaded and empty cars upon which revenue was collected and 144,503 empty cars upon which revenue was not collected. The peak day was October 15, 1928, when a total of 1083 cars were handled, and the daily average for the month was 854 cars. The "Across Market Street" movement for the period was 242,040 cars. At Powell Street, Pier 45 and Pier 36 Car Ferry Slips the car ferry floats of our connections made 10,121 trips, or an average of nearly seven trips per day the year around.

A daily average of 20 engine shifts was maintained during the peak load period of 1928, and 15 shifts in 1929. A twenty-four hour service is maintained each day, except Sundays and holidays, when service is limited to eight hours.

Maintenance of Way and Structures.

Under this heading we have reconstructed and made additions to our yard tracks, and installed several new crossovers.

On the north side of Market Street a track was built into our material yard which has completely eliminated the necessity of handling heavy materials by hand, saving time and expense, and the added advantage of placing all materials inside the enclosure.

Two additional leads were connected at Pier 45, making a total of three, which aids in quicker handling of switch movements on this the largest of all piers.

All the switches in the Powell Street storage yard had to be replaced, and in doing this work the tracks were so rearranged as to give additional car storage space. In the replacements eighty-five pound tee rail switches were used instead of the nine-inch girder rail switches, saving approximately forty per cent on material and fifteen per cent on labor.

Five new crossover switches were placed between main lines, making it possible to use parts of our main lines for storage and team track purposes during our period of congestion, permitting the switching of cars on other parts of the main lines without disturbing the cars placed for storage and unloading. The short crossover connecting the two main lines at Broadway was removed and a serviceable lead put in its place.

On the south side of Market street a general change was made in the yard between Folsom Street and the Channel. An additional track was connected to the main line at Folsom Street which gives us three main lines from that point to Pier 46 at the Channel.

Two short crossovers between main lines, Main to Spear Street, were removed, and serviceable replacements made. The lead to the Spear Street spur was lengthened, adding eight car lengths of room. Three tracks were added to Beale Street yard (Nos. 16, 17 and 18) giving room for eighteen additional cars.

Our transfer tracks with the Southern Pacific Company on King Street and Seawall Lot No. 23, being numbers 1, 2, 3, and 4, were rearranged and obsolete crossovers removed. This provided additional trackage for about twenty cars. Three new transfer tracks, 5, 6, and 7, were constructed, providing 31 car lengths additional space. A series of crossovers were installed so that the yard can be used to advantage at all times.

Switches in the Beale Street yard had to be replaced, and in doing this work, eighty-five pound tee rail material was used, instead of the girder rail switches, resulting in great saving.

Through these various changes we have gained much needed room for approximately 100 cars, and the additions and rearrangements make for operating efficiency and economy.

Wherever possible in these rearrangements we have used tee rail material, instead of the more expensive girder rail. Tee rail is just as serviceable, and there is no need for the other material except where the tracks lie in paved streets and grooved rail is necessary.

The main line crossing Market Street from one end of the Ferry Building to the other, a distance of 900 feet, has been out of repair for some time. This was reconstructed, using 60-foot 7-inch grooved rail, the alignment of the track being changed to eliminate curvature.

The track along the Marina, leading to the Presidio, and lying between Webster and Lyon Streets, approximately three-quarters of a mile, was moved over and reballasted. This provided an additional fifteen feet of driving space for the Marina Boulevard.

Plans for the reconstruction of the lead to the Northwestern Pacific yard have been completed. This will convert the old lead into another main line, which eventually will connect with track known as Davis Street team track and be extended southerly to a main line connection at Broadway. This work will be undertaken immediately after the close of the present fiscal period and will be completed about September 1, 1930.

Plans have also been completed for an additional main line from Broadway to a point near Pier 1, and work on this facility will be started in the near future.

Maintenance of Equipment.

Our motive power and equipment has been kept at a high standard by the personnel of the shops. We have recently purchased a boring bar for reboring the cylinders of the locomotives, and also a portable grinder, the combined cost of these tools being less than one thousand dollars.

In June of 1930, your Board authorized the master mechanic, Mr. W. E. Shafer, to attend the convention of the American Railway Association at Atlantic City. While there Mr. Shafer investigated the possibility of using oil-electric locomotives as a substitution for steam power on the Belt Railroad. While it seems a considerable saving can be made in maintenance and operating costs, the initial cost of the oil-electric locomotive makes the change inadvisable at this time.

I wish to take this opportunity to express my appreciation of the whole-hearted cooperation and support extended to me by the members of the Board and its personnel. Our endeavors to provide a complete and efficient service to the patrons of the State have been made effective by the universal cooperation of steamship companies and industries on our lines. Connecting railroads gave us material assistance in our endeavors to maintain schedules and render prompt service.

To the employees of this department I wish to extend my thanks for without their willing assistance such success as we have had would not have been possible.

Respectfully submitted.

J. H. WASSERBURGER,
Superintendent.

II

CLAIMS AGAINST AND IN BEHALF OF YOUR BOARD

(a) Claims Against Your Board.

Twenty-one claims for damages alleged to have arisen because of injuries to persons or property by reason of the operation and maintenance of the State Belt Railroad, and five claims for damages arising out of other accidents on the Waterfront, have been considered and the claimants or their attorneys answered. Liability in all cases was denied.

Nine claims against your Board and the State Compensation Insurance Fund or the Industrial Accident Commission, have been considered. Liability has been denied in five of these claims and one was dismissed without prejudice. Another one was settled and the award made and two are still pending, and will be taken care of in due course.

(b) Claims Made in Behalf of Your Board.

I have collected three claims in favor of your Board in the aggregate amount of $99.33 and am now endeavoring to collect two other claims.

James Hogue, an employee of the State Belt Railroad, was injured through being hit by a chute projecting over the right of way at the Pioneer Warehouse. As a result, he sustained a serious injury and in accordance with the regular procedure, presented his claim for compensation to the State Insurance Fund and was awarded the sum of $131.57. Upon investigation, I found that the Warehouse Company was at fault and I accordingly filed a claim on behalf of Mr. Hogue and succeeded in collecting the entire amount of $131.57 expended by your Board, and also secured an additional sum for Mr. Hogue over and above the amount which had already been paid him by the Fund, this, of course, without any expense either to the Board or Mr. Hogue.

James M. Adams, an employee of the State Belt Railroad, was injured by being struck by truck of Frank Nolan Draying Company. He is now receiving compensation from the State Compensation Insurance Fund but thinks he should receive more and I am investigating the matter for him.

III

STATE BELT RAILROAD

(a) Inquests: I have attended two Coroner's Inquests in connection with persons killed by the State Belt Railroad, and have secured a verdict, in each instance, absolving the said Railroad from all liability or blame.

(b) Accidents: I have received reports on, and considered sixty-four other accidents. In twenty-one of these cases, claims for damages were filed against your Board which I have disposed of as reported above under the heading "Claims." No claims relative to the remaining forty-three accidents have as yet been made.

(c) Litigation Involving Alleged Violations of The Federal Safety Appliance Act. A matter in which your Board is vitally interested is the question to be decided by the United States Courts, of the liability, if any, of your Board, individually, or in its representative capacity, for penalties or fines under the Federal Safety Appliance Act, in the operation of the State Belt Railroad.

This matter has, on various occasions, been presented by my predecessor in office to the United States District Court, the Circuit Court of Appeals and the United States Supreme Court, upon the theory that an action against your Board to impose such fines or penalties, is an action against the State of California, and cannot be maintained at all, or at any rate, not in the United States District Court.

The United States Courts have decided that such actions are not actions against the State, but that the Harbor Commissioners, individually, are personally liable for the fines upon a tort theory.

During the above period, I selected and presented to the United States Courts, a new test case raising two new points, viz: that the principal of respondeat superior has no application to public officers in connection with a tort committed by a subordinate officer, and that the Federal Safety Appliance Act did not authorize the imposition of a penalty against any individual but against a common carrier only. Judgment was rendered in the United States District Court for plaintiff in the sum of nine hundred ($900) dollars and costs. I appealed said case to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit and argued the same before the said Court on October 30, 1929. On November 12, 1929, said United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit certified to the Supreme Court of the United States for decision thereon, the questions of law involved in this case. I prepared and filed a brief in this matter in the Supreme Court of the United States and was to appear before said Court and make an oral argument during the month of April, 1930. However, prior to said time, it was decided to apply to the Supreme Court of

The United States for Writ of Certiorari requiring the entire record to be sent up to said Court so that it might consider and decide the whole matter in controversy. This application was accordingly made and the Motion was granted and the case passed to the next term of the court for hearing and decision, (to wit, October Term, 1930.)

In the meantime, judgments in four cases involving total penalties and costs of seven hundred sixty-five and 85/100 dollars ($765.85), were rendered against your predecessors in office and one judgment of one hundred dollars ($100) against the present Board. The United States Attorney's office took the position that these judgments were all final regardless of the final determination of the test case now pending before the United States Supreme Court, and instituted proceedings to collect four of said judgments.

In the case of United States vs. William A. Sherman et al., 17612, Writ of Execution was levied on personal property of defendant William A. Sherman to collect the judgment in said case in the sum of three hundred dollars ($300) and costs. I prepared and filed a motion for an order withdrawing, recalling and quashing said execution on the theory that it was erroneously issued against property of defendant William A. Sherman, individually. Said motion was denied by the United States District Court and I appealed from said order to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit, where this case is now under submission. It was heard at the same time as the test case mentioned above, and decision will probably not be rendered until such time as said test case has been finally determined.

In the case of United States vs. Charles L. Tilden et al., 17745, an Order to Show Cause was issued against the American Surety Company of New York with whom a supersedeas bond had been filed in connection with the appeal of this case to the United States Circuit Court. When argued and submitted before the United States District Court, summary judgment was entered against said Surety Company.

In the case of United States vs. McCallum et al., 16484, demand was made upon the American Surety Company of New York for the payment of judgment, costs and interest, under their appeal and supersedeas bond on Writ of Error.

In the case of United States vs. Chas. H. Spear et al., 17222, demand was also made upon the American Surety Company of New York for the payment of judgment, costs and interests, under their appeal and supersedeas bond on Writ of Error.

There is one other case in which judgment is final, to wit, United States vs. Spear et al., 17415. However, no appeal has been taken from this judgment, which amounts to one hundred dollars ($100) and costs, and up to the present time, there has been no attempt to collect the same.

There is also one case in which judgment has not been rendered, to wit, United States vs. William A. Sherman et al., 17478. This is a companion case to the test case now set for hearing at the October, 1930, term of the Supreme Court of the United States, and will be determined according to the decision of said test case.

I am bending every effort toward obtaining a favorable determination of the questions involved in the test case of Sherman et al. vs.

DREDGE "MAJOR TILDEN."

United States, No. 14, October Term, 1930, now pending before the United States Supreme Court, and am hopeful of doing so.

(d) Litigation Arising Out of the Operation of the State Belt Railroad.

Crean vs. Harbor Board.

This is an action for damages to the extent of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000), alleged to have arisen by reason of Charles Crean, husband of plaintiff, having met with a fatal accident on the State Belt Railroad. A demurrer will be filed in due course, and if overruled, all liability will be denied by answer and the case tried.

Delisser vs. State of California et al.

This is an action for damages to the extent of ten thousand dollars ($10,000), alleged to have arisen by reason of J. Delisser, an employee of the Berkeley Transportation Company, having met with an accident through the operation of the State Belt Railroad. Copies of complaint and summons in this matter were served on the Attorney General and also the Governor of the State of California, but up to the present time, the Board of State Harbor Commissioners has not been served, and therefore, it has not been necessary to file any pleadings on behalf of your Board.

Petterson vs. Harbor Board.

This is an action for damages to the extent of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000), alleged to have arisen by reason of George Petterson, an employee on the vessel "Henry S. Grove," having met with a serious accident on the State Belt Railroad. A demurrer was filed, argued and submitted and at the hearing of same, said demurrer was sustained without leave to amend.

Steel vs. San Francisco Warehouse Company, John Doe Railroad Company et al.

This is an action for damages to the extent of fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000), alleged to have arisen by reason of Thomas W. Steel having met with a serious accident through the alleged negligence of the San Francisco Warehouse Company, the State Belt Railroad and others. I investigated this matter fully and ascertained that the State Belt Railroad was in no way responsible for the negligence alleged in the complaint in this action. After several conferences with the Attorneys for Plaintiff in which I presented to them the facts and proofs sustaining my view that the State Belt Railroad was in no way liable for said negligence, I secured a Dismissal and Retraxit as to defendant John Doe Railroad Company (State Belt Railroad), M. H. Gates, and Charles L. Tilden, Frank C. Sykes and Paul Scharrenberg, individually and as members of the Board of State Harbor Commissioners.

Yamate vs. Belt Line Railroad et al.

This is an action for damages to the extent of seventy-seven and 41/100 dollars ($77.41), arising out of a collision between State Belt Railroad train and an automobile belonging to plaintiff. Answers have been filed and the case is now set for trial on August 14, 1930. The answer filed on behalf of your Board, in addition to the general denials and defense of contributory negligence, raises the defense that the Board of State Harbor Commissioners are not liable either personally or in their official capacity for the torts of subordinate officers.

During this period, I have had numerous conferences and exchanged correspondence with various individuals regarding the State Belt Railroad and its operation by the Board of State Harbor Commissioners, and particularly with the Assistant General Solicitor of the Interstate Commerce Commission relative to the request of said Commission for information as to the cost of the State Belt Railroad for valuation and recapture purposes, and with Mr. R. C. Munholland, Manager of Pacific Car Demurrage Bureau, relative to the publication of an item on Car Demurrage in State Belt Railroad Terminal Tariff No. 2.

These last two named matters are being held in abeyance awaiting the outcome of the above mentioned test case before the Supreme Court of the United States.

I have also prepared new Terminal Tariff Schedule No. 2 in conformance with an increase in the switching rates charged by the State Belt Railroad.

IV

(a) Cases Involving Claims Against Your Board.

Henry Cowell Lime and Cement Company vs. State of California et al.

This action has now been pending for approximately sixteen years, and was originally brought by plaintiff to enjoin defendant from interfering with plaintiff's building on a certain strip of land along the Embarcadero and involves the title to said land. Said strip of land adjoined land admittedly owned by plaintiff. In the event that this case is brought to trial, it has been agreed between the respective parties to said action by stipulation that said case may be tried at any time during the years 1930 and 1931, the exact time for trial either to be agreed upon by counsel for the said respective parties, or to be set by the Presiding Judge of the Court. However, I have had several conferences with Mr. George, Secretary of the Cowell Lime and Cement Company, and also with Major Tilden in regard to this matter, and expect to effect a settlement of same in the very near future that will be satisfactory to both parties.

This is an action for damages to the extent of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000), for the death of one Henry McCarthy, alleged to have occurred by reason of the carelessness and negligence of defendants Harbor Board et al., in failing and omitting to install warning signals and install a protective device to protect motorists from driving off Pier 45. Motion to strike and demurrer was filed, argued and sustained and plaintiff given ten days to amend. Plaintiff then filed amended complaint and motion to strike and demurrer to said amended complaint will be filed and argued in due course.

STATE REFRIGERATION TERMINAL—BRINE COILS.

McGinn vs. Board of State Harbor Commissioners et al.

This action involves the alleged blockading of Channel Street between Seventh and Carolina Streets by the Board of State Harbor Commissioners. It is of considerable importance because it involves the control and jurisdiction of the Board of State Harbor Commissioners over this portion of Channel Street.

This case was tried in the Superior Court and after argument and reargument, the matter was submitted upon briefs. Judgment was finally granted in favor of the plaintiff and it was decreed by the Court that the portion of Channel Street in question was an open and public street. An appeal to the Supreme Court of California has been instituted from said judgment and is now pending.

Schaal vs. Watts and Board of State Harbor Commissioners

This is an action for damages to the extent of twenty-five thousand five hundred dollars ($25,500), alleged to have arisen by reason of the operation of a truck belonging to the Harbor Board. Said action was filed in Alameda County and a motion for a change of place of trial to San Francisco County was granted, but the case has not been refiled in San Francisco County by plaintiff as yet, and I believe that the demurrer filed with the above mentioned motion, together with the authorities which I submitted to plaintiff's attorney, have convinced plaintiff that your Board is not liable.

(b) Suits and Proceedings By and On Behalf of Your Board.People ex. rel. C. L. Tilden et al. vs. Ayres-Whitside Transportation Company.

This action involves a claim in the sum of two hundred eighty and 89/100 dollars ($280.89) for balance due your Board for dockage, tolls and wharfage from defendants by reason of facilities furnished said defendants by your Board on the Waterfront of the City and County of San Francisco at their special instance and request. Complaint and summons were served and filed, and I was ready to take default judgment but defendants agreed to pay the claim if no further action would be taken against them. The claim was, accordingly, paid in full and a dismissal of said action given to said defendants.

This action involves a claim in the sum of one hundred sixty-nine and 35/100 dollars ($169.35) for wood and lumber sold and delivered by your Board to said defendant. Complaint was filed and summons issued and plaintiff agreed to pay the claim as soon as possible if no further action would be taken against him. He paid twenty dollars ($20) on the account and then failed to make any further payments. I then had judgment entered against said defendant in the sum of one hundred forty-nine and 35/100 dollars ($149.35) and secured writ of execution and had sheriff levy on defendant's property for the amount of the judgment. The defendant then agreed to pay ten dollars ($10) per month until the account was paid in full and to date has paid twenty-five dollars ($25) on the account. He failed to make any payments for two or three months, and I found, upon investigation, that Mr. Christiansen is absolutely destitute and the judgment practically uncollectible. However, this matter will continue to receive my attention and I hope to realize further on the account if possible.

In the Matter of James K. Nelson, Inc., a Bankrupt.

The libel suits involved in this matter have been completed and the sums available prorated and paid.

People vs. Rosenberg. (Two cases.)

These cases involve claims for wharfage services furnished to defendant in the aggregate sum of approximately four hundred fifty dollars ($450). Judgments were obtained but no money has ever been collected.

The former Board of State Harbor Commissioners refused a settlement that was offered in this matter, and which settlement is not now obtainable. I have been unable to locate the defendant or any property belonging to him up to the present time. When last heard of, he was in New York City, but in spite of every effort made, I have been unable to get in touch with him. Should he become available or any property be located belonging to him, I will endeavor to collect this amount.

In re Transmarine Corporation.

This is a matter involving a claim amounting to eight hundred thirty-one and 31/100 dollars ($831.31) due your Board for wharfage, tolls, rentals, etc., for vessels of the Submarine Boat Corporation, for which Transmarine Corporation was agent. Receivership proceedings were commenced in the Federal Court at San Francisco on January 1, 1930, ancillary to main receivership proceedings in the Federal Court for the District of New Jersey wherein receivers had been previously appointed for Submarine Boat Corporation and Transmarine Corporation.

Numerous conferences were had relative to the settlement of this claim and formal claims were filed with both the ancillary and main receivers. On March 15, 1930, three hundred thirty-three and 69/100 dollars ($333.69) was collected as an expense of the receivership and later a settlement in the sum of one hundred fifteen and 50/100 dollars ($115.50) was arranged and consummated for a disputed item of two hundred thirty-one dollars ($231) involving rental of space during receivership proceedings, leaving unpaid the sum of two hundred sixty-six and 62/100 dollars ($266.62) awaiting the outcome of said proceedings.

The vessels involved were each subject to a maritime mortgage, the validity of which is under attack. In case the lien of these maritime mortgages be held subordinate to the other claims, it is probable that the full amount of the balance will be realized. Otherwise, it would seem that the assets, after payment of the prior mortgages, will not be sufficient for more than a trifling dividend to the other claimants, including your Board.

VESSELS LOADING AT STATE REFRIGERATION TERMINAL.

Particular attention is invited to the fact that in the claim filed in the principal receivership proceedings, the regulations of the Board of State Harbor Commissioners were referred to in the particular that vessels on the delinquent list will be refused dockage facilities in this Port until the delinquency with penalties is paid. It is entirely possible that with such a penalty registered against each vessel, purchasers at receivers' sale will be loath to purchase unless provision be made for a full payment of the balance of your claim.

GENERAL CONSULTATIONS AND ADVICE

Civic League of Improvement Clubs.

I attended a meeting of the Board of Governors of the Civic League of Improvement Clubs of San Francisco, at which various questions relating to the Board of State Harbor Commissioners and the Harbor of San Francisco were under discussion.

I fully presented to said Board of Governors the views and attitude of your Board relative to said matters, and believe that said Board of Governors was enabled thereby to more clearly understand the Harbor and its problems and activities.

Legislature.

I was in constant communication with the 1929 Session of the State Legislature and appeared before both Assembly and Senate committees and thus presented to the Legislature the point of view of your Board on all pending legislation affecting the San Francisco Harbor, in accordance with your instructions. I am glad to say that various bills believed to have been detrimental to the interests of San Francisco Harbor, and particularly the bill in regard to the proposed transfer of the Harbor from the State were defeated. I was also able to be of assistance in securing the passage of several bills beneficial to the Harbor including amendments to the Political Code making necessary amplifications of the powers of your Board.

I also kept your Board informed at all times on pending legislation of interest to you.

General.

The following miscellaneous matters have also received my attention:

Settlement of a controversy between Manning-Baldwin, Inc., and their creditors has been effected and garnishment proceedings against moneys due Manning-Baldwin, Inc., from your Board disposed of, and I personally supervised the payment of said moneys to the Bonding Company for distribution among the said creditors.

The proposal of the City and County of San Francisco to pave right of way along Marina Boulevard from Fort Mason to the Presidio of San Francisco has been considered relative to the position taken by the Board in this matter, which was to facilitate as far as possible the improving of the Marina Boulevard if the same could be done without interfering with the Belt Line Service. However, the controversy in this matter is solely between the United States Government, to whom this right of way has been granted, and the City and County of San Francisco.

In cooperation with the President of your Board, I succeeded in getting a very advantageous settlement of the bill rendered by the Title Insurance and Guaranty Company for title reports on lands under your jurisdiction.

I have made reports, both oral and written, to numerous different officials of your Board on the laws regulating the operation of the Port of San Francisco by the Board of State Harbor Commissioners, and particularly relating to insurance on all motor trucks and vehicles operated by employees of your Board, to a recent law relating specifically to a bridge, tube or tunnel across the Bay of San Francisco from the City of San Francisco to the County of Alameda, and a statute relating to the Board of State Harbor Commissioners acting as warehousemen or bailee, etc.

I have also submitted opinions relative to the employment of persons not citizens of the United States in connection with work being done for the Board of State Harbor Commissioners, and relative to statutes concerning the salary of the Chief Engineer of your Board.

I have also examined and approved Insurance Indemnity Policy covering elevator in the Ferry Building and given advice as to the proper form of contracts, agreements, bonds etc. submitted to me for approval and have revised one or two paragraphs in the form of bond used by the Board in connection with its contracts.

With a view of compiling a book embracing all the laws of this State regarding the Harbor of San Francisco and the Board of State Harbor Commissioners, I have prepared a resume of all laws and statutes affecting the jurisdiction of your Board over all Harbor property. Said book will be entitled "Laws of the State of California Now in Force Relating to San Francisco and the Board of State Harbor Commissioners" and will contain all laws now in force in any way relating to your Board and its operation of Harbor affairs and to the Harbor of San Francisco, under their proper headings, and arranged in such a way as to present all such laws as clearly and concisely as possible.

As Attorney for the Board of State Harbor Commissioners, it is my aim and purpose to efficiently and expeditiously render the legal services required by your Board and to afford to your Board and its staff every courtesy and attention in connection therewith.

Also, it has been and is, my desire to personally protect and safeguard the interests of the Harbor and the Harbor Commissioners to the best of my ability. In this connection, I may say that up to the present time, I have been successful in defending your Board against all claims and have not authorized any money to be paid out as the result of any claim.

I am pleased to report, in closing, that the legal matters of the San Francisco Harbor are in excellent condition in every way.

Respectfully submitted.

LEON E. MORRIS,
Attorney for Board of State Harbor Commissioners.

SAN FRANCISCO PILOTAGE AND TOWAGE RATES

Port of San Francisco—Charges, Regulations, Etc., Not Under Jurisdiction of Board of State Harbor Commissioners

PILOTAGE

Jurisdiction: San Francisco Board of Pilot Commissioners, a state body, composed of three members. Office of Commissioner, Merchants Exchange Building, San Francisco; Pilot Office, Pier 7, San Francisco.

Pilotage in and out of San Francisco harbor is under the jurisdiction of a State Board of Pilot Commissioners, appointed by the Governor, which body establishes the rules and regulations regarding the conduct of all pilots, as well as licensing and commissioning pilots.

Pilotage in and out of San Francisco Bay is generally compulsory, except as follows:

All vessels sailing under an enrollment, and engaged in the coasting trade between the Port of San Francisco and any other port of the United States are exempt from pilotage unless a pilot be actually employed.

All foreign vessels and all American vessels from a foreign port or bound thereto, and all vessels sailing under a register between the Port of San Francisco and any other port of the United States are liable for pilotage.

Rates for pilotage are fixed by state laws as follows:

All vessels under 500 tons, $2 per draught foot;

All vessels over 500 tons, $2 per draught foot and 2 cents per ton for each and every ton registered measurement; and every vessel spoken inward and outward bound, except as hereinafter provided, shall pay the said rates.

A vessel is spoken by day by a pilot boat displaying a union jack, or by night displaying a torch or flare-up within a distance of three miles of the vessel. In all cases where inward bound vessels are not spoken until inside of the bar the rates of pilotage herein provided shall be reduced 50 per cent. Vessels engaged in the whaling or fishing trades shall be exempt from all pilotage except where a pilot is actually employed.

In the event a vessel not carrying cargo to the Port of San Francisco, nor seeking any thereat, is compelled to enter said port solely by reason of her being in distress or requiring repairs, provisions or fuel, the rates of pilotage into said harbor shall be as follows:

All vessels under 500 tons, $1 per draught foot;

All vessels over 500 tons, $1 per draught foot and 1 cent per ton for each and every ton registered measurement; and every vessel spoken inward bound shall pay the said rates. There shall be no reduction of rates of pilotage to vessels in distress where the vessel is spoken inside the bar. In the event that the vessel shall leave the Port of San Francisco without carrying any cargo therefrom, she shall pay the last-mentioned rates of pilotage out of the harbor of San Francisco.

TOWAGE

Towage in San Francisco is conducted by private tow boat companies and the charges for the services performed vary according to the conditions under which the contract is to be carried out, but are generally assessed within the range of the following schedule:

Sailing Vessels

The cost of towage from sea (lightship) to anchorage varies with distance and size of vessel, ranging from $100 to $250.

For moving a vessel of 2000 tons net register in the harbor the charges are approximately:

Docking, city front.....	$75 00
Stream to Port Costa or Port Costo to stream.....	175 00
Stream to sea (lightship).....	200 00
Fore and aft rigged vessels pay, according to size, from $20 to $30 for docking, and from $50 to $100 for towing to sea.

Steam and Motor Ships

(Charges based on net tonnage of vessel.)

1. Services of tug assisting to dock on city front.....	$25 00 to $40 00
2. Towing (without power) from dock to dock between Meiggs (Fisherman's) Wharf to Mission Rock.....	75 00 to 150 00
3. Services of tug assisting to Union Iron Works or Hunters Point.....	40 00 to 70 00
4. Towing (without power) to Union Iron Works or Hunters Point.....	90 00 to 225 00
5. Services of tug assisting to Oakland Harbor (east of bridge at Webster street).....	50 00 to 75 00
6. Towing (without power) to Oakland Harbor.....	100 00 to 250 00

REPORT OF THE CALIFORNIA CODE COMMISSION FOR THE YEAR 1930

I.—ORGANIZATION

The California Code Commission was created by chapter 750, Statutes of 1929, the text of which is set forth as Appendix A of this report. The duty of the commission as therein specified is to enter upon a revision of all the laws of this state, the work of revision to comprehend:

1. The preparation of a statutory record showing the status and disposition of all acts and parts of acts heretofore adopted;
2. The codification, consolidation, compilation or revision of all statutes in force;
3. The express repeal of all statutes heretofore repealed by implication, held unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of this state, or which will be rendered obsolete by the proposed revision if adopted;
4. Whenever necessary, the correction of errors in form or substance, including such restatement as will best serve clearly and correctly to express the existing provisions of law.
5. The preparation of a report embodying therein, among other things, such legislative measures proposed by it as may be calculated to effect the adoption or enactment of such revision.

The Chief of the Legislative Counsel Bureau was designated by the act as secretary of the commission, and out of the appropriation for the support of his office he was directed to defray all necessary expenses as authorized by the provisions of the act.

The following were appointed members of the commission:

Clark Clement, Lemoore,
Guy R. Crump, Los Angeles,
Perry Evans, San Francisco,
Gerald H. Hagar, Oakland,
Maurice E. Harrison, San Francisco,
A. M. Kidd, Berkeley,
C. L. McFarland, Riverside,
Thomas C. Ridgway, Los Angeles,
Leonard B. Slosson, Los Angeles.

The commission organized January 2, 1930, with Thomas C. Ridgway as chairman and Maurice E. Harrison and Guy R. Crump as vice chairmen.

II.—WORK DONE

The present Codes were adopted in 1872. They did not, however, even at that time constitute a complete revision of the law. Since then no general revision has even been attempted. The situation today, therefore, is that there are four Codes and, in addition, about twenty-one thousand laws, contained in fifty volumes, and no one knows what laws are in force and what are not. It was, therefore, apparent to the commission that a page by page examination of all the statutes was absolutely necessary if the work was to be performed with a view to the revision contemplated by the legislature.

1. Statutory or Historical Record.

Accordingly, a statutory record has been prepared, showing the status and disposition of all acts and parts of acts heretofore adopted. A brief account of the method by which this historical record was prepared is contained in Appendix B of this report.

2. Unconstitutional Statutes.

A page by page examination of the reports of the Supreme Court and the District Courts of Appeal of the State of California is being made by a committee of the Los Angeles County Bar Association to determine what statutes have been declared unconstitutional.

3. Statutes Impliedly Repealed.

A similar examination of the reports has been made by committees of the Alameda County and San Francisco Bar Associations, and a list is being made of statutes which have been expressly declared by the Supreme Court or by the District Courts of Appeal to be repealed by implication.

4. Classification as a Basis for Revision.

For the compilation and revision of the laws a classification is necessary. Accordingly, there has been prepared a list of titles, alphabetically arranged, under which all laws may be grouped. This classification is tentative and is subject to change in the light of such criticism and comment as may be received. The tentative classification, with a general scope note showing the contents of each title, is printed as Appendix C to this report. A statement in support of the classification proposed is appended hereto as Appendix D. An allocation of the provisions of the Codes and General Laws under this classification is on file in the office of the Legislative Counsel Bureau.

5. Probate Code.

In the tentative classification prepared, the Civil Code, Code of Civil Procedure and the Penal Code remain with only such provisions taken out as can more conveniently be grouped together elsewhere. The commission submits herewith as Appendix E, for adoption by the legislature, a proposed Probate Code, which will serve as an example of what can be done in grouping together cognate provisions now scattered in the Codes and General Laws. It contains a schedule of laws to be repealed as a result of its adoption. This Code was prepared by Mr. Perry Evans of the Code Commission. A preliminary draft was submitted to judges, lawyers and others interested. In the light of criticism received the draft was modified, submitted to and approved by the Code Commission.

III.—THINGS TO BE DONE

1. Compilation.

The principal work to be accomplished is the compilation of the laws under such classification as may be determined upon. This is an enormous task, as it involves the page by page examination of all the Codes and twenty-one thousand acts.

The historical record and the examination of the decisions of the courts, heretofore referred to, has revealed all statutory laws which may be in force at this time.

These laws will be classified by examiners according to the tentative classification agreed upon. This will involve the cutting of the text of these statutes from the volume where it appears, and pasting it on classification cards. These cards will indicate the chapter and page of the volume from which the material is cut. At the same time, the examiner will indicate on the card the particular classification or title, as "Agriculture," "Domestic Relations," etc., to which he allocates the material.

When all of these laws have been so classified and allocated, the cards will be carefully checked and distributed in boxes according to their classification to guard against error. A system of numbering and cross-numbering will be followed which will enable the examiner or consolidator to detect the loss or omission of any card, and to replace that card together with the material thereon.

2. Consolidation and Revision.

When all the statutory law has been classified in accordance with the tentative classification, the work of consolidation and revision of each title can be commenced. In the course of revision, the superfluous and obsolete acts will be discovered. These acts, together with those that the courts have found or declared to be unconstitutional or to have been repealed by implication, should then be expressly repealed. The reduction in the bulk of our law by this means will be substantial, for example:

When the Lien Law was consolidated in New York one hundred forty-nine prior laws were repealed. The Military Law repealed three hundred twenty-eight laws. The Education Law repealed five hundred thirty-six laws. The Agricultural Law repealed one hundred eighty-one laws. The Banking Law repealed two hundred ninety laws. The Public Health Law repealed two hundred eighty laws. The Penal Law repealed six hundred fourteen laws.

The amount of the reduction from the fifty volumes of laws which we now have can not be accurately determined in advance. We know, however, the experience of other states. In Wisconsin the laws have been reduced to a single volume. This volume is brought up to date and republished every two years, and sells for $5. In Kansas the statutes are also contained in a single volume, and even the laws of New York, which are probably more voluminous than our own, are published by a private publisher in a single volume. While there are advantages in having a single volume, the lawyer prefers an annotated edition in several volumes. The publication of each title in a separate volume, as has been done in the United States Code Annotated, and in an edition of the New York laws, fills this need admirably. With the thirty-three titles suggested, it seems probable that the volumes could be prepared at a price not to exceed $2 per volume, which would make the entire cost but little in excess of the present price of the four Codes and General Laws now in use. These volumes may be kept up to date inexpensively by pocket supplements. It is recommended that the state publish the revised laws in this form, or contract with a private publishing house, so that the volumes may be sold at a reasonable price, and so that each volume may be sold separately without the necessity of subscribing to the entire set.

3. Codification.

From our preliminary examination, it has become apparent that as to some subjects mere compilation, consolidation and revision of existing laws will not be satisfactory and that changes are required to make the law more in accord with modern conditions. By the statute creating the Code Commission, its powers are limited to preparing such "restatement as would best serve clearly and correctly to express the existing provisions of law," and it is not within the province of the Code Commission to embody in its report any substantial changes in the existing law. Nor would it be proper for the Code Commission to recommend changes where there may be real differences of opinion as to matters of policy. Where, however, changes in policy are generally agreed upon, a Code Commission might well undertake the work, instead of being confined to a mere compilation of a heterogeneous mass of existing laws. Several departments of the state government have expressed an interest in the work and their willingness to cooperate. To accomplish this purpose a legislative committee should be appointed with whom a commission might confer and cooperate.

IV.—CONDUCT OF THE WORK

A large and important part of the detail work referred to has been performed by the Legislative Counsel Bureau, through its chief, Mr. Fred B. Wood, his assistants, and the statutory examiners of the Code Commission, to whom the commission desires at this time to express its appreciation. The commission believes that the detail work can best be carried to completion by the staff who have worked on it for several months and who have become familiar with the general problem and the details involved. It is not, however, advisable to have too many men doing the detail work. It is believed that a staff of about five experienced men working under the direction of the secretary and the supervision of a code commission can achieve results in the shortest possible time consistent with accuracy and completeness.

It is recommended that a suitable appropriation be made for continuing the work along the lines suggested. How long this work will take can not be accurately forecast. It will certainly take more than two years, but may possibly be finished within four if diligently prosecuted.

If the work is to be continued an adequate sum should be made available for such purpose. In our opinion at least fifty thousand dollars, exclusive of printing costs, will be required for expenses of the work in the next biennium.

V.—ADVANTAGES OF A COMPILATION AND REVISION OF THE LAW

(1) An official and authoritative separation of the general laws from the mass of private, special and local legislation;

(2) The express repeal of the mass of obsolete, inconsistent, unconstitutional and superfluous laws that have accumulated in eighty years;

(3) The publication of a greatly reduced bulk of the laws in force in convenient form. Until a revision is accomplished neither the state nor private publishers can publish a satisfactory edition of the laws;

(4) Aid to legislation by having all the previous legislation in compact and convenient form, thus avoiding the necessity of attaching a clause to an act to save prior acts or a clause repealing all acts or parts of acts in conflict therewith;

(5) The bringing together of the laws under convenient titles will facilitate the restatement thereof where the legislature deems the existing law unsatisfactory.

(6) New legislation in each session can readily be fitted into the general plan.

VI.—RECOMMENDATIONS

(1) That a Code Commission be continued for the purpose of carrying out the compilation, revision and codification, in accordance with the general plan formulated;

(2) That an adequate sum be made available for carrying on the work of the commission;

(3) That a committee of the legislature be appointed, with whom the Code Commission may confer;

(4) That the laws as compiled, revised and codified be published in a form convenient to the lawyer and the public and with at least one edition in separate volumes, together with a complete practical index as opposed to a topical index.

APPENDIX A

STATUTE CREATING COMMISSION

CHAPTER 750. STATUTES OF 1929

An act creating a commission to codify, consolidate, revise or compile the statutes of California and to report thereon to the Legislature at the forty-ninth session thereof.

SECTION 1. A commission is hereby created to be known as the California code commission. Said commission shall consist of nine members, to be appointed by the governor within a reasonable time after the passage of this act.

The members of such commission shall serve without compensation, but shall be allowed actual expenses incurred in traveling, and in the discharge of their duties.

SEC. 2. Within ten days after the appointment of the commission it shall meet and organize by selecting one of its members chairman.

It shall be the duty of the commission hereby created to immediately enter upon a revision of all the laws of this state including those enacted at the present session of the Legislature. The work of revision shall comprehend the preparation of a statutory record showing the status and disposition of all acts and parts of acts heretofore adopted; the codification, consolidation, compilation or revision of all statutes in force and the express repeal of all statutes heretofore repealed by implication, held unconstitutional by the supreme court of this state, or which will be rendered obsolete by the proposed revision if adopted; and whenever necessary the correction of errors in form or substance including such restatement as will best serve clearly and correctly to express the existing provisions of law. The commission shall prepare a report embodying therein among other things such legislative measures proposed by it as may be calculated to effect the adoption or enactment of such revision.

SEC. 3. The material of the state library shall be made available to said commission, and all offices of the state, and all departments, commissions, and bureaus, and other official state organizations, and all persons connected therewith shall give said commission full information, and reasonable assistance in any matters of research requiring recourse to them, or to data within their knowledge or control. The commission may cooperate with any of the bar associations of the state, or the American Bar Association, in any manner suitable for the fulfillment of their purposes. It is hereby made the duty of the board of governors of the state bar to assist said commission, in any manner the commission may request within the scope of the powers or duties of the said commission.

SEC. 4. On the fifteenth day of December preceding the next regular session of the Legislature the commission shall distribute its report and its revision of the law in the form of an exhibit, or exhibits, to the governor, the members of the Legislature, and the heads of all departments of the state. Said report shall be accompanied by exhibits of various changes, modifications, improvements, and suggest enactments prepared or proposed by it with a full and accurate index thereto.

SEC. 5. The report and exhibit shall be printed by the state printer under the supervision of the commission. The exhibits or proceedings shall be so printed as to show in the readiest manner the changes proposed by the commission, and in those cases wherein it shall recommend, and repeal of a law, and propose a substitute therefor, or propose a new law. Such laws, and proposals shall be set forth in a manner most convenient for comparison.

SEC. 6. The chief of the legislative council bureau shall be the secretary of the commission, and out of the appropriation for the support of his office shall defray all necessary expenses authorized by the provision of this act.

APPENDIX B

METHOD OF PREPARING STATUTORY RECORD

The system evolved for the preparation of the record was taken in part from the plan formulated by the New York Board of Statutory Consolidation for its revision of the laws of New York in 1908.

For the purpose of the record, the acts of the Legislature were divided into three classes: (1) Original acts; (2) Supplementary or amendatory acts; and (3) Repealing acts. The term "original act" embraced all acts which did not expressly affect any former act otherwise than by an express repeal which was incidental to the purpose of the original act. The term "supplementary or amendatory acts" embraced those acts which expressly affected a former act, but did not repeal it. The term "repealing act" embraced those acts which expressly repealed part or all of any former act.

The title and citation of each act examined was written on a card approximately 10 inches by 12 inches. In the center of each card, near the top, was a space for the title of the act being examined. The titles of original acts were placed upon red cards, amendatory or supplementary acts on blue cards, and repealing acts on brown cards. If an act belonged in more than one of the above classes, cards were made for each of the functions performed by the act. For example, if an original act repealed a former act, both the red and brown cards were used. In the upper left-hand corner of each card was a place for the citation of the act being examined. The citation included the year, chapter number, page, and the number of sections.

In the upper right-hand corner of each card was another space for citations. In this space was written the citation of the act, if any, affected by the act examined, together with a statement of that effect. Thus every act is represented by a red, blue or brown card, arranged in chronological order in accordance with the citation in the upper left-hand corner.

In conjunction with the red, blue or brown card representing an act expressly affecting a former act, a fourth type of card was used. This card was pink, and upon it were transcribed the same data as appeared upon the red, blue or brown card, with this difference: the citation of the act being examined was written in the upper right-hand corner, and the citation of the act expressly affected was written in the upper left-hand corner. In other words, the positions of the two citations were reversed. Each pink card was then placed back of the red or blue card representing the act cited in the upper left-hand corner of the pink card—the act expressly affected. The ultimate result was that when all of the cards were completed and so arranged, each act of the Legislature was represented by a red, blue or brown card. And in the case of an act expressly affected by later legislation there were placed back of the red or blue card representing said act, pink cards representing such later legislation, arranged in the order of the passage of such later legislation, as indicated by the citation in the upper right-hand corner of the pink card. No pink cards were placed back of a brown card, because the brown card represented, exclusively, a "repealing act," which was not affected by later legislation. It might be pointed out that from the brown cards a list can be compiled which will cite every act or part of an act which has been expressly repealed.

The Legislature, in its earlier sessions, was not always explicit in expressing just what effect was desired upon an earlier act, or, in some cases, just what act was intended to be affected. In all cases where any uncertainty existed, the examiners made appropriate notes.

All cards, when completed, were reread and compared with the original statute, by some one other than the examiner.

From the data on the cards, a table is being prepared in the form of a summary. Each act is listed, followed by notations of express effect thereon of subsequent acts. The complete legislative history of every act, from the date of its enactment to the present time, is thus available. The cards and this table are on file in the office of the Legislative Counsel Bureau.

STATEMENT IN SUPPORT OF THE CLASSIFICATION PROPOSED BY THE COMMISSION

The California statutory law is in a deplorable condition. Familiarity with it tends to blind practitioners to its defects, but law writers and publishers unite in considering it the worst statutory law in the country.

"California adopted the Field Codes and in 1872 (the year they were adopted) revised them to date, but since that time no attempt has been made to bring them up to date either by recodification or supplementary codification or revision." (L. Dee Mallonee, University of Wisconsin, American Law Review, Volume 48, page 38.)

The revised index to the session laws published from time to time: "refers to all previous statutes and can not but be unsatisfactory to those who must use it, for it makes no effort to determine what law is in force, giving reference to all the laws which have ever been enacted on a subject and leaving the lawyer to trace the history of the provisions and decide what portions are obsolete or canceled by implication or expressly." (L. Dee Mallonee, University of Wisconsin, American Law Review, Volume 48, page 38.)

The Codes were adopted in California in 1872, although they were never published as adopted. At the same session amendments were passed and these amendments were never separately published, but the Codes as amended were published and constitute the first and only official state publication of the Codes. A bill presented at that time repealed certain laws from 1850-1870, inclusive, which were or should be superseded by the Codes, but this bill failed of passage and these laws may still be in force. There was also published a list of laws continuing in force, but these never received official sanction and can not be relied on as a source to determine whether or not a law passed prior to the adoption of the Codes and not expressly repealed is still in effect. Since then several commissions have made reports looking toward a revision of the Codes, and certain adjustments and harmonizing of Code provisions have been made. Indexes to the laws have appeared, the latest being 1920 and a supplement for 1921-5. These indexes refer to all previous statutes and make no effort to determine whether a law is in force or not unless it has in terms been repealed, amended or supplemented. Likewise, they do not offer to group or refer to all laws upon a given subject in such manner that the substance of cognate provisions can be carefully examined for the purpose of codification, revision or consolidation. While that which is contained in these indexes is believed to be substantially accurate and complete, it is doubted that they are sufficiently accurate and complete or properly arranged for use as a basis upon which to work out a thorough and complete codification, consolidation or revision. The problem of compilation, revision and codification has been long under consideration by the Legislative Counsel Bureau. Pursuant to the direction of the legislature in 1927 a report was made of the program of statutory revision in California and in other states. This report was published in the Assembly Daily Journal for Friday, January 18, 1929. This report and many other reports prepared by the Legislative Counsel Bureau, on the basis of their experience and investigation, have proved of the greatest value to this commission.

An examination of the literature on the subject discloses voluminous material on codification, but very little on the problem of compilation or revision. The task of compilation and revision has, however, been performed by many of the states, and it is from the reports of the bodies entrusted with this work that the best information on the subject is obtainable. At least thirty-seven of the states have during the present century, and most of them within the last decade, prepared a compilation or revision of their laws. They have explained their theories and methods of operation. In particular, the New York Commission, which prepared the New York Consolidated Laws adopted in 1909, has published a full and detailed exposition of the entire mechanics of their revision. This exposition has been found very useful, and with some modifications has been adopted by the commission.

How should the laws of California be revised? In spite of all their defects, practitioners are used to the Codes and get along with them fairly well. Why not continue the Code system and put the law into the four Codes? The answer is that it is thoroughly unpractical. The Code Commissioners fifty-eight years ago did not do it. They still continued a certain number of general laws in force, and each legislature has added to the number until the law outside the Codes is vastly greater than the law inside.

Only four years after the adoption of the Codes, Mr. Hittell said, in his edition "Codes and Statutes of California, 1876," volume 2, page 1403:

"The statutes in force consist of such as were expressly continued in force by the Codes, such as related to subjects not embraced in the Codes, and such as have been passed since the adoption of the Codes. In some, and indeed in many cases, owing to the incomplete manner in which the work of repeal and supersession has been done, it is difficult to determine what is in force and what has been superseded; and in most of these cases no certainty will be arrived at, until further action by the Legislature or final adjudication in respect to them by the Supreme Court. * * * It may be here added, what however has probably already struck the reader of the above remarks, that our system of statute law is, in many respects very far yet from being reduced to anything like uniformity or proper order."

This was said in 1876. The situation has not improved as a result of fifty-four years of legislation. If, by a tour de force, all of the uncodified laws were to be broken up and distributed, the substantive provisions in the Civil Code, the adjective in the Code of Civil Procedure, the Penal in the Penal Code, and the governmental in the Political Code, the confusion would be almost inextricable. The Codes, and especially the Civil Code, would be distorted beyond all recogdition, and those practitioners who want no change would be the first to complain, as the Codes to which they are accustomed would be unrecognizable.

Only five states ever adopted the Civil Code. Montana, in 1895, was the last. No state which has revised its laws since has adopted the Code system. It is not considered practical. There may be some pedagogic value for the student in the Code divisions, but none for the practicing lawyer.

Should we then scrap the Codes entirely?

An examination of the alphabetical classification adopted in the thirty-seven states that have revised their laws in recent years, shows that most of them have a Code of Civil Procedure, or Practice Act, a collection of laws on general crimes, as in our Penal Code, and a governmental and administrative division like the first part of our Political Code. It is only the Civil Code that is lacking. Our problem, therefore, is what to do with the Civil Code.

Logically, as we have said, and as an original matter, it has no place in our statutory law, but there are nevertheless strong practical reasons for retaining it. The lawyers are used to it. Many of its provisions have become embodied in our law. In many cases they have become rules of property. To alter these provisions, even to the extent of changing their position and context, might result in unexpected disturbance of settled law and vested rights. Accordingly the commission proposes to retain the Civil Code, but there will be taken out of it the provisions relating to:

- (1) Corporations (the subject of Corporations was not included in the original Code as drafted by Field, except for a brief statement of general principles of organization, management and dissolution);
- (2) Domestic Relations;
- (3) Insurance;
- (4) Mortgages and Liens;
- (5) Partnerships;
- (6) Wills and Succession (contained in the proposed Probate Code);
- (7) A few miscellaneous provisions that more properly belong elsewhere.

If the legislature should pass the Uniform Sales Act, a Commercial Code could readily be compiled, including the Negotiable Instruments Law, the Uniform Sales Law, the Bills-of-Lading Act, and the Warehouse Receipts Act.

It has been suggested that property and trusts also be taken up and revised. These subjects, however, are of such complexity that if a general revision of them takes place it should only be done after several years of work by experts.

The prime purpose of this revision is the cutting away of useless law that is now contained in our fifty volumes of statutes, and the reduction of the living law to manageable proportions. This can be accomplished in a comparatively short time and without any great disturbance of existing conditions. To attempt more would delay the remedy indefinitely. By attempting too much we might accomplish nothing.

One of the advantages of arranging the law, as the commission has suggested, is that by putting together cognate subjects it invites and facilitates a better and more complete re-statement in the future. If the re-statement of substantive law were carried through completely, it might be in time there would be nothing left of the Civil Code except those general statements of common law rules that in most states are left uncoded. It is submitted that the attempt to state these general rules in Code form is a mistake.

“This code is in our opinion, and we believe in that of most competent lawyers who have examined it, about the worst piece of codification ever produced. It is constantly defective and inaccurate, both in apprehending the rules of law which it purports to define and in expressing the draftsman’s more or less satisfactory understanding of them. The clauses on fraud and misrepresentation in contracts are rather worse, if anything, than the average badness of the whole.” (Sir Frederick Pollock, Indian Contract, Third edition, page ix.)

Even where the principle is not misapprehended, a rigid statement does not provide sufficiently for exceptions. Accordingly, the American Law Institute, which is restating the law, does not advocate codification. The mere statement of the law is sufficient. The numerous citations by the courts of Corpus Juris and California Jurisprudence show how ready the courts are to accept a reasonable statement of the law, but where the statement is not in legislative form there is much less danger of the court following the letter and ignoring the spirit. This problem, however, of the future of the Civil Code should be left unsettled for the present, as its solution is not a pressing matter and can be undertaken after the Code Commission has completed its work. The retention of the Civil Code, with the exceptions indicated, appears to the Commission to be the best policy for the present.

In regard to the classification adopted, an examination of the revisions in the different states does not show any uniformity. The New York Consolidated Statutes have sixty-four titles. Most of the states have more. The Pennsylvania revision has some three hundred titles. It includes contracts, but not torts; butter and cheese, but not eggs; candy, but not cake.

It can not be too strongly emphasized that there is no scientific classification that will enable a lawyer to turn to the particular provisions of the law affecting his case. There is no possible device that will put all the law on one subject in one place. The best that can be done is to put together those subjects which usually are found together, and by a system of cross-references and full indexing, to assist the lawyer in finding the other provisions applicable to his case. There are no mechanical devices, however, that can make the finding of the law automatic and dispense entirely with legal learning, judgment and experience.

As has been stated, the history of statutory revision in this country during this century seems to demonstrate that the lawyer finds an alphabetical arrangement more useful than a logical arrangement in the publication of the statutory law.

NOTE.—In several places where preliminary orders, such as orders to show cause, are authorized to be made by the court, we have added "or by a judge thereof."

Sections have been consolidated when they are short and deal with one specific subject; on the other hand, long sections like cc 1313, cep 1578-1580 and 1723, which really constitute complete articles, have been subdivided, making for convenience both of reference and amendment.

By rearrangement of sections much duplication of language is avoided. The language has been simplified to a considerable extent, without doing away with customary terms and expressions.

Certain court decisions have been codified.

PROPOSED CHANGES IN OTHER CODES TO CONFORM TO PROVISIONS OF PROBATE CODE

Changes in certain of the provisions of the Political Code, Code of Civil Procedure, and Civil Code would seem necessary to effect a suitable adjustment to the provisions of the Probate Code.

POLITICAL CODE.

Amend sections 4181 and 4182, to read as follows:

4181. The public administrator must perform such duties as are prescribed in chapter twenty, division III, of the Probate Code, and shall perform such other duties as are required by law.

4182. The publication of the semiannual report required to be made by the public administrator shall be a county charge.

CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE.

Amend section 763 by substituting "the Probate Code" for "section 1444 of the Code of Civil Procedure."

Amend section 963, subdivision 3, to read: "From such probate orders and decrees as are made appealable by the provisions of the Probate Code."

Add sections 1043 and 1044, to Chapter VIII, Title XIV, Article II, to read as follows:

1043. A corporation or association authorized to conduct the business of a trust company in this state may be appointed to act as an assignee, receiver, depositary or trustee, in like manner as an individual.

1044. Such corporation or association shall not be required to give any bond or security in case of such appointment, but in lieu thereof it shall be liable on the securities deposited with the state treasurer as required by law for the conduct of a trust company business, and shall be responsible for all assets entrusted to it to the same extent as an individual. When it is required that an assignee, receiver, depositary or trustee shall qualify by taking and subscribing an oath, or when an affidavit is required, it shall be sufficient qualification by such corporation or association if such oath be taken and subscribed or such affidavit be made by its president, vice president, secretary, manager, trust officer or assistant trust officer.

CIVIL CODE.

Amend section 138 to read as follows:

138. In actions for divorce the court may, during the pendency of the action, or at the final hearing or at any time thereafter during the minority of any of the children of the marriage, make such order for the custody, care, education, maintenance and support of such minor children as may seem necessary and proper, and may at any time modify or vacate the same. In awarding the custody the court is to be guided by the following considerations:

(1) By what appears to be for the best interest of the child in respect to its temporal and its mental and moral welfare; and if the child is of a sufficient age to form an intelligent preference, the court may consider that preference in determining the question;

(2) As between parents adversely claiming the custody, neither parent is entitled to it as of right; but other things being equal, if the child is of tender years, it should be given to the mother; if it is of an age to require education and preparation for labor and business, then to the father.

BANK ACT.

Repeal section 92.

GENERAL LAWS.

Repeal Act 5716 (cf. cc 246; Probate Code 1409).

Repeal Act 7751 (cf. Probate Code 1650-69).

INTRODUCED BY SENATORS JONES, NELSON AND ROCHESTER.

An act to revise and consolidate the law relating to probate, including the custody, disposal by will, succession, administration and distribution of estates of decedents, the custody and administration of estates of persons under guardianship, and the custody of persons under guardianship; to repeal certain provisions of law therein revised and consolidated and therein specified; and to establish a Probate Code.

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

1. This act shall be known as the Probate Code and is composed of four divisions as follows:

Division I. Wills.

II. Succession.

III. Administration of Estates of Decedents.

IV. Guardian and Ward.

2. The provisions of this code, so far as they are substantially the same as existing statutes, must be construed as continuations thereof, and not as new enactments.

3. No action or proceeding commenced before this code takes effect, and no right accrued, is affected by its provisions, but the proceedings therein must conform to the requirements of this code as far as applicable.

DIVISION I—WILLS.

CHAPTER I—WHO MAY MAKE AND TAKE BY A WILL.

Article I—General Provisions.

20. Every person of sound mind, over the age of eighteen years, may dispose of his or her separate property, real and personal, by will.

1 21. The extent to which community property may be dis-
2 posed of by will is provided in chapter I of division II of this 3 code.

4 22. A will or part of a will procured to be made by duress, 5 menace, fraud or undue influence, may be denied probate; and 6 a revocation procured by the same means may be declared 7 void.

8 23. A conjoint or mutual will is valid, but it may be 9 revoked by any of the testators in like manner as any other 10 will.

11 24. A will, the validity of which is made conditional by its 12 own terms, shall be granted or denied probate, or denied effect 13 after probate, in conformity with the condition.

14 25. The execution of a codicil referring to a previous 15 will has the effect to republish the will as modified by the 16 codicil.

17 26. No will made out of this state is valid as a will in 18 this state unless executed according to the provisions of this 19 act, except that a will valid under the laws of a state or 20 country in which the testator is domiciled at the time of his 21 death is valid in this state so far as the same relates to per-22 sonal property.

23 27. A testamentary disposition may be made to the state, 24 to counties, to municipal corporations, to natural persons 25 capable by law of taking the property, to unincorporated 26 benevolent or fraternal societies or associations or lodges or 27 branches thereof, and to corporations formed for scientific, 28 literary, or solely educational or hospital purposes, or pri-29 marily for the public preservation of forests and natural 30 scenery, or to maintain public libraries, museums or art gal-31 leries, or for similar public purposes. No other corporation 32 can take under a will, unless expressly authorized by statute.

33 28. Testamentary dispositions, including devises and 34 bequests to a person on attaining majority, are presumed to 35 vest at the testator's death.

36 29. A devise or legacy given to more than one person 37 vests in them as owners in common, unless the will otherwise 38 provides.

39 Article II—Gifts to Charity.

40 41 40. All dispositions by will, whether made in or out of 42 this state, are subject to the provisions of this act limiting 43 charitable bequests and devises.

44 41. No estate, real or personal, may be bequeathed or 45 devised to any charitable or benevolent society or corporation, 46 or to any person or persons in trust for charitable uses, unless 47 done by will duly executed at least thirty days before the 48 death of the testator. If so made at least thirty days before 49 death, such devises and legacies shall be valid, but they may 50 not collectively exceed one-third of the estate of a testator who 51 leaves legal heirs, and if they do, a pro rata deduction from

1 such devises and legacies shall be made so as to reduce the 2 aggregate thereof to one-third of the estate. All dispositions 3 of property made contrary hereto shall be void, and go to the 4 residuary legatees or devisees or heirs, according to law.

5 42. Bequests and devises to or for the use or benefit of 6 the state, or any municipality, county or political subdivision 7 within the state, or any institution belonging to the state, or 8 belonging to any municipality, county or political subdivision 9 within the state, or to any educational institution which is 10 exempt from taxation under section 1a of article XIII or sec-11 tion 10 of article IX of the constitution of this state and 12 statutes enacted thereunder, or for the use or benefit of any 13 such educational institution, are excepted from the restric-14 tions of this article.

15 43. Nothing in this article contained shall apply to 16 bequests or devises made by will executed at least six months 17 prior to the death of a testator who leaves no spouse, child, 18 grandchild or parent, or when all of such heirs, by a writing 19 executed at least six months prior to his death, shall have 20 waived the restriction.

21 22 CHAPTER II—EXECUTION OF WILLS. 23

24 50. Every will, other than a nuncupative will, must be 25 in writing and every will, other than a holographic will and a 26 nuncupative will, must be executed and attested as follows:

27 (1) It must be subscribed at the end thereof by the testator 28 himself, or some person in his presence and by his direction 29 must subscribe his name thereto. A person who subscribes 30 the testator's name, by his direction, should write his own 31 name as a witness to the will, but a failure to do so will not 32 affect the validity of the will.

33 (2) The subscription must be made, or the testator must 34 acknowledge it to have been made by him or by his authority, 35 in the presence of both of the attesting witnesses, present at 36 the same time.

37 (3) The testator, at the time of subscribing or acknowledg-38 ing the instrument, must declare to the attesting witnesses 39 that it is his will.

40 (4) There must be at least two attesting witnesses, each of 41 whom must sign the instrument as a witness, at the end of the 42 will, at the testator's request and in his presence. The wit-43 nesses should give their places of residence, but a failure to 44 do so will not affect the validity of the will.

45 51. All beneficial devises and legacies to a subscribing 46 witness are void unless there are two other and disinterested 47 subscribing witnesses to the will, except that if such interested 48 witness would be entitled to any share of the estate of the 49 testator in case the will were not established, he shall take 50 such proportion of the devise or bequest made to him in the 51 will as does not exceed the share of the estate which would be 52 distributed to him if the will were not established.

1 52. A mere charge on the estate of the testator for the 2 payment of debts does not prevent his creditors from being 3 competent witnesses to his will.

4 53. A holographic will is one that is entirely written, 5 dated and signed by the hand of the testator himself. It is 6 subject to no other form, and need not be witnessed. No 7 address, date or other matter written, printed or stamped 8 upon the document, which is not incorporated in the provi-9 sions which are in the handwriting of the decedent, shall be 10 considered as any part of the will.

11 54. A nuncupative will is not required to be in writing.
12 It may be made by one who, at the time, is in actual military 13 service in the field, or doing duty on shipboard at sea, and in 14 either case in actual contemplation, fear, or peril of death, 15 or by one who, at the time, is in expectation of immediate 16 death from an injury received the same day. It must be 17 proved by two witnesses who were present at the making 18 thereof, one of whom was asked by the testator, at the time, to 19 bear witness that such was his will, or to that effect.

20 55. A nuncupative will may dispose of personal property 21 only, and the estate bequeathed must not exceed one thousand 22 dollars in value.

23

24

CHAPTER III—REVOCATION OF WILLS.

25

27 70. If a person marries after making a will, and the 28 spouse survives the maker, the will is revoked as to the spouse, 29 unless provision has been made for the spouse by marriage 30 contract, or unless the spouse is provided for in the will, or 31 in such way mentioned therein as to show an intention not to 32 make such provision; and no other evidence to rebut the pre-33 sumption of revocation can be received.

35

36 37

38

39

40

41

42

43

44

45

46

47

48

49

50

51

52

71. If a person marries after making a will and has issue of such marriage, and any of the issue survives the maker, or is born after its father's death, the will is revoked as to such issue, unless provision has been made for such issue by some settlement, or unless such issue are provided for in the will, or in such way mentioned therein as to show an intention not to make such provision; and no other evidence to rebut the presumption of such revocation can be received.

72. A prior will is not revoked by a subsequent will, unless the latter contains an express revocation, or provisions wholly inconsistent with the terms of the prior will. In other cases the prior will remains effectual so far as consistent with the provisions of the subsequent will; but the mere naming of an executor in the prior will need not be given effect by the court when the subsequent will is otherwise wholly inconsistent with the terms of the prior will, the intention of the testator in this respect being left to the determination of the court.

73. If the instrument by which an alteration is made in the testator's interest in any property previously disposed of 1 by his will expresses his intent that it shall be a revocation, 2 or if it contains provisions wholly inconsistent with the terms 3 and nature of the testamentary disposition, it operates as a 4 revocation thereof, unless such inconsistent provisions depend 5 on a condition or contingency by reason of which they do not 6 take effect.

7 74. Except as hereinabove provided, no written will, nor 8 any part thereof, can be revoked or altered otherwise than:

9 (1) By a written will, or other writing of the testator, 10 declaring such revocation or alteration, and executed with 11 the same formalities required for the execution of a will; or,

12 (2) By being burnt, torn, canceled, defaced, obliterated or 13 destroyed, with the intent and for the purpose of revoking the 14 same, by the testator himself, or by some person in his 15 presence and by his direction. If such act is done by any 16 person other than the testator, the direction of the testator, 17 and the fact of such injury or destruction, must be proved 18 by two witnesses.

19 75. If, after making a will, the testator makes a second 20 will, the destruction or other revocation of the second will 21 does not revive the first will, unless it appears by the terms of 22 such revocation that it was the intention to revive and give 23 effect to the first will, or unless, after such destruction or 24 other revocation, the first will is duly republished.

25 76. A will executed in duplicate is revoked if one of the 26 duplicates is burnt, torn, canceled, defaced, obliterated or 27 destroyed under the circumstances mentioned in subdivision 28 2 of section 74.

29 77. An agreement made by a testator for the sale or 30 transfer of property disposed of by a will previously made, 31 does not revoke such disposal; but the property passes by the 32 will, subject to the same remedies on the testator's agreement, 33 for a specific performance or otherwise, against the devisees 34 or legatees, as might be had against the testator's successors, 35 if the same had passed by succession.

36 78. Neither a charge or encumbrance placed by a testator 37 upon property previously disposed of by his will, for the pur-38 pose of securing the payment of money or the performance of 39 any covenant or agreement, nor a conveyance, settlement, or 40 other act of a testator, by which his interest in any such prop-41 erty is altered, but not wholly divested, is a revocation of the 42 disposal; but the property, subject to such charge or 43 encumbrance, or the remaining interest therein, passes by the 44 will.

45 79. The revocation of a will revokes all its codicils.

46 47 CHAPTER IV—KINDRED NOT MENTIONED IN WILL, WHO 48 SHARE IN ESTATE.

50 90. When a testator omits to provide in his will for any 51 of his children, or for the issue of any deceased child, whether

1 born before or after the making of the will or before or after 2 the death of the testator, and such child or issue are unpro-3 vided for by any settlement, and have not had an equal pro-4 portion of the testator's property bestowed on them by way 5 of advancement, unless it appears from the will that such 6 omission was intentional, such child or such issue succeeds to 7 the same share in the estate of the testator as if he had died 8 intestate.

9 91. The share of the estate which is assigned to a child 10 or issue omitted in a will, as hereinbefore mentioned, must 11 first be taken from the estate not disposed of by the will, if 12 any; if that is not sufficient, so much as may be necessary must 13 be taken from all the devisees or legatees, in proportion to the 14 value they may respectively receive under the will, unless the 15 obvious intention of the testator in relation to some specific 16 devise or bequest, or other provision in the will, would thereby 17 be defeated; in such case, such specific devise, legacy or pro-18 vision may be exempted from such apportionment, and a 19 different apportionment, consistent with the intention of the 20 testator, may be adopted.

21 92. If a devisee or legatee dies during the lifetime of the 22 testator, the testamentary disposition to him fails, unless an 23 intention appears to substitute another in his place; except 24 that when any estate is devised or bequeathed to any kindred 25 of the testator, and the devisee or legatee dies before the testa-26 tor, leaving lineal descendants, or is dead at the time the will 27 is executed, but leaves lineal descendants surviving the testa-28 tor, such descendants take the estate so given by the will in the 29 same manner as the devisee or legatee would have done had 30 he survived the testator.

31 32 CHAPTER V—INTERPRETATION OF WILLS.

34 100. The interpretation of wills, wherever made, is gov-35 erned, when relating to property within this state, by the law 36 of this state, and the rules prescribed by this code are to be 37 observed, unless an intention to the contrary clearly appears.

38 101. Several testamentary instruments executed by the 39 same testator are to be taken and construed together as one 40 instrument. A will is to be construed according to the inten-
41 tion of the testator. Where his intention can not have effect 42 to its full extent, it must have effect as far as possible.

43 102. The words of a will are to receive an interpretation 44 which will give to every expression some effect, rather than 45 one which will render any of the expressions inoperative; and 46 of two modes of interpreting a will, that is to be preferred 47 which will prevent a total intestacy.

48 103. Where the meaning of any part of a will is ambiguous 49 or doubtful, it may be explained by any reference thereto, or 50 recital thereof, in another part of the will. All the parts of 51 a will are to be construed in relation to each other, and so as,

1 if possible, to form one consistent whole; but where several 2 parts are absolutely irreconcilable, the latter must prevail.

3 104. A clear and distinct devise or bequest can not be 4 affected by any reasons assigned therefor, or by any other 5 words not equally clear and distinct, or by inference or argu-
6 ment from other parts of the will, or by an inaccurate recital 7 of or reference to its contents in another part of the will.

8 105. When there is an imperfect description, or no person 9 or property exactly answers the description, mistakes and 10 omissions must be corrected, if the error appears from the con-11 text of the will or from extrinsic evidence, excluding the oral 12 declarations of the testator as to his intentions; and when an 13 uncertainty arises upon the face of a will, as to the applica-14 tion of any of its provisions, the testator's intention is to be 15 ascertained from the words of the will, taking into view the 16 circumstances under which it was made, excluding such oral 17 declarations.

18 106. The words of a will are to be taken in their ordinary 19 and grammatical sense, unless a clear intention to use them in 20 another sense can be collected, and that other can be ascer-21 tained. Technical words are not necessary to give effect to 22 any species of disposition by a will; but technical words in a 23 will are to be taken in their technical sense, unless the con-24 text clearly indicates a contrary intention, or unless it satis-25 factorily appears that the will was drawn solely by the 26 testator, and that he was unacquainted with such technical 27 sense.

28 107. The term "heirs," or other words of inheritance, are 29 not requisite to devise a fee, and a devise of real property 30 passes all the estate of the testator, unless otherwise limited.

31 108. A testamentary disposition to "heirs," "relations," 32 "nearest relations," "representatives," "legal represent-33 atives," "personal representatives," "family," "nearest (or 34 next) of kin" of any person, without other words of qualifica-35 tion, and when the terms are used as words of donation, and 36 not of limitation, vests the property in those who would be 37 entitled to succeed to the property of such person, according 38 to the provisions of division II of this code. Such terms are 39 used as words of donation, and not of limitation, when the 40 property is given to the person so designated, directly, and 41 not as a qualification of an estate given to the ancestor of 42 such person.

43 CHAPTER VI—EFFECT OF CERTAIN PROVISIONS. 44

45 120. A devise of land conveys all the estate of the testator 46 therein which he could lawfully devise, unless it clearly 47 appears by the will that he intended to convey a less estate.

48 -121. Any estate, right, or interest in lands acquired by 49 the testator after the making of his will, passes thereby and in 50 like manner as if title thereto was vested in him at the time 51

1 of making the will, unless the contrary manifestly appears by 2 the will to have been the intention of the testator.

3 122. Words in a will referring to death or survivorship, 4 simply, relate to the time of the testator's death, unless posses-5 sion is actually postponed, when they must be referred to the 6 time of possession.

7 123. A testamentary disposition to a class includes every 8 person answering the description at the testator's death; but 9 when the possession is postponed to a future period, it includes 10 also all persons coming within the description before the time 11 to which possession is postponed. A child born after a 12 testator's death, or any other period when a disposition to a 13 class vests in right or in possession, takes, if answering to the 14 description of the class.

15 124. When a will directs the conversion of real property 16 into money, such property and all its proceeds must be deemed 17 personal property from the time of the testator's death.

18 125. A devise or bequest of all the testator's real or per-19 sonal property, in express terms, or in any other terms denot-20 ing his intent to dispose of all his real or personal property, 21 passes all the real or personal property which he was entitled 22 to dispose of by will at the time of his death, including prop-23 erty embraced in a power to devise.

24 126. A devise of the residue of the testator's real property, 25 or a bequest of the residue of the testator's personal property, 26 passes all the real or personal property, as the case may be, 27 which he was entitled to devise or bequeath at the time of his 28 death, not otherwise effectually devised or bequeathed by his 29 will.

30

31 CHAPTER VII—CONDITIONS AND REMAINDERS.

32

33 140. The death of a devisee or legatee of a limited interest 34 before the testator's death does not defeat the interest of per-35 sons in remainder who survive the testator.

36 141. A conditional disposition is one which depends upon 37 the occurrence of some uncertain event, by which it is either 38 to take effect or be defeated.

39 142. A condition precedent in a will is one which is 40 required to be fulfilled before a particular disposition takes 41 effect. It is to be deemed performed when the testator's 42 intention has been substantially, though not literally, complied 43 with. Nothing vests until such condition is fulfilled, except 44 where fulfillment is impossible, in which case the disposition 45 vests, unless the condition was the sole motive thereof and the 46 impossibility was unknown to the testator or arose from an 47 unavoidable event subsequent to the execution of the will.

48 143. A condition subsequent is where an estate or interest 49 is so given as to vest immediately, subject only to be divested 50 by some subsequent act or event. A testamentary disposition, 51 when vested, can not be divested unless upon the occurrence

1 of the precise contingency prescribed by the testator for that 2 purpose.

4 CHAPTER VIII—LEGACIES AND INTEREST.

6 160. In case of a bequest of the interest or income of a 7 certain sum or fund, the income accrues from the testator's 8 death.

9 161. Legacies are distinguished and designated, according 10 to their nature, as follows: .

11 (1) A legacy of a particular thing, specified and distin-12 guished from all others of the same kind belonging to the 13 testator, is specific; if such legacy fails, resort can not be had 14 to the other property of the testator;

15 (2) A legacy is demonstrative when the particular fund or 16 personal property is pointed out from which it is to be taken 17 or paid;

18 (3) An annuity is a bequest of certain specified sums 19 periodically; if the fund or property out of which a demon-20 strative legacy or an annuity is payable fails, in whole or in 21 part, resort may be had to the general assets, as in case of a 22 general legacy;

23 (4) A residuary legacy embraces only that which remains 24 after all the bequests of the will are discharged;

25 (5) All other legacies are general legacies.

26 162. Legacies are due and deliverable one year after the 27 testator's death, and bear interest from that time, except that 28 legacies for maintenance, or to the testator's widow, bear 29 interest from the testator's death. Annuities commence at 30 the testator's death.

31 163. The provisions of this chapter are in all cases to be 32 controlled by a testator's express intention.

34 DIVISION II—SUCCESSION.

35
36 200. Succession is the acquisition of title to the property 37 of one who dies without disposing of it by will.

38 39 CHAPTER I—COMMUNITY PROPERTY.

40 41 201. Upon the death of either husband or wife, one-half of 42 the community property belongs to the surviving spouse; the 43 other half is subject to the testamentary disposition of the 44 decedent, and in the absence thereof goes to the surviving 45 spouse, subject to the following provisions.

46 202. Community property passing from the control of the 47 husband, either by reason of his death or by virtue of testa-48 mentary disposition by the wife, is subject to his debts and to 49 administration and disposal under the provisions of division
50 III of this code; but in the event of such testamentary disposi-51 tion by the wife, the husband, pending administration, shall 52 retain the same power to sell, manage and deal with the com-

1 munity personal property as he had in her lifetime; and his 2 possession and control of the community property shall not 3 be transferred to the personal representative of the wife except 4 to the extent necessary to carry her will into effect.

5 203. After forty days from the death of the wife, the sur-
6 viving husband shall have full power to sell, lease, mortgage 7 or otherwise deal with and dispose of the community real 8 property, unless a notice is recorded in the county in which the 9 property is situated to the effect that an interest in the prop-10 erty, specifying it, is claimed by another under the wife's 11 will.

12 CHAPTER II—SEPARATE PROPERTY.

13 Article I—Particular Provisions.

16 220. The separate property of a person who dies without 17 disposing of it by will is succeeded to and must be distributed 18 as hereinafter provided, subject to the limitation of any mar-19 riage or other contract, and to the provisions of division III 20 of this code.

21 221. If the decedent leaves a surviving spouse, and only 22 one child or the lawful issue of a deceased child, the estate 23 goes one-half to the surviving spouse and one-half to the child 24 or issue. If the decedent leaves a surviving spouse, and more 25 than one child living or one child living and the lawful issue 26 of one or more deceased children, the estate goes one-third to 27 the surviving spouse and the remainder in equal shares to his 28 children and to the lawful issue of any deceased child, by 29 right of representation; but if there is no child of decedent 30 living at his death, the remainder goes to all of his lineal 31 descendants; and if all of the descendants are in the same 32 degree of kindred to the decedent they share equally, other-33 wise they take by right of representation.

34 222. If the decedent leaves no surviving spouse, but leaves 35 issue, the whole estate goes to such issue; and if all of the 36 descendants are in the same degree of kindred to the decedent 37 they share equally, otherwise they take by right of representa-38 tion.

39 223. If the decedent leaves a surviving spouse and no issue, 40 the estate goes one-half to the surviving spouse and one-half 41 to the decedent's parents in equal shares, or if either is dead 42 to the survivor, or if both are dead to their issue and the 43 issue of either of them, by right of representation.

44 224. If the decedent leaves a surviving spouse and neither 45 issue, parent, brother, sister, nor descendant of a deceased 46 brother or sister, the whole estate goes to the surviving spouse.

47 225. If the decedent leaves neither issue nor spouse, the 48 estate goes to his parents in equal shares, or if either is dead 49 to the survivor, or if both are dead in equal shares to his 50 brothers and sisters and to the descendants of deceased
51 brothers and sisters by right of representation.

226. If the decedent leaves neither issue, spouse, parent, brother, sister, nor descendant of a deceased brother or sister, the estate goes to the next of kin in equal degree, excepting that, when there are two or more collateral kindred in equal degree, but claiming through different ancestors, those who claim through the nearest ancestor must be preferred to those claiming through an ancestor more remote.

227. If the decedent dies under age without having been married, all the estate that came to the decedent by succession from a parent goes in equal shares to the other children of the same parent and to the issue of any other of such children who are dead, by right of representation; or if all the children of such parent are dead, and any of them has left issue, to such issue; and if all the issue are in the same degree of kindred to the decedent, they share equally, otherwise they take by right of representation.

228. If the decedent leaves no issue, and the estate or any portion thereof was community property of the decedent and a previously deceased spouse, such property goes in equal shares to the children of the deceased spouse and to their descendants by right of representation, and if none, then one-half of such community property goes to the parents of the decedent in equal shares or if either is dead to the survivor, or if both are dead in equal shares to the brothers and sisters of the decedent and to their descendants by right of representation, and the other half goes to the parents of the deceased spouse in equal shares, or if either is dead to the survivor, or if both are dead in equal shares to the brothers and sisters of such deceased spouse and to their descendants by right of representation.

229. If the decedent leaves no issue, and the estate or any portion thereof was separate property of a previously deceased spouse, and came to the decedent from such spouse by gift, descent, devise or bequest, such property goes in equal shares to the children of the deceased spouse and to their descendants by right of representation, and if none, then to the parents of the deceased spouse in equal shares, or if either is dead to the survivor, or if both are dead in equal shares to the brothers and sisters of the deceased spouse and to their descendants by right of representation.

230. If there is no one to succeed to any portion of the property in any of the contingencies provided for in the last two sections, according to the provisions of those sections, such portion goes to the next of kin of the decedent in the manner hereinabove provided for succession by next of kin.

231. If the decedent leaves no one to take his estate or any portion thereof, under the laws of this state, the same escheats to the state as of the date of the death of the decedent. The property or proceeds of any estate deposited in the state treasury after final decree of distribution or judgment of the superior court by reason of the failure of heirs to make claim thereto may be recovered upon judgment of the superior court

1 or order of the state board of control as provided in the Code
2 of Civil Procedure. When such judgment or order is obtained, 3 a certified copy thereof must be filed with the state treasurer 4 as his voucher. Thereupon the property must be delivered, or 5 the proceeds paid, to the claimant, upon filing his receipt there-6 for. If no one succeeds to the estate or the proceeds, as herein 7 provided, the property of the decedent devolves and escheats to 8 the people of the state, and must be placed by the state 9 treasurer to the credit of the school fund. Property passing 10 to the state under this section, whether held by the state or 11 its officers, is subject to the same charges and trusts to which it 12 would have been subject if it had passed by succession, and is 13 also subject to all the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure 14 relating to escheated estates.

15
16 Article II—General Provisions.
17

18 250. Inheritance or succession “by right of representa-19 tion” takes place when the descendants of a deceased person 20 take the same share or right in the estate of another that 21 such deceased person would have taken as an heir if living.
22 A posthumous child is considered as living at the death of the 23 parent.

24 251. The degree of kindred is established by the number of 25 generations, and each generation is called a degree.

26 252. Lineal consanguinity, or the direct line of con-27 sanguinity, is the relationship between persons one of whom is 28 a descendant of the other. The direct line is divided into a 29 direct line descending, which connects a person with those 30 who descend from him, and a direct line ascending, which con-31 nects a person with those from whom he descends. In the 32 direct line there are as many degrees as there are generations.
33 Thus, the child is, with regard to the parent, in the first 34 degree; the grandchild, with regard to the grandparent, in the 35 second; and vice versa as to the parent and grandparent with 36 regard to their respective children and grandchildren.

37 253. Collateral consanguinity is the relationship between 38 people who spring from a common ancestor, but are not in a 39 direct line. The degree is established by counting the genera-40 tion from one relative up to the common ancestor and from the 41 common ancestor to the other relative. In such computation 42 the first relative is excluded, the other included, and the 43 ancestor counted but once. Thus, brothers are related in the 44 second degree, uncle and nephew in the third degree, cousins 45 german in the fourth, and so on.

46 254. Kindred of the half blood inherit equally with those 47 of the whole blood in the same degree, unless the inheritance 48 came to the intestate by descent, devise, or gift of some one 49 of his ancestors, in which case all those who are not of the 50 blood of such ancestor must be excluded from such inheritance 51 in favor of those who are.

255. Every illegitimate child is an heir of his mother, and also of the person who, in writing, signed in the presence of a competent witness, acknowledges himself to be the father; and inherits his or her estate, in whole or in part, as the case may be, in the same manner as if he had been born in lawful wedlock; but he does not represent his father or mother by inheriting any part of the estate of the parent's kindred, either lineal or collateral, unless, before his death, his parents shall have intermarried, and his father, after such marriage, acknowledges him as his child, or adopts him into his family; in which case such child is deemed legitimate for all purposes of succession.

256. The estate of an illegitimate child, who, having title to any estate not otherwise limited by marriage contract, dies without disposing thereof by will, is succeeded to as if he had been born in lawful wedlock, if he has been legitimated by a subsequent marriage of his parents or adopted by his father as provided by the Civil Code; otherwise, it is succeeded to as if he had been born in lawful wedlock and had survived his father and all persons related to him only through his father.

257. An adopted child succeeds to the estate of one who has adopted him, the same as a natural child; and the person adopting succeeds to the estate of an adopted child, the same as a natural parent. An adopted child does not succeed to the estate of a natural parent when the relationship between them has been severed by the adoption, nor does such natural parent succeed to the estate of such adopted child.

258. No person convicted of the murder of the decedent shall be entitled to succeed to any portion of the estate; but the portion thereof to which he would otherwise be entitled to succeed goes to the other persons entitled thereto under the provisions of this chapter.

DIVISION III—ADMINISTRATION OF ESTATES OF DECEDENTS.

CHAPTER I—PROBATE OF WILLS AND APPLICATION FOR LETTERS.

Article I—Jurisdiction.

300. When a person dies, the title to his property, real and personal, passes to the person to whom it is devised or bequeathed by his last will, or, in the absence of such disposition, to the persons who succeed to his estate as provided in division II of this code; but all of his property shall be subject to the possession of the executor or administrator and to the control of the superior court for the purposes of administration, sale or other disposition under the provisions of division III of this code, and shall be chargeable with the expenses of administering his estate, and the payment of his debts and the allowance to the family, except as otherwise provided in this code.

1 301. Wills must be proved, and letters testamentary or of 2 administration granted and administration of estates of dece-3 dents had, in the superior court:

4 (1) Of the county of which the decedent was a resident at 5 the time of his death, wherever he may have died;

6 (2) Of the county in which the decedent died, leaving estate 7 therein, he not being a resident of the state;

8 (3) Of any county in which he leaves estate, the decedent 9 not being a resident of the state at the time of his death, 10 and having died out of the state or without leaving estate 11 in the county in which he died; in either of which cases, when 12 the estate is in more than one county, the superior court of 13 the county in which a petition for letters testamentary or of 14 administration is first filed has exclusive jurisdiction of the 15 administration of the estate.

16 302. In the absence of fraud in its procurement, an order 17 of the superior court granting letters, when it becomes final, 18 is a conclusive determination of the jurisdiction of the court 19 (except when based upon the erroneous assumption of death), 20 and can not be collaterally attacked.

21 303. No will shall be admitted to probate or letters of 22 administration granted or other proceeding had (except the 23 ordering of a transfer as hereinafter provided), before any 24 judge who is interested as an heir of the decedent, or as a 25 legatee or devisee under a will, or when he is named as executor 26 or trustee in the will, or is a witness thereto, or is in any other 27 manner interested or disqualified from acting. When a peti-28 tion is filed praying for the admission of a will to probate or 29 for the granting of letters of administration, or when pro-30 ceedings are pending for the settlement of an estate, and there 31 is no judge of the superior court in that county qualified to 32 act, the court or judge must make an order transferring the 33 proceedings to the superior court of an adjoining county, and 34 the clerk must transmit to the clerk of the court to which the 35 proceedings are transferred a certified copy of the order 36 together with all papers in the proceedings on file in his 37 office; and thereafter the court to which the proceedings are 38 transferred shall exercise the same jurisdiction over the estate 39 and all matters relating to the administration thereof as if it 40 had original jurisdiction. But such transfer shall not be 41 ordered when some other judge qualified to act is assigned by 42 the chairman of the judicial council to sit in the county where 43 such proceedings are pending, to hear such proceedings.

44 304. The transfer of a proceeding from one court to another, 45 as provided for in the preceding section, shall not affect the 46 right of any person to letters testamentary or of administra-47 tion, but the same persons are entitled to letters in the order 48 hereinafter provided.

49 305. If, before the administration of any estate so trans-50 ferred is closed, another person becomes judge of the court 51 wherein such proceeding was originally commenced, who is 52 not disqualified to act in the settlement of the estate, and the

1 causes for which the proceeding was transferred no longer 2 exist, any person interested in the estate may have the pro-3 ceeding returned to the court from which it was originally 4 transferred, by filing a petition setting forth these facts, and 5 moving the court therefor. If these facts are satisfactorily 6 shown, and it further appears to the court that the convenience 7 of the parties interested would be promoted by such change, 8 the court must make an order transferring the proceeding 9 back to the court where it was originally commenced; and the 10 clerk must transmit to the clerk of the court in which the pro-11 ceeding was originally commenced, a certified copy of the 12 order together with all papers in the proceedings on file in 13 his office.

Article II—Probate of Wills.

17 320. The custodian of a will, within thirty days after 18 being informed that the maker thereof is dead, must deliver the 19 same to the clerk of the superior court having jurisdiction of 20 the estate, or to the executor named therein. Failure to do 21 so makes such person responsible for all damages sustained 22 by any one injured thereby.

23 321. If it is alleged in a petition that some one has posses-24 sion of a will, and the court having jurisdiction of the estate, 25 or a judge thereof, is satisfied that the allegation is true, an 26 order must be made and served upon such person, requiring 27 him to produce it at a time named in the order. If he has 28 possession of the will and neglects or refuses to produce it as 29 required, he may by warrant from the court be committed to 30 the jail of the county and confined therein until he produces 31 it. The judge of the court may at any time make and issue 32 all necessary orders and writs to enforce the production 33 of wills and the attendance of witnesses.

34 322. The rights of a purchaser or encumbrancer of real 35 property, in good faith and for value, derived from any person 36 claiming the same by succession, are not impaired by any 37 devise made by the decedent from whom succession is claimed, 38 unless within four years after the deviser's death the instru-39 ment containing such devise is duly proved as a will, or writ-40 ten notice of such devise is recorded with the recorder of the 41 county where the land lies.

42 323. Any executor, devisee or legatee named in a will, or 43 any other person interested in the estate, may, at any time 44 after the death of the testator, petition the court having 45 jurisdiction to have the will proved, whether the same be in 46 writing or nuncupative, in his possession or not, lost or 47 destroyed, or beyond the jurisdiction of the state.

48 324. If the person named in a will as executor, for thirty 49 days after he has knowledge of the death of the testator and 50 that he is named as executor, fails to petition the proper 51 court for the probate of the will and that letters testamentary 52 be issued to him, he may be held to have renounced his right

1 to letters, and the court may appoint any other competent 2 person administrator, unless good cause for delay is shown.

3 325. No proof shall be received of a nuncupative will 4 unless it is offered within six months after the testamentary 5 words were spoken, nor unless the words, or the substance 6 thereof, were reduced to writing within thirty days after they 7 were spoken, and such writing is filed with the petition for 8 the probate thereof. Notice of such petition shall be given, 9 and subsequent proceedings in administration had, as in the 10 case of a written will.

11 326. A petition for the probate of a will must state:

12 (1) The jurisdictional facts;

13 (2) Whether the person named as executor consents to act 14 or renounces his right to letters testamentary;

15 (3) The names, ages and residences of the heirs, devisees 16 and legatees of the decedent, so far as known to the petitioner;

17 (4) The character and estimated value of the property of 18 the estate;

19 (5) The name of the person for whom letters testamentary 20 are prayed.

21 No defect of form or in the statement of jurisdictional facts 22 actually existing shall make void the probate of a will.

23 327. When the petition is filed, the clerk of the court 24 shall set the same for hearing by the court upon some day 25 not less than ten nor more than thirty days thereafter, and 26 shall give notice of the time and place of hearing by pub-27 lishing the same in a newspaper published in the county; 28 if there is none, then by three written or printed notices, posted 29 at three of the most public places in the county. If the notice 30 is published in a weekly newspaper, it must appear therein on 31 at least three different days of publication; and if in a news-32 paper published oftener than once a week, it shall be so pub-33 lished that there shall be at least ten days from the first to 34 the last day of publication, both first and last day being 35 included. If the notice is by posting, it must be given at least 36 ten days before the hearing.

37 328. At least ten days before the hearing, copies of the 38 notice must be personally served upon the heirs of the testator 39 and the devisees and legatees named in the will and all persons 40 named as executors who are not petitioning, or mailed, postage 41 prepaid, from a post office within this state, addressed to them 42 at their respective places of residence, if known to the peti-43 tioner, if not, at the county seat of the county where the pro-44 ceedings are pending.

45 329. If no one appears to contest the probate, the court 46 may admit the will to probate on the evidence of one of the 47 subscribing witnesses only, if the evidence shows that the will 48 was executed in all particulars as required by law. If none 49 of the subscribing witnesses resides in the county, but the 50 deposition of one of them can be taken elsewhere, the court 51 may direct it to be taken, and may authorize a photographic 52 copy of the will to be made and to be presented to such witness

1 on his examination, who may be asked the same questions with 2 respect to it and the handwriting of himself, the testator and 3 the other witness, as would be pertinent and competent if the 4 original will were present. If the subscribing witnesses are 5 competent at the time of attesting the execution, their subse-6 quent incompetency, from whatever cause, will not prevent 7 the probate of the will, if it is otherwise satisfactorily proved.
8 If the evidence of no subscribing witness can be procured, the 9 court may admit the will to probate upon proof of the hand-10 writing of the testator and of any one of the subscribing 11 witnesses.

12 330. If the will of a person who at the time of his death 13 was a resident of this state is detained beyond the jurisdiction 14 of the state, in a court of any other state or country, and can 15 not be produced for probate in this state, a copy of the will 16 duly authenticated may be admitted to probate in this state in 17 lieu of, and have the same force and effect as, the original 18 will. The same proof shall be required as would be required 19 if the original will were produced. The court may authorize a 20 photographic copy of the will to be presented to the sub-21 scribing witness upon his examination in court, or by deposi-22 tion as provided in the previous section, and he may be 23 asked the same questions with respect to it and the hand-24 writing of himself, the testator and the other witness, as 25 would be pertinent and competent if the original will were 26 present.

27 331. A holographic will may be proved in the same manner 28 as other private writings.

29 332. When the court admits a will to probate it must be 30 recorded in the minutes by the clerk, with the notation:
31 "Admitted to probate (giving date)." If the will is in a 32 foreign language, the court shall certify to a correct transla-33 tion thereof into English, and such certified translation shall 34 be recorded in lieu of the original.

35 Article III—Lost or Destroyed Wills.

36
38 350. No will shall be proven as a lost or destroyed will 39 unless proved to have been in existence at the time of the death 40 of the testator, or shown to have been destroyed fraudulently 41 or by public calamity in the lifetime of the testator, without 42 his knowledge; nor unless its provisions are clearly and dis-
43 tinctly proved by at least two credible witnesses. Knowledge 44 of the destruction of his will by public calamity shall not be 45 imputed to an insane person who has been committed to a 46 state hospital for the insane in this state and never restored 47 to competency.

48 351. The petition for the probate of a lost or destroyed 49 will must state, or be accompanied by a written statement of, 50 the testamentary words, or the substance thereof. If the will 51 is established, the provisions thereof must be set forth in the 52 order admitting the will to probate, and the order must be

1 entered at length in the minutes. The testimony of each 2 witness must be reduced to writing, signed by him and filed, 3 and shall be admissible in evidence in any contest of the will 4 if the witness has died or has permanently removed from the 5 state.

6 352. If, before or pending an application to prove a lost 7 or destroyed will, letters of administration are granted on the 8 estate of the testator, or letters testamentary of any previous 9 will of the testator are granted, the court may restrain the 10 administrators or executors, so appointed, from any acts or 11 proceedings which would be injurious to the devisees or lega-12 tees claiming under the lost or destroyed will.

13 Article IV—Foreign Wills.

16 360. A will admitted to probate in any other state or 17 country may be offered for probate in the superior court hav-18 ing jurisdiction as determined by section 301 of this code.

19 361. The executor or any person interested in the will may 20 file a copy of the will and of the order or decree admitting 21 it to probate, duly authenticated, together with his petition 22 for letters. Notice shall be given and the same proceedings had 23 as in the case of an original petition for the probate of a will.

24 362. If it appears from such authenticated order or decree 25 or otherwise that the will has been admitted to probate in 26 another state or country, and that it was valid according to 27 the law of the place in which the testator was domiciled at the 28 time of his death, or according to the law of this state, it shall 29 be admitted to probate and have the same force and effect as 30 a will first admitted to probate in this state, and letters testa-31 mentary or of administration with the will annexed shall 32 issue thereon to the petitioner.

33 CHAPTER II—CONTESTS OF WILLS.

34 Article I—Contests Before Probate.

37
38 370. Any person interested may contest the will by filing 39 written grounds of opposition to the probate thereof at any 40 time before the hearing of the petition for probate, and there-41 upon a citation shall be issued directed to the heirs of the 42 decedent and to all persons interested in the will, including 43 minors and incompetents, wherever residing, directing them 44 to plead to the contest within thirty days after service of the 45 citation, which shall be made personally or by publication in 46 the manner provided by law for the service of summons in 47 civil actions. Any person so served may demur to the con-48 test upon any of the grounds of demurrer available in civil 49 actions. If the demurrer is sustained, the court may allow the 50 contestant a reasonable time, not exceeding ten days, within 51 which to amend his contest. If the demurrer is overruled, the 52 petitioner and others interested, within ten days after the 1 receipt of written notice thereof, may jointly or separately 2 answer the contest.

3 371. On the trial, the contestant is plaintiff and the peti-
4 tioner is defendant. Any issue of fact involving the com-5 petency of the decedent to make a last will and testament, the 6 freedom of the decedent at the time of the execution of the 7 will from duress, menace, fraud, or undue influence, the due 8 execution and attestation of the will, or any other question 9 substantially affecting the validity of the will, must be tried 10 by a jury, unless a jury is waived as provided by the Code 11 of Civil Procedure. If no jury is demanded, the court must 12 try and determine the issues joined.

13 372. If the will is contested, all the subscribing witnesses 14 who are present in the county, and who are of sound mind, 15 must be produced and examined; and the death, absence, or 16 insanity of any of them must be satisfactorily shown to the 17 court. If none of the subscribing witnesses resides in the 18 county, and the evidence of none of them can be produced, the 19 court may admit the evidence of other witnesses to prove the 20 due execution of the will; and, as evidence of the execution, 21 it may admit proof of the handwriting of the testator and of 22 any of the subscribing witnesses.

23 373. The jury must return a special verdict upon the 24 issues submitted to them by the court; and upon the verdict, 25 or upon the proof taken if a jury is waived, the court must 26 render judgment, either admitting the will to probate or 27 rejecting it.

28 374. The testimony of each subscribing witness who has 29 testified must be reduced to writing, signed by him and filed, 30 and shall be admissible in evidence in any subsequent contest 31 of the will if the witness has died or has permanently removed 32 from the state.

35

Article II—Contests After Probate.

36

37 380. When a will has been admitted to probate, any inter-38 ested person, other than a party to a contest before probate 39 and other than a person who had actual notice of such pre-40 vious contest in time to have joined therein, may, at any time 41 within six months after such probate, contest the same or the 42 validity of the will. For that purpose he must file in the 43 court in which the will was proved a petition in writing, 44 containing his allegations against the validity of the will or 45 against the sufficiency of the proof, and praying that the 46 probate be revoked.

47 381. Upon filing the petition, and within the time allowed 48 for filing the petition, a citation must be issued to and served 49 upon the executor of the will, or the administrator with the 50 will annexed, and all the devisees and legatees mentioned in 51 the will, and the heirs, so far as known to the petitioner, 52 including minors and incompetents, or the personal representative of any such person who is dead, directing them to 1 plead to the contest within thirty days after service of the 2 citation.

3 382. The citation shall be served and proceedings had 4 thereunder as in the case of a contest before probate. If 5 the original probate was granted without a contest, a trial by 6 jury must be had, as in the case of a contest before probate, 7 unless a jury is waived as provided by the Code of Civil Pro-8 cedure. If the jury shall find or the court shall decide that 9 the will is invalid or is not the last will of the testator, the 10 probate must be revoked. Thereupon the powers of the execu-11 tor or administrator with the will annexed cease; but he shall 12 not be liable for any act done in good faith previous to the 13 revocation.

14 383. If the probate is not revoked, the costs of trial must 15 be paid by the contestant. If the probate is revoked, the cost 16 must be paid by the party who resisted the revocation or out 17 of the property of the decedent, as the court directs.

18 384. If no person contests the validity of a will or of the 19 probate thereof within the time specified in this article, the 20 probate of the will is conclusive; saving to infants and per-21 sons of unsound mind who were not made parties to the pro-22 ceeding a like period of six months after their respective 23 disabilities are removed.

24 385. Failure to contest a will does not preclude the sub-25 sequent probate of another will of the decedent.

27 CHAPTER III—APPOINTMENT OF EXECUTORS AND OF 28 ADMINISTRATORS WITH THE WILL ANNEXED.
29

30 400. No person has any power as an executor until he 31 qualifies, except that, before letters are issued, he may pay the 32 funeral charges and take necessary measures for the preserva-33 tion of the estate.

34 401. No person is competent to serve as an executor or 35 executrix who is under the age of majority, convicted of an 36 infamous crime, or adjudged by the court incompetent to 37 execute the duties of the trust by reason of drunkenness, 38 improvidence, or want of understanding or integrity. Mar-39 riage does not disqualify a woman from serving as executrix.

40 402. When it appears, by the terms of a will, that it was 41 the intention of the testator to commit the execution thereof 42 and the administration of his estate to any person as executor, 43 such person, although not named executor, is entitled to let-44 ters testamentary in like manner as if he had been named 45 executor.

46 403. An authority to an executor to appoint an executor 47 is void.

48 404. When the executor named in the will is a corporation 49 or national banking association that has sold its business and 50 assets to, or has consolidated or merged with, or is in any 51 manner provided by law succeeded by, another corporation 52 or national banking association authorized and qualified to act

1 as executor, the court may, and to the extent required by the 2 bank act shall, issue letters thereon to the successor corpora-3 tion or association.

4 405. When a person absent from the state, or a minor, is 5 named as an executor, and there is another executor who 6 accepts the trust and qualifies, the latter may have letters 7 testamentary and administer the estate until the return of the 8 absentee or the majority of the minor, who may then be admit-9 ted as joint executor. If there is no other executor, letters of 10 administration with the will annexed must be granted; but 11 the court may, in its discretion, revoke them on the return of 12 the absent executor or the majority of the minor.

13 406. No executor of an executor shall, as such, be author-
14 ized to administer the estate of the first testator. If no exec-15 utor is named in the will, or if the sole executor or all the 16 executors therein named are dead, or incompetent, or renounce 17 or fail to apply for letters, or to appear and qualify, or die 18 after the issuance of letters and before the completion of the 19 administration, letters of administration with the will annexed 20 shall be issued.

21 407. Any person interested in the estate or will may file 22 objections in writing to granting letters testamentary to the 23 persons named as executors, or any of them, and the objec-24 tions must be heard and determined by the court; a petition 25 may, at the same time, be filed for letters of administration 26 with the will annexed. If no objection is made, the court 27 when admitting a will to probate must issue letters thereon 28 to the persons named therein as executors who are competent 29 to discharge the trust, unless they or either of them have 30 renounced their right.

31 408. When all the executors named are not appointed by 32 the court, those appointed have the same authority to act in 33 every respect as effectually as all would have if appointed.

34 409. Administrators with the will annexed have the same 35 authority over estates which executors named in the will would 36 have, and their acts are as effectual for all purposes; but if a 37 power or authority conferred upon an executor is discretion-38 ary, and is not conferred by law, it shall not be deemed to be 39 conferred upon an administrator with the will annexed. Per-40 sons are entitled to appointment as administrators with the will 41 annexed in the same order of priority as in the appointment 42 of administrators, except that, as to foreign wills, a person 43 who is interested in the will has priority over one who is not.

45 CHAPTER IV—APPOINTMENT OF ADMINISTRATORS.

46 Article I—Competency and Priority.

49 420. No person is competent to serve as an administrator 50 or administratrix who is not a bona fide resident of this state, 51 or who has not the qualifications required of an executor or

1 executrix. Marriage does not disqualify a woman from serv-2 ing as administratrix.

3 421. The surviving partner of a decedent must in no case 4 be appointed administrator of the estate.

5 422. Administration of the estate of a person dying 6 intestate must be granted to one or more of the following per-7 sons, who are entitled to letters in the following order, the 8 relatives of the decedent being entitled to priority only when 9 they are entitled to succeed to the estate or some portion 10 thereof:

11 (1) The surviving spouse, or some competent person whom 12 he or she may request to have appointed.

13 (2) The children.

14 (3) The grandchildren.

15 (4) The parents.

16 (5) The brothers and sisters.

17 (6) The next of kin entitled to share in the estate.

18 (7) The relatives of a previously deceased spouse, when 19 entitled to succeed to some portion of the estate.

20 (8) The public administrator.

21 (9) The creditors.

22 (10) Any person legally competent.

23 423. Administration may be granted to one or more com-24 petent persons, although not otherwise entitled to the same, at 25 the written request of the person entitled, filed in court. If 26 the person making the request is a child, parent, brother or 27 sister of the decedent, the nominee shall have priority next 28 after those in the class of the person making the request; other-29 wise the court, in its discretion, may appoint either such 30 nominee or a person of a class subsequent in rank to that of 31 the person making the request; but other persons of the 32 class of the person making the request shall have priority over 33 such nominee.

34 424. Of several persons claiming and equally entitled to 35 administer, relatives of the whole blood are preferred to those 36 of the half blood.

37 425. When there are several persons equally entitled to 38 administer, the court may grant letters to one or more of 39 them; and when a creditor is claiming letters the court, in 40 its discretion, at the request of another creditor, may grant 41 letters to any other person legally competent.

42 426. If a person otherwise entitled to administer is a 43 minor or an incompetent person, letters may be granted to his 44 or her guardian, or any other person entitled to letters, in the 45 discretion of the court.

46 427. Administration must be granted to any competent 47 applicant, when persons having priority fail to claim letters 48 for themselves.

50 Article II—Application for Letters.

51 440. A petition for letters of administration must be in 52 writing, signed by the applicant or his counsel, and filed with

1 the clerk of the court, and must state:

2 (1) The jurisdictional facts;

3 (2) The names, ages and residences of the heirs of the 4 decedent, so far as known to the applicant;

5 (3) The character and estimated value of the property of 6 the estate.

7 No defect of form or in the statement of jurisdictional facts 8 actually existing shall make void an order appointing an 9 administrator or any of the subsequent proceedings.

10 441. The clerk shall set the petition for hearing by the 11 court and give notice thereof by causing a notice to be posted 12 at the courthouse of the county where the petition is filed, 13 giving the name of the decedent, the name of the applicant, 14 and the time at which the application will be heard. Such 15 notice must be given at least ten days before the hearing.
16 The clerk shall cause similar notice to be mailed, postage 17 prepaid, to the heirs of the decedent named in the petition, at 18 least ten days before the hearing, addressed to them at their 19 respective post-office addresses, as set forth in the petition, 20 otherwise at the county seat of the county where the proceed-21 ings are pending.

22 442. Any person interested may contest the petition by 23 filing written grounds of opposition thereto, based on the 24 incompetency of the applicant or for other cause, or may 25 assert his own right to letters. In the latter case he must file 26 a petition and give the notice required for an original petition, 27 and the court must hear the two petitions together.

28 443. Before letters are granted, the fact of death and that 29 the decedent died intestate, and that notice has been given as 30 above required, must be proved by the evidence of the appli-31 cant or others; and the court may also examine any other 32 person concerning the time, place and manner of death, the 33 place of the decedent's residence at the time, the character 34 and value of his property, and whether or not the decedent 35 left any will, and may compel any person to attend as a wit-36 ness for that purpose.

37 Article III—Revocation of Letters.

38
40 450. When letters of administration have been granted to 41 any person other than the surviving spouse, child, parent, 42 brother or sister of the intestate, any one of them who is 43 competent and had a prior right to letters, or any competent 44 person at the written request of any one of them who is com-45 petent and had such prior right, may obtain the revocation of 46 the letters, and be entitled to the administration, by filing a 47 petition praying the revocation, and that letters of adminis-
48 tration issue to him.

49 451. When such petition is filed, the clerk shall give 50 notice as in the case of an original application, and shall issue a 51 citation to the administrator to appear and answer the petition 52 at the time appointed for the hearing. At the time appointed,

1 upon proof that the citation has been duly served and notice 2 given as above required, the court shall take evidence upon the 3 petition, and if the right of the applicant is established, and 4 he is competent, letters of administration shall be granted to 5 him and the letters of the former administrator revoked.

6 452. The surviving spouse, when letters of administra-7 tion have been granted to a child, parent, brother or sister of 8 the intestate; or any of such relatives, when letters have been 9 granted to any other of them, may assert his prior right, and 10 obtain letters of administration, and have the letters before 11 granted revoked, in the manner prescribed in the preceding 12 section.

13 453. The court, in its discretion, may refuse to grant 14 letters of administration as provided in this article to any 15 person or to the nominee of any person who had actual notice 16 of the first application and an opportunity to contest the 17 same.

18 CHAPTER V—SPECIAL ADMINISTRATORS.

21 460. When there is delay in granting letters testamentary 22 or of administration, or when letters are granted irregularly, 23 or no sufficient bond is filed as required, or when no applica-24 tion is made for letters, or when an executor or administrator 25 dies or is suspended or removed, and the circumstances of the 26 estate require the immediate appointment of a personal repre-
27 sentative, the superior court, or a judge thereof, shall appoint 28 a special administrator to take possession of the estate of the 29 decedent and to exercise such other powers as may be necessary 30 for the preservation of the estate; or he may direct the public 31 administrator to take charge of the estate.

32 461. The appointment may be made at any time upon 33 such notice to such of the persons interested in the estate as 34 the court or judge may deem reasonable. In making the 35 appointment, preference must ordinarily be given to the 36 person entitled to letters testamentary or of administration, 37 but such order is not appealable.

38 462. Before letters issue to a special administrator, 39 except to a public administrator, he must give bond in such 40 sum as the court or judge may direct, with sureties to the 41 satisfaction of the court or judge, conditioned for the faith-42 ful performance of his duties; and he must take the usual 43 oath, and have the same indorsed on his letters. Thereupon 44 the clerk shall issue special letters of administration to him.

45 463. The special administrator must take possession of 46 all of the real and personal property of the decedent, and 47 preserve it from damage, waste and injury, and must collect 48 all claims, rents and other income belonging to the estate; and 49 for any such purposes may commence and maintain or defend 50 suits and other legal proceedings as such administrator. He 51 may sell perishable property and exercise such other powers 52 as are conferred upon him by his appointment, but, except

1 when the powers, duties and obligations of a general admin-2 istrator are conferred upon him as hereinafter provided, he 3 is not liable to an action by any creditor on a claim against 4 the decedent. He may obtain leave to borrow money, or to 5 lease or mortgage real property, in the same manner as a 6 general administrator.

7 464. If any property in charge of a special adminis-8 trator is subject to a mortgage, lien, or deed of trust, to 9 secure the payment of money, and there is danger that the 10 holder of the security may enforce or foreclose the same, and 11 the property exceeds in value the amount of the obligation 12 thereon, then, upon petition of the special administrator, or 13 of anyone interested in the estate, and upon such notice 14 as the court or judge shall deem proper, the court or 15 judge may authorize or direct the special administrator to pay 16 the interest due or all or any part of the amount so secured.
17 The order may also direct that interest not yet accrued be 18 paid as it becomes due, and such order shall remain in effect 19 and cover such future interest unless and until for good cause 20 set aside or modified by the court upon petition and notice 21 similar to that hereinabove provided.

22 465. When a special administrator is appointed pend-23 ing determination of a contest of a will instituted prior to 24 the probate thereof, or pending an appeal from an order 25 appointing, suspending or removing an executor or admin-26 istrator, the special administrator shall have the same powers, 27 duties and obligations as a general administrator, and the let-28 ters of administration issued to him shall recite that such 29 special administrator is appointed with the powers of a gen-30 eral administrator. If a special administrator has been 31 appointed, and thereafter a proceeding to contest a will prior 32 to the probate thereof has been instituted, the court shall 33 make an order providing that such special administrator shall 34 thereafter have the additional powers, duties and obligations 35 of a general administrator, and requiring that he give such 36 additional bond as the court deems proper. Such order is 37 not appealable, and from the time of the approving and fil-38 ing of any such additional bond as may be required, such 39 special administrator shall have the powers, duties and obli-40 gations of a general administrator.

41 466. When letters testamentary or of administration on 42 the estate of the decedent are granted, the powers of the spe-43 cial administrator cease, and he must forthwith deliver all 44 the property of the decedent in his hands to the executor or 45 administrator, who may prosecute to final judgment any suit 46 commenced by the special administrator.

47 467. The special administrator must render a verified 48 account of his proceedings in like manner as other adminis-49 trators are required to do. His commissions and the fees of 50 his attorney shall be fixed by the court; but the total com-51 missions paid and extra allowances made to the special admin-52 istrator and executor, or to the special administrator and

1 general administrator of an estate, must not, together, exceed 2 the sums provided for in this code as commissions and extra 3 allowances for the services of executors or administrators; 4 and the total fees paid to the attorneys both of the special 5 administrator and executor, or of the special administrator and 6 general administrator, must not, together, exceed the sums 7 provided in this code as compensation for the ordinary and 8 extraordinary services of attorneys for executors or adminis-9 trators.

10 468. When the same person does not act as both special 11 administrator and executor, or as special administrator and 12 general administrator, such commissions and allowances shall 13 be divided between the special administrator and executor, or 14 between the special administrator and general administrator, 15 in such proportion as the court shall deem just; and when the 16 same attorney does not act for both the special administrator 17 and executor, or for the special administrator and general 18 administrator, such fees shall be divided between the attorneys 19 in such proportion as the court shall deem just.

21 CHAPTER VI—LETTERS, GENERALLY, AND CHANGES IN 22 ADMINISTRATION.

23

24 Article I—Trust Companies.

25

26 480. A corporation or association authorized to conduct 27 the business of a trust company in this state may be appointed 28 to act as an executor, administrator, guardian of an estate, 29 or trustee, in like manner as an individual; but it shall not 30 be appointed guardian of the person of a ward.

31 481. A corporation or association receiving an appoint-32 ment under the previous section shall not be required to give 33 any bond or security, but the provisions of section 1044 of the 34 Code of Civil Procedure shall govern with respect to its lia-35 bility and the making of oaths and affidavits.

36

37 Article II—Form of Letters.

38

39 500. Letters testamentary, or of administration, or of 40 administration with the will annexed, or of special adminis-41 tration, shall be signed by the clerk, under the seal of the 42 court.

43 501. Letters testamentary, or of administration with 44 the will annexed, shall be substantially in the following form: 45 State of California, county (or city and county) of ----- 46 The last will of A. B., deceased, having been proved in the 47 superior court of the county (or city and county) of -----, 48 C. D., who is named therein as such, is hereby appointed 49 executor (or: and there being no executor named in the will, 50 or as the case may be, C. D. is hereby appointed administrator 51 with the will annexed). Witness, G. H., clerk of the superior 52 court of the county (or city and county) of -----, with the 1 seal of the court affixed, the ----- day of -----, 19----.

2 (Seal.) By order of the court. G. H., Clerk.
3 502. Letters of administration, or of special administra-
4 tion, shall be substantially in the following form: State of 5 California, county (or city and county) of ----- C. D.
6 is hereby appointed administrator (or special administrator) 7 of the estate of A. B., deceased. Witness, G. H., clerk of the 8 superior court of the county (or city and county) of -----, 9 with the seal of the court affixed, the ----- day of -----, 10 19--. (Seal.) By order of the court. G. H., Clerk.
11

12 Article III—Disability and Substitution.
13

14 510. Upon the admission to probate of a will after a 15 grant of letters of administration on the ground of intestacy, 16 or upon the admission to probate of a later will than the one 17 before admitted to probate, the preexisting grant of letters 18 testamentary or of administration must be revoked, and the 19 administrator or executor whose grant of authority is thus 20 terminated must render an account of his administration 21 within such time as the court may direct. The newly 22 appointed executor or administrator with the will annexed is 23 entitled to demand, sue for, recover and collect all the prop-24 erty of the decedent remaining unadministered, and may 25 prosecute to final judgment any suit commenced by the 26 previous administrator or executor before the revocation of 27 his letters.

28 511. In case any one of several executors or adminis-29 trators to whom letters are granted dies, becomes insane, is 30 convicted of an infamous crime, or otherwise becomes 31 incapable of executing the trust, or in case the letters testa-32 mentary or of administration are revoked or annulled with 33 respect to any one executor or administrator, the remaining 34 executor or administrator must proceed to complete the exe-35 cution of the will or administration. The fact of such death 36 or disqualification shall be established by a decree of the 37 court, upon such notice as the court deems reasonable.

38 512. If all the executors or administrators die or become 39 disqualified or incapable, or the power and authority of all of 40 them is revoked, the court shall issue letters of administration, 41 with the will annexed or otherwise, to the person or persons 42 next entitled thereto, in the same order and manner as is 43 directed in relation to original letters of administration. The 44 administrators so appointed must give bond in the like pen-45 alty, with like sureties and conditions, as hereinbefore 46 required of administrators, and shall have the like power and 47 authority.
48

49 Article IV—Resignation, Suspension and Removal.
50

51 520. An executor or administrator may resign his 52 appointment at any time, by a writing filed in the superior

1 court, to take effect upon the settlement of his accounts. If, 2 however, by reason of any delay in such settlement, or for 3 any other cause, the circumstances of the estate or the rights 4 of those interested therein require it, the court, at any time 5 after the tendering of the resignation, may revoke the letters 6 of such executor or administrator and appoint in his stead 7 an administrator, either special or general, or with the will 8 annexed, in the same manner as is directed in relation to 9 original letters of administration. The liability of the out-10 going executor or administrator, or of the sureties on his 11 bond, shall not in any manner be discharged, released, or 12 affected by such resignation or appointment, but shall con-13 tinue until the executor or administrator has delivered up all 14 the estate to the person whom the court shall appoint to receive 15 the same.

16 521. Whenever a judge of the court has reason to 17 believe from his own knowledge, or from credible informa-18 tion, that any executor or administrator has wasted, embezzled 19 or mismanaged, or is about to waste or embezzle the property 20 of the estate committed to his charge, or has committed or is 21 about to commit a fraud upon the estate, or is incompetent to 22 act, or has permanently removed from the state, or has wrong-23 fully neglected the estate, or has long neglected to perform 24 any act as such executor or administrator, he must cite 25 such executor or administrator to appear and show cause 26 why his letters should not be revoked, and may suspend 27 his powers until the matter is investigated. If the executor 28 or administrator has absconded or conceals himself or has 29 removed or absented himself from the state, notice of the 30 pendency of the proceedings may be given to him by publica-31 tion, in such manner as the court may direct, and the court 32 may proceed upon such notice as if the citation had been per-33 sonally served.

34 522. Any person interested in the estate may appear at 35 the hearing and file allegations in writing, showing that the 36 executor or administrator should be removed; to which the 37 executor or administrator may demur or answer, and the 38 issues shall be heard and determined by the court.

39 523. If the executor or administrator fails to appear in 40 obedience to the citation, or, if he appears and the court is 41 satisfied from the evidence that there exists cause for his 42 removal, his letters must be revoked. The court may compel 43 his attendance by attachment, and may compel him to answer 44 questions, on oath, touching his administration, and, upon his 45 refusal so to do, may commit him until he obeys, or may revoke 46 his letters, or both.

47 524. If, upon the settlement of an account of the execu-48 tor or administrator, it appears that he has embezzled, wasted 49 or mismanaged the estate, his letters must be revoked.

50 525. All acts of an executor or administrator, as such, 51 before the revocation of his letters testamentary or of admin-

1 istration, are as valid, to all intents and purposes, as if he 2 continued lawfully to execute the duties of his trust.

3 526. Whenever an executor or administrator is com-4 mitted for contempt in disobeying an order of the court or 5 judge, and has remained in custody for thirty days without 6 obeying such order or otherwise purging himself of the con-7 tempt, the court may, by order reciting the facts, and without 8 further showing or notice, revoke his letters and appoint some 9 other person entitled thereto executor or administrator in his 10 stead.

11 CHAPTER VII—OATHS AND BONDS.

12
14 540. Before letters testamentary or of administration are 15 issued, the executor or administrator must take and subscribe 16 an oath that he will perform, according to law, the duties of 17 his office, which oath must be attached to or endorsed upon 18 the letters.

19 541. Every person to whom letters testamentary or of 20 administration are directed to issue (unless the testator has 21 waived such requirement), must, before receiving them, exe-22 cute a bond to the State of California, with two or more per-23 sons or an authorized surety company as surety, to be 24 approved by a judge of the superior court, conditioned that 25 the executor or administrator shall faithfully execute the 26 duties of the trust according to law. In form the bond 27 must be joint and several. If the bond is to be given 28 by individual persons, the penalty must be not less than 29 twice the value of the personal property and twice the value of 30 the probable annual income from the real property belonging 31 to the estate, which values must be ascertained by the court or 32 judge by examining on oath the party applying, and any other 33 persons. If the bond is to be given by an authorized surety 34 company, the court in its discretion may fix the amount of 35 the bond at not less than the value of the personal property 36 and the probable value of the annual rents, issues and profits 37 of all of the property belonging to the estate.

38 542. Before a sale of any real property of an estate is 39 confirmed, the court, or a judge thereof, shall require such 40 additional bond as may be necessary to make the total penalty 41 the amount provided by the previous section, treating the 42 expected proceeds of the sale as personal property.

43 543. When it is provided in the will that no bond shall 44 be required of the executor, the court, nevertheless, for good 45 cause, may require one to be given as in other cases, either 46 before or at any time after the issuance of letters.

47 544. When two or more persons are appointed executors 48 or administrators, the court or judge must require and take a 49 separate bond from each of them.

50 545. In all cases in which bonds are required to be given 51 under the provisions of this code, the sureties must justify 52 thereon in the same manner and in like amounts as required

1 by the Code of Civil Procedure, and the certificate thereof must 2 be attached to and filed with the bond. All such bonds must 3 be approved by a judge of the superior court before being 4 filed. Upon filing, the clerk shall enter in the register of 5 actions the date and amount of such bond and the name or 6 names of the surety or sureties thereon. In the event of the 7 loss of such bond, such entries so made shall be prima facie 8 evidence of the due execution of such bond as required by law.

9 546. Before the judge approves any bond, or after its 10 approval, he may, of his own motion, or upon the motion of 11 any person interested in the estate, supported by affidavit that 12 the sureties, or some one or more of them, are not worth as 13 much as they have justified to, order a citation to issue requir-14 ing such sureties to appear before him at a designated time 15 and place, to be examined touching their property and its 16 value, and a citation to issue to the executor or administra-17 tor requiring his appearance at the same time and place. On 18 the return of the citations, he may examine the sureties and 19 such witnesses as may be produced, touching the property of 20 the sureties and its value; and if, upon such examination, he 21 is satisfied that the bond is insufficient, he must require suffi-22 cient additional security.

23 547. Any person interested in an estate may represent to 24 the court or a judge thereof, by verified petition, that the 25 sureties of the executor or administrator thereof have become, 26 or are becoming, insolvent, or that they have removed or are 27 about to remove from the state, or that from any other cause 28 the bond is insufficient, and ask that further security be 29 required. Or if it comes to the knowledge of the judge that 30 the bond is from any cause insufficient, he may, of his own 31 motion, without any application, require further security.

32 548. If the court or judge is satisfied from the petition 33 or from the judge's own information that the matter requires 34 investigation, a citation must be issued to the executor or 35 administrator requiring him to appear before the judge at a 36 designated time and place, to show cause why he should not 37 give further security. The citation must be served on the 38 executor or administrator personally, at least five days before 39 the return day. If he has absconded, or can not be found, it 40 may be served by leaving a copy of it at his residence, or by 41 such publication as the court or judge may order. On the 42 return of the citation, or at such other time as the judge may 43 appoint, he shall proceed to hear the matter, and if it satis-
44 factorily appears that the security, from any cause, is insuffi-45 cient, he shall make an order requiring the executor or 46 administrator to give further security, or to file a new bond in 47 the usual form, within a reasonable time, not less than five 48 days.

49 549. If sufficient security or additional security is not 50 given within the time fixed by the judge's order, the right of 51 the executor or administrator to the administration shall cease, 52 and the person next entitled to administer the estate, who will

1 execute a sufficient bond, must be appointed. If letters have 2 already been issued to the executor or administrator, the same 3 shall be revoked, and his authority shall thereupon cease.

4 550. When a petition is presented praying that an exec-5 utor or administrator be required to give further security, or 6 to give bond, where, by the terms of the will, no bond was 7 originally required, and it is alleged, on oath, that the executor 8 or administrator is wasting the property of the estate, the 9 judge, by order, may suspend his powers until the matter can 10 be heard and determined.

11 551. When a surety of an executor or administrator 12 desires to be released from responsibility on account of future 13 acts, he may make application to the court, or a judge 14 thereof, for relief. The court or judge shall cite the executor 15 or administrator to appear at a designated time and place 16 and give other security. If he has absconded, left, or 17 removed from the state, or if he can not be found after due 18 diligence and inquiry, the citation may be served by leaving a 19 copy of it at his residence, or by such publication as the 20 court or judge may order.

21 552. If the executor or administrator neglects or refuses 22 to give new sureties, to the satisfaction of the judge, on the 23 return of the citation or within such reasonable time as the 24 judge shall allow, unless the surety making the application 25 shall consent to a longer extension of time, the court or judge 26 must revoke his letters.

27 553. If new sureties be given to the satisfaction of the 28 judge, he shall thereupon make an order that the sureties who 29 applied for relief shall not be liable on their bond for any 30 subsequent act, default or misconduct of the executor or 31 administrator.

32 554. The liability of principal and sureties upon the 33 bond of an executor, administrator, or guardian, is in all 34 cases to pay in the kind of money or currency in which the 35 principal is legally liable. The bond shall not be void upon 36 the first recovery, but may be sued and recovered upon from 37 time to time, by any person aggrieved, in his own name, until 38 the whole penalty is exhausted.

40 CHAPTER VIII—POWERS AND DUTIES OF EXECUTORS 41 AND ADMINISTRATORS.
42

43 570. When there are two executors or administrators, the 44 act of one alone is effectual, if the other is absent from the 45 state or legally disqualified from serving, or if he has given 46 his coexecutor or coadministrator authority, in writing, to act 47 for both; and the approval of such act by the court shall be 48 conclusive of the authority of the one acting. When there 49 are more than two executors or administrators, the act of a 50 majority is valid.

51 571. The executor or administrator must take into his 52 possession all the estate of the decedent, real and personal,

1 and collect all debts due to the decedent or to the estate.
2 When, at the time of his death, a partnership existed between 3 the decedent and any other person, the surviving partner has 4 the right to continue in possession of the partnership, and to 5 settle its business, but the interest of^a the decedent in the 6 partnership must be included in the inventory, and be 7 appraised as other property. The surviving partner must 8 settle the affairs of the partnership without delay, and account 9 to the executor or administrator, and pay over such balances 10 as may from time to time be payable to him, in right of the 11 decedent. Upon application of the executor or administrator, 12 the court or a judge thereof, whenever it appears necessary, 13 may order the surviving partner to render an account, and in 14 case of neglect or refusal may, after notice, compel it by 15 attachment; and the executor or administrator may maintain 16 against him any action which the decedent could have main-17 tained.

18 572. After notice to all persons interested in an estate, 19 given in such manner as may be directed by the court or a 20 judge thereof, the court may authorize the executor or admin-21 istrator to continue the operation of the decedent's business 22 to such an extent and subject to such restrictions as may seem 23 to the court to be for the best interest of the estate and those 24 interested therein.

25 573. Actions for the recovery of any property, real or 26 personal, or for the possession thereof, or to quiet title thereto, 27 or to determine any adverse claim thereon, and all actions 28 founded upon contracts, may be maintained by and against 29 executors and administrators in all cases in which the same 30 might have been maintained by or against their respective 31 testators or intestates.

32 574. Executors and administrators may maintain an 33 action against any person who has wasted, destroyed, taken, 34 or carried away, or converted to his own use, the property of 35 their testator or intestate, in his lifetime, or committed any 36 trespass on the real property of the decedent in his lifetime; 37 and any person, or the personal representative of any person, 38 may maintain an action against the executor or administrator 39 of any testator or intestate who in his lifetime has wasted, 40 destroyed, taken, or carried away, or converted to his own use, 41 the property of any such person or committed any trespass on 42 the real property of such person.

43 575. When the decedent leaves an undivided interest in 44 any property, the executor or administrator may be 45 authorized or directed to institute an action against the 46 other cotenants for the partition thereof, upon petition for 47 such order, and a hearing had upon notice given for the period 48 and in the manner prescribed by section 1200 of this code.

49 576. An executor or administrator, as such, may main-50 tain actions on the bond of any former executor or admin-51 istrator of the same estate, for the use and benefit of all 52 parties interested in the estate.

1 577. In actions by or against executors, it is not necessary
2 to join those as parties to whom letters were ordered issued 3 but who have not qualified.

4 578. If a debtor of the decedent is unable to pay all his 5 debts, the executor or administrator, with the approval of the 6 court or a judge thereof, may compound with him and give 7 him a discharge, upon receiving a fair and just dividend of 8 his effects. A compromise may also be authorized by the court 9 or judge when it appears to be just and for the best interest of 10 the estate. Reasonable notice of the application for such 11 approval or authorization must be given by the executor or 12 administrator to all persons who have filed appearances as 13 heirs, devisees, legatees, creditors, or as otherwise interested.

14 579. If the decedent, in his lifetime, conveyed any real 15 or personal property, or any right or interest therein, with 16 intent to defraud his creditors, or to avoid any obligation due 17 another, or made a conveyance that by law is void as against 18 creditors, or made a gift of property in view of death, and 19 there is a deficiency of assets in the hands of the executor or 20 administrator, the latter, on application of any creditor, must 21 commence and prosecute to final judgment an action for the 22 recovery of the same for the benefit of the creditors.

23 580. A creditor making such application must pay such 24 part of the cost and expenses of the suit, or give such security 25 to the executor or administrator therefor, as the court 26 or a judge thereof shall direct. All property so recovered 27 must be sold for the payment of debts, in the same manner 28 as if the decedent had died seised or possessed thereof, and 29 the proceeds must be appropriated in payment of the debts of 30 the decedent in the same manner as other property in the 31 hands of the executor or administrator. The remainder of the 32 proceeds, after all the debts of the decedent have been paid, 33 must be paid to the person from whom such property was 34 recovered.

35 581. The executor or administrator is entitled to the pos-36 session of all the real and personal property of the decedent, 37 and to receive the rents, issues and profits thereof until the 38 estate is settled or until delivered over by order of the court 39 to the heirs, devisees or legatees. He must keep in good tenant-40 able repair all houses, buildings and fixtures thereon which are 41 under his control. After the time to file or present claims 42 has expired he is not entitled to recover the posses-43 sion of any property of the estate from any heir who has 44 succeeded to the property in his possession, or from any 45 devisee or legatee to whom the property has been devised or 46 bequeathed, or from the assignee of any such heir, devisee or 47 legatee, unless he proves that the same is necessary for the 48 payment of debts or legacies, or of expenses of administration 49 already accrued, or for distribution to some other heir, devisee 50 or legatee entitled thereto. The heirs or devisees may them-51 selves, or jointly with the executor or administrator, main-52 tain an action for the possession of the real property, or for

1 the purpose of quieting title to the same, against any one 2 except the executor or administrator; but they are not required 3 so to do.

4 582. When the time to file or present claims has expired, 5 the executor or administrator must deliver possession of the 6 real property to the heirs or devisees, unless the income 7 therefrom for a longer period or a sale thereof is required for 8 the payment of the debts of the decedent.

9 583. No executor or administrator may purchase any 10 property of the estate, or any claim against the estate, directly 11 or indirectly, nor be interested in any such purchase; and if 12 he pays any claim for less than its full amount he may have 13 credit in his accounts only for the amount actually paid.

14 584. Pending the settlement of an estate, on the petition 15 of the executor or administrator, or of any person interested 16 in the estate, and upon good cause shown therefor, the court 17 may order any money in the hands of the executor or admin-18 istrator to be invested for the benefit of the estate in securities 19 of the United States or of this state. The clerk shall set the 20 petition for hearing by the court and give notice thereof for 21 the period and in the manner required by section 1200 of this 22 code.

23 585. An executor or administrator may deposit any money 24 belonging to the estate with one or more trust companies 25 within this state, whereupon he shall be discharged from 26 further care or responsibility therefor until the money is 27 withdrawn by him. Unless the money is deposited pursuant 28 to an order, under the provisions of the Bank Act, it may be 29 withdrawn without order of court.

30 586. Personal assets of an estate may be deposited with a 31 trust company, and the bond of the executor or administrator 32 reduced, as provided by the Bank Act.

33 CHAPTER IX—INVENTORY AND APPRAISEMENT.

35
36 600. Within three months after his appointment, or within 37 such further time as the court or judge for reasonable cause 38 may allow, the executor or administrator must file with the 39 clerk of the court an inventory and appraisement of the estate 40 of the decedent which has come to his possession or knowledge.
41 The inventory must include the homestead, if any, and all the 42 estate of the decedent, real and personal, particularly speci-43 fying all debts, bonds, mortgages, notes and other securities 44 for the payment of money belonging to the decedent, with 45 the name of each debtor, the date, the sum originally payable, 46 the indorsements thereon (if any), with their dates; and a 47 statement of the interest of the decedent in any partnership of 48 which he was a member, to be appraised as a single item. It 49 must include an account of all money belonging to the deced-50 ent. If the whole estate consists of money in the hands of 51 the executor or administrator, there need not be an appraise-

1 ment, but an inventory must be made and returned as in other 2 cases.

3 601. The inventory must show, so far as the same can 4 be ascertained by the executor or administrator, what portion 5 of the property is community property, and what portion is 6 separate property of the decedent.

7 602. The naming of a person as executor does not thereby 8 discharge him from any just claim which the testator has 9 against him, but the claim must be included in the inventory, 10 and the executor is liable for the same as for so much money 11 in his hands, when the debt or demand becomes due.

12 603. The discharge or bequest in a will of any debt or 13 demand of the testator against the executor or any other per-14 son is not valid against the creditors of the decedent, but is a 15 specific bequest of the debt or demand. It must be included 16 in the inventory, and, if necessary, applied in the payment of 17 the debts. If not necessary for that purpose, it must be paid 18 in the same manner and proportion as other specific legacies.

19 604. The executor or administrator must take and sub-20 scribe an oath that the inventory contains a true statement 21 of all the estate of the decedent which has come to his pos-22 session or knowledge, and particularly of all money belong-23 ing to the decedent, and of all just claims of the decedent 24 against the affiant. The oath must be endorsed upon or 25 annexed to the inventory.

26 605. To make the appraisement, the court or judge 27 must appoint three disinterested persons, one of whom 28 must be one of the inheritance tax appraisers provided for by 29 law. Any two of them may act, provided one of them be the 30 inheritance tax appraiser. But the court may, in its discre-31 tion, appoint such inheritance tax appraiser as sole appraiser 32 of the estate.

33 606. No clerk of the court or deputy clerk, or partner or 34 employee of the judge, or person related to the judge or to 35 his wife within the third degree, or who is married to a rela-36 tive of the judge within the third degree, shall be competent 37 to act as appraiser.

38 607. If any part of the estate is in a county other than 39 that in which letters issued, an appraiser or appraisers thereof 40 may in the same manner as above provided be appointed, 41 either by the court or judge having jurisdiction of the 42 estate or by the court or judge of such other county, on 43 request of the court or judge having jurisdiction.

44 608. Before proceeding to the execution of their duty, 45 the appraisers must take and subscribe an oath, to be attached 46 to the inventory, that they will truly, honestly and impartially 47 appraise the property exhibited to them, according to the best 48 of their knowledge and ability. They must appraise the prop-49 erty by setting down each item separately, with the value 50 thereof in dollars and cents in figures opposite the respective 51 items, specifying the sum which they believe may be collected 52 on each debt or security.

1 609. Each appraiser is entitled to receive, from each 2 estate he appraises, his actual and necessary expenses and 3 compensation for his services not to exceed five dollars per 4 day, to be allowed by the court; and he must file, with the 5 inventory, a verified account of his services and disbursements.

6 610. If the executor or administrator neglects or refuses
7 to file the inventory within the time prescribed, the court, 8 upon notice, may revoke his letters, and he shall be liable on 9 his bond for any injury to the estate or any person interested 10 therein, arising from such failure.

11 611. Whenever property not included in the inventory 12 comes to the possession or knowledge of the executor or admin-13 istrator, he must cause the same to be appraised in the manner 14 hereinbefore prescribed, and an inventory thereof to be 15 filed within two months after the discovery; and the mak-16 ing of such inventory may be enforced, after notice, by attach-17 ment or removal from office.

18 612. If any person embezzles, conceals, smuggles or fraud-19 ulently disposes of any property of a decedent, he is chargeable 20 therewith, and liable to an action by the executor or adminis-21 trator of the estate for double the value of the property, to be 22 recovered for the benefit of the estate.

23 613. Upon complaint made under oath by an executor, 24 administrator, or other person interested in the estate of a 25 decedent, that any person is suspected of having embezzled, 26 concealed, smuggled or fraudulently disposed of any property 27 of the decedent, or has in his possession or has knowledge of 28 any deed, conveyance, bond, contract or other writing, which 29 contains evidence of or tends to disclose the right, title, inter-30 est or claim of the decedent to any real or personal property, 31 or any claim or demand, or any lost will, the court or judge 32 may cite the suspected person to appear before the court, and 33 may examine him on oath upon the matter of such complaint.
34 If such person is not in the county where letters issued, he 35 may be cited and examined before the superior court either 36 of the county where he is found, or of the county where 37 letters issued. But if he appears and is found innocent, his 38 necessary expenses must be allowed him out of the estate.

39 614. If the person so cited refuses to appear and submit 40 to an examination, or to answer such interrogatories as may 41 be put to him, touching the matters of the complaint, the court, 42 by warrant for that purpose, may commit him to the county 43 jail, there to remain until he submits to the order of the 44 court or is discharged according to law. If, upon such exam-45 ination, it appears that he has embezzled, concealed, smuggled 46 or fraudulently disposed of any property of the decedent, or 47 that he has in his possession or knowledge any of the papers 48 or documents mentioned in the preceding section, the court or 49 judge may make an order requiring him to disclose his 50 knowledge thereof to the executor or administrator, and 51 may commit him to the county jail, there to remain until the 52 order is complied with or he is discharged according to law.

1 All such interrogatories and answers must be in writing, signed 2 by the party examined, and filed in the court. In addition 3 to the examination of the party, witnesses may be produced 4 and examined on either side.

5 615. The court or judge, upon the complaint, on oath, 6 of any executor or administrator, may cite any person who has 7 been intrusted with any part of the estate of the decedent to 8 appear before the court or judge and require him to render a 9 full account, on oath, of any moneys, accounts, or other prop-10 erty or papers belonging to the estate, which have come to 11 his possession, and of his proceedings thereon; and if the 12 person so cited refuses to appear and render such account, 13 the court may proceed against him as provided in the preced-14 ing section.

16 CHAPTER X—DISPOSITION OF ESTATES WITHOUT 17 ADMINISTRATION.
18

19 Article I—Transfer of Personal Property Not Exceeding 20 $1,000 in Value.
21

22 630. When a person dies intestate, leaving no real prop-23 erty in this state, and no personal property in this state other 24 than money in bank, property in boxes and vaults of banks 25 and safe deposit companies, shares of the capital stock of 26 corporations, money due from building and loan associations 27 in this state, including money invested in or represented by 28 shares of stock, membership shares, investment certificates, 29 promissory notes and other evidences of indebtedness standing 30 in his name on the books and records of such associations at 31 the time of his death, and money due the decedent as an heir 32 or legatee of a person whose estate is in probate, and the total 33 value of the decedent's property in this state does not exceed 34 one thousand dollars, the surviving spouse, the children, the 35 parent, the brother or sister of the decedent, or the guardian 36 of the estate of any minor or insane or incompetent person 37 bearing such relationship to the decedent, if such person has 38 a right to succeed to the property of the decedent, may, with-39 out procuring letters of administration, collect such money 40 and receive such property from such bank, company, cor-41 poration, association, or the executor or administrator of 42 the estate in probate, and have such capital stock transferred 43 to him by such corporation, upon furnishing such bank, com-44 pany, corporation, association, or executor or administrator, 45 with an affidavit showing the right of the affiant or affiants to 46 receive such money or property or to have such capital stock 47 transferred.

48 631. The receipt of such affiant or affiants shall con-49 stitute sufficient acquittance therefor and shall fully discharge 50 such bank, company, corporation, association or personal rep-51 resentative from any further liability with reference thereto; 52 except that such personal representative of an estate in probate

1 shall first present said affidavit to the judge of the superior 2 court in which the estate is being probated and the judge shall 3 direct him to pay to said affiant or affiants, upon distribution, 4 the sum to which such deceased heir or legatee is entitled 5 under the will or the laws of succession. But such payment 6 or transfer shall not preclude administration when necessary 7 to enforce payment of the decedent's debts.

9 Article II—Setting Aside Estates Not Exceeding $2,500 in 10 Value.
11

12 640. If the decedent leaves a widow or minor child or 13 minor children, and the net value of his whole estate over and 14 above all liens or encumbrances of record at the date of his 15 death does not exceed the sum of two thousand five hundred 16 dollars, the person petitioning for the probate of his will or 17 for letters of administration may add an allegation to that 18 effect to the other allegations of the petition, with a specific 19 description of all of the decedent's property, a list of all of the 20 liens and encumbrances of record at the date of his death, and 21 an estimate of the value of the property, and may include, in 22 his prayer, an alternative prayer that if the court finds that 23 the total value of the estate, over and above all liens and 24 encumbrances of record at the date of the death of the decedent 25 does not exceed two thousand five hundred dollars, the same 26 be set aside to the widow, if there be one, and if there be none, 27 then to the minor child or minor children of the decedent.
28 When such allegation is included in the petition, the petition 29 shall be verified, and the notice of hearing shall include a 30 statement that a prayer for setting aside the estate to the 31 widow or minor child or minor children, as the case may be, 32 is included in the petition.

33 641. If the person petitioning for probate of the will or 34 for letters of administration does not include such an allega-35 tion as is provided for by the previous section, the widow, 36 if there be one, and if there be none, the guardian of the 37 minor child or minor children, may, at any time prior to the 38 hearing of such petition, file a verified petition setting forth 39 the matters mentioned in the previous section, and pray that 40 the estate be set aside for the use of the widow or minor child 41 or minor children. If the hearing of the original petition is set 42 for a day more than ten days after the filing of the petition 43 herein provided for, the latter shall be set for hearing at the 44 same time as the former; if not, it shall be set for hearing at 45 least ten days after the date on which it is filed, and the 46 former petition shall be continued until such date.

47 642. If the decedent leaves a widow or minor child or 48 minor children, and upon the filing of the inventory of the 49 estate it appears that the net value of the whole estate
50 over and above all liens and encumbrances of record at the date 51 of death does not exceed the sum of two thousand five hundred 52 dollars, the personal representative of the decedent or the

1 widow or guardian of the minor child or children may file a 2 verified petition showing the value of the estate to be no 3 greater than as aforesaid, and the clerk shall fix a day for the 4 hearing thereof.

5 643. When a petition is filed under section 641 or sec-6 tion 642, the clerk shall give notice of the hearing for the 7 period and in the manner required by section 1200 of this 8 code.

9 644. When a petition is filed which includes the allega-10 tions provided for by section 640 or section 641, unless the 11 whole estate consists of money, the court shall forthwith 12 appoint one inheritance tax appraiser, who shall appraise the 13 property described in the petition, and file his report with the 14 clerk of the court.

15 645. If, upon the hearing of any petition provided for by 16 this article, the court finds that the net value of the estate
17 over and above all liens and encumbrances of record at the date 18 of the death of the decedent does not exceed the sum of two 19 thousand five hundred dollars, and that the expenses of the 20 last illness, funeral charges and expenses of administration 21 have been paid, it shall, by decree for that purpose, assign 22 to the widow of the decedent, if there be a widow, or, if there 23 be no widow, then to the minor child or children of the 24 decedent, if any, the whole of the estate, subject to whatever 25 mortgages, liens, or encumbrances there may be upon said 26 estate at the time of the death of the decedent. The title 27 thereto shall vest absolutely in the widow, if there be a widow, 28 or if there be no widow, in the minor child or children subject 29 to whatever mortgages, liens or encumbrances there may be 30 upon said estate at the time of the death of the decedent, and 31 there must be no further proceedings in the administration, 32 unless further estate be discovered. But no widow or minor 33 child having other estate of five thousand dollars in value shall 34 be entitled to such an assignment.

35 646. If the court finds that the net value of the estate 36 exceeds two thousand five hundred dollars, or that the widow 37 or minor child has other estate of five thousand dollars in value, 38 or that there is neither a widow nor minor child, it shall act 39 upon the petition for probate or for letters of administration in 40 the same manner as though no petition to set aside the estate 41 had been included, and the estate shall then be administered 42 in the usual manner.

43 44 CHAPTER XI—SUPPORT OF THE FAMILY.

45 46 Article I—Homestead and Exempt Property.

47
48 660. The decedent's surviving spouse and minor children 49 are entitled to remain in possession of the homestead, the 50 wearing apparel of the family, the household furniture and 51 other property of the decedent exempt from execution, until 52 the inventory is filed. Thereupon, or at any subsequent 1 time during the administration, the court, on petition therefor, 2 may set apart to the surviving spouse, or, in case of his or her 3 death, to the minor child or children of the decedent, all the 4 property of the decedent exempt from execution, including the 5 homestead selected, designated and recorded, if such home-6 stead was selected from the community property, or from the 7 separate property of the person selecting or joining in the 8 selection of the same.

9 661. If none has been selected, designated and recorded, 10 or in case the homestead was selected by the survivor out of the 11 separate property of the decedent, the decedent not having 12 joined therein, the court, in the manner hereinafter provided, 13 must select, designate and set apart and cause to be recorded 14 a homestead for the use of the surviving spouse and the 15 minor children, or, if there be no surviving spouse, then for 16 the use of the minor child or children, out of the community 17 property or out of real property owned in common by the 18 decedent and the person or persons entitled to have the home-19 stead set apart, or if there be no community property and no 20 such property owned in common, then out of the separate 21 property of the decedent. If the property set apart is the 22 separate property of the decedent, the court can set it apart 23 only for a limited period, to be designated in the order, and 24 in no case beyond the life time of the surviving spouse, or, 25 as to a child, beyond its minority; and, subject to such home-26 stead right, the property remains subject to administration.

27 662. When such petition is filed, the clerk must set it for 28 hearing by the court and give notice thereof for the period
29 and in the manner required by section 1200 of this code.

30 663. If the homestead selected by the husband and wife, 31 or either of them, during their coverture, and recorded while 32 both were living, was selected from the community property, 33 or from the separate property of the person selecting or join-34 ing in the selection of the same, it vests, on the death of either 35 spouse, absolutely in the survivor. If the homestead was 36 selected from the separate property of the decedent without 37 his or her consent, it vests, on death, in his or her heirs or 38 devisees, subject to the power of the court to set it apart for a 39 limited period to the family of the decedent, as hereinabove 40 provided. In either case it is not subject to the payment of 41 any debt or liability existing against the spouses or either of 42 them, at the time of the death of either, except as provided in 43 the Civil Code.

44 664. If the homestead selected and recorded prior to the 45 death of the decedent is returned in the inventory appraised 46 at not over five thousand dollars, or was previously appraised 47 as provided in the Civil Code and such appraised value did not 48 exceed that sum, the court shall order it set apart to the 49 persons in whom title is vested by the preceding section. If 50 it is returned in the inventory appraised at more than five 51 thousand dollars, the appraisers must, before they make their 52 return, ascertain and appraise the value of the homestead at

1 the time the same was selected, and if such value exceeded 2 five thousand dollars, or if the homestead was appraised as 3 provided in the Civil Code and such appraised value exceeded 4 that sum, the appraisers must determine whether the prem-5 ises can be divided without material injury, and if they find 6 that they can be thus divided, they must admeasure and set 7 apart to the parties entitled thereto such portion of the prem-8 ises, including the dwelling house, as will amount in value to 9 the sum of five thousand dollars, and make report thereof, 10 giving an exact description of the portion set apart as a 11 homestead.

12 665. If the appraisers find that the value of the premises, 13 at the time of their selection, exceeded five thousand dollars, 14 and that they can not be divided without material injury, 15 they must report such finding, and thereafter the court may 16 make an order for the sale of the premises and the distribution 17 of the proceeds to the parties entitled thereto.

18 666. Any two of the appraisers concurring may dis-19 charge the duties imposed upon the three, and make the 20 report. A dissenting report may be made by the third 21 appraiser. The report must state fully the acts of the 22 appraisers. Both reports may be heard and considered by the 23 court in determining upon a confirmation or rejection of the 24 majority report, but the minority report shall in no case be 25 confirmed. When the report of the appraisers is filed, the 26 clerk shall set the same for hearing by the court and give notice 27 thereof for the period and in the manner required by section 28 1200 of this code. If the court is satisfied that the report is 29 correct, it must be confirmed, otherwise rejected. In case the 30 report is rejected, the court may appoint new appraisers to 31 examine and report upon the homestead, and similar proceed-32 ings may be had for the confirmation or rejection of their 33 report, as upon the first report.

34 667. When property, other than a homstead selected 35 and recorded during the lifetime of the decedent, is set apart 36 to the use of the family, in accordance with the provisions 37 of this article, such property, if the decedent left a surviving 38 spouse and no minor child, is the property of such spouse; if 39 the decedent left also a minor child or children, one-half of 40 such property belongs to the surviving spouse and the remain-41 der to the child or in equal shares to the children; if there is 42 no surviving spouse, the whole belongs to the minor child or 43 children.

44 668. A person succeeding by purchase or otherwise to the 45 interest of a surviving spouse in a homstead which has been 46 declared in the life time of the decedent, shall have the same 47 right to apply for an order setting aside the homstead to 48 him as is conferred by law on the person whose interest he 49 has acquired.

Article II—Family Allowance.

680. The widow and minor children are entitled to such reasonable allowance out of the estate as shall be necessary for their maintenance according to their circumstances, during the progress of the settlement of the estate, which, in case of an insolvent estate, must not continue longer than one year after granting letters. Such allowance must be paid in preference to all other charges, except funeral charges, expenses of the last illness and expenses of administration, and may, in the discretion of the court or judge granting it, take effect from the death of the decedent.

681. Such allowance may be granted before the inventory is filed, either by the court or a judge thereof; in which case it shall continue until modified by the court. After the inventory is filed the court may grant such allowance, or may modify any allowance made before the filing of the inventory, upon the petition of any person interested and a hearing after notice given for the period and in the manner required by section 1200 of this code.

682. If the widow or any minor child has a reasonable maintenance derived from other property, the family allowance shall be granted only to those who have not.

683. The costs of all proceedings provided for in this chapter must be paid by the estate as expenses of administration.

CHAPTER XII—PRESENTATION AND PAYMENT OF CLAIMS.

Article I—Presentation.

700. The executor or administrator, immediately after letters are issued, must cause to be published in some newspaper published in the county, if there be one, if not, then in such newspaper as may be designated by the court or judge, a notice to the creditors of the decedent, requiring all persons having claims against the decedent to file them, with the necessary vouchers, in the office of the clerk of the court from which letters issued, or to present them, with the necessary vouchers, to the executor or administrator, at his residence or place of business, to be specified in the notice, within six months after the first publication of the notice.

701. Such notice must be published not less than once a week for four weeks. If the executor or administrator neglects to give notice promptly, the court must revoke his letters and appoint some other person in his stead. If the executor or administrator dies, resigns or is removed after the publication has been completed but before the time to file or present claims has expired, the time to file or present claims is not extended. In such case the claimant may file his claim with the clerk or present it to the new executor or administrator, at the latter's residence or place of business,

1 within the time limited in the notice published by the former 2 executor or administrator.

3 702. A copy of the notice and an affidavit showing its 4 due publication must be filed with the clerk; and final dis-5 tribution shall not be decreed unless it be shown that notice 6 to creditors has been duly given. Within thirty days after 7 the first publication of the notice, the executor or adminis-8 trator shall file with the clerk of the court a printed copy of 9 the notice, accompanied by a statement setting forth the date 10 of the first publication thereof and the name of the news-11 paper in which it was published. If he files such notice and 12 statement after such thirty-day period, the time to file or 13 present claims shall be extended for a period equal to the 14 period of default in the filing of such notice.

15 703. If the executor or administrator is a creditor of the 16 decedent, he shall file his claim with the clerk, who must pre-17 sent it for allowance or rejection to the judge. Its allowance 18 by the judge is sufficient evidence of its correctness, and it 19 must be paid as other claims in due course of administra-20 tion. If the judge rejects the claim, action thereon may be 21 had against the estate by the claimant, and summons must be 22 served upon the judge, who shall appoint an attorney, at the 23 expense of the estate, to defend the action. If the claimant 24 fails to recover, he must pay all costs, including defendant's 25 reasonable attorney's fees, to be fixed by the court.

26 704. If a judge of the superior court files or presents a 27 claim against the estate of a decedent, the administration of 28 which is pending before him, and the executor or adminis-
29 trator allows the claim, the judge must designate, in writing, 30 some other judge of the superior court of the same or an 31 adjoining county, who, upon the presentation of such claim 32 to him, is vested with power to approve or reject it. In case 33 of its rejection by the executor or administrator, or by such 34 designated judge, the claimant has the same right to sue for 35 its recovery as other persons whose claims are rejected.

36 705. Every claim which is due, when filed or presented, 37 must be supported by the affidavit of the claimant or some 38 one in his behalf, that the amount is justly due, that no pay-39 ments have been made thereon which are not credited, and 40 that there are no offsets to the same, to the knowledge of the 41 affiant. If the claim is not due when filed or presented, or 42 is contingent, the particulars of the claim must be stated.
43 When the affidavit is made by a person other than the claim-44 ant, he must set forth in the affidavit the reason therefor.
45 The executor or administrator may also require satisfactory 46 vouchers or proof to be produced in support of the claim. If 47 the claimant leaves any original voucher in the hands of the 48 executor or administrator, or suffers the same to be filed with 49 the clerk, he may withdraw the same, when a copy thereof has 50 been already, or is then, attached to his claim.

51 706. If the claim is founded on a bond, bill, note or other 52 instrument, the original need not be filed or presented, but a

1 copy thereof with all indorsements must be attached to the 2 claim. The original instrument must be exhibited to the 3 executor or administrator or judge, upon demand, unless it is 4 lost or destroyed, in which case its loss or destruction must 5 be stated in the claim. If the claim or any part thereof is 6 secured by a mortgage or other lien which has been recorded 7 in the office of the recorder of the county in which the land 8 affected by it lies, it shall be sufficient to describe the mortgage 9 or lien, and refer to the date or volume and page of its record.

10 707. All claims arising upon contract, whether they are 11 due, not due, or contingent, and all claims for funeral expenses, 12 must be filed or presented within the time limited in the 13 notice; and any claim not so filed or presented is barred for-14 ever, unless it is made to appear by the affidavit of the claim-15 ant to the satisfaction of the court or a judge thereof that the 16 claimant had not received notice, by reason of being out of the 17 state, in which event it may be filed or presented at any time 18 before a decree of distribution is rendered. The clerk must 19 enter in the register every claim filed, giving the name of the 20 claimant, the amount and character of the claim, the rate of 21 interest, if any, and the date of filing.

22 708. No claim which is barred by the statute of limita-23 tions shall be allowed or approved by the executor or adminis-
24 trator, or by the judge. When a claim is presented to a judge 25 for his allowance or approval, he may, in his discretion, 26 examine the claimant and others on oath, and hear any legal 27 evidence touching the validity of the claim. No claim which 28 has been allowed is affected by the statute of limitations, 29 pending the administration of the estate.

30 709. If an action is pending against the decedent at the 31 time of his death, the plaintiff must in like manner file his 32 claim with the clerk or present it to the executor or adminis-
33 trator for allowance or rejection, authenticated as required 34 in other cases; and no recovery shall be had in the action 35 unless proof is made of such filing or presentation.

36 710. When a claim has been filed with the clerk before 37 being presented to the executor or administrator, the clerk 38 shall immediately notify the executor or administrator, or his 39 attorney, personally or by mail, giving the name of the claim-40 ant and the amount of the claim. The executor or adminis-
41 trator must allow or reject it, and his allowance or rejection 42 must be in writing and filed with the clerk. If he allows the 43 claim, the clerk, immediately after the filing of the allowance, 44 must present the claim and the allowance to the judge, and at 45 the same time must indorse on the claim the date of such 46 presentation. The judge must indorse upon the claim his 47 approval or rejection, with the date thereof.

48 711. When a claim is presented to the executor or admin-49 istrator before filing, he must indorse thereon his allowance
50 or rejection, with the date thereof. If he allows the claim, 51 it must be presented to the judge for approval, who must in 52 the same manner indorse upon it his approval or rejection,

1 and, if approved, it must be filed with the clerk within thirty 2 days thereafter.

3 712. If, when a claim has been filed without presenta-4 tion, the executor or administrator refuses or neglects to file 5 his allowance or rejection for ten days after the claim has 6 been filed, or if, where a claim has been presented before filing, 7 the executor or administrator refuses or neglects to indorse 8 such allowance or rejection for ten days after the claim has 9 been presented to him, or if the judge refuses or neglects to 10 indorse such approval or rejection for ten days after the claim 11 has been presented to him, such refusal or neglect may, at 12 the option of the claimant, be deemed equivalent to a rejection 13 on the tenth day. If the claim is presented by a notary, 14 the certificate of the notary, under seal, shall be prima facie 15 evidence of such presentation and the date thereof. If the 16 claim is filed with the clerk or presented to the executor or 17 administrator before the expiration of the time limited for the 18 filing or presentation of claims, the same is filed or presented 19 in time, though acted upon by the executor or administrator, 20 and by the judge, after the expiration of such time.

21 713. Every claim allowed by the executor or adminis-22 trator and approved by the judge shall be ranked among the 23 acknowledged debts of the estate, to be paid in due course of 24 administration; but the validity thereof may be contested by 25 any person in interest, at any time prior to the settlement of 26 the account of the executor or administrator in which it is 27 first reported as an allowed and approved claim, unless estab-
28 lished by a judgment against the executor or administrator.
29 The date of allowance of each claim, together with the amount 30 allowed, must be entered in the register by the clerk after the 31 allowance or approval thereof by the judge.

32 714. When a claim is rejected either by the executor or 33 administrator or by the judge, written notice of such rejection 34 shall be given by the executor or administrator to the 35 holder of the claim or to the person filing or presenting it, 36 and the holder must bring suit in the proper court against 37 the executor or administrator, within three months after the 38 date of service of such notice if the claim is then due, or, if 39 not, within two months after it becomes due; otherwise the 40 claim shall be forever barred. If it appears to the satisfac-41 tion of the court that the residence of the claimant is not 42 known, and that he can not be found, the court shall order 43 the notice to be served on the claimant by filing it with the 44 clerk.

45 715. The time during which there is a vacancy in the 46 administration is not included in any limitation herein pre-47 scribed.

48 716. No holder of a claim against an estate shall main-49 tain an action thereon, unless the claim is first filed with the 50 clerk or presented to the executor or administrator, except in 51 the following case: An action may be brought by the holder 52 of a mortgage or lien to enforce the same against the property of the estate subject thereto, where all recourse against any other property of the estate is expressly waived in the complaint; but no counsel fees shall be recovered in such action unless the claim was filed or presented as aforesaid.

717. The executor or administrator or the judge may allow or approve a claim in part, in which case he must state in his allowance or approval the amount for which it is allowed or approved. If the creditor refuses to accept the amount allowed in satisfaction of his claim, he shall recover no costs in any action therefor brought against the executor or administrator, unless he recovers a greater amount than that allowed.

718. If the executor or administrator doubts the correctness of any claim filed or presented, he may enter into an agreement in writing with the claimant to refer the matter in controversy to some disinterested person, to be approved by the court or a judge thereof, which agreement and approval shall be filed with the clerk, who shall thereupon enter an order referring the matter in controversy to the person so selected; or, if the parties consent, a reference may be had in the court. The referee must hear and determine the matter, and make his report thereon to the court. The same proceedings shall be had in all respects, and the referee shall have the same powers, be entitled to the same compensation and subject to the same control, as in other cases of reference. The court may remove the referee, appoint another in his place, set aside or confirm his report, and adjudge costs, as in actions against executors or administrators, and the judgment of the court thereon shall be as valid and effectual, in all respects, as if the same had been rendered in a suit commenced by ordinary process; but the report of the referee, if confirmed, merely establishes or rejects the claim, the same as if it had been allowed or rejected by the executor or administrator and judge.

719. When a judgment is recovered, with costs, against any executor or administrator, he shall be individually liable for such costs, but they must be allowed him in his administration accounts, unless it appears that the suit or proceeding in which the costs were taxed was prosecuted or defended without just cause.

Article II—Rules as to Payment of Claims.

730. A judgment rendered against an executor or administrator, upon any claim for money, against the estate of his testator or intestate, when it becomes final, conclusively establishes the validity of the claim for the amount of the judgment; and the judgment must be that the executor or administrator pay, in due course of administration, the amount ascertained to be due. A certified transcript of the original docket of the judgment must be filed in the administration proceedings. No execution shall issue upon the judgment, nor shall it create

1 any lien upon the property of the estate, or give the judgment
2 creditor any priority of payment.

3 731. A judgment against a person who dies between the 4 rendering of a verdict or decision and the entering of judg-5 ment thereon is not a lien on the real property of the decedent, 6 but is payable in due course of administration.

7 732. When a judgment has been rendered against the 8 testator or intestate, no execution shall issue thereon after his 9 death, except as provided in the Code of Civil Procedure. A 10 judgment against the decedent for the recovery of money must 11 be filed or presented in the same manner as other claims. If 12 execution is actually levied upon any property of the decedent 13 before his death, the same may be sold for the satisfaction 14 thereof; and the officer making the sale must account to the 15 executor or administrator for any surplus in his hands. A 16 judgment creditor having a judgment which was rendered 17 against the testator or intestate in his lifetime, may redeem 18 any real property of the decedent from any sale under fore-19 closure or execution, in like manner and with like effect as if 20 the judgment debtor were still living.

21 733. No greater rate of interest shall be paid upon any 22 claim after its allowance by the administrator or executor and 23 its approval by the judge than is allowed upon judgments; 24 and if the estate is insolvent, no greater rate of interest shall 25 be paid upon any debt, from the time of the first publication 26 of notice to creditors, than is allowed upon judgments. If 27 any debt of the decedent bears interest, whether filed or 28 presented or not, the executor or administrator, by order of 29 the court, may pay the amount then accumulated and unpaid, 30 or any part thereof, at any time when there are sufficient 31 funds properly applicable thereto, whether the claim be then 32 due or not; and interest shall thereupon cease to accrue upon 33 the amount so paid.

34 734. If a claim is payable in a particular kind of money 35 or currency, it shall, if allowed, be payable only in such money 36 or currency.

37 735. If there are subsisting liens or encumbrances on the 38 homestead, and the funds of the estate are adequate to pay all 39 claims against the estate, the claims secured by such liens and 40 encumbrances, whether filed or presented or not, if known or 41 made known to the executor or administrator, must be paid 42 out of such funds. If the funds of the estate are not sufficient 43 for that purpose, the claims so secured shall be paid propor-44 tionately with other claims allowed, and the liens or encum-45 brances on the homestead shall only be enforced against the 46 homestead for any deficiency remaining after such payment.

47 736. When a testator devises land subject to a mortgage 48 or other lien, other property specifically devised or bequeathed 49 shall not be sold for the purpose of exonerating the encum-50 bered property, unless a contrary intention can be gathered 51 from the terms of the will, read in the light of the circum-
52 stances surrounding its execution. A mere direction that all

1 the testator's debts be paid is not sufficient evidence of such 2 contrary intention.

3 737. No executor or administrator is chargeable upon any 4 special promise to answer in damages or to pay the debts of 5 the decedent out of his own estate, unless the agreement for 6 that purpose, or some memorandum or note thereof, is in 7 writing signed by such executor or administrator, or by some 8 other person by him thereunto specifically authorized in 9 writing.

10 738. Whenever an estate is in all other respects ready to 11 be closed, and it is made to appear to the satisfaction of the 12 court or judge, by affidavit or by evidence taken in open 13 court, that an allowed and approved claim has not been and 14 can not be paid because the claimant can not be found, the 15 court or judge shall make an order fixing the amount of the 16 claim, with interest, if any, and directing the executor or 17 administrator to deposit that amount with the county treas-18 urer of the county in which the proceedings are pending, who 19 shall give a receipt for the same, and who shall be liable upon 20 his official bond therefor. Thereupon the executor or adminis-21 trator shall make the deposit and shall forthwith proceed to 22 settle and close the estate. The receipt of the treasurer shall 23 be received as a proper voucher for the payment of the claim.

24 739. When the money so deposited is not claimed within 25 five years, the court or judge, upon such showing by the affi-26 davit of the county treasurer, must direct the same to be 27 deposited in the state treasury for the benefit of such claimant 28 or his legal representative, to be paid to him whenever, within 29 five years after such deposit, proof to the satisfaction of the 30 state controller and state treasurer is produced that he is 31 entitled thereto. When so claimed, a transcript of the evi-32 dence and the joint order of the controller and treasurer must 33 be filed by the treasurer as his voucher, and the amount of the 34 claim paid to the claimant or his legal representative, on filing 35 the proper receipt. If no one claims the deposit as herein 36 provided, the same devolves and escheats to the people of the 37 state and shall be placed by the state treasurer to the credit 38 of the school fund.

40 CHAPTER XIII—SALES.

41 Article I—Sales in General.

42
43
44 750. If the testator makes provision by his will, or desig-45 nates the estate to be appropriated, for the payment of his 46 debts, the expenses of administration, or family allowance, 47 they must be paid according to such provision or out of the 48 estate thus appropriated, so far as the same is sufficient. If 49 insufficient, that portion of the estate not disposed of by the 50 will, if any, must be appropriated for that purpose; and if 51 that is not sufficient, the property given to residuary legatees 52 and devisees, and thereafter all other property devised and

1 bequeathed is liable for the same, in proportion to the value 2 or amount of the several devises and legacies, but specific 3 devises and legacies are exempt from such liability if it 4 appears to the court necessary to carry into effect the inten-5 tion of the testator, and there is other sufficient estate.

6 751. The property of a testator, except as otherwise pro-7 vided in this code, must be resorted to for the payment of 8 legacies in the following order:

9 (1) The property which is expressly appropriated by the 10 will therefor.

11 (2) Property not disposed of by the will.

12 (3) Property which is devised or bequeathed to a residuary 13 legatee.

14 752. Unless a different intention is expressed in the will, 15 abatement takes place in any class only as between legacies of 16 that class, and legacies to a spouse or to kindred are chargeable 17 only after legacies to persons not related to the testator.
18 Before any debts are paid, the expenses of the administration 19 and the allowance to the family must be paid or provided for.

20 753. When property given by will to persons other than 21 the residuary devisees and legatees is sold for the payment 22 of debts or expenses or family allowance, all the devisees and 23 legatees must contribute according to their respective inter-24 ests to the devisee or legatee whose devise or legacy has been 25 sold, and the court, when distribution is made, must settle 26 the amount of the several liabilities and decree the amount 27 each person shall contribute, and reserve the same from his 28 distributive share for the purpose of such contribution.

29 754. In selling property to pay debts, legacies, family 30 allowance or expenses, there shall be no priority as between 31 personal and real property. When a sale of property of the 32 estate is necessary for any such purpose, or when it is for the 33 advantage, benefit, and best interests of the estate and those 34 interested therein that any property of the estate be sold, the 35 executor or administrator may sell the same, either at public 36 auction or private sale, using his discretion as to which prop-37 erty to sell first, except as hereinbefore limited.

38 755. Except as provided by sections 770 and 771 of this 39 code, all sales of property must be reported to the court 40 and confirmed by the court before the title to the property
41 passes. The report must be verified. Such report and a peti-42 tion for confirmation of the sale must be made within thirty 43 days after each sale. The clerk shall set the petition for 44 hearing by the court and give notice thereof for the period
45 and in the manner required by section 1200 of this code.

46 756. Any person interested in the estate may file written 47 objections to the confirmation of the sale and may be heard 48 thereon, and may produce witnesses in support of his objec-49 tions. Before an order is made confirming a sale, it must be 50 proved to the satisfaction of the court that notice of the sale 51 was given as prescribed by this code, and the order of con-52 firmation must show that such proof was made.

1 757. When property is directed by the will to be sold, or 2 authority is given in the will to sell property, the executor may 3 sell the same either at public auction or private sale, and with 4 or without notice, as he may determine; but he must make a 5 return of sales and obtain confirmation thereof as in other 6 cases. In either case no title passes unless the sale is con-7 firmed by the court; but the necessity of the sale, or its advan-
8 tage or benefit to the estate or to those interested therein, need 9 not be shown. If directions are given in the will as to the 10 mode of selling, or the particular property to be sold, such 11 directions must be observed.

12 758. If the executor or administrator neglects or refuses 13 to sell any property of the estate when it is necessary or when 14 it is for the advantage, benefit and best interests of the estate 15 and those interested therein, or when the executor is directed 16 by the will to sell the same, any person interested may peti-17 tion the court for an order requiring the executor or adminis-18 trator to sell. The clerk shall set the petition for hearing by 19 the court, and notice thereof must be given to the executor or 20 administrator by citation served at least five days before the 21 hearing.

22 759. If there is any neglect or misconduct in the pro-23 ceedings of the executor or administrator in relation to any 24 sale, by which any person interested in the estate suffers 25 damage, the party aggrieved may recover the same in an 26 action upon the bond of the executor or administrator, or 27 otherwise.

28 760. The executor or administrator may enter into a 29 written contract with any bona fide agent to secure a pur-30 chaser for any real or personal property of the estate, which 31 contract shall provide for the payment to such agent out of 32 the proceeds of a sale to any purchaser secured by him of a 33 commission, the amount of which must be fixed and allowed by 34 the court upon confirmation of the sale; and when said sale is 35 confirmed to such purchaser, such contract shall be binding 36 and valid as against the estate for the amount so allowed by 37 the court. By the execution of any such contract no personal 38 liability shall attach to the executor or administrator, and no 39 liability of any kind shall be incurred by the estate unless an 40 actual sale is made and confirmed by the court.

41 761. In case of sale on an increased bid made at the time 42 of confirmation to a purchaser not procured by the agent 43 holding the contract, the court shall allow a commission on 44 the full amount for which the sale is confirmed, one-half of 45 said commission on the original bid to be paid to the agent 46 whose bid was returned to the court for confirmation and the 47 balance of the commission on the purchase price to the agent, 48 if any, who procured the purchaser to whom the sale is con-49 firmed.

Article II—Sale of Personal Property.

3 770. Perishable property and other personal property
4 which will depreciate in value if not disposed of promptly, or 5 which will incur loss or expense by being kept, and so much 6 other personal property as may be necessary to provide the 7 family allowance pending the receipt of other sufficient funds, 8 may be sold without notice, and title shall pass without con-9 firmation; but the executor, administrator or special adminis-
10 trator is responsible for the actual value of the property 11 unless, after making a sworn return, and on a proper showing, 12 the court shall approve the sale.

13 771. Stocks or bonds may be sold without the necessity 14 for confirmation, upon obtaining an order of the court. A 15 petition for such an order shall be filed with the clerk, who 16 shall set the same for hearing by the court and shall give 17 notice thereof for the period and in the manner required by 18 section 1200 of this code. The order shall fix the terms and 19 conditions of sale, and may dispense with notice of sale when 20 the minimum selling price is fixed or when the securities are 21 to be sold upon an established stock or bond exchange.

22 772. Personal property may be sold for cash or upon a 23 credit as hereinafter provided, and after public notice given 24 for at least ten days by notices posted in three public places 25 in the county in which the proceedings are pending, or by 26 publication in a newspaper in such county, or both, as the 27 executor or administrator may determine, containing the time 28 and place of sale, and a brief description of the property to 29 be sold. Public sales must be made at the courthouse door, 30 or at some other public place, or at the residence of the 31 decedent; but no sale shall be made of any personal property 32 which is not present at the time of sale, unless the court shall 33 otherwise order.

34 773. If a sale is made upon a credit, not less than twenty-35 five per cent of the purchase price shall be paid in cash at 36 the time of sale. The executor or administrator shall take 37 the note of the purchaser for the balance of the purchase 38 money, with a pledge or chattel mortgage of the personal prop-39 erty sold, to secure the payment of said balance, or shall enter 40 into a conditional sale contract under which title is retained 41 until such balance is paid, the terms of said note and pledge 42 or chattel mortgage or contract to be approved by the court at 43 the time of confirmation of sale.

44 774. Partnership interests or interests belonging to an 45 estate by virtue of any partnership formerly existing, an 46 interest in personal property pledged, and choses in action, 47 may be sold in the same manner as other personal property.
48 Before confirming the sale of a partnership interest, whether 49 made to the surviving partner or to any other person, the 50 court must carefully inquire into the condition of the partner-51 ship affairs, and must examine the surviving partner, if in 52 the county and able to be present in court.

Article III—Sale of Real Property.

3 780. Notice of the time and place of sale of real property
4 must be posted in three of the most public places in the county 5 in which the land lies, and published in a newspaper, if 6 there is one published in the same county; if none, then in such 7 paper as the court or judge may direct, for two weeks suc-
8 cessively next before the day of sale, or, in the case of a private 9 sale, next before the day on or after which the sale is to be 10 made. When, however, it appears from the inventory and 11 appraisement that the value of the whole estate does not exceed 12 five hundred dollars, the court or judge may in his discretion 13 dispense with the publication in a newspaper and order that 14 the notices be posted. The property proposed to be sold 15 must be described with common certainty in the notice.

16 781. Sales at public auction must be made in the county 17 in which the land lies, and if it lies in two or more 18 counties, it may be sold in either. The sale must be made 19 between the hours of nine o'clock in the morning and the 20 setting of the sun on the same day, and must be made on the 21 day named in the notice of sale, unless the same is postponed.

22 782. In the case of a private sale, the notice must state 23 a place where bids or offers will be received, and a day on or 24 after which the sale will be made, which day must be at least 25 fifteen days from the first publication of notice, and the sale 26 must not be made before that day, but must be made within 27 six months thereafter; but if it be shown that it will be for 28 the best interests of the estate, the court or judge may, by an 29 order, shorten the time of notice, which shall not, however, 30 be less than one week, and may provide that the sale may be 31 made on or after a day less than fifteen but not less than 32 eight days from the first publication of the notice, in which 33 case the notice of sale and the sale may be made to corre-
34 spond with such order. The bids or offers must be in writing, 35 and may be left at the place designated in the notice or 36 delivered to the executor or administrator personally, or may 37 be filed in the office of the clerk of the court where the pro-38 ceedings are pending, at any time after the first publication 39 of the notice and before the making of the sale.

40 783. If, at the time appointed for the sale, the executor 41 or administrator deems it for the interest of all persons con-42 cerned therein that the same be postponed, he may postpone it 43 from time to time, not exceeding in all three months. In case 44 of a postponement, notice thereof must be given by a public 45 declaration at the time and place first appointed for the sale, 46 and if the postponement be for more than one day, further 47 notice must be given, by posting notices in three or more 48 public places in the county where the land lies, or publishing 49 the same, or both, as the time and circumstances will admit.

50 784. When the executor or administrator makes a return 51 of his proceedings, the notice of hearing hereinbefore provided 52 for must briefly indicate the land sold, and must refer to

1 the return for further particulars. No sale of real property 2 at private sale shall be confirmed by the court unless the sum 3 offered is at least ninety per cent of the appraised value 4 thereof, nor unless such real property has been appraised 5 within one year of the time of such sale. If it has not been 6 so appraised, or if the court is satisfied that the appraisement 7 is too high or too low, a new appraisement must be had, as in 8 the case of an original appraisement of an estate. This may 9 be done at any time before the sale or confirmation thereof.

10 785. Upon the hearing the court must examine into the 11 necessity for the sale, or the advantage, benefit and interest of 12 the estate in having the sale made, and must examine the 13 return and witnesses in relation to the sale; and if it appears 14 to the court that good reason existed for the sale, that the sale 15 was legally made and fairly conducted, and complied with the 16 requirements of the previous section, that the sum bid is not 17 disproportionate to the value, and it does not appear that a 18 sum exceeding such bid at least ten per cent exclusive of the 19 expenses of a new sale may be obtained, the court shall make 20 an order confirming the sale and directing conveyances to be 21 executed; otherwise it shall vacate the sale and direct another 22 to be had, of which notice must be given and the sale in all 23 respects conducted as if no previous sale had taken place.
24 But if a written offer of ten per cent more in amount than 25 that named in the return is made to the court by a responsible 26 person, and the bid complies with all provisions of the law, 27 it is in the discretion of the court to accept such offer and 28 confirm the sale to such person or to order a new sale.

29 786. Conveyances must thereupon be executed to the pur-30 chaser by the executor or administrator, and they must refer 31 to the order confirming sale and directing conveyances to be 32 executed, a certified copy of which order must be recorded in 33 the office of the recorder of the county in which the land or 34 any portion thereof lies. Conveyances so made convey all 35 the right, title, interest and estate of the decedent in the prem-36 ises at the time of his death; and if prior to the sale, by opera-37 tion of law or otherwise, the estate has acquired any right, 38 title, or interest in the premises, other than or in addition 39 to that of the decedent at the time of his death, such right, 40 title, or interest also passes by such conveyances.

41 787. If a sale is made upon a credit, the executor or 42 administrator must take the note or notes of the purchaser 43 for the unpaid portion of the purchase money, with a mortgage 44 or deed of trust on the property to secure their payment.

45 788. If, after the confirmation, the purchaser neglects 46 or refuses to comply with the terms of the sale, the court, on 47 motion of the executor or administrator, and after notice to the 48 purchaser, may vacate the order of confirmation and order 49 a resale of the property. If the amount realized on such resale 50 does not cover the bid and the expenses of the previous sale, 51 such purchaser is liable to the estate for the deficiency.

1 789. When real property is sold which is subject to a 2 mortgage or other lien which is a valid claim against the 3 estate of the decedent, and has been filed and allowed, or pre-4 sented and allowed, the purchase money must be applied, 5 after paying the necessary expenses of the sale, first, to the 6 payment and satisfaction of the mortgage or lien, and the 7 residue, if any, in due course of administration. The applica-8 tion of the purchase money to the satisfaction of the mortgage 9 or lien must be made without delay; and the land is subject 10 to such mortgage or lien until the purchase money has been 11 actually so applied.

12 790. The purchase money, or so much thereof as may be 13 sufficient to pay such mortgage or lien, with interest, and any 14 lawful costs and charges thereon, may be paid to the clerk of 15 the court, whereupon the mortgage or lien upon the land shall 16 cease, and the purchase money must be paid over by the clerk 17 of the court without delay, in payment of the expenses of 18 sale, and in satisfaction of the debt to secure which the 19 mortgage or other lien was taken, and the surplus, if any, at 20 once returned to the executor or administrator, unless for 21 good cause shown, after notice to the executor or adminis-
22 trator, the court otherwise directs.

23 791. At any sale of real property upon which there is a 24 mortgage or lien, the holder thereof may become the pur-25 chaser, and his receipt for the amount due him from the pro-26 ceeds of the sale is a payment pro tanto. If the amount for 27 which he purchased the property is insufficient to defray the 28 expenses and discharge his mortgage or lien, he must pay the 29 clerk of the court an amount sufficient to pay such expenses.

30 792. An executor or administrator who fraudulently sells 31 any real property of a decedent contrary to or otherwise 32 than under the provisions of this chapter, is liable in double 33 the value of the land sold, as liquidated damages, to be recov-34 ered in an action by the person having an estate of inheritance 35 therein.

36 793. No action for the recovery of any property sold by 37 an executor or administrator, on the claim that the sale is void, 38 can be maintained by any heir or other person claiming under 39 the decedent, unless it is commenced within three years after 40 the settlement of the final account of the executor or admin-41 istrator, or within three years after the discovery of any fraud 42 upon which the action is based. This limitation shall not apply 43 to minors or others under any legal disability to sue at the 44 time the right of action accrues; but any such person may com-45 mence an action at any time within three years after the 46 removal of the disability.

47
48 Article IV—Sale of Contract to Purchase.
49

50 800. If a decedent, at the time of his death, was possessed 51 of a contract for the purchase of real property, his interest in 52 such property and under such contract may be sold by his

1 executor or administrator, in the same manner as if he had 2 died seised of such property, and the same proceedings may 3 be had for that purpose as are prescribed in this chapter for 4 the sale of property of which he died seised, except as herein-5 after provided.

6 801. The sale must be made subject to all payments that 7 may thereafter become due on such contract, and if there are 8 any such, the sale must not be confirmed by the court until 9 the purchaser executes a bond to the executor or administrator 10 for the benefit and indemnity of himself and of the persons 11 entitled to the interest of the decedent in the lands so con-12 tracted for, in double the whole amount of payments there-13 after to become due on such contract, with such sureties as 14 the court or judge shall approve. The bond must be condi-15 tioned that the purchaser will make all payments for such 16 property that become due after the date of the sale, and will 17 fully indemnify the executor or administrator and the per-18 sons so entitled against all demands, costs, charges and 19 expenses, by reason of any covenant or agreement contained 20 in such contract. Such bond need not be given when no 21 claim has been made against the estate upon the contract and 22 the time for filing or presenting claims has expired.

23 802. Upon the confirmation of the sale, the executor or 24 administrator must execute to the purchaser an assignment of 25 the contract, which vests in the purchaser, his heirs and 26 assigns, all the right, title and interest of the estate, or of the 27 persons entitled to the interest of the decedent, in the prop-28 erty sold at the time of the sale, and the purchaser has the 29 same rights and remedies against the vendor of such land as 30 the decedent would have had if he were living.

31 Article V—Sale of Mining Property. 32 33

34 810. To enter into an agreement to sell, or to give an 35 option to purchase, a mining claim or claims, or real prop-36 erty worked as a mine, belonging to the estate of a decedent, 37 the executor or administrator or any person interested in the 38 estate shall file a verified petition describing the property in 39 question, stating the terms and general conditions of the 40 proposed agreement or option, showing the advantage or 41 advantages that may accrue to the estate from entering into 42 it, and praying for an order authorizing or directing its execu-43 tion. The clerk shall set the petition for hearing by the court 44 and give notice thereof for the period and in the manner
45 required by sections 1200 and 1201 of this code.

46 811. At the time appointed, the court, upon proof that 47 due notice of the hearing has been given, shall proceed to hear 48 the petition and any objection thereto that may have been 49 filed or presented; and if, after a full hearing, the court is 50 satisfied that it will be to the advantage of the estate to enter 51 into the proposed agreement, it shall make an order authoriz-52 ing and directing the executor or administrator to enter

1 into such agreement of sale or to give such option to 2 purchase. The order may prescribe the terms and conditions 3 of the agreement or option. A certified copy of the order shall 4 be recorded in the office of the county recorder of every county 5 in which the land affected by the agreement or option, or any 6 portion thereof, lies.

7 812. At the time of making the order, the court shall fix 8 the amount of such additional bond as it determines should be 9 given by the executor or administrator, who shall not be 10 entitled to receive any of the proceeds from said agreement 11 or option until such bond is given and approved. When the 12 order is made, the executor or administrator shall execute, 13 acknowledge and deliver an agreement or option to purchase 14 containing the conditions specified in the order and setting 15 forth therein that it is made by authority of the order, and 16 giving the date of the order.

17 813. If the purchaser or option holder neglects or refuses 18 to comply with the terms of the agreement or option, the court, 19 on motion of the executor or administrator and after notice to 20 the purchaser or option holder, shall make an order cancelling 21 the agreement or option; but such cancellation shall not affect 22 any liability theretofore created.

23 814. When the terms of such agreement to sell or option 24 to purchase have been complied with by the purchaser or 25 option holder and all payments have been made according to 26 the terms thereof, the executor or administrator must make a 27 return of his proceedings to the court and petition for a 28 confirmation thereof, and thereupon notice shall be given, a 29 hearing had, an order made by the court confirming or refus-30 ing to confirm the proceedings, and conveyances executed, in 31 the same manner and with like effect as in the case of the 32 sale of any real property.

33 34 CHAPTER XIV—NOTES, MORTGAGES, LEASES, CONVEYANCES AND 35 EXCHANGES.

36 37 Article I—Borrowing Money and Mortgaging Property.

38 39 830. Whenever it shall appear to be to the advantage of 40 the estate to borrow money upon a note or notes, either unse-41 cured, or to be secured by a chattel mortgage or other lien 42 upon the personal property of the decedent, or any part 43 thereof, or to be secured by a mortgage or deed of trust upon 44 the real property of the decedent, or any part thereof, or to 45 mortgage or give a deed of trust upon, or to pledge or give 46 other lien upon, such property or any part thereof, in order 47 to pay the debts of the decedent, or legacies, or expenses or 48 charges of administration, or to pay, reduce, extend or renew 49 some lien or mortgage or deed of trust already subsisting upon 50 property of the estate, and as often as occasion therefor shall 51 arise in the administration of the estate, the court may author-52 ize, empower and direct the executor or administrator to borrow the money and to execute such note or notes, and, in a proper case, to execute such mortgage or deed of trust, or to give other security by way of pledge or other lien. To obtain such an order, the proceedings to be taken and the effect thereof shall be as provided in the following sections of this article.

831. The executor or administrator, or any person interested in the estate, shall file a verified petition showing the particular purpose or purposes for which the order is sought, the necessity for or advantage to accrue from the order, the amount of money proposed to be raised, if any, the rate of interest to be paid, the length of time the note or notes are to run, and a general description of the property proposed to be mortgaged or subjected to such deed of trust or other lien. The clerk shall set the petition for hearing by the court and give notice thereof for the period and in the manner required by sections 1200 and 1201 of this code.

832. At the time appointed, the court, upon proof that due notice of the hearing has been given, shall proceed to hear the petition and any objection thereto that may have been filed or presented; and if, after a full hearing, the court is satisfied that it will be to the advantage of the estate, it shall make an order authorizing and directing the executor or administrator to borrow the money and to execute such note or notes, and, in a proper case, to execute such mortgage or deed of trust, or to give other security by way of pledge or other lien. The court may direct that a lesser amount than that named in the petition be borrowed, and may prescribe the maximum rate of interest and the period of the loan, and may direct in what coin or currency it shall be paid, and require that the interest and the whole or any part of the principal be paid, from time to time, out of the whole estate or any part thereof, and that the personal property to be mortgaged or subjected to the lien, or any buildings on the premises to be mortgaged or subjected to the deed of trust, shall be insured for the further security of the lender, and the premiums paid from such income. A certified copy of the order shall be recorded in the office of the county recorder of every county in which land affected by the order, or any portion thereof, lies.

833. The executor or administrator shall execute, acknowledge and deliver the mortgage or deed of trust as directed, setting forth therein that it is made by authority of the order, giving the date of the order. The note or notes and mortgage or deed of trust shall be signed by the executor or administrator as such, and shall create no personal liability against the person so signing.

834. Every mortgage or deed of trust so made shall be effectual to mortgage or subject to the deed of trust all right, title, interest and estate which the decedent had in the premises described therein at the time of his death or prior thereto, and any right, title or interest in said premises acquired by

1 the estate of such decedent by operation of law or otherwise, 2 since the time of his death. Jurisdiction of the court to 3 administer the estate of such decedent shall be effectual to 4 vest the court with jurisdiction to make the order for 5 the note or notes, and mortgage or deed of trust, and such 6 jurisdiction shall conclusively inure to the benefit of the 7 mortgagee named in the mortgage, or the trustee and bene-
8 ficiary in the deed of trust, his or their heirs and assigns. No 9 omission, error or irregularity in the proceedings shall impair 10 or invalidate the same or the note or notes, mortgage or deed 11 of trust given in pursuance thereof, and the mortgagee or the 12 trustee and beneficiary, their heirs and assigns, shall have and 13 possess the same rights and remedies on the note or notes and 14 mortgage or deed of trust as if it had been made by the 15 decedent prior to his death, except that upon any fore-16 closure, or sale under the deed of trust, if the proceeds of 17 the sale of the encumbered property are insufficient to pay the 18 note or notes, the mortgage or deed of trust, and the costs or 19 expenses of sale, no judgment or claim for any deficiency 20 shall be had or allowed, except in cases where the note or 21 notes, mortgage or deed of trust were given to pay, reduce, 22 extend or renew a lien or mortgage or deed of trust subsisting 23 at the time of the death of the decedent and the indebtedness 24 secured thereby was an allowed and approved claim against 25 the estate; in which case the part of the indebtedness remain-26 ing unsatisfied must be classed and paid with other allowed 27 claims against the estate.

Article II—Leasing.

31 840. Whenever it shall appear to be to the advantage of 32 the estate to lease any real property of the decedent, and as 33 often as occasion therefor shall arise in the administration of 34 the estate, the court may authorize and direct the executor or 35 administrator to execute such lease.

36 841. To obtain such an order, the executor or adminis-
37 trator, or any person interested in the estate, shall file a veri-38 fied petition showing the advantage to accrue from giving the 39 lease, a general description of the property proposed to be 40 leased, and the term, rental and general conditions of the pro-41 posed lease. The clerk shall set the petition for hearing by 42 the court and give notice thereof for the period and in the 43 manner required by sections 1200 and 1201 of this code.

44 842. At the time appointed, the court shall hear the peti-
45 tion and any objection thereto that may have been presented;
46 and if the court is satisfied that it will be to the advantage 47 of the estate, it shall make an order authorizing and directing 48 the executor or administrator to make such lease. The order 49 may prescribe the minimum rental or royalty to be received 50 for the premises, and the period of the lease, which must not 51 be longer than ten years, and may prescribe other terms and 52 conditions of the lease; except that for the purpose of 1 exploiting for minerals, or mineral oils or petroleum, and 2 extracting minerals therefrom, the lease may be for a period

3 not to exceed twenty years. A certified copy of the order 4 shall be recorded in the office of the county recorder of every 5 county in which the leased land or any portion thereof lies.

6 843. The executor or administrator shall execute, 7 acknowledge and deliver the lease as directed, setting forth 8 therein that it is made by authority of the order, giving the 9 date of the order. Every lease so made shall be effectual to 10 demise and let the premises described, at the rent, for the term 11 and upon the conditions therein prescribed. Jurisdiction of 12 the court to administer the estate of the decedent shall be effec-13 tual to vest the court with jurisdiction to make the order for 14 the lease, and such jurisdiction shall conclusively inure to the 15 benefit of the lessee, his heirs and assigns. No omission, 16 error or irregularity in the proceedings shall impair or invali-17 date the same or the lease made in pursuance thereof.

18 844. The executor or administrator may lease real prop-19 erty without an order of court when the tenancy is from 20 month to month, or for a term not extending beyond the time 21 for filing or presenting claims, and the rental does not exceed 22 one hundred dollars a month.

23 Article III—Conveyance to Complete Contract.

24
25 850. If a person who is bound by contract in writing to 26 convey any real property or to transfer any personal prop-27 erty dies before making conveyance or transfer, and the 28 decedent, if living, might have been compelled to make such 29 conveyance or transfer, the court in which proceedings are 30 pending for the administration of the estate of the decedent 31 may make a decree authorizing and directing the executor or 32 administrator to convey or transfer the property to the per-33 son entitled thereto.

34 851. The executor or administrator or any person claim-35 ing to be entitled to such conveyance or transfer may file with 36 the clerk of the court a verified petition, setting forth the facts 37 upon which the claim is predicated. Thereupon the clerk 38 shall set the petition for hearing by the court, and notice 39 thereof shall be served on the executor or administrator 40 personally when he is not the petitioner, and shall be pub-41 lished at least once a week for four successive weeks before 42 the hearing, in a newspaper published in the county where the 43 proceedings are pending; but if such contract was recorded 44 before the death of the person executing it, notice of the hear-45 ing may be given by serving such notice on the executor or 46 administrator personally, when he is not the petitioner, and 47 posting a copy of the notice at the courthouse of the county in 48 which the proceedings are pending, for at least ten days prior 49 to the hearing.

50 852. At the time appointed, the court, upon proof that 51 due notice of the hearing has been given, shall proceed to hear 52

1 the petition and any objection thereto that may have been 2 filed or presented; and if the court is satisfied that the con-
3 veyance or transfer should be made, it shall make an order 4 authorizing and directing the executor or administrator to 5 execute the same to the party entitled thereto. If the trans-6 action relates to real property, a certified copy of the decree 7 must be recorded with the deed in the office of the county 8 recorder of the county in which the land or any portion 9 thereof lies.

10 853. The decree shall be prima facie evidence of the cor-11 rectness of the proceedings and of the authority of the executor 12 or administrator to make the conveyance or transfer; and after 13 its entry the person entitled to the conveyance or transfer has a 14 right to the possession of the property contracted for, and to 15 hold the same according to the terms of the intended convey-16 ance or transfer, in like manner as if the same had been con-17 veyed or transferred in pursuance of the decree. Nevertheless, 18 the executor or administrator must execute the conveyance or 19 transfer according to the directions of the decree, and the 20 court may enforce its execution by process. The conveyance 21 or transfer shall pass title to the property contracted for, as 22 fully as if the contracting party had executed it while living.

23 24 Article IV—Exchange of Real Property.

25
26 860. Whenever it shall appear to be to the advantage 27 of the estate to exchange any real property of the decedent 28 for other property, the court may authorize such exchange, 29 upon the petition of the executor or administrator or of any 30 person interested in the estate, and after notice of the hearing 31 given for the period and in the manner required by section 32 1200 of this code.

33 34 CHAPTER XV—COMPENSATION AND ACCOUNTING.

35 36 Article I—Commissions.

37
38 900. The executor or administrator shall be allowed all 39 necessary expenses in the care, management and settlement 40 of the estate, and, for his services, the compensation herein-41 after provided; but when the decedent, by his will, makes 42 other provision for the compensation of the executor, that 43 shall be a full compensation for his services, unless by a 44 written instrument, filed in the court, he renounces all claim 45 for compensation provided for in the will.

46 901. The executor, when no compensation is provided 47 by the will or he renounces all claim thereto, or the adminis-
48 trator, shall receive commissions upon the amount of estate
49 accounted for by him, as follows: For the first thousand dol-50 lars, at the rate of seven per cent; for the next nine thousand 51 dollars, at the rate of four per cent; for the next ten thousand 52 dollars, at the rate of three per cent; for the next thirty

1 thousand dollars, at the rate of two per cent; and for all above
2 fifty thousand dollars, at the rate of one per cent. If there 3 are two or more executors or administrators, the compensation 4 shall be apportioned among them by the court according to 5 the services actually rendered by each.

6 902. Such further allowances may be made as the court 7 may deem just and reasonable for any extraordinary services, 8 such as sales or mortgages of real or personal property, con-9 tested or litigated claims against the estate, the adjustment 10 and payment of extensive or complicated estate or inherit-11 ance taxes, litigation in regard to the property of the estate, 12 and such other litigation or special services as may be neces-13 sary for the executor or administrator to prosecute, defend, or 14 perform.

15 903. All contracts between an executor or administrator 16 and an heir, devisee or legatee, for a higher compensation than 17 that allowed by the foregoing sections, shall be void.

18 904. Any executor or administrator, at any time after 19 six months from the issuance of letters testamentary or of 20 administration, and upon such notice to the persons inter-21 ested in the estate as the court or a judge thereof shall require, 22 may apply to the court for an allowance upon his commissions; 23 and on the hearing the court shall make an order allowing 24 him such portion of his commissions, for services rendered 25 up to that time, as the court shall deem proper, and the por-26 tion so allowed may be thereupon charged against the estate.

27 Article II—Attorneys' Fees.

28
29
30 910. Attorneys for executors and administrators shall 31 be allowed out of the estate, as fees for conducting the ordi-32 nary probate proceedings, the same amounts as are allowed 33 by the previous article as commissions to executors and admin-34 istrators; and such further amount as the court may deem 35 just and reasonable for extraordinary services, such as sales 36 or mortgages of real or personal property, contested or liti-37 gated claims against the estate, litigation in regard to the 38 property of the estate, and such other litigation as may be 39 necessary for the executor or administrator to prosecute or 40 defend.

41 911. Any attorney who has rendered services to an 42 executor or administrator, at any time after six months from 43 the issuance of letters testamentary or of administration, and 44 upon such notice to the executor or administrator and to the 45 persons interested in the estate as the court or a judge thereof 46 shall require, may apply to the court for an allowance upon 47 his fees; and on the hearing the court shall make an order 48 requiring the executor or administrator to pay such attorney 49 out of the estate such compensation, on account of services 50 rendered up to that time, as the court shall deem proper, and 51 such payment shall be made forthwith.

Article III—Rendering of Exhibits and Accounts.

920. Every executor and administrator is chargeable in his accounts with all of the estate of the decedent which comes into his possession, and with all the income, issues and profits of the estate; but he is not accountable for any debts due to the decedent which remain uncollected without his fault, nor is he liable for the act or negligence of a coexecutor or coadministrator, except for collusion or gross negligence. He shall not make profit by the increase, nor suffer loss by the decrease or destruction without his fault, of any part of the estate. He must account for the excess when he sells any part of the estate for more than the appraisement, but is not responsible for the loss if any is sold for less than the appraisement, if the sale has been justly made.

921. Whenever required by the court or a judge thereof, either upon its or his own motion or upon the application of any person interested in the estate, the executor or administrator must render and file with the clerk a verified account showing the amount of money received and expended by him, the claims filed or presented against the estate, giving the name of each claimant, the nature of the claim, when it became due or will become due, whether it was allowed or rejected by him, or not yet acted upon, and all other matters necessary to show the condition of the estate. If he neglects or refuses to appear and render such account, after having been duly cited, an attachment may be issued against him and such accounting compelled, or his letters may be revoked, or both, in the discretion of the court or judge.

922. Within thirty days after the time to file or present claims against the estate has expired, the executor or administrator must render a full and verified account and report of his administration, which shall include all of the matters mentioned in the previous section. He must render a final account, and pray a settlement of his administration, whenever there are sufficient funds in his hands for the payment of all debts and the estate is in a proper condition to be closed. If he fails to present his account the court or judge must compel the accounting by attachment. Any person interested in the estate may apply for and obtain an attachment, but no attachment shall issue unless a citation has first been issued, served and returned, requiring the executor or administrator to appear and show cause why an attachment should not issue.

923. When the authority of an executor or administrator is revoked or ceases for any reason, he may be cited to account before the court, at the instance of the person succeeding to the administration of the estate, in like manner as he might have been cited by any person interested in the estate while he was executor or administrator.

924. If the executor or administrator absconds, or conceals himself so that a citation can not be personally served, and he neglects to render an account as prescribed in this

1 article, or if an attachment has been executed, and he neglects 2 to render an account within thirty days after being committed, 3 his letters must be revoked.

4 925. Except as hereinafter provided, the executor or 5 administrator, in rendering his account, must produce and 6 file vouchers for all payments which he has made. The vouch-7 ers must remain on file until returned or destroyed as here-8 inafter provided. Any voucher may be withdrawn on leaving 9 a certified copy on file, but must be produced on demand, 10 unless permanently withdrawn with the permission of the 11 court. Five years from the time the decree of final distribu-12 tion has become final, the clerk of the court may destroy the 13 vouchers or deliver them to the executor or administrator or 14 to his attorney.

15 926. When an account is rendered for settlement, the 16 clerk shall set the same for settlement by the court and give 17 notice thereof for the period and in the manner required by 18 section 1200 of this code. If the account is for a final settle-19 ment, and a petition for the final distribution of the estate is 20 filed with the account, the notice of settlement must so state, 21 and on the settlement of the account, distribution of the 22 estate to those entitled thereto may be had immediately, 23 without further notice or proceedings.

24 927. Any person interested in the estate may appear 25 and file written exceptions to the account, and contest the 26 same. Upon the hearing, the executor or administrator may 27 be examined on oath touching the account and the property 28 and effects of the decedent, and the disposition thereof. All 29 matters, including allowed claims not passed upon on the 30 settlement of any former account and not reduced to judg-31 ment, may be contested for cause shown. The court may 32 appoint one or more referees to examine the accounts, and 33 make report thereon, subject to confirmation; and may allow 34 a reasonable compensation to them to be paid out of the 35 estate.

36 928. Whenever an allowed claim is contested by any 37 person entitled to contest it, either the contestant or the claim-38 ant is entitled to a trial by jury of the issues of fact pre-39 sented by the contest, unless a jury is waived as provided by 40 the Code of Civil Procedure with regard to civil actions; and 41 the court shall call the jury and submit such issues to them, 42 and after receiving their verdict, enter an order disposing of 43 the contest in accordance therewith.

44 929. If it appears that debts of the decedent have been 45 paid without verified claims having been filed or presented 46 and allowed and approved, and it shall be proven that such 47 debts were justly due, were paid in good faith, that the 48 amount paid was the true amount of such indebtedness over 49 and above all payments or set-offs, and that the estate is 50 solvent, the court, in setting the account shall allow the sums 51 so paid.

1 930. If it is proven that vouchers for any disbursements
2 have been lost or destroyed, that it is impossible to obtain 3 duplicates, and that the items were paid in good faith and 4 were legal charges against the estate, the executor or admin-5 istrator shall be allowed such items. He may be allowed any 6 item of expenditure not exceeding twenty dollars, for which 7 no voucher is produced, if it is supported by his uncontra-8 dicted oath positive to the fact of payment, specifying when, 9 where, and to whom it was made; but the total amount of 10 such allowances in all his accounts must not exceed five 11 hundred dollars.

12 931. The order settling and allowing the account, when 13 it becomes final, is conclusive against all persons interested 14 in the estate, saving, however, to persons under legal dis-15 ability, the right to move for cause to reopen and examine 16 the account, or to proceed by action against the executor or 17 administrator or his sureties, at any time before final distribu-18 tion; and in any such action such order is prima facie evidence 19 of the correctness of the account.

20 932. If the executor or administrator dies, his accounts 21 may be presented by his personal representative to, and settled 22 by, the court in which the estate of which he was executor or 23 administrator is being administered, and, upon petition of 24 the successor of such deceased executor or administrator, such 25 court shall compel the personal representative of the deceased 26 executor or administrator to render an account of the admin-27 istration of his testator or intestate, and must settle such 28 account as in other cases.

29
30 Article IV—Payment of Debts, Expenses and Charges.

31
32 950. The debts of the decedent, the expenses of adminis-33 tration and the charges against the estate must be paid in the 34 following order:

- 35 (1) Expenses of administration;
- 36 (2) Funeral expenses;
- 37 (3) Expenses of last illness;
- 38 (4) Family allowance;
- 39 (5) Debts having preference by the laws of the United 40 States;
- 41 (6) Wages, to the extent of one hundred dollars, of each 42 employee of the decedent, for work done or services rendered 43 within sixty days prior to the death of the employer;
- 44 (7) Mortgages and other liens, in the order of their 45 priority, so far as they may be paid out of the proceeds of 46 the encumbered property. If such proceeds are insufficient 47 for that purpose, the part of the debt remaining unsatisfied 48 must be classed with general demands against the estate;
- 49 (8) Judgments rendered against the decedent in his life-50 time, in the order of their date;
- 51 (9) All other demands against the estate.

1 951. As soon as he has sufficient funds in his hands, after 2 retaining sufficient to pay the expenses of administration, 3 the executor or administrator must pay the funeral expenses, 4 the expenses of the last illness, and the family allowance; 5 but he is not obliged to pay any other debt or any legacy until, 6 as prescribed in this article, the payment has been ordered by 7 the court.

8 952. Upon the settlement of any account of the executor 9 or administrator after the time to file or present claims has 10 expired, the court shall order the payment of the debts, as 11 the circumstances of the estate permit. If there are not suffi-12 cient funds to pay all of the debts, the decree shall specify 13 the sum to be paid to each creditor. No creditor of any one 14 class shall receive any payment until all those of a preferred 15 class are fully paid; and if the estate is insufficient to pay all 16 the debts of any one class, each creditor of that class must be 17 paid a dividend in proportion to his claim. If the property 18 of the estate is exhausted by the payment ordered, such 19 account shall constitute a final account, and the executor or 20 administrator shall be entitled to his discharge on producing 21 and filing the necessary vouchers and proof showing that he 22 has complied with the decree.

23 953. If there is any claim not due, or any contingent or 24 disputed claim against the estate, the amount thereof, or such 25 part of the same as the holder would be entitled to if the 26 claim were due, established, or absolute, must be paid into 27 court, and there remain, to be paid over to the party when he 28 becomes entitled thereto; or, if he fails to establish his claim, 29 to be paid over or distributed as the circumstances of the 30 estate require. If a creditor whose claim has been allowed, 31 but is not yet due, appears and assents to a deduction there-32 from of the legal interest for the time the claim has yet to run, 33 he is entitled to be paid accordingly. The payments provided 34 for in this section are not to be made when the estate is 35 insolvent, unless a pro rata distribution is ordered.

36 954. When an order is made for the payment of creditors, 37 the executor or administrator is personally liable to each 38 creditor for his allowed claim, or the dividend thereon, and 39 execution may be issued on such order, as upon a judg-40 ment, in favor of each creditor, and the same proceeding may 41 be had under such execution as under execution in civil 42 actions. The executor or administrator is liable therefor on 43 his bond to each creditor.

44 955. When the accounts of the executor or administrator 45 have been settled, and an order made for the payment of 46 debts and distribution of the estate, no creditor whose claim 47 was not included in the order for payment has any right to 48 call upon the creditors who have been paid, or upon the heirs, 49 devisees or legatees, to contribute to the payment of his claim; 50 but if the executor or administrator has failed to give the 51 notice to creditors, as prescribed by law, such creditor may

1 recover on the bond of the executor or administrator the 2 amount for which his claim would properly have been allowed.
3 956. If all of the debts have been paid by the first order 4 for payment, the court must direct the payment of legacies 5 and the distribution of the estate among the persons entitled, 6 as provided in the next chapter; but if there are debts remain-7 ing unpaid, or if, for other reasons, the estate is not in a con-8 dition to be closed, the administration may continue for such 9 time as may be reasonable.

10 11 CHAPTER XVI—DISTRIBUTION AND DISCHARGE.

12
13 Article I—Partial Distribution.

14
15 1000. At any time after the lapse of four months from the 16 issuing of letters testamentary or of administration, any heir, 17 devisee or legatee, or his assignee, grantee or successor in 18 interest, may petition the court for the legacy or share of the 19 estate to which he is entitled, or any portion thereof, to be 20 given to him upon his giving a bond as hereinafter provided.
21 The clerk shall set the petition for hearing by the court and 22 give notice thereof for the period and in the manner required
23 by section 1200 of this code, and to the executor or adminis-24 trator by citation. The executor or administrator or any 25 person interested in the estate may resist the application.

26 1001. If, at the hearing, it appears that the estate is but 27 little indebted, and that the share of the applicant may be 28 allowed to him without loss to the creditors or injury to the 29 estate or any person interested therein, the court shall make 30 an order requiring the executor or administrator to deliver 31 to the applicant the share of the estate to which he is entitled, 32 or such part thereof as the court may designate, upon receiv-
33 ing a bond executed by the applicant and payable to the exec-34 utor or administrator, in such sum as the court may designate, 35 with sureties to be approved by the judge, and conditioned 36 for the payment, whenever required, of the applicant's propor-37 tion of the debts due from the estate, not exceeding the value 38 or amount of the legacy or portion of the estate to which he is 39 entitled. When the time for filing or presenting claims has 40 expired, and all valid claims have been paid or are sufficiently 41 secured by mortgage, and the court is satisfied that no injury 42 can result to the estate, the court may dispense with the bond.

43 1002. When a bond has been executed and delivered under 44 the provisions of the preceding section, and it is necessary for 45 the settlement of the estate to require the payment of any part 46 of the money thereby secured, the executor or administrator 47 must petition the court for an order requiring the payment, 48 and have a citation issued and served on the party bound, 49 requiring him to appear and show cause why the order should 50 not be made. If satisfied, upon the hearing, of the necessity 51 of such payment, the court shall make an order accordingly, 52 designating the amount and giving a time within which it

1 must be paid. If the money is not paid within the time 2 allowed, an action on the bond may be maintained by the 3 executor or administrator.

4 1003. The cost of proceedings for a partial distribution 5 must be paid by the applicant, or if there are more than one 6 must be apportioned equally among them.

8 Article II—Ratable Distribution.

10 1010. When the time for filing or presenting claims has 11 expired, and all valid claims have been paid, or are sufficiently 12 secured by mortgage, but the estate is not in a condition to be 13 finally closed and distributed, the executor or administrator 14 may petition the court for a ratable payment of the legacies, 15 or ratable distribution of the estate, to the heirs, devisees or 16 legatees, or their assignees, grantees or successors in interest, 17 or, where there are priorities, to those of the class or classes 18 having priority; or, if the decedent was a nonresident and 19 left a will which has been duly proved or allowed in the state 20 of his residence, and an authenticated copy thereof has been 21 admitted to probate in this state, or if he died intestate and 22 an administrator has been duly appointed and qualified in 23 the state of his residence, and it is necessary, in order that 24 the estate or any part thereof may be distributed according 25 to the will, or it is for the best interests of the estate, that any 26 part of the estate in this state should be delivered to the 27 executor or administrator in the state of the decedent's resi-28 dence, the executor or administrator may petition the court for 29 an order authorizing the delivery of such portion of the 30 estate as the court shall deem safe and proper and for the 31 best interests of the estate, to the executor or administrator 32 in the state of the decedent's residence. The clerk shall set 33 the petition for hearing by the court and give notice thereof 34 for the period and in the manner required by section 1200 35 of this code. Any person interested in the estate or any 36 coexecutor or coadministrator may resist the application.

37 1011. If, at the hearing, it appears that the allegations of 38 the petition are true, and that no injury will result to the 39 estate or any person interested therein, the court shall make 40 an order requiring the executor or administrator to deliver 41 to the heirs, devisees or legatees, or to their assignees, grantees 42 or successors in interest, or to the executor or administrator 43 in the state of decedent's residence, such portion of the estate 44 as the court may designate.

45 1012. The delivery, in accordance with the order of the 46 court, is a full discharge of the executor or administrator in 47 this state, in relation to all property embraced in the order, 48 and when the order becomes final it binds and concludes all
49 parties in interest.

50 1013. The cost of proceedings for a ratable distribution 51 must be paid by the estate, excepting that when a partition

1 is necessary the cost of the partition must be apportioned 2 amongst the parties interested in the partition.

Article III—Final Distribution.

6 1020. Immediately upon the final settlement of the 7 accounts of the executor or administrator, or at any subsequent 8 time, upon the application of the executor or administrator, 9 or of any heir, devisee or legatee, or his assignee, grantee or 10 successor in interest, and after notice given for the period 11 and in the manner required by section 1200 of this code, the 12 court must proceed to distribute the residue of the estate 13 among the persons entitled thereto. A statement of any 14 receipts and disbursements of the executor or administrator 15 since the rendition of his final account must be reported and 16 filed at the time of making such distribution; and a settle-17 ment thereof, together with an estimate of the expenses of 18 closing the estate, must be made by the court and included in 19 the order or decree, or the court or judge may order notice 20 to be given of the settlement of such supplementary account 21 as in other cases of the settlement of accounts.

22 1021. In its decree, the court must name the persons and 23 the proportions or parts to which each is entitled, and such 24 persons may demand, sue for, and recover their respective 25 shares from the executor or administrator, or any person hav-26 ing the same in possession. Such order or decree, when it 27 becomes final, is conclusive as to the rights of heirs, devisees 28 and legatees.

29 1022. If any heir, devisee or legatee who is issue of the 30 decedent dies intestate while under age and not having been 31 married, before the close of the administration, no adminis-
32 tration on the estate of such deceased heir, devisee or legatee 33 is necessary, but his share of his ancestor's estate must be 34 distributed directly to his heirs at law.

35 1023. If an heir, devisee or legatee dies before the dis-36 tribution to him of his share of the estate, such share may be 37 distributed to the representative of his estate for the purpose 38 of administration therein, with the same effect as if it had been 39 distributed to him while living.

40 1024. Before any decree of distribution is made, all 41 inheritance taxes due from the distributee and all personal 42 property taxes due and payable by the estate must be paid.

43 1025. When a testator, by his will, has limited the time 44 for administration upon his estate, such limitation is 45 directory, only, and shall not limit the power of the executor 46 or of the court to continue the administration beyond the 47 time limited where the same is necessary or convenient.

48

49

Article IV—Estates of Nonresidents.

50

51 1040. Upon application for distribution after final settle-52 ment of the accounts of the executor or administrator, if the

1 decedent was a nonresident and left a will which has been duly 2 proved or allowed in the state of his residence, and an authen-3 ticated copy thereof has been admitted to probate in this state, 4 or if he died intestate, and an administrator has been duly 5 appointed and qualified in the state of his residence, and it 6 is necessary in order that the estate, or any part thereof, may 7 be distributed according to the will, or it is for the best inter-8 ests of the estate, that the estate in this state or any part 9 thereof should be delivered to the executor or administrator 10 in the state of the decedent's residence, the court may order 11 such delivery to be made, and, if necessary, direct a sale of the 12 real property and a like delivery of the proceeds. Such sale 13 must be made in the same manner as other sales of real prop-14 erty of decedents.

15 1041. The order may be made on the petition of the exec-16 utor or administrator or of any person interested in the 17 estate. When such petition is filed, the clerk shall set the 18 same for hearing by the court, and give notice thereof for the 19 period and in the manner required by section 1200 of this 20 code. Any person interested in the estate may appear and 21 contest the petition by filing written objections thereto.

22 1042. The delivery, in accordance with the order of the 23 court, is a full discharge of the executor or administrator in 24 this state, in relation to all property embraced in the order,
25 and when the order becomes final it binds and concludes all
26 parties in interest.

27 28 Article V—Advancements and Ademptions. 29

30 1050. A gift before death shall be considered as an ademp-31 tion of a bequest or devise of the property given; but such 32 gift shall not be taken as an advancement to an heir or as 33 an ademtion of a general legacy unless such intention is 34 expressed by the testator in the grant or otherwise in writing, 35 or unless the donee acknowledges it in writing to be such.

36 1051. Any property, real or personal, given by the dece-37 dent in his lifetime as an advancement to an heir, is a part 38 of the estate of the decedent for the purposes of division and 39 distribution thereof among his heirs, and must be taken by 40 such heir toward his share of the estate of the decedent. If 41 the amount of such advancement exceeds the share of the 42 heir receiving the same, he must be excluded from any fur-43 ther portion in the division and distribution of the estate, but 44 he shall not be required to refund any part of such advance-45 ment. If the amount so received is less than his share, he is 46 entitled to so much more as will give him his full share of the 47 estate of the decedent.

48 1052. If the value of the property so advanced is expressed 49 in the conveyance, or in the charge thereof made by the dece-50 dent, or in the acknowledgement of the party receiving it, it 51 must be held as of that value in the division and distribution of 1 the estate; otherwise, it must be estimated according to its 2 value when given, as nearly as the same can be ascertained.

3 1053. If an heir receiving an advancement dies before the 4 decedent, leaving heirs, the advancement must be taken into 5 consideration in the division and distribution of the estate, 6 and the amount thereof must be allowed accordingly by the 7 representatives or successors in interest of the heir receiving 8 the advancement, in like manner as if the advancement had 9 been made directly to them.

10 1054. All questions as to advancements made, or alleged 11 to have been made, by the decedent to his heirs, may be heard 12 and determined by the court, and must be specified in the 13 decree assigning and distributing the estate; and the decree 14 of the court, when it becomes final, is conclusive on all parties 15 interested in the estate.

16
17 Article VI—Discharge.

18
19 1060. When property is assigned or distributed to a per-20 son residing out of, and having no agent in, this state, or to a 21 distributee who can not be found or who refuses to accept the 22 same or to give a proper voucher therefor, or to a minor or 23 incompetent person who has no legal guardian to receive the 24 same or person authorized to receipt therefor, and the same or 25 any part thereof consists of money, the executor or administra-
26 tor may deposit the money, in the name of the assignee or dis-27 tributee, with the county treasurer of the county in which 28 the proceedings are pending, who shall give a receipt for the 29 same, and be liable upon his official bond therefor; and said 30 receipt shall be deemed and received by the court, or judge 31 thereof, as a voucher in favor of the executor or administrator, 32 with the same force and effect as if executed by such assignee 33 or distributee.

34 1061. If the assignee or distributee is a nonresident minor 35 or insane or incompetent person, who has a guardian of his 36 estate legally appointed under the laws of any foreign juris-37 diction, the distribution of such assignee's or distributee's 38 share may be made to such legally appointed guardian, whose 39 receipt therefor, together with a certificate of his appointment 40 issued, under seal of the court, by the clerk of the court 41 appointing him, when filed with the clerk of the court in 42 which such assignment or distribution was ordered, shall be 43 deemed and received by the court, or a judge thereof, as a 44 voucher in favor of said executor or administrator.

45 1062. When personal property remains in the hands of the 46 executor or administrator unclaimed for a year, or when the 47 distributee refuses to accept or to give a proper receipt for the 48 property, or is a minor or incompetent person and has no legally 49 qualified guardian of his estate, and it appears to the court 50 that it is for the benefit of those interested, or if the executor 51 or administrator desires his discharge and it appears to the 52 court that no injury will result to those interested, the court

1 shall order the property to be sold. The proceeds, after 2 deducting such expenses of sale as may be allowed by the 3 court, must be paid into the county treasury. The depositor 4 must take from the treasurer duplicate receipts, one of which 5 he must file in the office of the auditor, and the other with the 6 court.

7 1063. Until the property is delivered or thus disposed of, 8 the executor or administrator must render to the court, annu-9 ally, an account showing what income he has received, what 10 property he has sold and at what price, and the character and 11 value of the property remaining in his hands.

12 1064. When any person appears and claims the money 13 paid into the treasury, the court making the distribution must 14 inquire into such claim, and if satisfied of his right thereto 15 must grant him a certificate to that effect, under its seal; 16 and upon presentation of the certificate the auditor must 17 draw his warrant on the treasurer for the amount.

18 1065. Where a specific legacy is for life only, the life 19 tenant must sign and deliver to the remainderman, or, if there 20 is none, to the personal representative, an inventory of the 21 property, expressing that the same is in his custody for life 22 only, and that, on his decease, it is to be delivered to the 23 remainderman.

24 1066. When the estate has been fully administered, and 25 it is shown by the executor or administrator, by the production 26 of satisfactory vouchers, that he has paid all sums of money 27 due from him, and delivered up, under the order of the court, 28 all the property of the estate to the parties entitled, and per-29 formed all the acts lawfully required of him, the court must 30 make a decree discharging him from all liability to be incurred 31 thereafter.

32 1067. The final settlement of an estate, as in this chapter 33 provided, shall not prevent a subsequent issue of letters testa-34 mentary or of administration, or of administration with the 35 will annexed, if other property of the estate is discovered, or 36 if it becomes necessary or proper for any cause that letters 37 should be again issued.

38 CHAPTER XVII—DETERMINATION OF HEIRSHIP.

39
40 41 1080. When the time to file or present claims against the 42 estate has expired, but the estate is not in a condition to be 43 closed, any person claiming to be an heir of the decedent or 44 entitled to distribution of the estate or any part thereof may 45 file a petition setting forth his claim and praying that the 46 court determine who are entitled to distribution of the estate.
47 The clerk shall set the petition for hearing by the court and 48 give notice thereof for the period and in the manner required
49 by section 1200 of this code.

50 1081. At the time appointed, the court shall hear the peti-
51 tion and any objection thereto that may have been presented, 52 and shall determine who are the heirs of the decedent or 1 entitled to distribution of the estate and shall specify their 2 interests.

3 1082. When such decree becomes final it shall be con-4 clusive upon the matters determined during the remainder of 5 the administration of the estate and upon any subsequent 6 proceeding for distribution.

8 CHAPTER XVIII—PARTITION.

10 1100. If, in the execution of a decree of partial distribu-11 tion or of ratable distribution, a partition is necessary between 12 two or more of the parties interested, it must be made in the 13 manner hereinafter prescribed.

14 1101. When the property, real or personal, assigned by a 15 decree of distribution to two or more heirs, devisees or lega-16 tees, is in common and undivided, and the respective shares 17 are not separated and distinguished, partition may be 18 made by three disinterested persons, to be appointed com-19 missioners for that purpose by the court, who must be duly 20 sworn to the faithful discharge of their duties. A certified 21 copy of the order of their appointment, and of the order or 22 decree assigning and distributing the estate, must be issued 23 to them as their warrant, and their oath must be indorsed 24 thereon. Upon consent of the parties, or when the court 25 deems it proper and just, it is sufficient to appoint one com-26 missioner only, who has the same authority and is governed 27 by the same rules as if three were appointed.

28 1102. Such partition may be ordered and had on the 29 petition of any person interested. But before commissioners 30 are appointed, or partition ordered by the court as directed 31 in this chapter, notice thereof must be given to all persons 32 interested who reside in this state, or to their guardians, 33 and to the agents, attorneys, or guardians, if any in this 34 state, of such as reside out of this state, either personally 35 or by public notice, as the court may direct. The petition 36 may be filed, attorneys, guardians, and agents appointed, and 37 notice given, at any time before the decree of distribution 38 is rendered, but the commissioners must not be appointed until 39 the decree is made distributing the estate.

40 1103. If the real property is in different counties, the 41 court may, if deemed proper, appoint commissioners for all 42 or different commissioners for each county. The estate in each 43 county must be divided separately among the heirs, devisees, 44 or legatees, as if there were no other estate to be divided, but 45 the commissioners first appointed must, unless otherwise 46 directed by the court, make division of such real property 47 wherever situated within this state.

48 1104. Partition or distribution of the estate may be made 49 as provided in this chapter, although some of the original 50 heirs, devisees or legatees may have conveyed their shares to 51 other persons, and such shares must be assigned to the persons

1 holding the same, in the same manner as they otherwise 2 would have been to such heirs, devisees or legatees.

3 1105. When both distribution and partition are made, the 4 several shares in the real and personal property must be set 5 out to each individual in proportion to his right, by metes 6 and bounds, or description, so that the same can be easily 7 distinguished, unless two or more of the parties interested 8 consent to have their shares set out so as to be held by them 9 in common and undivided.

10 1106. When the real property can not be divided without 11 prejudice or inconvenience to the owners, the court may assign 12 the whole to one or more of the parties entitled to share therein, 13 who will accept it, always preferring among children the 14 elder to the younger. The parties accepting the whole must 15 pay to the other parties interested their just proportion of the 16 true value thereof, or secure the same to their satisfaction, or in 17 case of the minority of such party, then to the satisfaction of 18 his guardian; and the true value of the estate must be ascer-19 tained and reported by the commissioners: When the commis-20 sioners appointed to make partition are of the opinion that the 21 real property can not be divided without prejudice or incon-22 venience to the owners, they must so report to the court, and 23 recommend that the whole be assigned as herein provided, and 24 must find and report the true value of such real property. On 25 filing the report of the commissioners, and on making or secur-26 ing the payment as before provided, the court, if it appears just 27 and proper, must confirm the report, and thereupon the assign-28 ment is complete, and the title to the whole of such real 29 property vests in the person to whom the same is so assigned.

30 1107. When any tract of land or tenement is of greater 31 value than any one's share in the estate to be divided, and 32 can not be divided without injury to the same, it may be set 33 off by the commissioners appointed to make partition to any 34 of the parties who will accept it, giving preference as pre-35 scribed in the preceding section. The party accepting must 36 pay or secure to the others such sums as the commissioners 37 shall award to make the partition equal, and the commis-38 sioners must make their award accordingly; but such partition 39 must not be established by the court until the sums awarded 40 are paid to the parties entitled to the same, or secured to their 41 satisfaction.

42 1108. When it appears to the court, from the commission-43 ers' report, that it can not otherwise be fairly divided, and 44 should be sold, the court may order the sale of the whole or 45 any part of the estate, real or personal, by the executor or 46 administrator, or by a commissioner appointed for that pur-47 pose, and the proceeds distributed. The sale must be con-48 ducted, reported and confirmed in the same manner and under 49 the same requirements provided in chapter XIII of this 50 division.

51 1109. Before any partition is made or any estate divided, 52 as provided in this chapter, notice must be given to all per-

1 sons interested in the partition, their guardians, agents, or 2 attorneys, by the commissioners, of the time and place when 3 and where they shall proceed to make partition. The com-4 missioners may take testimony, order surveys, and take such 5 other steps as may be necessary to enable them to form a 6 judgment upon the matters before them.

7 1110. The commissioners must report their proceedings, 8 and the partition agreed upon by them, to the court, in writ-9 ing, and the court may, for sufficient reasons, set aside the 10 report and commit the same to the same commissioners, or 11 appoint others; and when such report is finally confirmed, a 12 certified copy of the decree of partition made thereon, attested 13 by the clerk under the seal of the court, must be recorded in 14 the office of the recorder of each county in which any of the 15 land lies.

16 1111. When the court makes a decree assigning the 17 residue of any estate to one or more persons entitled to the 18 same, it is not necessary to appoint commissioners to make 19 partition or distribution thereof, unless the parties to whom 20 the assignment is decreed, or some of them, request that such 21 partition be made.

22
23 CHAPTER XIX—ADMINISTRATION OF TRUSTS.
24

25 1120. When a trust created by a will continues after dis-26 tribution, the superior court shall not lose jurisdiction of the 27 estate by final distribution, but shall retain jurisdiction for 28 the purpose of settling the accounts of the trustee and deter-29 mining to whom the property shall pass and be delivered upon 30 the termination of the trust, to the extent that such deter-31 mination is not concluded by the decree of distribution. Any 32 trustee appointed by will, or appointed to execute a trust 33 created by will, may, from time to time pending the execution 34 of his trust, or at the termination thereof, render for settle-35 ment his accounts as such trustee, before the superior court in 36 which the will was probated. For that purpose, the trustee, 37 or, in case of his death, his legal representatives, shall present 38 to the court his verified account and report, setting forth his 39 accounts in detail and showing the condition of the trust 40 estate, and giving the names and post-office addresses, if 41 known, of the beneficiaries. The trustee may also petition 42 such court, from time to time, for instructions as to the 43 administration of the trust. The clerk shall set the account 44 and report or petition for settlement or hearing by the court
45 and give notice thereof for the period and in the manner
46 required by section 1200 of this code. The notice of the hearing 47 shall be mailed to the beneficiaries whose addresses are known, 48 as provided in section 1200, whether they have requested 49 special notice or given notice of appearance or not.

50 1121. Upon application of any beneficiary of the trust, 51 or the guardian of a beneficiary, the court, in its discretion, 52 or a judge thereof, may order the trustee, by citation, to 1 appear and render his account; and such application shall not 2 be denied where no account has been rendered to the court 3 within six months.

4 1122. On the settlement of each such account the court 5 shall allow the trustee his proper expenses and such compensa-6 tion for services as the court may deem just and reasonable.
7 Where there are several trustees it shall apportion the com-
8 pensation among them according to the respective services 9 rendered. It may, in its discretion, fix a yearly compensation 10 for the trustee or trustees, to continue as long as the court 11 may deem proper.

12 1123. A decree rendered under the provisions of this chap-13 ter, when it becomes final, shall be conclusive upon all persons 14 in interest.

15 1124. Any person named or designated as a trustee in a 16 will may, at any time before distribution of any of the estate 17 to him, decline to act as such trustee, and an order of court 18 shall thereupon be made accepting such resignation; but the 19 declination of any such person who has qualified as trustee 20 shall not be accepted by the court unless the same shall be in 21 writing and filed in the matter of the estate in the court in 22 which the administration is pending, and such notice shall be 23 given thereof as is required upon a petition for letters of 24 administration. In accepting a declination, the court may 25 make and enforce any order which may be necessary for the 26 preservation of the estate.

27 1125. The court in which the administration is pending 28 shall have power, at any time before final distribution, to 29 appoint some fit and proper person to fill any vacancy in the 30 office of trustee under the will, whether resulting from such 31 declination, removal, or otherwise, if such appointment is 32 necessary to carry out the trust. The person appointed, 33 before acting as trustee, shall give a bond such as is required 34 of a person appointed administrator. Such appointment may 35 be made by the court upon the written application of any per-36 son interested in the trust, filed in the probate proceedings, 37 and shall be made only after notice to all parties interested 38 in the trust, given as required upon a petition for the pro-39 bate of a will.

40 1126. If a trustee of a testamentary trust dies, resigns or is 41 removed after distribution, and a vacancy in the trusteeship is 42 created thereby, the court which had jurisdiction over the set-43 tlement of his accounts shall have the power to appoint a new 44 trustee to fill the vacancy, upon the petition of anyone inter-45 ested in the trust estate and notice given for the period and 46 in the manner required by section 1200 of this code.

47
48 CHAPTER XX—PUBLIC ADMINISTRATORS.
49

50 1140. The public administrator of each county must take 51 immediate charge of the property within his county of per-52 sons who have died, when no executor or administrator has

1 been appointed, and in consequence thereof the property, or 2 any part thereof, is being wasted, uncared for, or lost; and 3 of all estates ordered into his hands by the court. He shall 4 apply for letters of administration upon the estates of 5 decedents who have no known heirs, when the superior court 6 of his county has jurisdiction thereof, and may apply for 7 such letters upon any other estate which he is entitled to 8 administer.

9 1141. When a public administrator takes charge of an 10 estate which he is entitled to administer, without letters of 11 administration being issued, or under order of the court, he 12 must, with all convenient dispatch, procure letters of adminis-13 tration thereon, in like manner and on like proceedings as let-14 ters of administration are issued to other persons. His official 15 bond and oath are in lieu of the administrator's bond and 16 oath on the grant of special letters of administration, or gen-17 eral letters of administration, or letters of administration 18 with the will annexed; but when real property is sold, another 19 bond may be required by the court, as in the case of other 20 administrators.

21 1142. The public administrator shall receive the same com-22 pensation and allowances as are granted by this code to other 23 administrators. He shall file an inventory, institute suits 24 for the recovery or protection of property, render accounts 25 and deliver up the property of the estate, in the same manner 26 as administrators generally; and the provisions of this code 27 shall govern the administration of estates in his hands, except 28 as otherwise provided in this chapter.

29 1143. When a public administrator takes possession of 30 the estate of a decedent as hereinbefore provided, and the 31 defrayal of the expense of the burial of the decedent is not 32 otherwise provided for by law, or by the rules, agreement or 33 death benefits of any order or lodge to which the decedent 34 belonged or with which he was affiliated, the public admin-35 istrator, in order to defray the expense of burial and the 36 expenses of the last illness, may apply to the superior court 37 of his county or a judge thereof for an order permitting him 38 summarily to sell any personal property belonging to the 39 decedent, and to withdraw any money of the decedent on 40 deposit with any bank, and to collect any indebtedness or 41 claim that may be owing to the decedent. No notice of the 42 application need be given.

43 1144. If it appears that the total value of the estate of the 44 decedent does not exceed one hundred dollars, the court or 45 judge shall make an order granting the application and there 46 shall be no administration upon the estate unless additional 47 property is found or discovered. No fee shall be charged by the 48 clerk of the court or the public administrator or his attorney 49 for filing the application, or for any duty or service connected 50 therewith. Such sales may be made with or without notice, 51 as the public administrator may elect, and title to the property 52 sold shall pass without the need of confirmation by the court.

1 The money received from such sales and collections shall be 2 used to defray the expenses of the burial of the decedent and 3 the expenses of his last illness. The public administrator shall 4 file with the clerk of the court a statement showing the prop-
5 erty of the decedent that came into his hands and the disposi-6 tion that he made thereof, together with vouchers for all 7 expenditures.

8 1145. Whenever a stranger, or person without known 9 heirs, dies intestate in the house or premises of another, the 10 possessor of such premises, or any one knowing the facts, must 11 give immediate notice thereof to the public administrator of 12 the county; and in default of so doing, he is liable for any 13 damage that may be sustained thereby, to be recovered by the 14 public administrator or any party interested.

15 1146. All civil officers must inform the public adminis-
16 trator of all property known to them, belonging to a decedent, 17 which is liable to loss, injury or waste, and which, by reason 18 thereof, ought to be in the possession of the public adminis-19 trator.

20 1147. The public administrator, as soon as he receives 21 the same, must deposit all moneys of the estate with the 22 county treasurer of the county in which the proceedings are 23 pending; or, if not required for current expenses, he may 24 deposit any amount thereof with one or more trust companies 25 authorized to do business in his county, and if there is none 26 then with any trust company in the state. The court may 27 direct the deposit of any of such money with a trust company.
28 Money deposited with the county treasurer or with a trust 29 company may be withdrawn upon the order of the public 30 administrator, countersigned by the judge, when required for 31 the purposes of administration. The moneys thus deposited 32 may be invested, pending the administration of the estate, in 33 securities of the United States or of this state, upon the same 34 proceedings had as in other cases of administration.

35 1148. The county treasurer shall receive and safely keep 36 all such moneys deposited with him and pay them out upon 37 the order of the public administrator, when countersigned by 38 the judge, and not otherwise, and shall keep an account with 39 each estate of all moneys received and paid. He shall be allowed 40 one per cent upon all moneys received and kept by him, and 41 no greater fees, for any services herein provided; and for the 42 safekeeping and payment of all such moneys, as herein pro-43 vided, he and his sureties are responsible upon his official bond.
44 After a final settlement of the estate, if there are no heirs or 45 other claimants thereof, the county treasurer must pay into the 46 state treasury all moneys and effects in his hands belonging to 47 the estate, upon order of the court; and if any such moneys 48 and effects escheat to the state, they must be disposed of as 49 other escheated estates.

50 1149. All fees of officers chargeable to estates in the hands 51 of a public administrator must be paid out of the assets 52 thereof as soon as sufficient money comes into his hands.

1 1150. The public administrator must not be interested in 2 any expenditure made on account of any estate he administers, 3 nor must he be associated, in business or otherwise, with any 4 one who is so interested; and he must attach his affidavit to 5 each of his published reports, showing that he is not so inter-6 ested or associated.

7 1151. The public administrator shall keep a book, to be 8 labeled "Register of Public Administrator," in which he shall 9 enter the name of every decedent whose estate he administers, 10 the date of granting letters, the money received, the property 11 appraised and its value, the proceeds of all sales of property, 12 the amount of his fees, the expenses of administration, the 13 amount of the estate after all charges and expenses have been 14 paid, the disposition of property on distribution, the date of 15 his discharge, and such other matters as may be necessary to 16 give a full and complete history of each estate administered 17 by him.

18 1152. The authority of a public administrator to admin-19 ister an estate upon which letters have been issued to him 20 does not cease by virtue of the termination of his office as 21 public administrator, but his authority and duties as adminis-22 trator of such estate continue until he is discharged, as in the 23 case of other administrators.

24 1153. The public administrator, or any person who 25 received letters of administration while acting as public admin-26 istrator, must return to the superior court, once in every six 27 months, a report, under oath, of all estates of decedents which 28 have come into his hands, giving the value of each estate, the 29 amount of money which he has received from each estate, a 30 statement of what he has done with it, and the amount of his 31 fees and expenses incurred in each estate, and the balance, if 32 any, in each estate remaining in his hands. He must publish 33 such report six times in some newspaper published in the 34 county, or if there is none, then post the same, legibly written 35 or printed, in the office of the county clerk of the county. One 36 copy of the report must be filed with the papers in each estate 37 so reported, on the first Monday in January and July of each 38 year.

39 1154. When it appears from any such report, or other-40 wise, that after the final settlement of an estate any money 41 remains in the hands of the public administrator unclaimed, 42 which should be paid over to the county treasurer, the supe-43 rior court, or a judge thereof, must order such payment to 44 be made; and on failure of the public administrator to comply 45 with the order within ten days after the date thereof the 46 district attorney of the county must immediately institute the 47 requisite legal proceedings against the public administrator 48 for a judgment against him and the sureties on his official 49 bond, in the amount of money so withheld, and costs.

50 1155. Every public administrator, or person who holds 51 letters of administration who was appointed while acting as 52 public administrator, who fails to return accounts as provided

1 in section 1153 of this code, or who fails to deliver any money 2 or property as ordered by the court, is guilty of a misde-
3 meanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a 4 fine not less than one hundred dollars for each offense; and it 5 shall be the duty of the district attorney of the county to see 6 that the provisions of this chapter are fully complied with.

8 CHAPTER XXI—ESTABLISHING FACT OF DEATH OR HEIRSHIP.

9 10 Article I—To Determine Vesting of Title.

11
12 1170. When the death of a person terminates a life estate 13 or a homestead right, or vests a homestead, or affects a joint 14 tenancy, or terminates the interest or expectancy of a wife in 15 community property without the necessity of administration, 16 any person whose interest in land is affected by such death 17 may file in the superior court of the county in which the 18 decedent was a resident, or if the decedent was a nonresident 19 then in any county in which any of the land lies, a verified 20 petition setting forth those facts and particularly describing 21 the land and his interest therein, and naming all persons who 22 claim or might claim an interest therein as personal representa-23 tive, heir or devisee of the decedent, so far as known to the 24 petitioner.

25 1171. The clerk must set the petition for hearing by the 26 court and give notice thereof by causing notice of the time and 27 place of the hearing to be posted at the courthouse of the 28 county where the proceeding is pending, at least ten days 29 before the hearing. Written notice of the time and place of 30 hearing, together with a copy of the petition, must be served 31 upon any person named in the petition as representative, heir 32 or devisee of the decedent, in the same manner as a summons, 33 at least ten days before the time set for the hearing or to 34 which it may have been postponed.

35 1172. The court shall take evidence in support of the 36 petition and upon any issues raised, and may render judg-37 ment thereon establishing such termination of estate or investiture 38 of title and determining to whom the property belongs 39 by reason of such death. All persons so served shall be con-40 cluded by the judgment; but the court, in its discretion, may 41 proceed without service being made, other than by posting, 42 in which event, as to persons not served, the decree shall be 43 conclusive only of the fact of such death. A certified copy of 44 the decree shall be recorded in the office of the recorder of 45 each county in which any part of the land lies.

46 1173. One of the inheritance tax appraisers provided for 47 by law must be appointed by the court in every such proceed-48 ing to determine what, if any, inheritance tax is payable by 49 reason of such death unless another proceeding is pending in 50 which the fact and amount of such tax may be determined; 51 and any inheritance tax found to be payable must be paid 52 before the judgment mentioned in the preceding section is

1 rendered. If the said inheritance tax appraiser reports that 2 no inheritance tax is payable, he shall be paid by the petitioner 3 or petitioners for his services and expenses a reasonable 4 amount, to be fixed by the court in which the proceeding is 5 pending.

7 Article II—To Determine Right to Aid.
8

9 1180. When the right of any child to receive state aid, 10 county aid, or state and county aid, depends upon the pre-11 sumptive death of the father of the child, any person inter-12 ested in the welfare of the child may file in the superior court 13 of the county in which the child resides a petition setting forth 14 the facts giving rise to the presumption that the father is 15 dead and praying that such presumption of death be judicially 16 ascertained and established by the court.

17 1181. The clerk must set the petition for hearing by the 18 court not less than ten days subsequent to its filing, and, 19 unless the petition is filed by the district attorney shall deliver 20 forthwith a copy of the petition, to be furnished by the peti-21 tioner, to the district attorney of the county, to which there 22 shall be appended, or endorsed thereon, a statement of the 23 time and place fixed for the hearing.

24 1182. The court shall hear the petition and all objections 25 that may be interposed thereto. If, as a result of the hearing, 26 the court is satisfied that the evidence adduced in support of 27 the petition is sufficient to establish the presumption that the 28 father of the child is dead, it shall make an order adjudging 29 such father to be presumptively dead. Upon the filing of the 30 order the clerk shall send a certified copy thereof to the state 31 department of social welfare at Sacramento. The clerk shall 32 not charge or collect any fee for filing the petition or for any 33 other service rendered by him under the provisions of this 34 article.

35 1183. A petition under this article once heard and denied 36 shall not be renewed in the same or any other court except 37 upon the ground of newly discovered evidence. Any subse-38 quent petition shall contain a recital of the former presenta-39 tion and denial of a similar petition, and shall distinctly set 40 forth a statement of the newly discovered evidence.

41
42 Article III—Identity of Heirs.
43

44 1190. When title to real or personal property, or any 45 interest therein, vests, other than by the laws of succession, in 46 the heirs, heirs of the body, issue, or children of any person, 47 without other description or means of identification of the 48 persons embraced in such description, any person interested 49 in such property as such heir, heir of the body, issue or child, 50 or his successor in interest, or the personal representative of 51 any such interested person or of his successor in interest, may 52 file a verified petition in the superior court of the county in

1 which the property or any part thereof is situated, setting 2 forth briefly the deraignment of title of petitioner, a descrip-3 tion of the property affected, and, so far as known to the 4 petitioner, the names, ages and residences of the heirs, heirs 5 of the body, issue or children whose identity is sought to be 6 determined, and if any is dead or if the residence of any is 7 unknown, stating such facts, and requesting that a decree be 8 entered determining and establishing the identity of the per-9 sons embraced in such general description.

10 1191. The clerk must set the petition for hearing by the 11 court and give notice thereof by causing notice of the time 12 and place of hearing to be posted at the courthouse of the 13 county where the proceeding is pending, at least ten days
14 before the hearing.

15 1192. At any time before the hearing any person inter-16 ested in the property may answer the petition and deny any 17 of the matters contained therein. The court shall hear the 18 proofs offered by the petitioner and by any person contesting 19 and must make a decree conformable to the proofs. Such 20 decree shall be prima facie evidence of the facts determined 21 thereby, and shall be conclusive in favor of anyone acting 22 thereon in good faith without notice of any conflicting 23 interest.

24 25 CHAPTER XXII—NOTICES, ORDERS AND PROCEDURE.

26 27 Article I—Notices.

28
29 1200. Upon the filing of a petition for the setting aside of 30 an estate not exceeding $2,500 in value, or of a petition to set 31 apart a homestead or exempt property, or of a petition relating 32 to the family allowance filed after the return of the inventory, 33 or of a petition for the sale of stocks or bonds, or of a petition 34 for confirmation of a sale, or of a petition for leave to sell or 35 give an option to purchase a mining claim or real property 36 worked as a mine, or of a petition for leave to execute a 37 promissory note or mortgage or deed of trust or give other 38 security, or of a petition for leave to lease, or to exchange 39 property, or of a petition for an order authorizing or directing 40 the investment of money, or of a report of appraisers concern-41 ing a homestead, or of an account of an executor or adminis-
42 trator or trustee, or of a petition for partial or ratable or final 43 distribution, or of a petition for the delivery of the estate of a 44 nonresident, or of a petition for the appointment of a trustee 45 after distribution, and in all cases in which notice is required 46 and no other time or method is prescribed by law or by the 47 court or judge, the clerk shall give notice of the petition or 48 application or report or account by causing a notice to be 49 posted at the courthouse of the county where the proceedings 50 are pending, at least ten days before the day of hearing, giving 51 the name of the estate, the name of the petitioner and the 52 nature of the application, briefly indicating the particular

1 property to which the application applies when it applies to 2 particular property only, referring to the petition for further 3 particulars, and notifying all persons interested to appear at 4 the time and place mentioned in the notice and show cause, 5 if any they have, why the order should not be made. Within 6 two days after the filing of such petition, account or report, 7 the petitioner or person filing the account or desiring the 8 confirmation of a report of appraisers must cause a copy of 9 the notice to be mailed to the executor or administrator, when 10 he is not the petitioner, to any coexecutor or coadministrator 11 not petitioning, and to all persons (or to their attorneys, if 12 they have appeared by attorney), who have requested notice 13 or who have given notice of appearance in the estate in person 14 or by attorney, as heir, devisee, legatee or creditor, or as 15 otherwise interested, addressed to them at their respective 16 post-office addresses given in their requests for special notice, 17 if any, otherwise at their respective offices or places of resi-18 dence, if known, and if not, at the county seat of the county 19 where the proceedings are pending, or to be personally served 20 upon such person. Proof of the giving of notice must be 21 made at the hearing; and if it appears to the satisfaction of 22 the court that said notice has been regularly given, the court 23 shall so find in its order, and such order, when it becomes 24 final, shall be conclusive upon all persons.

25 1201. In the case of a petition for leave to sell, or to give 26 an option to purchase, a mining claim or real property worked 27 as a mine, or for leave to borrow money or execute a mortgage 28 or deed of trust or give other security, or for leave to execute 29 a lease, the clerk shall also cause such notice of the applica-30 tion to be published in a newspaper of general circulation in 31 the county. If the notice is published in a weekly newspaper, 32 it must appear therein on at least two different days of pub-33 lication; if in a newspaper published oftener, there must be 34 at least ten days from the first to the last day of publication, 35 both days included.

36 1202. At any time after the issuance of letters testamentary 37 or of administration, any person interested in the estate, 38 whether as heir, devisee, legatee, creditor, beneficiary under a 39 trust, or as otherwise interested, or the state controller, may, 40 in person or by attorney, serve upon the executor or adminis-41 trator or trustee, or upon the latter's attorney, and file with 42 the clerk of the court where the proceedings are pending, with 43 a written admission or proof of such service, a written request, 44 stating that he desires special notice of the filing of any or 45 all of the petitions, accounts or reports mentioned in section 46 1200 of this code, and giving the post-office address of the 47 person making the same, or his attorney. Thereafter such 48 person shall be entitled to notice as provided in said section 49 1200.

50 1203. When compensation, pension, insurance or other 51 allowance is made or awarded by the United States govern-52 ment, or a department or bureau thereof, to estates of 1 decedents, the department or bureau making or awarding such 2 compensation, pension, insurance or allowance, shall have the 3 same right as any person interested in the estate to request 4 notice of proceedings, to commence and prosecute actions on 5 the bonds of executors or administrators, and to file exceptions 6 in writing to accounts of executors or administrators and to 7 contest the same.

8 1204. Whenever the court deems that the notice which has 9 been given of any proceeding or hearing is insufficient, it may 10 require such further and additional notice to be given as it 11 deems proper.

12 1205. The court may continue or postpone any hearing, 13 from time to time, in the interest of justice, and no further 14 notice of the continued or postponed hearing is required unless 15 ordered by the court.

16 1206. When personal notice is required, and no mode of 17 giving it is prescribed by this code, it must be given by cita-18 tion. The citation must be directed to the person to be cited, 19 signed by the clerk, issued under the seal of the court, and 20 must contain the title of the proceeding, a brief statement of 21 the nature of the proceeding, and a direction that the person 22 cited appear at a time and place specified.

23 1207. The citation may be issued by the clerk upon the 24 application of any party, without an order of the court or 25 judge, except in cases in which such order is expressly required 26 by law. The citation must be served in the same manner as 27 a summons in a civil action, and when no other time is 28 specially prescribed by law, it must be served at least five days 29 before the return day thereof.

30 1208. Whenever a minor or an insane or incompetent 31 person has a guardian of his estate residing in this state, per-32 sonal service upon the guardian of any process, notice, or 33 order of the court, concerning the estate of a deceased person 34 in which the ward is interested, is equivalent to service upon 35 the ward, and it is the duty of the guardian to attend to the 36 interests of the ward in the matter. Such guardian may 37 also appear for his ward and waive any process, notice, or 38 order to show cause which an adult person of sound mind 39 might waive.

40 1209. When any publication is ordered, such publication 41 must be made daily, or otherwise as often during the pre-42 scribed period as the paper is regularly issued, unless other-43 wise provided by this code. The court, or a judge thereof, 44 may, however, order a less number of publications during the 45 period.

46 Article II—Orders.

47
48 1220. Orders and decrees made by the court or a judge 49 thereof, in probate proceedings, need not recite the existence 50 of facts, or the performance of acts, upon which the jurisdic-
51 tion of the court or judge may depend, but it is only necessary

1 that they contain the matters ordered or adjudged, except as 2 otherwise provided by this code.

3 1221. All orders and decrees of the court or judge must 4 be entered at length in the minute book of the court, or else 5 signed by the judge and filed; but decrees of distribution must 6 always be so entered at length.

7 1222. When an order is made setting apart a homestead, 8 confirming a sale, making distribution of real property, or 9 determining any other matter affecting the title to real prop-10 erty, a certified copy thereof must be recorded in the office of 11 the county recorder of each county in which the land, or any 12 part thereof, lies; and from the time of filing the same for 13 record, notice is imparted to all persons of the contents thereof.

14 1223. When an order or decree authorizing a lease, mort-15 gage or transfer of property, or distributing property, or mak-16 ing any change in the status of the title to property, deals 17 with land registered under the provisions of the Land Title 18 Law which took effect December 19, 1914, the court, in its 19 order or decree, shall direct the registrar of titles to issue a 20 certificate of title, or to note a memorial of the transaction, as 21 the case may require, in accordance with such order or decree.

22 Article III—Rules of Procedure. 23 24

25 1230. All issues of fact joined in probate proceedings must 26 be tried in conformity with the requirements of the rules of 27 practice in civil actions. The party affirming is plaintiff, and 28 the one denying or avoiding is defendant. When a party is 29 entitled to a trial by jury and a jury is demanded, and the 30 issues are not sufficiently made up by the written pleadings 31 on file, the court, on due notice, must settle and frame the 32 issues to be tried. If no jury is demanded, the court must try 33 the issues joined, and sign and file its decision in writing, as 34 provided in civil actions. Judgment on the issue joined, as 35 well as for costs, may be entered and enforced by execution 36 or otherwise by the court as in civil actions.

37 1231. A motion for a new trial in probate proceedings can 38 be made only in cases of contests of wills, either before or 39 after probate, in proceedings to determine heirship and inter-40 ests in estates, and in those cases where the issues of fact, of 41 which a new trial is sought, were of such character as to 42 entitle the parties to have them tried by a jury, whether or 43 not they were so tried.

44 1232. When not otherwise prescribed by this code, either 45 the superior court or the court on appeal, may, in its discretion, 46 order costs to be paid by any party to the proceedings, or out 47 of the assets of the estate, as justice may require.

48 1233. Except as otherwise provided by this code, the pro-
49 visions of part II of the Code of Civil Procedure are appli-50 cable to and constitute the rules of practice in the proceedings 51 mentioned in this code with regard to trials, new trials,

1 appeals, records on appeal, and all other matters of pro-2 cedure.

4 Article IV—Appeals.

6 1240. An appeal may be taken to the supreme court from 7 an order granting or revoking letters testamentary or of 8 administration; admitting a will to probate or revoking the 9 probate thereof; setting aside an estate claimed not to exceed 10 two thousand five hundred dollars in value; setting apart 11 property as a homestead or claimed to be exempt from execu-12 tion; confirming a report of an appraiser or appraisers in set-13 ting apart a homestead; granting or modifying a family 14 allowance; directing or authorizing the sale or conveyance or 15 confirming the sale of property; settling an account of an 16 executor or administrator or trustee, or instructing or appoint-17 ing a trustee; directing or allowing the payment of a debt, 18 claim, legacy or attorney's fee; determining heirship or the 19 persons to whom distribution should be made; distributing or 20 partitioning property; refusing to make any order heretofore 21 mentioned in this section; or fixing an inheritance tax or 22 determining that none is due.

23
24 DIVISION IV—GUARDIAN AND WARD.
25

26 CHAPTER I—THE RELATIONSHIP, AND RULES GOVERNING ITS 27 CREATION.
28

29 1400. A guardian is a person appointed to take care of the 30 person or property of another. The latter is called the ward 31 of the guardian. The relation of guardian and ward is confi-32 dential, and is subject to the provisions of law relating to 33 trusts. In the management and disposition of the person or 34 property committed to him, a guardian may be regulated and 35 controlled by the court.

36 1401. Guardians are either general or special. A general 37 guardian is a guardian of the person or of the general estate 38 of the ward within this state, or of both. Every other is a 39 special guardian.

40 1402. A parent may appoint a guardian by will or by deed 41 for the property of any child of such parent, living or likely 42 to be born, which such child may take from such parent by 43 will or succession.

44 1403. Either parent of a legitimate child living or likely to 45 be born, may appoint a guardian of the person and estate, or 46 person or estate, of such child, by will or by deed, to take 47 effect upon the death of the parent appointing, with the writ-48 ten consent of the other parent, or if the other parent is 49 dead or incapable of consent. If the child is illegitimate, such 50 appointment may be made by the mother.

51 1404. Either parent of an unmarried insane or incompe-52 tent person may appoint a guardian of the person and estate,

1 or person or estate, of such person, by will or by deed, to take 2 effect upon the death of the parent appointing, with the 3 written consent of the other parent, or if the other parent be 4 dead or incapable of consent. If the insane or incompetent 5 person is married, such appointment may be made by the 6 spouse.

7 1405. The superior court shall appoint a general guardian 8 of the person and estate, or person or estate, of minors and 9 insane or incompetent persons, whenever necessary or con-10 venient, and when no guardian has been appointed for the 11 purpose by will or by deed. The court, in its discretion, may 12 appoint more than one guardian, each of whom must give a 13 separate bond, and be governed and liable in all respects as a 14 sole guardian. The court shall also confirm an appointment 15 made by will or by deed, whenever requested, upon the same 16 procedure and notice as in the case of appointment by the 17 court.

18 1406. In appointing a general guardian of a minor, the 19 court is to be guided by what appears to be for the best inter-20 est of the child in respect to its temporal and mental and 21 moral welfare; and if the child is of sufficient age to form an 22 intelligent preference, the court may consider that prefer-23 ence in determining the question. If the child resides in this 24 state and is over fourteen years of age, he may nominate his 25 own guardian, either of his own accord or within ten days 26 after being duly cited by the court; and such nominee must be 27 appointed if approved by the court. When a guardian has 28 been appointed for a minor under fourteen years of age, 29 the minor, at any time after he attains that age, may nominate 30 his own guardian, subject to the approval of the court.

31 1407. Of persons equally entitled in other respects to the 32 guardianship of a minor, preference is to be given as follows:

33 (1) To a parent;

34 (2) To one who was indicated by the wishes of a deceased
35 parent;

36 (3) To one who already stands in the position of a trustee 37 of a fund to be applied to the child's support;

38 (4) To a relative.

39 1408. As between parents claiming the guardianship 40 adversely to each other, neither is entitled to priority; but 41 other things being equal, if the child is of tender years, it 42 should be given to the mother; if it is of an age to require 43 education and preparation for labor and business, then to the 44 father.

45 1409. A parent who knowingly or wilfully abandons or, 46 having the ability so to do, fails to maintain his minor child 47 under fourteen years of age, forfeits all right to the guardian-48 ship of such child; and a parent or guardian who knowingly 49 permits his child or ward to remain for one year in an orphan 50 asylum where the child is supported by charity, without 51 notifying the managers or officers of the asylum that he 52 is such parent or guardian, abandons and forever forfeits all

1 right to the guardianship of the child. The officers and man-2 agers of any orphan asylum having such abandoned child in 3 its care have the preferred right to the guardianship of the 4 child.

5 1410. The authority of a guardian is not extinguished or 6 affected by the marriage of the guardian.

7 1411. No person ineligible to citizenship in the United 8 States and no company, association or corporation of which a 9 majority of the members are aliens ineligible to citizenship in 10 the United States, or in which a majority of the issued capital 11 stock is owned by such aliens, may be appointed guardian of 12 any estate which consists in whole or in part of real property.

13 14 CHAPTER II—WHEN GUARDIANSHIP NOT NECESSARY.

15
16 1430. If a minor has no guardian of his estate, money 17 belonging to the minor not exceeding the sum of two hundred 18 and fifty dollars may be paid to a parent of the minor entitled 19 to the custody of the minor to hold for the minor, upon written 20 assurance of such parent that the total estate of the minor 21 does not exceed one thousand dollars in value; and the written 22 receipt of such parent shall be an acquittance of the person 23 making such payment.

24 1431. When a minor has a disputed claim for money against 25 a third person, his father, or if his father is dead or has 26 deserted or abandoned him then his mother, shall have the 27 right to compromise such claim, but before the compromise is 28 valid it must be approved by the superior court of the county 29 where the minor resides, upon the filing of a verified petition 30 in writing. If the court approves the compromise, it may 31 direct that the money be paid to the father or mother of the 32 minor, with or without the filing of a bond, or it may require 33 a general guardian or guardian ad litem to be appointed and 34 the money to be paid to such guardian or guardian ad litem 35 with or without a bond as in the discretion of the court seems 36 to the best interests of the minor. The clerk of the court shall 37 not charge any fee for filing the petition.

38 1432. The parent receiving any money under the provi-
39 sions of this chapter shall account to the minor for the money 40 when the minor reaches the age of majority.

41 42 CHAPTER III—APPOINTMENT OF GUARDIANS FOR MINORS.

43
44 1440. When it appears necessary or convenient, the supe-45 rior court of the county in which a minor resides or is tem-46 porarily domiciled, or in which a nonresident minor has estate, 47 may appoint a guardian for his person and estate, or person 48 or estate. The appointment may be made upon the petition 49 of a relative or other person on behalf of the minor, or on the 50 petition of the minor, if fourteen years of age.

51 1441. Before making the appointment, such notice as the 52 court or a judge thereof deems reasonable must be given to

1 the person having the care of the minor and to such relatives
2 of the minor residing in the state as the court or judge 3 deems proper. In all cases notice must be given to the parents 4 of the minor or proof made to the court that their addresses 5 are unknown, or that, for other reason, such notice can not 6 be given.

7 1442. In such proceeding, when it appears to court or 8 judge either from a verified petition or from affidavits, that 9 the welfare of the minor will be imperiled if he is allowed to 10 remain in the custody of the person then having his care, an 11 order may be made providing for his temporary custody
12 until a hearing can be had on the petition. And when it 13 appears that there is reason to believe that the minor will 14 be carried out of the jurisdiction of the court, or will suffer 15 some irreparable injury before compliance with such order 16 providing for the temporary custody of the minor can be 17 enforced, the court or judge, at the time of making the order 18 for temporary custody, may cause a warrant to be issued, 19 reciting the facts, and directed to the sheriff, coroner, or a 20 constable of the county, commanding such officer to take the 21 minor from the custody of the person in whose care he then 22 is and place him in custody in accordance with such order.

23
24 CHAPTER IV—APPOINTMENT OF GUARDIANS FOR INSANE 25 OR INCOMPETENT PERSONS.
26

27 1460. Any superior court to which application is made as 28 hereinafter provided may appoint a guardian for the person 29 and estate or person or estate of an insane or an incompetent 30 person. As used in this division of this code, the phrase 31 "incompetent person," "incompetent," or "mentally incom-32 petent," shall be construed to mean or refer to any person, 33 whether insane or not, who by reason of old age, disease, 34 weakness of mind, or other cause, is unable, unassisted, prop-35 erly to manage and take care of himself or his property, and 36 by reason thereof is likely to be deceived or imposed upon by 37 artful or designing persons.

38 1461. Any relative or friend may file a verified petition 39 alleging that a person is insane or incompetent. Thereupon 40 the clerk shall set the same for hearing by the court and shall 41 cause notice to be given to the alleged insane or incompetent 42 person of the time and place of hearing, not less than five days 43 before the time so appointed; and such person, if able to 44 attend, must be produced at the hearing, unless he is a patient 45 at a state hospital in this state and the certificate of the medical 46 superintendent or acting medical superintendent thereof is 47 produced, to the effect that such patient is unable to attend 48 the hearing, which certificate shall be prima facie evidence 49 of that fact.

50 1462. If, upon the hearing, it appears to the court that the 51 person in question is insane or incompetent, the court must 52 appoint a guardian of his person and estate, or person or

1 estate. In awarding letters of guardianship, the court shall 2 give preference to such person as may have been designated by 3 will or deed, unless good cause to the contrary is shown.

5 CHAPTER V—RESTORATION TO CAPACITY.

7 1470. Any person who has been declared insane, or for 8 whom a guardian has been appointed as an insane or incom-9 petent person, or the guardian, or any relative or friend, may 10 apply, by petition, to the superior court of the county in 11 which such person was declared insane, or from which letters 12 of guardianship were issued, to have the fact of his restora-13 tion to capacity judicially determined. The petition must be 14 verified, and must state that such person is then sane or 15 competent.

16 1471. The clerk shall set the petition for hearing by the 17 court. At the request of the person so declared insane or for 18 whom a guardian has been appointed, the question of his 19 restoration to capacity must be tried by a jury, which must 20 be summoned and impaneled in the same manner as juries in 21 civil actions. At least five days' notice of the trial must be 22 given to the guardian of the person so declared insane or for 23 whom a guardian has been appointed, if there is a guardian, 24 and to the person's spouse, if any, and to his or her father and 25 mother, if in the state.

26 1472. On the trial, the guardian or relative of the person 27 so declared insane or for whom a guardian has been appointed, 28 and, in the discretion of the court, any other person, may 29 contest the right to the relief demanded. Witnesses may be 30 required to appear and testify, as in civil cases, and may be 31 called and examined by the court on its own motion. If it 32 is found that the person in question is sane and capable of 33 taking care of himself and his property, his restoration to 34 capacity must be adjudged and the guardianship of such per-35 son, if not a minor, must cease.

36 37 CHAPTER VI—OATHS, BONDS AND LETTERS.
38

39 1480. Before the order appointing a guardian takes effect, 40 and before letters issue, the person appointed must take an 41 oath, which must be attached to or endorsed upon his letters, 42 that he will perform the duties of his office as such guardian 43 according to law, and, except as otherwise provided in this 44 division, must furnish a bond to the ward, with two or more 45 sufficient sureties, to be approved by the judge, and in such 46 sum as required by the order, which sum shall be not less than 47 twice the value of the personal property and the probable 48 annual rents, issues and profits of all property belonging to 49 the ward, or, when the bond is given by a surety company 50 authorized by law to furnish it, not less than the value of the 51 personal property and the probable annual rents, issues and 52 profits of all property belonging to the ward, and conditioned

1 that the guardian will faithfully execute the duties of his 2 trust according to law.

3 1481. Upon filing the bond, duly approved, letters of guard-4 ianship shall issue to the person appointed, substantially in 5 the same form as letters of administration.

6 1482. Before any sale of real property is confirmed, or 7 any mortgage is authorized by which money is to be raised, 8 the guardian must furnish such additional bond to the ward 9 as shall be required by the court, with two or more sufficient 10 sureties to be approved by the judge, in order to make the 11 total penalty of the guardian's bonds to his ward equal to 12 that required by section 1480 of this code, taking into account 13 the proceeds of the sale or mortgage.

14 1483. The court may require a new bond to be given by 15 a guardian whenever it deems it necessary; and when it 16 appears that no injury can result therefrom to those inter-17 ested in the estate, it may discharge the existing sureties from 18 further liability, after such notice given as the court may 19 direct.

20 1484. Every testamentary guardian must qualify and has 21 the same powers and must perform the same duties with regard 22 to the person and estate of his ward as guardians appointed by 23 the court, except so far as his powers and duties are legally 24 modified, enlarged or changed by the will by which he was 25 appointed.

26 1485. A testamentary guardian need not give bond unless 27 required by the court from which the letters issue.

28 1486. Every bond given by a guardian must be filed and 29 preserved in the office of the clerk of the court, and in case 30 of a breach of a condition thereof, may be sued upon for the 31 use and benefit of the ward, or of any person interested in 32 the estate.

33 1487. No action may be maintained against the sureties on 34 a bond given by a guardian unless commenced within three 35 years from the discharge or removal of the guardian; but if 36 at the time of such discharge the person entitled to bring the 37 action is under any legal disability to sue, the action may be 38 commenced at any time within three years after the disability 39 is removed.

40

41

42 CHAPTER VII—POWERS AND DUTIES.

43

44 1500. Every guardian has the care and custody of the 45 person of his ward and the management of his estate, or the 46 care and custody of the person of his ward or the manage-47 ment of his estate, according to the order of appointment, 48 until legally discharged, or, in case of the guardianship of a 49 minor, until the minor reaches the age of majority or marries.
50 The guardian of a minor also has charge of the education of 51 the minor. The guardian of the person of a ward may fix the 52 residence of the ward at any place in the state, but not elsewhere without the permission of the court.

1 1501. Every guardian must pay the ward's just debts out 2 of the ward's personal estate and the income of his real 3 estate, if sufficient; if not, then out of his real estate upon 4 selling or mortgaging or giving a deed of trust upon any of 5 his real property as hereinafter provided. He must demand, 6 sue for, and collect all debts due to the ward, or, with the 7 approval of the court, he may compromise the same and give 8 discharges to the debtor, on receiving a fair and just settle-9 ment; and he must appear for and represent his ward in all 10 actions and proceedings, unless another person is appointed 11 for that purpose.

12 1502. Every guardian of an estate must manage it 13 frugally and without waste, and apply the income, as far as 14 may be necessary, to the comfortable and suitable support, 15 maintenance and education of the ward and his family, if 16 any; and if the income is insufficient for that purpose, he 17 may sell or mortgage or give a deed of trust upon any of the 18 real property, as hereinafter provided. When a guardian 19 has advanced, for the suitable support, maintenance or educa-20 tion of his ward, an amount not disproportionate to the value 21 of the ward's estate or his condition of life, and the same is 22 made to appear to the satisfaction of the court, by proper 23 vouchers and proofs, the guardian must be allowed credit 24 therefor in his settlements.

25 1503. Whenever a guardian fails, neglects or refuses to 26 furnish suitable support, maintenance or education for his 27 ward, the court may order him to do so, and enforce such 28 order by proper process, and whenever a third person, at the 29 request of a ward, supplies him with such suitable support, 30 maintenance or education, and it is shown to have been done 31 after the refusal or neglect of the guardian to supply the same, 32 the court may direct the guardian to pay therefor out of the 33 estate, and enforce such payment by proper process.

34 1504. If a minor having a father living has property, the 35 income of which is sufficient for his support, maintenance and 36 education in a manner more expensive than his father can 37 reasonably afford, regard being had to the situation of the 38 father's family and to all the circumstances of the case, the 39 expenses of the support, maintenance and education of such 40 minor may be defrayed out of the income of his own property, 41 in whole or in part, as judged reasonable, and as directed by 42 the court; and the charges therefor may be allowed accord-43 ingly in the settlement of the accounts of his guardian.

44 1505. If a husband is unable to provide suitably for the 45 support and maintenance of a wife over whose estate a 46 guardian has been appointed by reason of her incompetency, 47 the expense of providing such support or maintenance may, to 48 the extent necessary, be charged against and defrayed out of 49 such estate, as directed by the court or as approved by the 50 court in settling the accounts of the guardian; for this purpose 51 the guardian may sell or mortgage or give a deed of trust 52 upon any of her real property as hereinafter provided.

1 1506. When a ward owns an undivided interest in real or 2 personal property, the guardian of his estate may commence 3 and prosecute an action for the partition thereof or may con-4 sent and agree to a partition thereof without action and to 5 the part to be set off to his ward, and may execute deeds or 6 conveyances to the owners of the remaining shares of the parts 7 to which they may be respectively entitled, but in either case 8 he must first obtain authority from the court having juris-9 diction of the estate.

10 1507. The order granting such authority shall be made 11 only after a hearing in open court upon the petition of the 12 guardian. Upon filing the petition, the clerk of the court 13 shall set the same for hearing by the court and cause notice 14 thereof to be mailed, at least ten days before the hearing, 15 to such relatives of the ward residing in the state as the court 16 or judge deems proper.

17 1508. When a ward, or his guardian, as such, is made a 18 defendant in a partition suit, the guardian may defend the 19 same without leave of court.

20 1509. A contract for attorney's fees for services in litigation, 21 made by or on behalf of a minor, is void unless the contract 22 is approved by the court in which the litigation is pending or 23 the court having jurisdiction of the estate of the minor, upon 24 petition of any person in interest. When no such contract is 25 approved, and a judgment is recovered by or on behalf of a 26 minor, the attorney's fees chargeable against the minor shall 27 be fixed by the court rendering the judgment.

28 1510. If the judgment is for the recovery of money or 29 other property, and there is no general guardian of the minor, 30 one shall be appointed by the court to receive and care for the 31 money or property recovered, upon notice and a hearing as 32 in other cases of appointment. But if a minor has brought 33 an action by a guardian ad litem and has recovered a money 34 judgment not in excess of five hundred dollars, exclusive of 35 costs, and the guardian ad litem is a blood relative of the 36 minor, then upon the approval of the court which rendered 37 the judgment the amount thereof may be paid directly to 38 such guardian ad litem without any bond being required 39 therefor.

40 1511. Whenever the court fixes or approves an attorney's 41 fee for services rendered to or for the benefit of a minor in 42 litigation pending before it, it may direct the judgment debtor 43 to pay such fee to the attorney and the balance of the judgment 44 to the guardian ad litem or general guardian.

45 1512. When a person is appointed guardian of a minor, 46 the court, with the consent of such person, may insert in the 47 order of appointment conditions not otherwise obligatory, providing 48 for the care, treatment, education and welfare of the 49 minor and for the care and custody of his property. The performance 50 of such conditions shall be a part of the duties of 51 the guardian, for the faithful performance of which he and 52 the sureties on his bond shall be responsible.

1 1513. A guardian may deposit any money belonging to 2 the ward with one or more trust companies within this state, 3 whereupon he shall be discharged from further care or 4 responsibility therefor until the money is withdrawn by him.
5 Unless the money is deposited pursuant to an order, under 6 the provisions of the Bank Act, it may be withdrawn without 7 order of court.

8 1514. Personal assets of the ward may be deposited with 9 a trust company, and the bond of the guardian reduced, as 10 provided by the Bank Act.

11 12 CHAPTER VIII—SALES, MORTGAGES, LEASES AND CONVEYANCES.
13

14 1530. If the income of an estate under guardianship is 15 insufficient for the support, maintenance and education of the 16 ward and of such members of his family as he is legally obli-17 gated to support and maintain, including his care, treatment 18 and support, if confined in a state hospital for the insane, or 19 if the personal estate and the income from the real estate is 20 insufficient to pay his debts, his guardian may sell any of his 21 real or personal property, or mortgage or give a deed of trust 22 upon any of his real property for that purpose, subject to 23 confirmation or direction by the court as hereinafter provided.

24 1531. When it will benefit a ward to sell any of his real 25 or personal property and to put out the proceeds at interest, 26 or invest the same in some productive stock or bonds, or in 27 the improvement or security of any other real property of the 28 ward, his guardian may sell the same for that purpose, sub-29 ject to confirmation by the court as hereinafter provided. The 30 particular investment or investments to be made must be 31 specified in the order confirming the sale, or authorizing the 32 sale of stocks or bonds.

33 1532. All sales must be for cash or for part cash and part 34 deferred payments, the credit in no case to exceed three years 35 from the date of sale, and the terms being subject to the 36 approval of the court. When real property is sold upon 37 deferred payments, the guardian must demand and receive 38 from the purchasers, notes, and a mortgage or deed of trust 39 on the property sold, with such additional security as the 40 court deems necessary and sufficient to secure the prompt 41 payment of the amounts so deferred, and the interest thereon.

42 1533. A guardian may borrow money, with or without 43 giving security, when it will benefit his ward, and, in addition 44 to the contingencies mentioned in section 1530 of this code, 45 may mortgage real or personal property, or give a deed of 46 trust upon real property, of the ward, in order to pay, reduce, 47 extend or renew some lien or mortgage or deed of trust already 48 subsisting on property of the ward, or to erect, alter or repair 49 buildings or other structures upon, or otherwise to improve, the 50 property proposed to be mortgaged, or some part thereof.

51 1534. Sales by guardians may be at public auction or pri-52 vate sale, as the guardian deems best. All proceedings concerning sales by guardians, giving notice of sale, reselling the same property, return of sale and application for confirmation thereof, notice and hearing of such application, making orders rejecting or confirming sales and reports of sales, ordering and making conveyances of property sold, and allowance of commissions, must conform, as nearly as may be, to the provisions of this code concerning sales by administrators, unless otherwise specially provided in this chapter.

1535. All known relatives of the ward within the third degree residing in this state, whose addresses are known to the guardian, must be served either personally or by mail, within two days after the filing of the return of sale, with a brief notice of the time set for hearing the return; and when the ward is or has been, during the guardianship, confined in a state hospital for the insane in this state, notice of the hearing of the return must be given to the director of institutions or to the attorney general at least five days before the hearing.

1536. The guardian must apply the proceeds of the sale to the purposes for which it was made, as far as necessary, and put out the residue, if any, at interest, or invest it in the best manner in his power, until needed for the support, maintenance or education of the ward or his family, or the payment of debts, at which time the capital may be used for that purpose, as far as necessary, in like manner as if it had been personal estate of the ward.

1537. When an incompetent ward is bound by a contract in writing to convey any real property, executed by him while competent, or executed by his predecessor in interest, the court may authorize and direct his guardian to convey the property to the person entitled thereto. The proceedings to obtain such a decree and the proceedings thereunder must conform, as nearly as may be, to the provisions of this code concerning conveyances by administrators of property contracted to be sold by their decedents.

1538. Promissory notes for money borrowed, mortgages, leases, and agreements for the sale of, or for options to purchase, mining claims or real property worked as mines, may be executed by guardians, with respect to the property of their wards, only upon obtaining an order of court authorizing the same. The proceedings to obtain any such order and the proceedings thereunder must conform, as nearly as may be, to the provisions of this code concerning similar proceedings by administrators.

1539. No action for the recovery of any property sold by a guardian can be maintained by the ward or any person claiming under him, unless commenced within three years after the termination of the guardianship, or, when a legal disability to sue exists by reason of minority or otherwise at the time the cause of action accrues, within three years after the removal thereof.

CHAPTER IX—INVENTORY AND ACCOUNTING.

1550. Within three months after his appointment, or within such further time as the court or judge for reasonable cause may allow, the guardian must file with the clerk of the court an inventory and appraisement of the estate of his ward. The guardian must make oath to the inventory, and the property therein described must be appraised, by an appraiser or appraisers appointed by the court or judge, in the manner provided for the inventory and appraisement of estates of decedents. The inventory and appraisements must be recorded by the clerk in a book kept for that purpose, and whenever any ward is or has been during the guardianship confined in a state hospital in this state the guardian must deliver or mail a copy of the inventory to the director of institutions or the attorney general. Whenever any property of the ward is discovered which was not included in the inventory, and whenever any other property has been inherited or acquired by the ward, other than by purchase by the guardian, like proceedings must be had for the inventory and appraisement thereof and the delivery or mailing of a copy thereof as are herein provided in relation to the first inventory.

1551. If the guardian neglects or refuses to file the inventory within the time prescribed, the court, upon notice, may revoke his letters, and he shall be liable on his bond for any injury to the estate or any person interested therein, arising from such failure.

1552. Upon complaint under oath made by a guardian, ward, creditor or other person interested in the ward's estate, or having a prospective interest therein as heir or otherwise, that any person is suspected of having embezzled, concealed, smuggled or fraudulently disposed of any property of the ward, or has in his possession or has knowledge of any instrument in writing belonging to the ward, the court or judge may cite the suspected person to appear before the court, and may examine and proceed against him on such charge in the manner provided in this code with respect to persons suspected of having embezzled, concealed, smuggled, or fraudulently disposed of property of a decedent.

1553. At the expiration of a year from the time of his appointment, and as often thereafter as he may be required by the court, the guardian must present his account to the court for settlement and allowance. When an account is rendered by two or more joint guardians, the court, in its discretion, may allow the same upon the oath of any of them.

1554. No account of the guardian of an insane person who is or has been during the guardianship confined in a state hospital in this state shall be settled or allowed unless notice of the settlement of the account has been given to the director of institutions or the attorney general at least five days before the hearing.

1 1555. The termination of the relation of guardian and 2 ward by the death of either guardian or ward or by the ward 3 attaining his majority or being restored to capacity shall not 4 cause the court to lose jurisdiction of the proceeding for the 5 purpose of settling the accounts of the guardian. The account 6 of a deceased guardian shall be presented by his executor or 7 administrator.

8 1556. Every guardian shall be allowed the amount of his 9 reasonable expenses incurred in the execution of his trust, and 10 shall have such compensation for his services as the court in 11 which his accounts are settled deems just and reasonable. He 12 shall also be allowed all reasonable disbursements made after 13 the legal termination of the guardianship, but while that rela-14 tion, by consent or acquiescence of the parties, still subsists in 15 fact, and before the discharge of the guardian by the court, 16 and which were made by the consent, express or implied, of 17 the ward, and for his benefit or the benefit of his estate.

18 1557. On the application of the guardian or of any person 19 interested in the estate of the ward, and after such notice to 20 persons interested therein as the court or judge shall direct, the 21 court may authorize and require the guardian to invest the pro-22 ceeds of sales, and any other of his ward's money in his hands, 23 in real property, or in any other manner most to the interest 24 of the ward; and the court may make such orders and give 25 such directions as are needful for the management, investment 26 and disposition of the estate as circumstances require.

27
28 CHAPTER X—NONRESIDENT WARDS.
29

30 1570. The superior court may appoint a guardian of the 31 person and estate, or person or estate, of a minor or insane or 32 incompetent person who resides out of the state and who is 33 within the county, or who has estate within the county, and 34 who has no guardian within the state, upon petition of any 35 friend of such person or of any one interested in his estate, 36 in expectancy or otherwise. Before making such appointment, 37 the court or judge must cause notice to be given to all per-38 sons interested, in such manner as deemed reasonable. The 39 guardianship which is first granted of a nonresident ward 40 extends to all the estate of the ward within this state, and the 41 court of no other county has jurisdiction.

42 1571. Every guardian of a nonresident ward has the same 43 powers and duties, with respect to the estate of the ward within 44 this state, and with respect to the person of the ward while liv-45 ing therein, as are prescribed by this code with respect to any 46 other guardian. Such guardian must give bond to the ward 47 as hereinbefore provided for other guardians, but his respon-48 sibility with regard to inventory, accounting and disposal of 49 the estate is confined to such estate as comes into his hands in 50 this state.

51 1572. When the guardian and ward are both nonresidents, 52 and the ward owns property in this state which may be

1 removed to another state without conflict with any restriction
2 or limitation thereupon, or impairing the right of the ward 3 thereto, such property may be removed to the state of the 4 ward's residence upon the application of the guardian to the 5 superior court of the county in which the estate of the ward, 6 or the principal part thereof, is situated.

7 1573. Such application must be made upon ten days' 8 notice to the resident guardian or executor or administrator, 9 if there be such. The nonresident guardian must produce and 10 file a certificate, under the hand of the clerk and seal of the 11 court from which his appointment was derived, showing: (1) 12 a transcript of the record of his appointment; (2) that he 13 has entered upon the discharge of his duties; and (3) that he 14 is entitled, by the laws of the state of his appointment, to the 15 possession of the estate of the ward; or must produce and file 16 a certificate, under the hand of the clerk and seal of the 17 court having jurisdiction, in the state of his residence, of the 18 estates of persons under guardianship, or of the highest court 19 of such state, attested, in the case of a foreign country, by a 20 minister, consul or vice consul of the United States, resident 21 in such state, that, by the laws of such state, the applicant 22 is entitled to the custody of the estate of his ward, without 23 the appointment of any court.

24 1574. Upon such application, unless good cause to the 25 contrary is shown, the court must make an order granting to 26 such guardian leave to remove the property of his ward to 27 the state of his residence, which is authority to him to sue 28 for and receive the same in his own name, for the use and 29 benefit of his ward. Such order is a discharge of the local 30 guardian or executor, administrator or other person in whose 31 possession the property may be at the time the order is made, 32 on filing with the clerk of the court the nonresident guardian's 33 receipt therefor and transmitting a duplicate receipt, or a 34 certified copy of such receipt, to the court from which such 35 nonresident guardian received his appointment.

36 CHAPTER XI—SUSPENSION, REMOVAL AND RESIGNATION.
37

39 1580. A guardian appointed by will or deed or by the 40 court may be removed by the court for any of the following 41 causes:

42 (1) For waste or mismanagement of the estate, or abuse 43 of his trust;

44 (2) For failure to file an inventory or to render an 45 account within the time allowed by law, or for continued fail-46 ure to perform his duties;

47 (3) For incapacity to perform his duties suitably;

48 (4) For gross immorality;

49 (5) For having an interest adverse to the faithful perform-50 ance of his duties;

51 (6) For removal from the state;

1 (7) In the case of a guardian of the property, for insolv-2 ency; or,

3 (8) When it is no longer necessary that the ward should 4 be under guardianship.

5 1581. The removal may be ordered after such notice to 6 the guardian as the court or a judge thereof may require; and 7 the court may compel him to surrender the estate of the ward 8 to the person found to be lawfully entitled thereto. Pending 9 the hearing, the court or the judge thereof may suspend the 10 powers of the guardian to such extent as deemed necessary.

11 1582. Any guardian may resign when it appears proper 12 to allow it; and upon the resignation or removal of a 13 guardian, the court may appoint another in his place, after 14 notice and a hearing as in the case of an original appointment.

15
16 CHAPTER XII—TERMINATION OF GUARDIANSHIP.

17 1590. (1) The marriage of a minor ward terminates the 18 guardianship of the person, but not of his estate.

19 (2) If the appointment of a guardian is made solely because 20 of the ward's minority, the guardianship is terminated by his 21 attaining majority.

22 (3) In all other cases the guardianship is terminated only 23 by order of the court upon application of the guardian or the 24 ward, after such notice to the other as the court or judge 25 may require.

26 1591. On the death of one of two or more joint guardians, 27 the powers continue in the survivor until a further appoint-28 ment is made by the court.

29 1592. After a ward has reached his majority, he may settle 30 accounts with his guardian and give him a release, which is 31 valid if obtained fairly and without undue influence.

32 1593. A guardian appointed by a court is not entitled to 33 his discharge until one year after the ward's majority.

34 35 CHAPTER XIII—NOTICES AND PROCEDURE.

36
37 1600. At any time after the issuance of letters of guardian-38 ship, any relative of the ward, in person or by attorney, or the 39 attorney for any department or bureau of the United States 40 government which makes or awards compensation, pension, 41 insurance or other allowance for the benefit of the ward's 42 estate, may serve upon the guardian or upon the latter's 43 attorney, and file with the clerk of the court where the pro-44 ceedings are pending, a written request, stating that he desires 45 special notice of the filing or commencing of any or all of the 46 following:

47 (1) Petitions for the sale, lease or mortgage or confirma-48 tion of sale of any property of the ward;

49 (2) Accounts;

50 (3) Application for removal of the ward's property to a 51 foreign jurisdiction;
52

1 (4) Petitions for partition of any property of the ward;

2 (5) Petitions for allowances of any nature payable from 3 the ward's estate;

4 (6) Petitions for the investment of funds of the estate;

5 (7) Proceedings for the removal, suspension, or discharge 6 of the guardian or final termination of the guardianship.

7 1601. Such request shall give the post-office address of the 8 person making the same, or of the attorney, and thereafter a 9 brief notice of the filing of any such petition or account, or of 10 the commencement of any such proceeding, except petitions 11 for the sale of perishable property or other personal property 12 which will depreciate in value if not disposed of promptly, or 13 which will incur loss or expense by being kept, together with a 14 copy of such petition, application, account or proceeding, 15 shall be mailed to such relative or attorney, at his stated post-16 office address, or personally served upon him, within two days 17 after the filing of such petition, account or application, or 18 the commencement of such proceeding.

19 1602. Proof of mailing or of personal service of the notice 20 must be made at the hearing; and if it appears to the satis-21 faction of the court that said notice has been regularly given, 22 the court shall so find in its order, and such order, when it 23 becomes final, shall be conclusive upon all persons.

24 1603. The court in which a guardianship proceeding is 25 pending may transfer the proceeding to the superior court 26 of any other county which at the time of such transfer would 27 have jurisdiction to issue original letters in such proceed-28 ing. To obtain such transfer, the guardian shall file in the 29 court in which the proceeding is pending a verified petition 30 setting forth:

31 (1) The name of the county to which it is sought to transfer 32 the proceedings;

33 (2) The name of the county in which the ward resides and 34 that in which the guardian resides;

35 (3) The name of the county or counties in which the prop-36 erty of the ward is situated, and a brief description of the 37 character and condition of the property;

38 (4) The reasons for such transfer;

39 (5) The names and residences, so far as they are known to 40 the guardian, of the relatives of the ward within the third 41 degree residing in the county in which the proceedings are 42 pending.

43 1604. Upon the filing of the petition, the court or judge 44 shall make an order fixing a time for the hearing thereof, 45 which shall be not less than five days thereafter, and directing 46 that notice thereof be mailed to each of the relatives of the 47 ward named in the petition as resident in the county; and 48 may require such other or further notice of the hearing as 49 may be deemed proper. Any relative of the ward, or any per-50 son interested in the estate of the ward, may appear and file 51 written grounds of opposition to the petition. If, after a hear-52 ing, it appears to the court that the transfer of the proceeding

1 to the court designated in the petition, or to the superior court 2 of any other county, will be for the best interest of the ward, 3 it shall make an order transferring the proceeding to said 4 court. Thereupon the clerk must transmit to the clerk of the 5 court to which the proceeding is transferred a certified copy 6 of the order together with all papers in the proceeding on file 7 in his office; and thereafter the court to which the proceeding 8 is transferred shall exercise the same jurisdiction over the 9 ward or his estate as if it had original jurisdiction.

10 1605. The clerk of the court to which the proceeding is 11 removed shall be entitled to receive a fee of six dollars on 12 filing the papers transmitted to him, in addition to the 13 expense of such transmission, payable on receipt of the papers 14 by him.

15 1606. When not otherwise specially prescribed in this 16 division, practice and procedure and the making and entry of 17 orders under this division shall be governed by the provisions 18 of division III of this code, so far as they are applicable.

19 1607. The provisions of this division do not limit the 20 power of any court to appoint a guardian ad litem to pro-21 tect the interests of any minor or insane or incompetent person 22 in an action or proceeding pending therein.

23 24 CHAPTER XIV—APPEALS.

26 1630. An appeal may be taken to the supreme court from 27 an order granting or revoking letters of guardianship; settling 28 an account of a guardian; or refusing to make any order here-29 tofore mentioned in this section.

30 1631. An appeal from an order appointing a guardian 31 for an insane or incompetent person shall stay the power of 32 the guardian, except that, for the purpose of preventing injury 33 or loss to person or property, the court making the appoint-34 ment may direct the exercise of the powers of the guardian, 35 from time to time, as though no appeal were pending, and all 36 acts of the guardian pursuant to such directions shall be valid, 37 irrespective of the result of the appeal.

38 39 CHAPTER XV—UNIFORM VETERANS' GUARDIANSHIP ACT.

40
41 1650. As used in this chapter:

42 The term "person" includes a partnership, corporation or 43 an association.

44 The term "bureau" means the United States veterans' 45 bureau or its successor.

46 The terms "estate" and "income" shall include only 47 moneys received by the guardian from the bureau and all 48 earnings, interest and profits derived therefrom.

49 The term "benefits" shall mean all moneys payable by the 50 United States through the bureau.

51 The term "director" means the director of the United 52 States veterans' bureau or his successor.

1 The term "ward" means a beneficiary of the bureau.

2 The term "guardian" as used herein shall mean any person 3 acting as a fiduciary for a ward.

4 1651. Whenever, pursuant to any law of the United States 5 or regulation of the bureau, the director requires, prior to 6 payment of benefits, that a guardian be appointed for a 7 ward, such appointment shall be made in the manner here-8 inafter provided.

9 1652. A petition for the appointment of a guardian may 10 be filed in any court of competent jurisdiction by or on 11 behalf of any person who under existing law is entitled to pri-12 ority of appointment. If there be no person so entitled or if 13 the person so entitled shall neglect or refuse to file such a 14 petition within thirty days after mailing of notice by the 15 bureau to the last known address of such person indicating 16 the necessity for the same a petition for such appointment 17 may be filed in any court of competent jurisdiction by or on 18 behalf of any responsible person residing in this state.

19 The petition for appointment shall set forth the name, age, 20 place of residence of the ward, the names and places of resi-21 dence of the nearest relative, if known, and the fact that such 22 ward is entitled to receive moneys payable by or through the 23 bureau and shall set forth the amount of moneys then due 24 and the amount of probable future payments.

25 The petition shall also set forth the name and address of the 26 person or institution, if any, having actual custody of the 27 ward.

28 In the case of a mentally incompetent ward the petition

14 or prior to the effective date of this act, who shall receive on 15 account of his ward any moneys from the bureau, shall file 16 with the court annually, in addition to such other accounts 17 as may be required by the court, a full, true, and accurate 18 account under oath of all moneys so received by him, of all
